

[March 1839]

Dear Sir,

Infer from your silence (in regard to the note that I addressed to you a few days since), that it will be impossible for me to graduate this session, if so, I must ask permission to withdraw from your constitutional law class - At the same time, permit me to say, that I am highly pleased with your interesting lectures, and nothing but a desire to devote my leisure time to the acts of assembly, writing forms &c could induce me to forego the advantages, that must necessarily result, from such a course of lectures.

Your friend

P.S.

In the event of my withdrawing, I shall be perfectly willing to pay the fee - Please inform me, by the messenger, of your conclusions on this subject.

And
Wm. Morris

I called in persons to see you, on the evening of yesterday, but found you absent from home - if there be any way, in which I can obtain a degree or Barr, please inform me. Yrs &c
