

New York Dec 5th 1830

Dear Sir

I was very sorry that the very afflictive events which have occurred of late in my family, & the weak state of my health, deprived me of the pleasure of seeing you, as I passed thro' Baltimore.
 Little change has taken place in my health since my arrival here. My family think it has improved, but I am not sensible of it. The very unfavorable weather has deprived me of exercise, which has retarded my recovery -

I have the pleasure to forward to you the volume lately delivered in this city, by Mr You-urchant, on the celebration of the recent very important revolution in France. I hope increasingly that you continue to enjoy your health with very great & sincere respect & regard I am Dear Sir yours

James Monroe

Mr Carroll.

This letter from the Ex-President Monroe to the last survivor of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, was in reply to a letter of condolence from the old gentleman on the recent deaths of Mr. George Hay, Col. Monroe's cousin, & Mrs. Monroe his wife, both of which occurred about the same time. The envelope of brown paper, covered the letter & the pamphlet alluded to. They were joint ones by Mr. Canell through his friend in law Mr. Mac Tavish.
