

Sept 22, 1944

"I have not yet begun to fight"

C. J. M. N.Y., 1942

John Paul Jones

dearest Jo;

God just think tomorrow
night and I will be with you once again. I don't know, the more I'm with you the more I want to be.
You can't blame me can you.

Did I make some wonderful bread last night. What a smooth & fine even texture it had. And talk about how light it was. A little breeze came in one of the windows and blew it right off of the rack on to the floor.
It was colored a dark lovely brown.
God I tasted it and it melted in my mouth. just like that fried chicken I had at your house a couple of weeks ago. Boy what a baker Sam. They were talking about keeping me there

and making an instructor out of me.
Whenever something stumps one of the boys they come to me for advice. That's about them baking.

Well darling I love you more and more. In fact if you were ~~two~~ three I have enough love for you that I could keep you all satisfied.

I miss you terribly and just can't wait until I'm with you again. I love you & will write when I come back from school tonight

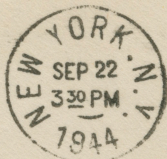

Love darling

Won

"I have not yet begun to fight"

John Paul Jones

Miss Josephine Bohner
5661 Broadway
Lancaster
N.Y.

