D. Deabunck's Esq
Dear Sir.

I was very much pleased at the reception of your last letter: and I shall always hear from you with great pleasure.

The public mind here, has reached a state of great calmness, the energy not of despair - but the result of a ~~resolute~~ ^{firm} resolve, to do, or die.

In fact, not a disturbing doubt of the result crosses the mind, of any but a few old fogies who have not yet recovered from their ~~old~~ ^{old} hallucinations about the old Union. The Union is gone - irretrov-ably gone, and its reconstruction is as impossible as to breathe the breath of life, by human agency, into a corpse. ~~It is~~ ^{It is} as dead, as the ~~Orator~~ ^{Orator} of whom Dr. Harrison used to discourse at the University, and to cork us about occasionally.

The Northwestern part of this State, or at least the "Pan Handle" consisting of the Counties of Boone Ohio Marshall & Hancock, with a population of about 40,000, will doubtless be cut off from the State, after a thorough chastisement. These people have never been Virginians, have no slaves, and ~~the~~ ^{the} ~~most~~ ^{most} of them are of Northern origin. Be assured, that with this exception to wit - the breaking off of the "Pan Handle," Virginia will be a glorious ~~act~~ ^{act}: and that we prefer to be ~~side~~ ^{side} of the Handle.

(notwithstanding the Union vote)
 The rest of the North West is as sound as this county which at the last election gave, in the largest vote ever polled here 2400 for Independence, and not a voice against it. And this vote notwithstanding the absence of ~~many~~ full companies in the field. (~~and~~ a single man in health, staying at home.)

There must be now in arms in this state at least 120,000 men, well officered and equipped, as have a body of men as ever breathed - men who will never retreat if possible to avoid ^{it} and the most of whom will "never surrender" - These men are at Richmond at Yorktown, at Norfolk, at Lewisburg, at Fredericksburg, ~~at~~ near Philippi, at Winchester at Harper's Ferry, at Manassas Station & at other points, wherever the enemy has appeared we have confronted him with an opposing force.
 We have some of the best officers in the world.
 We have Lee, Beauregard, Davis, Magruder, Johnston, Johnson, Archer, Garnett, and a host of others worthy to lead the valiant bands of patriots at every point. Virginia will be the scene of great events, the theatre of noble deeds, and if she falls, as I am sure she will not, her sons will perish on her soil, and avenge her will.

There are now some 1700 volunteers from

This county or much ~~more~~ than half the population capable of bearing arms. and they are continually forming new companies.

My son, soon returned from Harpers Ferry, where he had only gone to participate in the capture of the place: and that being effected, he has since been attending the Military school at the Lexington Institute. He is in the first class there and I have, the most pleasing & satisfactory accounts of his progress, character & qualifications, from the professors at the place. Having been for two years previously at Col. Stranges (a graduate of West Point and one of our best officers) school, gave him very great advantages, and he will in the course of six weeks, have gone through a complete military course and be remarkably well qualified to command a company. He is very desirous to join the army at the earliest possible moment. I can procure for him a commission of 1st Lieutenant from Jefferson Davis - ~~in the Confederate~~ army, but would prefer his raising a company. As, however, this region is so completely drained of troops, it will soon be impossible to get a company here from mere lack of material, and it has occurred to me that in the counties of Jackson parts of Madison Limestone Lauderdale Morgan &c in your section there would be a fine rate field for raising volunteers - a brave & hardy race. Every respect having the most desirable qualities for good soldiers.

I have therefore suggested to my son, as accept to that region is very easy, that he go down as soon as his course is out and endeavor to get up a company

One object of my writing is to request you to give me your opinion of the feasibility of this plan, about which I would be glad to hear from you at the earliest practicable moment.

I can assure ^{you} that my son is in every respect, well qualified to command a company, that he goes into this matter with the highest enthusiasm and that being my only child, no mere matter of pay, but patriotism, is the moving consideration with him.

Hoping to hear from you shortly, I am
