

M^r. Monroe presents his comp^{ts} to Lord Spencer and begs to inform His Lordship that M^r. Pinkney & himself will have the honor to wait on him at Whitehall at 1. o'clock at which hour his Lordship has been so good as to intimate that he will be prepared to receive them — M^r. Monroe very much regrets the indisposition of M^r. Fox, but M^r. Pinkney and himself will avail themselves with pleasure of his Lordship's obliging offer to do them the honor of presenting them to His Majesty to-day at 2 o'clock. Altho' M^r. Monroe is already an accredited Minister at this Court, yet as he is invested with a new character, being included in the special mission from the U. States, he presumes that it will be proper that he should also have the honor of being presented to His Majesty as a party to it. M^r. Pinkney and M^r. Monroe will have the honor of delivering to Lord Spencer a copy of their joint letter of credence at 1. o'clock.

Notes

to Lord Spencer, and

Lord Rowick.

July 21. 1806.

Mr. Monroe presents his compliments to Lord Howick and begs to assure His Lordship that he is very sensible of his obliging attention in offering, as he is just informed by Lord Holland, his good offices to procure Mr. Pittney and himself, the honor of being presented to His Majesty to-day, which has been hitherto delayed by the much-lamented indisposition of Mr. Fox. Mr. Monroe has the honor to inform Lord Howick that he has just received a letter from Lord Spencer intimating that his Lordship will do Mr. P. and himself the honor of presenting them to His Majesty to-day. He hastens to give Lord Howick this information, in consequence of a suggestion from Lord Holland that Lord Howick would be so good as to remain at home till twelve o'clock for the purpose of receiving them.
