

Spring 2020

I sent you a mask today

My dog cries if I leave the house without her

You lost your first tooth

You lost your second tooth

I studied the Psalms

A cardinal built a nest and so I put the tops of my strawberries on the rail of the deck

“Nana, when I come to your house can we do the limbo?”

Basil is a good thing to grow by tomato plants

Farm is a noun and a verb

Empty flower pot collects rain and tadpoles

You came over and when it was time to go you climbed in my lap.

The Easter Lily I planted beside the house in the yard last spring for my friend that I loved bloomed

Happy little Easter

Standing on the promises of God

Choosing life.
