

Phi Beta Kappa Ceiling Falls In Near Catastrophe Saturday

Over 100 concert-goers missed possible death or injury by less than 24 hours, when the ceiling under the north balcony of Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium crashed to the floor Saturday about 5:30 p. m. A student recital had been scheduled for 4 p. m. Sunday.

Thomas Thorne, head of the fine arts department, estimated approximately $1000 damage to the building.

Thorne opined that the vibrations of successive trains in the Williamsburg area over a period of years caused the loosening of nails holding up the ceiling. He recalled the fact that the entire peninsula is built on a somewhat unstable foundation due to the non-existence of rock below the surface.

The auditorium portion of the building was unoccupied at the time of the accident. Harry Tanzer, Bob Alderfer and Walt Walker, all students and amateur radio "hams," were, however, in the radio room adjoining the auditorium.

Another student, Martin Irons, was approaching the building when he heard "a terrific rumbling crash which lasted about 10 or 15 seconds."

Tanzer said that when he first heard the noise of the ceiling crashing, which apparently started at the stage end of the auditorium, See PHI BETA, Page 9

Spring Hop To Top Spivak To Provide Marshall Addresses Festive Week End Spring Hop Music Youth on Democracy

A festive week end has been planned for students attending the Spring Hop to be held on March 17 and 18 in Blow Gymnasium.

The dance is centered around a St. Patrick's Day theme and the gymnasium will be decorated with color patterns of traditional Irish green.

Advance ticket sales for the Friday and Saturday night dances will begin on Monday, March 6, in the main cafeteria at 12 noon. Admission for both nights will be $6.00. Advance sales end at 1 p. m. on Thursday, March 16. Individual tickets purchased at the door on these nights, however, will be $5.00 on Friday and $2.00 for Saturday. Tickets may also be secured by contacting Jim Kirkpatrick, of the dance committee, in Old Dominion Hall 314.

Charlie Spivak and his bands are playing Friday evening from 10 p. m. until 2 a. m. and the dress is formal. The Saturday night dance is informal, beginning at 9 p. m. and lasting until midnight. Music will be furnished by a popular Peninsula band.

According to Kirkpatrick, tables will be provided and appropriately decorated.

"The dance committee budget is in the black for the first time in four years. If students desire top-flight bands for their dances, their whole-hearted support is essential," commented Kirkpatrick.

Solidly established for his individuality as the man who plays "The Sweetest Trumpet In The World," Charlie Spivak and his band will furnish the music for the Spring Hop on Friday evening, March 17, in Blow Gymnasium.

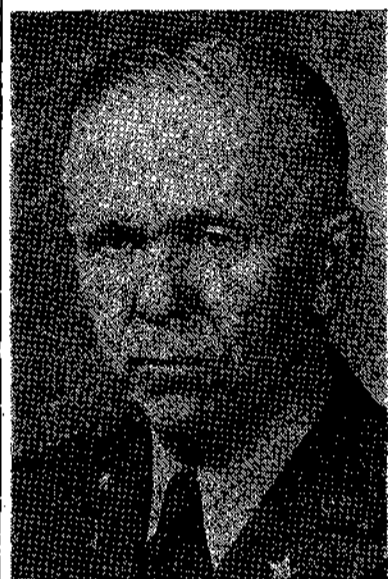

A native of Connecticut, Spivak has gained national recognition as one of America's finest trumpet players. Before forming his own band, he was rated as the most sought-after free lance trumpeter in the country.

Featured Performer

During his earlier experience as a musician, he was featured with such popular orchestras as Benny Pollack, Dorsey Brothers and Ray Noble. Feeling that he possessed all the ingredients necessary for success, he organized his own band and proceeded to break all records established by Glenn Miller and Jimmy Dorsey at the Cafe Rouge of the Statler Hotel in New York.

Spivak graduated from the Hill House High School in New Haven and studied the trumpet under George Hyer, who is a member of the New Haven Symphony Orchest-

Celebrities Honor Contest Winners

The four winners of the third annual Voice of Democracy Contest were honored yesterday at 2 p. m. in a speech by General George C. Marshall, president of the American Red Cross. Speaking from the historic House of Burgesses here, Marshall declared that freedom of expression and access to knowledge prepares today's youth to assume the obligations of a democratic society.

Describing democracy as an old idea, he referred to teachings of Pericles who regarded public discussion "as an indispensable preliminary to any wise action at all." Stressing the validity of this statement Marshall said "the free expression of opinion today perhaps becomes even a stronger implement for forging world peace and understanding than in the day of Pericles."

General Marshall was introduced by John D. Rockefeller 3rd, chairman of Colonial Williamsburg who urged the acceptance of obligations to public service in the achievement of a broader democracy. He stated his hopes that the Voice of Democracy might encourage

--- Tug of War, Barefoot Ball Highlight Class Plans ---

"We will defend the honor of our young and innocent women from the aggressiveness of the worldly wise junior men," stated Bob Schauf, president of the freshmen class, in sounding a challenge to the junior class for a tug of war battle to be held on College Corner Friday night, March 3, at 7 p. m.

Acceptance of the challenge by Jim Rehlaender, president of the junior class, was followed by the remark "It's about time the frosh girls were enlightened."

Tug of War

The tug of war battle will be directed by Jeep Friedman of the junior class. Plans include dividing the street into a well marked line with the words "no man's land." Each class team will be stationed on opposite sides to begin the "Big Pull" as soon as the signal is given.

Members of the senior class have been designated to handle the fire hose in meting out the penalty for the first team crossing "no man's land."

During the intermission of the Barefoot Ball, which will be held on the following night, a heart-tearing rendition of I Love You Truly will be chanted by the president of the losing class to the victors.

Involves Honor

Since this duel involves the issue of defending the honor of young women, all sophomores and seniors should find it in their interests to attend.

Latest rumors from members of the freshmen class report large purchases of Hadacol from local druggists by the "old men" of the junior class to make them physically able to participate in the contest.

"Make it a point to wear raincoats and hip boots" stated Rehlaender in his advice to the freshmen.

By Widdy Fennell

The presidents of the senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes announced plans this week for a joint "Barefoot Ball" to be held in Blow Gym on Saturday, March 4.

The hours of the dance will be from 9 p. m.-12 midnight and music will be supplied by Hank Kashouty and his orchestra.

There will be no admission charge. The four class officers feel that the students should directly reap the benefits of their class dues. As a result of a hearty response in the collection of these dues, the four classes will jointly finance the entire dance.

Backwoods Creation Theme

The theme of the dance will be a "Backwoods Creation." To match the theme everyone is being asked to come attired in old clothes and to "check your shoes" outside.

Students from the upper classes will recall the gay time they had at a similar dance last fall sponsored by the junior and senior classes. This dance was considered by many as one of the best class dances the school has had in recent years.

Director of Theatre States Box Office Will Open March 6

Miss Althea Hunt, director of the William and Mary Theatre, has announced that the box office for No More Peace, current Theatre production, will be open Monday and Tuesday, March 6 and 7, from 3-5 p. m. and Wednesday and Thursday from 3 p. m. until curtain time.

The plot of No More Peace is unusual in that there are no lead or "star" roles. Among those appearing in the play will be Cris "Napoleon" Moe, Rusty "Angel" Davis, Blair "St. Francis" MacKenzie, George "Cain" Belk and Chick "Socrates" Brown.

Variety of Plays

During the last two years, Moe has appeared in a variety of plays including The Merry Wives of Windsor, The Little Foxes, Cheats of Scapin, The Great Campaign and Taming of the Shrew.

Rusty was first seen by William and Mary theater goers in last year's production of The Great Campaign and later appeared in the 1949 Varsity Show.

Main Contribution

Although MacKenzie is interested in acting and directing, his main contribution to the William and Mary Theatre has been in the field of designing. Belk and Brown recently played in The Merry Wives of Windsor.

Howard Scammon, associate director, is in charge of the song sequences, while Brown is arranging the dances.

Writers Cudgel Cafeteria, Review in - - - Letters To The Editor

Sir:

In spite of the fact that the reviewer now seems to have actually heard the records reviewed in that column, I still find it puerile, uncritical (in the broad sense), and it still reads like the promotion department of the combined "Big Three" record companies. (Evidently you don't get press releases from Capitol yet).

I suggest two alternatives: (1) abandon the column, or, (2) just copy the press releases verbatim, make the record companies happy and save wear and tear on the Flat Hat reporters.

Incidentally, you have no idea of the commotion that would be created if I were to call Dixieland music Dixie-Land in my magazine — where did you get this from, Al Jolson? I also think that J. Dorsey would prefer to have his Original Dorseyland Jazz Band called just that, as it is supposed to represent a tie with the style of the Original Dixieland Jazz Band, as is obvious from the two names.

Sincerely,
 Roy Morser, Co-Editor

Dear Sir:

This letter is to offer my thanks to the staff of the cafeteria for the improvements that have been made in the general conditions there. However, in my opinion, the improvements so far are of a rather superficial nature. The vegetables are somewhat greener and more appetizing in appearance, but mightn't this be due to the use of baking soda?

Ice in the water and the new paint are very nice, but hardly make up for the quality and quantity of the food which was the original cause of last month's outburst. The prices have changed little, though the variety and selections seem to have improved slightly. I would like to know if the staff of the cafeteria has any serious intention of adjusting any of the deficiencies that have been brought to their attention so frequently in the last month. As a well regulated puppet of the college who is forced to buy a meal book every month, I would still like to know if I am ever going to get my money's worth.

Strictly from hunger,
 Skip Scherer

Dear Sir:

Approximately one month ago the school arose in arms against the miserable conditions in what is smilingly referred to as 'the college cafeteria'. It is quite true that at that time nothing was promised. In fact the college rather rudely refused to give our objections any consideration at all. But, the students, rightfully feeling that the college would at least try to look after their interests, let the matter ride. In fact, for a while, it almost appeared that the administration had tried.

But, as time has passed, it has become increasingly obvious that the administration has continued its usual policy of doing nothing and caring less, at least so far as the student body is concerned. To say the least, they have not played ball with us. Believing that certain powers outside the college are interested in this problem, it strikes me that it is high time for us to do something again to show that we are still not satisfied. We still want better food at lower prices.

Yours respectfully,
 Allen Bowman

Through The Looking Glass

By Jeannette Keimling and Mary Jo Finn

Three sheets to the laundry and M-J sleeps on the mattress from now on. We never knew that the boys on this campus had so many shirts. Not only did they all send at least seven to the laundry last week, but they were Arrow, French - cuffed, white-on-white, and never - been - worn - before. Guess Mr. Harris will lose his. New parenthood is a justifiable cause for pride, but Joe Callaway shouldn't have passed his cigars out in the laundry.

The pay-as-you-go plan is fine as long as you're not paying. On the authority of Vince Pirri, who has just returned after a brief escape, every minute costs, it may already be too late, don't waste time, hurry, or—has your G.I. run out? By using Consumer's Guide, the index numbers of the Department of Labor Bureau of Statistics, a few surreptitious moments at the IBM tabulator (it can add 30 columns simultaneously)—and his overdraft at the Peninsula Bank, he has come to the conclusion that in order to cut costs, he must cut cutting classes.

Here it is—Every time a "damn-yankee" (a D. Y. being anybody who lives outside of Virginia) cuts, it costs him 93c a class period. With the natives it's half-price—only 53c a lecture. The administration, in order to stabilize the local educational values (???) ought to advocate 2 to 1 cutting by Southerners or ½ to 1 by D. Y.'s. So far this combo is out $8.16. Just think, it's possible to make a gift of $210 a semester to the college, if you're on Dean's List. What's this complaint against cutting — they're making money!!

No breakfast, no sleep, no preparation for class, no cigarettes, and what happens—we walk into a cooled-off Dante's Inferno. This describes any 8 o'clock classroom where a few chivalrous students have to shovel a path to the podium for the professor through the smoldering cig butts, coke empties, discarded Okey - Doak boxes and Yumsey packages. Any prof given to demonstrative gesticulating is liable to knock over a row of coke bottles. Of course, it makes the emphasis more emphatic. By ten o'clock, after two profs have paced their way through two lectures, and 60 students have dragged in and run out, this mess has mashed down to a nice mesh on which the 11 o'clocks can sit for a saki party. Or else some industrial entrepreneur could peel it off and set up a pulp factory. If the midnight oil-burners that study (?) in in the vacant classrooms don't stop littering them, we can have woods parties in Marshall-Wythe. P. S. Those large cylinders are trash cans.

It isn't just heresay that this is the most outstanding class of freshmen women to enter W&M in a long time, but it is also the most outstanding breaker of rules. During Duc Days everyone had fun complying, but now that the spirit is gone maybe we should send Botty back to the capitol. We are not advocating a Jewish police force to hunt for love in the library stacks after seven, to poke at bushes, or to peer over the boundary wall at the end of the Sunken Gardens, but the women students who wait for their junior and senior years to gain privileges resent the arrogant recklessness of their juniors. The point we intend is that, we, the women students, make our own rules. Any woman student who feels that the rules are too stringent has the privilege of suggesting a change and bringing it to a vote in W.S.C.G.A. The purpose of the seven o'clock rule is to coerce new students into good study habits. Yet three out of four cases brought before Jewish are freshmen women who date out of hours. This is not only a judicial offense but a breach of the Honor Code, because it involves cheating. Every other women's class that has gone through W&M has found that as a whole they could abide by the rules, and this year it has become possible for freshmen women to earn more dating privileges by making Dean's List. It is a definite reflection on the freshman class that their social conduct is not akin to their academic potentialities.

William And Mary Go Round

By Glenn Garrison and Bruce Crowell

In our mail this week was a letter addressed to us in care of the column, postmarked Reykjavik, Iceland, and signed by a Mrs. Hans Werther. Always ones to keep our fingers on the public pulse, we tested the envelope for booby-trapping, removed the detonator of a small land-mine, and translated from the Icelandic as follows:

"I am reading your fine column each week and clipping out all the cooking recipes, and am finding most helpful the one last week where you tell how to make the fried egg by putting egg into a pan and letting it fry; now I am wanting to ask, can you telling me how to make the fried potato?"

Garrison

Mrs. Werther obviously got us mixed up with some other column, but a reader is a reader and so we decided to broaden the scope of our material a bit. It was getting too narrow anyway, and from now on, as a public service feature, we will present each week a new and tasty recipe, a moving picture review, advice to the love-lorn, tips on the races, pinball news, analyses of outstanding political events, and a whole bunch of other stuff.

This week's recipe: FRIED POTATO. Proceed as with FRIED EGG, only use a POTATO.

Outstanding news events of the week: Kansas City: Climax of many news reports about flying saucers came when a B-36 pilot sighted a saucer with a cup of coffee on it streaking past at an altitude of 19,000 feet. The pilot snapped a photograph which experts are studying to determine whether or not the coffee had cream in it. Princeton University: Dr. Albert Einstein announced that a new discovery completely reverses his previous theories and that "E equal MC squared" should read "E equals MC squared plus 2." Atomic warfare is no longer a threat, says Dr. Einstein, because according to his new theory, matter is not made up of atoms at all, but is put together with Scotch tape.

Real Estate for Sale: Phi Beta Kappa Hall, can be had very cheap. A little work will put this building in excellent condition. Of course, most of it has just fallen down and the rest is condemned. At present, for safety reasons, no one is allowed inside the building except students. Priced at only $790,000. Contact C. J. Dook, Agent.

Movie Review: One of the worst movies to appear on the screen in some time is a film called "Movietone News," which had its premiere in New York last week. From the beginning, this picture is poorly directed, badly acted, and shows little coherence of plot. Opening with a shot of a building resembling the White House, the camera quickly moves to a close-up of an actor wearing spectacles and a bow tie, who is supposed to be the President of the United States, but who doesn't look a bit like the real chief executive. The "President" makes a speech, something about a Nitrogen bomb, or possibly it was Helium; at any rate, the scene shifts abruptly to a horse-race and the President is never seen again throughout the film. The horses, especially the one who wins the race, play their parts fairly well, but their characterizations seem to lack depth. Then there are some shots of a fire, but the firemen are all miscast. Final scene depicts bathing beauties parading along the beach of a resort. We thought that the love interest would develop here, but the film ends with a shot of a girl on a surfboard. This ending seems a bit obscure, because it doesn't tie in either the President or the race-horses, or any of the firemen. Perhaps the scene could have been strengthened by having the President ride up on the winning horse and set the girl on fire.

Crowell

Another new feature we are introducing is a serial story which will run from week to week. The first story is a mystery thriller entitled "The Case of the Missing Misogynist."

Chapter One

"Fingers" McGinty grabbed his gat. It spat twice, "Ptui, Ptui!" The old lady dropped to the concrete, dead as a mackerel. "I hate old ladies!" screamed McGinty. In another part of the world, "Knuckles" McGyntie lurched through the dark streets of the Kasbah. He grabbed his gat, yanked at the trigger. Nothing happened. In still another part of the world, "Thumbs" MacGintye leaned from a high window, lost his balance, fell out. As he fell, his fingers tightened on the trigger of his gat. Directly beneath him was an old lady.

Phi Bete Proves a Point—

The College of William and Mary narrowly missed making all of the State and many national newspapers, with the fall of the section of ceiling in Phi Beta Kappa auditorium, Saturday. Had the student recital scheduled for Sunday been going on at that hour, there would have certainly been some casualties, possibly many. The mass of plaster, wire mesh and wood that fell in the rear nearly flattened the back rows of seats, and would have been sufficient to kill anyone seated there. The debris covers the whole section of seats under the balcony on the right side. It is fortunate that it happened at a time that the auditorium was unoccupied.

In addition to the possibilities of the damage by the plaster, it is possible that quite a fire could have been started, had the lights been on at the time. It is easy to imagine the hallowed building a charred ruin.

In view of this development, it is not difficult to believe that the auditorium is badly in need of overall repair.

It is feasible that the entire structure is weak, and may require considerable repair before it is suitable for use again. Any activities scheduled there will have to either be postponed or transferred to another Williamsburg building, possibly the Reception Center, if it can be arranged.

This situation brings the need for a modern auditorium on campus into sharp focus. As far as seating capacity is concerned, Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium is sufficient to accommodate the number who attend most functions there. But putting in the word "comfortably" casts an entirely different light on the matter. The ground floor is ungraded, making it extremely difficult to see after the midway point, and the condition in the balcony, with the seats at right angles to the stage, would be comical if it were not so pitiful. Man's neck was made to be held straight ahead—not twisted to one side for any length of time. And at times of the theatre productions, the building is filled to capacity, with more space needed.

With subcommittees working on plans for the proposed Student Activities Building and new Fine Arts Building, now is the time to urge consideration of an auditorium in one of those "dream" edifices. It has been mentioned that one is planned for the Fine Arts Building. We suggest that this be large enough to hold the crowds of theatergoers that regularly attend the productions of the William and Mary Theatre. And that it be constructed with regard to the comfort of the spectators, so that they may all face the stage and be able to see without too much neck-craning.

Another detail that is sadly deficient in that building is the actual facilities on hand for the production staffs. They do remarkably well with the amount of space allowed for backstage work. A new auditorium, complete with such fixtures as the theater group desires, would be a fine step towards William and Mary's aim to make the college one of the finest and most modern of the small colleges. If the money has been appropriated, it is time for the wheels of progress to begin turning in the planning department. If not, it is time for consideration to be given in that direction. Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium is obsolete and should be replaced and set aside for tourists to gaze at, and for special memorial occasions.

RECORD REVIEW

By Buck Bounds

Those who haven't already done so should run to get on the "com-bowagon" with George Shearing, the season's sensation. Shearing's polished treatment of most of his tunes adds a much needed touch of sophistication to music that has already gone progressive. A stack of Shearing is hard to find because of his relatively few releases and the current demand of the record collectors. Shearing's latest release bears the label of the MGM wax works. The favorite side reads The Continental. George's unusual artistry and sensitive musical feeling lends delightful tonal color to the tune and scores a revelation in melodic and rhythmic contrast. The flipover features Denzel Best, Shearing's drummer, in a little thing called Nothing But D. Best.

One of the newest, and we believe better bands of today is that of Ralph Flanagan. Once a Sammy Kaye pianist and arranger, Ralph does an about-face in his own right to style his band in the Glenn Miller tradition. The current and choice discs are: You're Always There and Rag Mop.

Flip over your record of The Cry of The Wild Goose and lend an ear to Frankie Laine's Black Lace. Frankie's pipes ride high on this number, and the same splendid instrumentation that accompanies him on the coupling provides the polished touch for this extremely sexy tune. The author is ashamed for overlooking this one, but maybe he won't be alone. Give the old goose a flip and see what you think of Black Lace, and then maybe you can tell us why it has been overlooked.

tra. His family had destined him to follow a medical career, but he altered this plan because of his musical interests.

Success Formula

There is a philosophy which Spivak always suggests to his friends for success and this formula is "Don't take yourself seriously, my boy."

Being a member of the band, there is an opportunity for recreation as well as work. A baseball fan for many years, Spivak has organized a team within his own band and plays centerfield. His most ardent admirers, however, are his two children.

A native Virginian currently featured with the band is Rusty Nichols, a member of the quartet.

Sixty Three New Arrivals Register This Semester

By Pat Bostick

The registration of 63 new students, since the beginning of second semester, was announced Friday by J. Wilfred Lambert, Dean of Admissions.

The total number of students now enrolled is 1,802, which represents a decrease of 125 from the first semester enrollment, due mainly to the largest February graduating class in the history of the college. Of these, 1,110 are men and 692 are women students.

Among the 18 new women and 45 men there are several students who have attended either high school or college abroad or in a distant section of the United States.

Heidelberg Graduate

One of these is Mary Margaret Ellis, who at the present time is from Fort Monroe, where her father is a Lieutenant-Colonel, but who graduated in a class of 26 American dependents from Heidelberg High School in Germany.

Mary Margaret thinks her graduation last June, which was held in the ancient castle, "Heidelberg Schloss," was about as unusual as possible. On returning to the United States, she entered Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth near her home town. She is majoring in home economics here and thinks William and Mary "is simply wonderful."

European Traveler

Another interesting new student is Sarah Todd Fletcher, or "Toddy," as everyone in Chandler Calls her. "Toddy" just returned from Europe in November after six months there. She visited friends and relatives in London and Paris and went on a tour of Scotland, attending highland festivals in Edinburgh and Glasgow.

"Toddy" is majoring in dramatics and despite her "Cavalier leanings," since her home is in Charlottesville, she thinks William and Mary is "fine" and is quite pleased with it.

Frank Edelblut of Richmond is another transfer student. Frank attended V.P.I. for a year and a half. He too is "quite happy about my decision to come here," as he thinks, "it's a big change for the better." Frank is majoring in business administration with special emphasis on personnel management.

Withrow Represents Philip Morris Firm

The appointment of Dennis Withrow, a business major from Covington, as campus representative for the Phillip Morris Company was recently announced.

His assignment includes the distribution of guest packages to students and interested groups planning parties, dinners and luncheons.

"I look upon this as a chance to gain extremely practical experience in salesmanship which will not only reinforce my present studies, but help me in obtaining a good job after graduation," stated Withrow.

He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity and the Society for Advancement of Management.

age young people to an early acceptance of leadership.

This public ideal of leadership, Rockefeller said, is typified in General Marshall. "No man stands more appropriately in this place—a modern counterpart of the greatest soldier-statesman of early Virginia."

Following General Marshall's talk Gloria Chomiak, of Wilmington, Del., one of the four national winners of the contest repeated her winning script.

Associate Justice Tom C. Clark, of the U. S. Supreme Court, one of the judges of the contest, was also present at the ceremony.

At the conclusion of the program plaques were presented to Marshall, Rockefeller, and Clark by the other contest winners: Robert Shanks, of Lebanon, Ind.; Richard L. Chapman, of Brookings, S. D.; and Anne Pinkney, of Trinidad, Colo.

The four national winners won the contest by writing the best broadcast scripts on the subject, I Speak for Democracy, among a million contestants in 28,000 high schools of the United States and territories.

The ceremonies at the Colonial Capital building climaxed the series of honors which have been paid to the winners of this national contest.

Tribe Hoopmen Seeded Second in S C Tournament

Face UNC Thursday Night; Must End Jinx to Win

By Mark McCormack

The William and Mary basketball team leaves tomorrow for Durham, N. C., where it will compete in this year's Southern Conference tournament, lasting from Thursday through Saturday.

The Tribe has been seeded second, only one notch behind the mighty Wolfpack of North Carolina State. William and Mary in its first game opposes the University of North Carolina, who tops the lower bracket which also includes Duke and South Carolina.

The Gamecocks open the three day affair on Thursday when they tangle with Duke's Blue Devils at 2:15 p. m. In the other afternoon contest, Wake Forest battles George Washington and at 7:00 p. m., opening the evening session, VPI will throw a zone defense at North Carolina State's Dickey, Ranzino & Company in hopes of making the defending champion's stay in this year's tournament a very short one.

Tar Heel Jinx

In the feature attraction at 9:00 p. m., William and Mary's Indians take to the hardwood hoping to wreak a cruel vengeance on Carolina's White Phantoms who came out on top of the Braves after their last tussle on the Reservation several weeks ago. The evening fiasco is being looked forward to with great expectation in both Virginia and North Carolina as the best two teams from each state will pair off and vie for the much desired superiority.

If the Wilsonmen can get by the Tar Heels they stand an excellent chance of reaching the finals to play what, in all probability will be the rubber game of a three game "series" with N. C. State. Assuming, and we hope it's not assuming too much, that the Indians can overcome UNC, they will face in their second game, on Friday, the winner of the Duke-South Carolina fray; neither of these teams boast too successful a season's record. However, the Tar Heel "jinx" has long reigned supreme; never has an Indian basketball or football team defeated a team from Chapel Hill, and the White Phantoms are certainly not to be sold short.

Star-Studded

Chester Giermak's return to the Southern Conference tournament for the last time is being eagerly awaited, for his breath-taking and awe-inspiring performance in last year's semi-finals against George Washington, called by many the greatest single performance in the history of Southern basketball will not soon be forgotten. Along with Chet, men like Dickey, Ranzino, Nemo Nearman, Paul Horvath, Dick Sayre, Jere Bunting, and Tex Tillson will make this year's tourney truly a star-studded one!

Tribe Nabs Fourth In Big Six Classic As Lindsay Stars

The Tribe thincads scored 16 points in the Big Six Indoor Track Meet last Wednesday at the University of Virginia to cop fourth place behind VPI, VMI and Virginia in the affairs at Charlottesville.

The Tribe's Sam Lindsay turned in one of the most outstanding performances of the meet as he won the mile and the 880 events.

That Man Sam

The senior from New York ran a 4:46.8 mile over the Cavaliers' slow board track to take the event by a large margin. Lindsay was in sixth place going into the last lap of the 880 when he let out with a terrific burst of speed to pass by four men and catch Fred Bass of VMI at the tape. His time was 2:09.9.

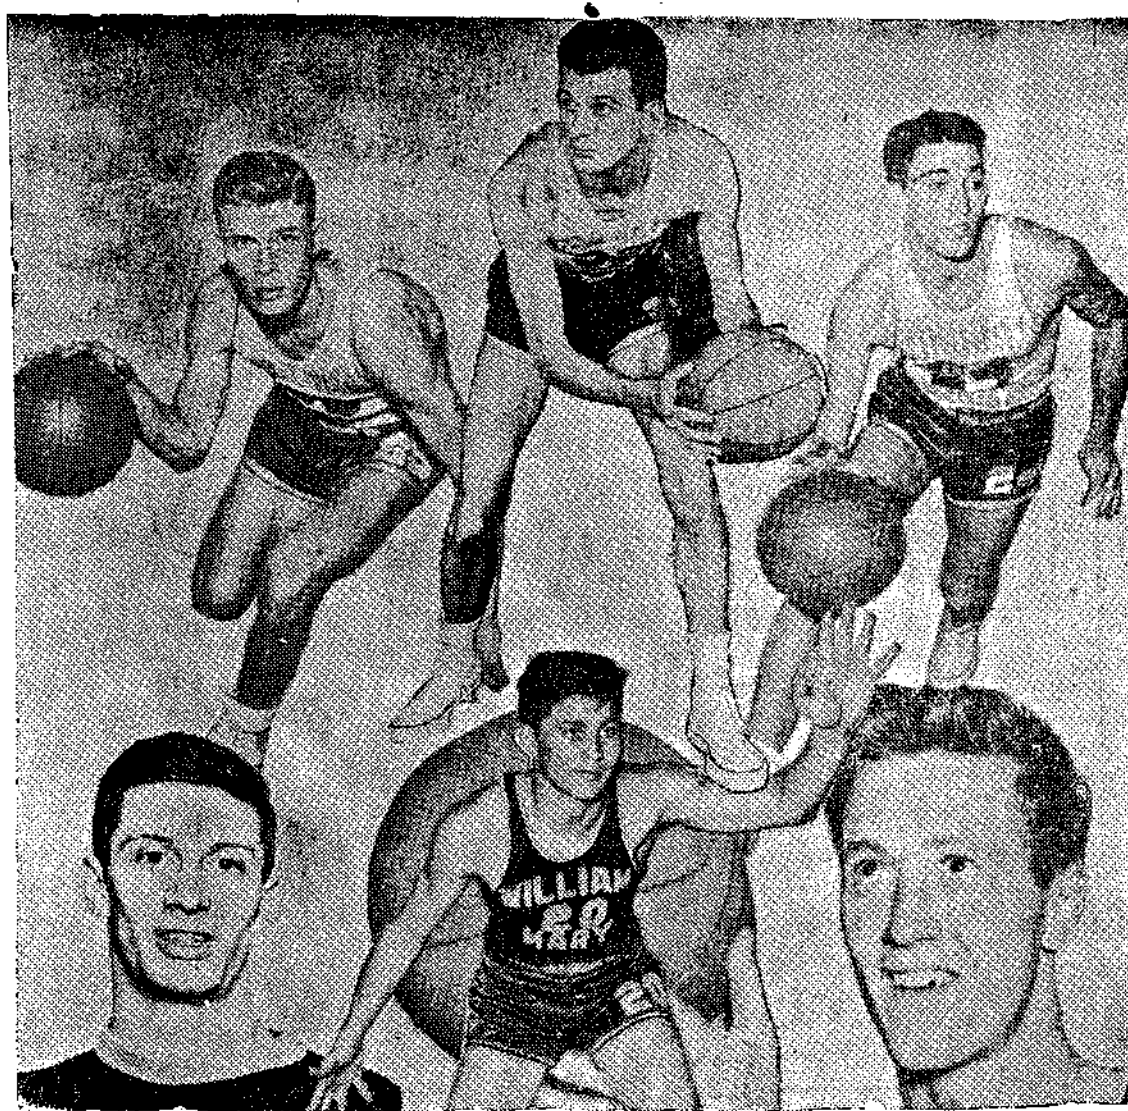

The Indians picked up another first place when distance man Clyde Baker coasted in with the two mile victory. Baker, who lapped all but one man, won with a very good 10:30.9 time. Bob (Bullet) Lawson captured the number three spot in this event for the Big Green.

Freshmen John Munger took third places in the freshmen events in the 880 and the 440.

SC Meet Last Saturday

Last Saturday W&M four top distance men, Lindsay, Baker, Lawson and Munger, took part in the 15th annual Southern Conference meet at Chapel Hill. Some 600 trackmen were entered in the all day classic.

For the Tri-Color Clyde Baker took third place in the two mile run in the time of 10:08.9. Lindsay took a fourth in the highly competitive mile run, and Munger captured the third slot in the 3/4 mile freshmen event.

DURHAM BOUND: William and Mary's "Big Six" who leave tomorrow for the Southern Conference classic in Durham. Along the top row are the Tribe's Co-captains, Jere Bunting and Chet Giermak, and Betsy Lewis. On the bottom row are John Rentfro, Fuzz McMillan and Bob Benjamin. The four other men on the tourney team are Freddy Allen, Dick Forrest, Jack Payne and Jim Akers.

Frosh Fall 66-62 To Richmond Five After Losing Lead

After leading most of the game, the William and Mary frosh basketball quintet dropped a close 66-62 tilt to the Richmond Frosh at Richmond.

At the opening whistle the Little Indians took the lead and led 25-5 at one time during the first half. The Indian Frosh pulled away to a 37-21 lead at the halftime intermission, and they were paced by Bill Chambers and Willie Clarke, who racked up ten and eight points, respectively.

The second half was a different story, however, as the Baby Indians' defense slackened, and the Spider frosh surged back to cop the game. After holding Richmond's high scoring John St. Leger to two points in the opening period, St. Leger broke loose and went on a 19 point scoring spree in the last half.

Bill Chambers led the Little Indians in scoring with 16 points, bringing his season's total 301 points. Whitey McCallen bucketed 15 markers, and Willie Clarke garnered 11 points.

John St. Leger, Spider ace, was high point man for the night, meshing 21 points. Jim Gahagen trailed him with 17 markers.

The William and Mary freshmen play their final game of the season a week from tonight, when they encounter the University of Virginia freshmen at the City Auditorium in Norfolk.

Purely Rumor, But

Since a football game has been set between the University of North Carolina and William and Mary, but hasn't been officially released by Chapel Hill authorities, the following is "purely rumor:"

The Tribe will play the Tar Heels on October 28 at Chapel Hill, and the Richmond game will be played here December 2.

We asked "Rube" McCray for a comment and got the reply, "no comment"; so we asked Publicity Director Jim Jackson and received the same echo—"no comment," but we think it's great!

Cagers Top Spiders 81-54; Squeak by Maroons 53-50

Due to last week's games, Coach Barney Wilson's Tribe cagers will head into the Southern Conference Tournament deadlocked with George Washington with a 12-4 record. During the past week, the Indians edged Roanoke 53-50 and routed Richmond 81-54.

Exploding in the second half for 50 points, W&M closed the curtain on their home season Saturday night by running roughshod over Richmond 81-54.

Coach Mac Pitt's Spiders set up a web defense around Giermak as they played their usual zone defense. Giermak, however, again proved unstoppable as he swished the nets for 19 points. Fuzz McMillan with 22 and Jere Bunting with 15 were the other big guns for the Tribe.

Two mid-westerners from Illinois, Wes Brown and co-captain Bob Shaw, tried vainly to keep the Spiders within range as they counted for 20 and 13 markers respectively.

After the first 12 minutes, the Wilsonmen pulled away and gained a 31-23 halftime lead. Starting the second half by hitting seven of their first eight shots, the Redmen zoomed to a 60-30 lead midway in the period. From there the two clubs matched basket for basket, but the Spiders had found their scoring eyes too late to do much harm.

Tuesday a partisan Roanoke College crowd crammed into the Roanoke Legion Auditorium to see what was almost the Old Dominion basketball upset of the year. The Tribe was on the brink of defeat with 15 seconds remaining when Fuzz McMillan sank a long one-handed shot to become the hero in a 53-50 Tribe victory.

Screams rocked the auditorium when Eddie Cap, who hit for 23 of the Maroon's points, was fouled with 20 seconds remaining. He hit on his first free throw to break a 49-49 deadlock, but missed the second. The Indians, however, grabbed the rebound and took the lead on McMillan's long shot.

Chet Giermak topped the Indian attack as he scored 22 points. But it was the Tribe's ability to hit at the foul line that brought final victory. They hit for 13 of 16, while Roanoke succeeded on only 12 of 21.

UVa Tickets on Sale

All students who are planning to see the University of Virginia-William and Mary basketball game next Tuesday in Norfolk's City Auditorium are urged to pick up the tickets immediately. The tickets will be returned the latter part of this week to Norfolk.

Giermak Obtains Mention In Rating For All-American

Still another laurel was given to Chester Giermak last week when the Sporting News released its 1949-50 All-American basketball team. The lanky Chicagoan was named to the second team this year, an advancement of three teams over his last year's position on the fifth team.

The Sporting News team, which is recognized as one of the most authentic teams selected was also the first major team released this year. As each team is announced in the future, without doubt many more All-American honors will be heaped on Chet, who is now in his senior year, and playing his last basketball games for William and Mary.

Named to the first team were Rick Harman of Kansas State, Bill Sharman of Southern California, Bob Cousy of Holy Cross, Dick Schnittker of Ohio State, and Paul Arizin of Villanova. Giermak and North Carolina State's Sam Ranzino were the only two Southern Conference players mentioned on any of the five teams and ironically enough neither make their homes south of the Mason-Dixon line; Giermak hails from Chicago and Ranzino is from Gary, Indiana. The other Wolfpack hot-shot, Dick Dickey, who also comes out of Indiana, failed to even place his name in six point type as he was given only an honorable mention.

Indian Of The Week

To many William and Mary track fans Indian of the Week, Sam Lindsay, Big Six mile and 880 champion, represents the acme of track skill in the Old Dominion.

Last week Sam took two first places, one in the mile and the other in the half mile, at the Big Six indoor meet at Charlottesville. One of the two men in the competition to take two firsts, Sam ran a four minutes 46 second mile and a two minutes nine second half. Saturday night he placed fourth in the Southern Conference indoor mile.

One of the mainstays on the track team in the Spring, Sam also is a valued member of the varsity cross country team. In the former he runs both the mile and the 880 and currently is holder of both the indoor and outdoor Big Six titles in these events. He placed second in the Southern Conference mile run last year and was on the Conference team at the Interconference meet in Atlanta, Ga.

This spring Sam will be participating in his final season at the Reservation. Weighing only 135 pounds, he is characterized as a hard running, hard training, and high scoring runner who has gained his place of distinction in track annals only through a maximum of effort and determination.

Tribe Gridmen Dominate TD's All-Time State Team

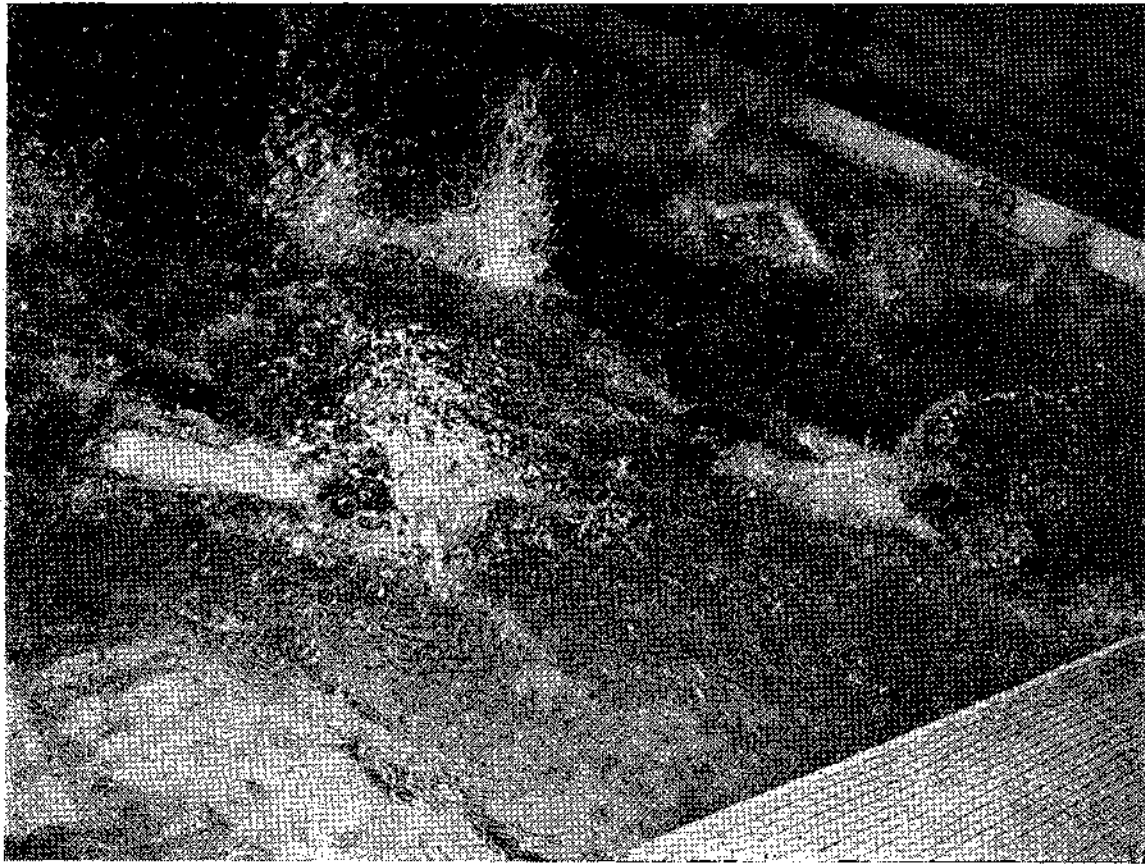

Anthony Cops Three Wins in Tennis Meet

Gardner Anthony, one of the mainstays of this year's tennis squad, last week won his way to the third round of the Eastern Indoor tennis tournament, held in Kings Armory in New York City.

Anthony, although still undefeated in the meet, was forced to withdraw in the third round because of the time that would be required before he would be able to play.

After a first round bye, Anthony bested his next two opponents by identical 6-2, 6-2 scores and would have faced Chuck Devoe in the third round.

The meet will continue through next week with over 200 players after the crown. Anthony is a member of Sigma Rho social fraternity.

Seven Indians Receive First Team Berths

By Hugh Moore

The roster of the All-Time All-State football team as released Sunday by the Richmond Times-Dispatch reads like a "Who's Who Among William and Mary Grid Greats."

For no less than seven of the 11 first string performers at one time or another wore the green, gold and silver. Three other second and third team nominees were W&M men.

Heading the list of all-timers from the Reservation was Garrard (Buster) Ramsey, who poled the second highest number of votes. Tommy Thompson was number three in the balloting.

Indians manned both flanks in the persons of Glenn Knox and Vito Regazzo. Knox Ramsey teamed up with his big brother at guard and Marvin Bass filled one tackle slot.

Cloud in Backfield

In the backfield Jack Cloud was the one William and Mary representative.

Chi Mills, of VMI, was the only other all-star who could muster enough votes to squeeze into a line position. Teaming with Cloud were Bill Dudley, Virginia, and Bosh Pritchard and Joe Muha, both of VMI, to round out the first mythical club.

Tackle Otis Douglas was named to the second team and Lou Hoitsma, end, and Harvey Johnson, back, third team.

Of the honor eleven, only Regazzo, Co-captain elect, will be around again next year on college gridirons. Cloud finished his college career this past fall, Knox Ramsey played his final game in 1947, Thompson was through in 1948 and the other three Braves called it finis after steering the 1942 Redskins to their first conference championship.

Continued to Play

But these fellows didn't completely hang up their cleats when they accepted that little scroll inscribed "Diploma."

Garrard Ramsey, for instance, transferred to the pro ranks and has been making headlines as a Chicago Cardinal ever since. Buster was William and Mary's first full-fledged All-American football player.

Knox Ramsey followed as closely the family tradition as possible, duplicating the All-State and All-Conference selections that his brother made, and making the grade on several All-America squads himself. Knox has earned his living the past two falls with the now defunct Los Angeles Dons.

Greatest Name

Bass, possibly the greatest name in William and Mary gridiron history, chose a coaching career over the play-for-pay profession. The Moose made All-State seven times during his playing days and now

Division Tops Tribe's Swimmers by Single Point, 38-37 As Mermen Finish Season with Nine Defeats, One Win

The Tribe swimmers wound up the 1950 season in near-Frank Merriwell fashion last Thursday in Blow Pool, when they came within one lone point of toppling favored Norfolk Division. Lacking that one needed point, the Mermen lost, 38-37, to wind up the season with a record of one win against nine shellackings.

Coach Howard Smith's handling of the entries in the meet may only be termed remarkable, as he got the absolute most out of the team. Saving his best men for events that W&M had the best chance of winning, conceding events in which the Indians were outclassed, and making shrewd gambles, Smith kept the tankmen in contending position throughout the meet. The lead changed hands three times in the hair-raising meet, with the clincher coming in the next to last event.

Best Not Enough

Nearly every man on the team turned in his best time for the season, but the best was not good enough, as the Divisionmen of Scrap Chandler were just too strong. Tribesmen Tom Stevens, Jim Hall and Vic Janega stood out, while stars for the Division were Sonny Keimling, Dick Forbes and Jack Reece.

Despite the poor record of the team this year, there has been considerable improvement over last year's team, and Coach Smith looks forward to more improvement next year. There will be few losses due to graduation, and some promising freshmen will become eligible for varsity competition.

Squaws Squelched; Fischer Thwarted; Westhampton Wins

Two undefeated sextets from Westhampton chalked a double-barreled victory over the Squaws Saturday by the overpowering scores of 59-29 and 53-28. W&M now holds a two-win, two-loss season record and has remaining tilts with Ursinus and Beaver in Philadelphia on the next two Saturdays.

Sharpshooter for the day was Westhampton's Thelma Sheena who swished 36 counters through the nets with the perfect grace and ease that makes a real basketeer. Anne Dow and Peggy Priddy accounted for the remaining tallies with 15 and eight points respectively.

The Westhampton defense closed in on the Squaws particularly from the third quarter on. Bebe Fisher was thwarted to 17 points and was followed by Abner Huffman and Bebe Hammond with eight and four tallies.

W&M guards Fran House, Betty House, Betty Riggins and Margaret Davenport played well on the defense but poorly on the offense. All their wild cross-court passes were intercepted at the center line.

The second team dunking was almost identical. Leading 21-13 at halftime, the Squaws succumbed to a 40 point Westhampton rally in the last period. This seemed to be an inspiration from the resounding spirit, something always lacking in W&M spectators.

Betty Luke and Joan Soles put in 19 and 17 points for the visitors, while Liz Sacalis and Sally Eger connected for 13 and 11 tallies respectively.

Track Candidates

Track practice will begin on Monday, March 6. All those interested will be issued uniforms at the north dressing room of the stadium. Coach Lou Hoitsma stressed that previous track experience is not necessary if you have any desire to run or compete in the field events.

Tribe Gridmen

Knox, named to an end post, later became the American Football League's best passer. He now averages between 15 and 20 points a game for the Richmond basketball Barons.

Thompson, now a member of the Cleveland Browns, was looked upon as being the finest of all Southern Conference pivot men during his undergraduate days.

Recently Drafted

Cloud was recently drafted by the Green Bay Packers after making nearly all-everything the four years he was here and serving as Co-captain last fall.

Douglas, a legendary figure for years on end with the Philadelphia Eagles, recently took up the reigns of head coach at the University of Arkansas.

Johnson became the nation's best at the art of placekicking and holds the professional record for consecutive points booted.

Hoitsma, another of the Co-captains, followed Bass in electing to coach rather than continue playing.

All in all, this imaginary outfit stacks up with the best of them, even if there are four outsiders on the first team.

Lenham, Frosh Breastroker Betters Women's Record

Breaking two previous William and Mary records, the girls' swimming team completed its first telegraphic meet last Thursday night in Blow pool. Results in comparison with competing colleges have not yet been turned in.

In the 40 yards breaststroke, Dottie Lenham cut the former record by 1.9 seconds as she finished the swim in 33.9 seconds. This time topped that made by Jo Hubbell in 1947. Dottie further proved her ability by winning the 100 yard breaststroke. Greta Clark followed a close second in both events.

Another record was smashed by Tink Bell who covered the 100 yard freestyle in a time of 1.13 minutes. In this race Susie Hall placed second. Again Tink Bell held her own as she splashed to a 40 yards freestyle victory.

Undefeated Blue Bullets, Guts Clash Tonight in Top Independent Loop Tilt

The veteran Rubber Gut five, defending champs, will take on the undefeated Blue Bullets tonight at 8:30 in a game that may well decide the Independent League title.

In play last week the Guts led by Bill Roughton and Don Jeffrey with 22 points apiece, ran over the Minerva Lions 71-21. Royce Jones also tossed in 14 for the Gut five, followed by Jim Casey with 11. Don Doland rounds out the five.

The Bullets won a forfeit from the Cardinals, last Saturday but will likely field a quintet of Bob Lawson, Jack Ward, Hersel Beard, George Larkin, Jerry Simpson and Joe Spivey for tonight's battle.

In other play last week the only other undefeated club, the Jersey

Bouncers, drubbed the Virginia Hams 56-13 with Olaf Hedman racking up 14 points. Rounding out the Bouncer five is Paul Walzack, Lou Compo, Charlie Unrue and Owen Taylor.

The Lambi Pies edged the Monarchs 31-25 with Allen Curtis tossing in 15 points. The Wesleyites were snowed under by the Lion Cubs 63-15. Jack McNally was high point man for the Cubs with 13 markers.

Netmen's Schedule Lists 14 Matches, Track, Golf Each Will Face 10 Teams

Although Williamsburg's annual snow fall came just this past weekend, signs of Spring also appeared when R. N. McCray, director of athletics, released the 1950 tennis, track and golf schedules.

These teams will carry the W&M colors to 17 colleges while the Reservation will be host to 18 visiting teams. No dates were set during spring vacation (except one tennis match) this year. Both the tennis and track teams will face the University of Virginia, and two Ivy League and two Little Three schools are on the spring slate.

The tennis team will put the longest winning streak in the history of collegiate athletics, 74 consecutive wins, on the line March 29 when the Big Red of Cornell invades Williamsburg.

Big Red Tough

Cornell's netmen lost one match all last season, and that lone blemish was the 5-4 setback inflicted by the Tribesmen last Spring. The Big Red with both their number one and two players, Dick Savitt and Len Steiner, back again this season, Coach Bren Macken has his work cut out for his young squad.

Cornell will probably be the toughest match of all 14 with Miami and North Carolina right behind.

Lou Hoitsma's thinclads will have four home meets and six on the road. In nine dual meets last season, the Tribe was victorious in only three.

Ten Matches for Linksmen

The golf team will play six of its 10 matches on the Williamsburg Inn Golf Course. Pappy Gooch's linksmen will have five returning lettermen including Doug Weiland who was number one last year.

Baseball Candidates

All candidates for this year's varsity and freshmen baseball teams are requested to meet in Blow Gym Lounge at 7 p. m. this Friday. Coach Howard Smith also wants the pitchers and catchers who met previously at the meeting.

Greens Top Whites 27-20 As Magdziak, Weber Star

The William and Mary Indians divided camp again last Saturday afternoon to battle among themselves for laurels of the week. The intra-squad game, marking the half way point in the six week period, featured the efforts of the Greens and the Whites in a line smashing, end-skirting and pass snagging four quarters.

SAE Downs KA, Rhomen Win Two In Intramurals

Only four teams, SAE, Pi Lamb, Pi KA and Theta Delt remained undefeated as the fraternity basketball loop wound up its third week of play. SAE handed KA its fourth straight defeat to remain in first place with a 4-0 winning record. Pi Lamb moved into a close second having won three and lost none.

Friday Sigma Rho pushed ahead of KA for a 34-22 victory. Moving into the second half with a 15-8 lead the Rhomen hustled to gather in 19 points before the final whistle sounded. Leading the Sigma Rho five was Cliff Kimmerle who collected 14 markers for the victors. KA's Lime Rock Chennault took honors for KA as he poured in exactly half of their 22 points.

A later game saw Pi KA down Lambda Chi 37-27 after a close first half which ended with the Pi KAs leading 16-14. Pi KA's Bill Garrison hit for ten and Vic Janega's deadly set shots counted for nine more. Doug Weiland rebounded well for the winners and contributed seven points to Pi KA. Lambda Chi's Ronnie Barnes and Bob Carter split scoring honors for the losers, each taking eight points.

In a Thursday tilt Pi Lamb pulled away from Phi Tau in the second half to win 32-24. During the second phase Pi Lamb's Sheldon Flanzig and Jake Jacobson hit for eight and six each, bringing their totals for the game up to 11 and nine respectively. Don Gerrie, of Phi Tau, was high scorer for the losers, claiming 15 of their 24 points.

In the second tilt of the day SAE edged by KA 32-25. SAE led 20-12 at the half but second half play seemed well balanced when Chennault and Frank Angle began to make scoring bids for the underdogs as they combined to split scoring honors for 20 of KA's 25 points in the final period. Joe Giordano led the victors with 15 points followed by Randy Davis who hit for ten as he dropped in eight out of nine free throws in addition to one field goal.

Final games of the week saw Theta Delt and Sigma Rho emerge victorious as they downed Sigma Pi and Phi Alpha respectively. In the first game Theta Delt took advantage of a 21-5 halftime lead to win 44-24. Mark McCormack, working at the pivot post for Theta Delt, scored 18 points followed by Tommy Boys, who hit for nine.

The powerful Big Green under the generalship of Dickie Lewis, had to come from behind to subdue the Big White 27-20 in the last few minutes of the scrimmage. The potent Big Green had lethal punches in their hard charging fullback Ed Magdziak and wingman Ed Weber.

Magdziak smashed into the line twice for touchdowns, and converted three times for the extra point. Weber circled the ends twice for tallies, the second a 50-yard run, broke the 20-20 deadlock.

Accounting for the White tallies were passes by Roy Meredith and John Conors to Larry Fones who has been switched to the flank position from the backfield. The completions by Fones, as well as several by old-timer Vito Ragazzo were little short of spectacular. The third White TD came through the block-busting efforts of freshman fullback John Connors.

Tommy Martin made good on two of three conversions for the White team.

The more powerful Greens boasted Co-captain Joe Mark, who has left the backfield to become a weak side guard; Vito Ragazzo, who started practice this week after his basketball duties were finished and George Heflin who will probably hold down the opposite offensive end position.

Also on the Big Green's forward wall were tackles Ted Filer, Ron Gonier and Little John Kream-check.

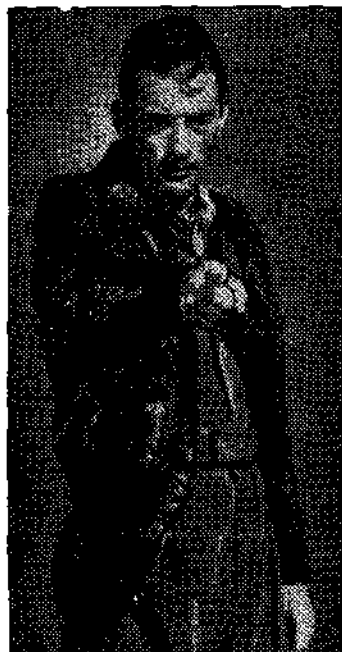

Coach McCray has once again been doing a little juggling this past week, and has moved former end Hilly Wilson to center and transplanted Ed Mioduszewski from tailback to right halfback in the single wing formation and to quarterback in the "Y" formation.

Though no additional injuries occurred in Saturday's head knocking session, several men are still watching from the sidelines. They are ends Hal Bates and Jim Smith who still are limping with leg injuries, and guard Tommy Burke who has a torn shoulder ligament. Don Layne is still hobbling around with his sprained ankle.

Fraternities Begin Second Semester Rushing Last Week

Rushing for men officially began last Wednesday, at 12 noon. As has been noted before, rushing was not confined to one week as has been the case formerly, but is being spread over a period of about a month and a half until the next mid-semester grades are released.

For most of the fraternities, this past week marked the completion of the November pledge classes' period of instruction and preparation. In all probability the new pledge classes will begin sometime during the coming week.

However, it was pointed out that all of the fraternities did not participate in this newly inaugurated rushing policy. This was due mainly to the size of the classes taken in by some fraternities during the last semester.

Since it is an indefinite period, the exact number of pledges has not been released at this early date.

Companies to Seek Employment of June, Summer Graduates

Interviews will be conducted by the C. B. Fleet Company and the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company on March 1 and 3, the Placement Bureau announced last week. All interested students have been asked to make an appointment at the Placement Bureau office in the Brafferton Kitchen.

Both companies are interested in June and August graduates. On March 1, O. E. Newton from the C. B. Fleet Company will be on campus for interviews. He wants four "detail men" to call on physicians and dentists to promote company products. A degree in chemistry, biology or any B. S. degree will fill the requirement.

Philip Yost, personnel assistant for the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company will see men on March 3 who are interested in sales and service work in group insurance, supervisory work in group insurance and underwriting. He will also see mathematics majors for actuarial work.

Students Will Make Room Reservations

All students desiring to reserve rooms in the dormitories, fraternity lodges and sorority houses for the session 1950-51 have been urged to make a $25.00 deposit prior to June 1.

Forms may be secured from the auditor's office to reserve rooms, announced J. W. Lambert, dean of students, this week.

Students making late deposits will receive consideration after the assignments of new students have been made.

The slate of officers for next year was presented to the Canterbury Club by the nominating committee at the Communion Breakfast, February 19. This slate will be voted on at the next Corporate Communion Breakfast in March.

March 5, at its Sunday night meeting, the Club will have as its speaker Bishop Brown, Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia.

Saturday evening, February 25, the Baptist Student Union will have an old-fashioned country party, to be given at the Baptist Student Center.

The next meeting of the Balfour-Hillel Club will take place February 28 at 7:30 p. m. at the Baptist Student Center. The speaker for the evening will be the Reverend F. H. Craighill, rector of the Bruton Parish Church.

Once again, continuing its sponsorship of speakers from the fine arts department of the college, the Westminster Fellowship will have as its speaker at its Sunday night meeting, February 26, Miss Althea Hunt, who will speak on the topic, Dramatics and Worship.

Inaugurated February 16 was a supper and Bible class from 6-7 p. m. at the Wesley Foundation Lounge. This supper and Bible class will be held every Thursday from 6-7 p. m. at the Methodist Church from now until June. The class is conducted by the Reverend J. W. Brown, pastor of the Methodist Church in Williamsburg. For four weeks, starting with last week's class, Reverend Brown will teach the Book of Revelations. Both the supper and the Bible class are for students of the college.

Friday evening, March 3, there will be a "hobo party" at the Wesley Foundation Lounge, from 7-11 p. m. Refreshments will be served and admission is free. Those who attend are requested to dress in old clothes, giving the semblance of hoboes.

March 5, the Foundation will have a Communion Breakfast. Communion is at 8:30 a. m. and the breakfast at 9 a. m. The Foundation Lounge, after undergoing a redecoration, was reopened last Saturday. The lounge will be open now from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. every week day and from 10 a. m. to 12 midnight Saturdays. Everyone has been urged to come down to the lounge and make use of its facilities, including the kitchen, radio-phonograph, ping pong table and other games. Every Sunday evening after the supper meeting, the Lounge will be open until 10 p. m. Free refreshments will be served and games will be played.

In accordance with the observance of Newman Day Sunday, the Newman Club held a corporate communion breakfast at the Williamsburg Lodge. Dick Hutcheson, recently elected president, gave the address. A social was held that evening at Walsingham Academy.

Morgan Announces Awards for Winners Of Photo Contest

Prizes for the Fifth Annual Kappa Alpha Mu Collegiate Competition have been announced by George K. Morgan, executive secretary.

Awards include a two year scholarship to the Fred Archer School of Photography and a Ciroflex camera for winning entries.

Prizes will be given for the best pictures in five different classes: news, sports, feature, scientific, industrial and pictorial.

The contest is open to any regularly enrolled student in an accredited college or university. Complete information and entry blanks may be secured by contacting George K. Morgan, Kappa Alpha Mu, Room 18, University of Missouri in Columbia, Missouri.

Manniche to Lecture to Philosophy Club

Peter Manniche, principal of International Peoples College in Denmark, will address members of the philosophy club Wednesday, March 1, in the Dodge Room, according to George Conwell, president of the philosophy club.

Manniche, in Virginia under the auspices of the Richmond Area University Center, will talk on existentialism as being revised by Sartre in France today.

Having lectured at Oxford in England, Manniche is claimed to have an excellent command of the English language. He is a scholar on Soren Kierkegaard, the founder of existentialism.

The philosophy club is sponsoring his visit to William and Mary.

Colonial Echo picture payments will be collected on Wednesday and Thursday from 1 to 4 p. m. at the Colonial Echo office on the third floor of Marshall-Wythe, announced Phyllis DeHaven, business manager of the yearbook, this week.

Red Cross Chapter Sponsors New Drive On College Campus

The annual drive of the American Red Cross Unit of James City County will begin March 1.

In cooperation with the county, the college chapter will sponsor its drive from March 1 through March 10.

Mark McCormack, chairman of the fund drive, today named Joan Howard as assistant chairman and 45 students to aid in the drive. Two solicitors will work on each floor of both the girls' and boys' dormitories and one in each of the sorority houses.

The goal has been set at $500. McCormack advanced the belief that this goal can be met by cooperation of all students.

Any donation of one dollar or more entitles the contributor to membership in the college chapter and enables him to vote in state Red Cross elections.

McCormack emphasized the importance of the Red Cross work at home and abroad, especially in the past war. He stressed the equally great need on the home front today.

Theta Delta Chi was host at an exchange supper for the Tri Deltas at the fraternity lodge on Sunday, February 19. The fraternity announces the recent pledging of John Kris, Peter Hino and Dick Dallas. On Saturday, February 25, the pledges held a party for the brothers at the lodge.

Initiated into Kappa Alpha Theta on February 22 were the following pledges: Janice Arnett, Carolyn Bradley, June Compton, Barbara Drummond, Katherine Gray, Susan Hall, Danella Hewitt, Joan Howard, Magee Hult, Eugenia Jenkins, Ann Lewis, Mary Ellen McCloskey, Laura Ramsey, Betsy Ross, Madeleine Sharp, Barbara Smith, Dorcas Strong, Elizabeth Warren, Marion Webb and Barbara Woodhouse.

Charlotte Webb, '47, attended the initiation ceremonies. The initiation banquet was held last night at the Williamsburg Lodge.

Pi Beta Phi held a Gypsy Dance in the Pagoda Room on February 17. Ann Drinard visited the house the week end of the dance.

The following pledges of Phi Mu will be initiated tonight, February 28: Gwyn Andrews, Posy Burroughs, Ella Mae Harrison, Julia Ann Horne, Nancy Johnson, Phyllis Kephart, Edyth Kiser, Jean Lang, Susie Lyons and Peggy McCune.

Kappa Kappa Gamma announces the election of Ina Saville and Roberta Lamont as president and treasurer, respectively. Further elections will be held in March.

Chi Omega held initiation ceremonies on February 24, 25 and 26. The following were initiated: Andy Anderson, Noel Blankenship, Barbara Bruns, Maribe Chandler, Nan Child, Greta Clark, Jackie Fisher, Betty King, Pat Mitchell, Eunice Myers, Mary Null, Ella Tuck, Carroll Turner, Diane Weed and Ann Williams.

Recent visitors at the Gamma Phi Beta house have been Jane Renton and Stella Tankard, both of the class of '49; and Mary Jane Howard and Jackie Allen of the Richmond Alumnae group.

Alpha Chi Omega will commemorate Hera Day, March 1, by presenting a program tomorrow night at Eastern State Hospital.

Virginia Kappa chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon announces the initiation, on February 20, of Richard H. Lewis and Harshel A. Beard. The chapter will hold its founder's day banquet on March 3.

Alpha Eta of Sigma Pi announces the initiation of the following men: Ted Ames, Jim Coad, Dick Collier, Blake Cornthwaite, Jim Daniel, Murray Foster, Wendel Haynie, Al King, Ed Lupton, Gordon Mason, Dick McKee, Jess Miller, Bill Nary, Jim Powell, Dave Rittenhouse, Coles Saunders, Skip Smith, Charlie Wentworth and Bob Woodley. Bland Crowder and Bob Hux were also recently initiated.

The chapter celebrated founders' day on February 25 with the annual banquet and Orchid Ball at the Williamsburg Lodge.

The pledge class of Pi Kappa Alpha gave a party for the brothers last Friday afternoon at the lodge. Bill Allison was in charge of the entertainment. Last Thursday night the fraternity serenaded from 9-11 p. m.

Phi Beta Kappa

(Continued from Page 1) he thought it was members of the William and Mary Theatre moving scenery on the stage. "The noise grew louder and within a matter of seconds became a thunderous roar," he added.

When the noise stopped, Tanzer said, the four students looked into the auditorium, but were unable to discern anything due to the tremendous amount of dust created by the fallen plaster.

Repair work on the damaged portion of the building began Monday morning, as well as a thorough investigation of the opposite balcony and all parts of the building, according to Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the college.

Dr. Pomfret also stated that an auditorium is planned for the proposed new fine arts building. The size of the new auditorium is undetermined, however, as plans for the proposed building have not been drawn to date.

Theatre try-outs for THE FATHER, to be presented later in the semester by the William and Mary Theatre, will be held from 3-5 p. m. on Friday, Monday and Tuesday, March 3, 6 and 7 in the Dodge Room, according to Miss Althea Hunt, director of the Theatre.

Accounting Majors Obtain Experience

By Sara Wachtman

For the past several years it has been a practice of the accounting department of William and Mary, under the direction of Wayne F. Gibbs, to send several senior accounting majors to Baltimore for a few weeks practical experience. On February 18, this year's lucky two, Ray Cooper and Vincent McPhillips, returned to school after five weeks' work with Haskins and Sells, certified public accountants.

With the approval of the college authorities, Cooper and McPhillips left school two weeks before exams, began work on January 16. Haskins and Sells is an international accounting firm, and the Baltimore branch employs a large number of workers, the majority of whom are college graduates.

Junior Assistants

Given the title of junior assistants, the William and Mary students went to work as regular employees of the firm. In the course of their five weeks stay each worked on four or five different jobs, thus learning the different details and record systems of each department. The practical experience they gained in this way was invaluable, they think. As McPhillips said, "There's a lot you just can't get out of a textbook."

Although they were only temporary employees during the rush period, Cooper and McPhillips were treated just like the rest of their co-workers, drawing a regular salary. Three students from the University of Maryland were there at the same time, and on the whole the atmosphere was most congenial. A former William and Mary student who graduated two years ago after having had this same practical training is now employed there at a full time job.

Living Conditions

Living conditions in Baltimore were pretty rugged it seems. The boys boarded at the Y.M.C.A. ("But we didn't stay there much of the time"), and found a restaurant down the street where they ate ("Hot dogs, you know!"). Baltimore was fine, according to them, but the two per cent sales tax on everything definitely was not.

Although they have no definite positions in mind at present, Cooper and McPhillips are planning to begin work as public accountants after graduating this June. Ray, who is a Sigma Alpha Epsilon from Norfolk, began college after two and one-half years in the army with the idea of majoring in English. After studying accounting in summer school, however, he switched his major, and hasn't regretted it at all, he says.

Merchant Marine

McPhillips, Kappa Alpha, is also from Norfolk, and served in the Merchant Marine for two years before entering college. At this time he planned to study engineering, but changed his mind later.

Both Cooper and McPhillips are extremely enthusiastic over the project, and are encouraging all those who will be eligible next year to take advantage of it. They found it interesting, informative, and well worth while; and both would be glad to do it again.

Committee States Exposure of Women

The judicial committee of the Women's Student Cooperative Government Association announced last week that bulletins with the names and offenses of all women brought before the committee each week will be posted regularly in all the women's dormitories.

It was also stated by Marcia Mackenzie, chairman of the committee, that intramural games are not considered school functions, and therefore freshman women are not allowed to have dates to any games outside of dating hours. Marcia asked for strict observance of all freshman dating rules.

Williams Will Speak In Chapel Tomorrow

Lloyd H. Williams, vice-mayer of Williamsburg, will speak on Prayer at Chapel services tomorrow at 6:30 p. m.

Last week's chapel service was conducted by Dr. Harold L. Fowler, professor of history, who spoke on Christianity and a Liberal Education.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon To Hold Conference At Lodge March 3, 4

The Gamma Province of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will hold its biennial conference in Williamsburg this year. March 3 and 4 are the dates set for the meeting which will be attended by 39 representatives of the 13 chapters in the Province.

The convention will convene Friday morning at the SAE Lodge, and at 5 p. m. a special group attending the convention will initiate the pledges of the William and Mary chapter.

Zales N. Ecton, United States Senator from Montana and an SAE, will be a guest of the convention and the principal speaker at a banquet in the Pagoda Room Friday evening.

Other guests will include Preston Collins, lieutenant governor of Virginia, and Sterling King, mayor of Richmond, both of whom are members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Many other alumni are expected to attend the dinner.

Meetings on Saturday will take care of the official business of the Province which covers the middle eastern areas of the United States.

Manager Announces Damage to Laundry Completely Insured

Some damage was done to laundry belonging to patrons of the college laundry as a result of the fire which occurred Monday night, it was announced this week by I. E. Harris, manager of the college laundry.

All damage is fully covered by insurance and losses will be settled by the insurance carrier just as soon as arrangements can be completed.

The college is making every effort to determine the extent of the damage but will require a few days to complete a thorough check of records.

Just as soon as this check is completed, ample notice will be given for the presenting of claims by all patrons incurring loss, Harris added.
