Duke Is No Match For the Fighting Indian Braves

Matsu to Davis Combination Reigns Supreme As Taskerites Sweep the Carolinians Off Their Feet With Wonderful Aerial Attack; Final Score 35 to 0.

TEAM REGAINS DRIVE

Second Varsity Holds Blue Devils in First and Fourth Periods; Matsu's Kicking Outstanding.

Playing in a drizzling rain against a team that could make very little headway against her, William and Mary romped away with a 35-0 victory over Duke University at Norfolk last Saturday. Coach Tasker started in his second team to test the Blue Devils for the whole of the first quarter, but Duke could do nothing against them. It remained for the Indian varsity to run up the score during the middle periods of the game.

With the Matsu to Davis passing combination working almost to perfection the Blue Devils were defenseless against an attack that prevented them from getting within striking distance of the Indian goal except

Sigma Upsilon Gives Short Story Prize

Literary Fraternity Will Offer Prize for the Best Short Story Published in Literary Magazine During 1925-26 Session; Award to Be Announced Sometime in Month of May.

The Sigma Upsilon Literary fraternity has decided to offer a cash prize of $10.00 for the best short story in the Literary Magazine during the 1925-26 session in order to encourage students with ability to write. The contest is open to all students without distinction as to their academic standing, members of the fraternity, however, being excluded. The committee, which consists of two members of the English department and the president of the fraternity, will make awards in May. Stories submitted to the Literary Magazine will be carefully read before this committee, and those to be entered in the contest must be submitted to Herbert L. Ganter, editor of the Magazine, marked "For the Sigma Upsilon Contest."

Sigma Upsilon is the honorary literary fraternity of the South, its purpose being to encourage and stimulate young men and women to write. Chapters have been organized in many of the larger Southern institutions, and many distinguished men of letters are numbered among its members.

The following compose the local chapter: Dr. W. A. Montgomery, Mr. R. Ball, Prof. G. H. Gelsinger, Prof. E. Castaneda, Prof. H. Babcock, Dr. V. A. Hamilton, Mr. E. G. Swem, J. I. Bridges, C. C. Kerns, George W. Leilly, Herbert L. Ganter, F. M. Berkeley and S. C. Hall.

Debate Schedule For 1925-26 Strong One

Inter-Collegiate Debate Council Planning the Heaviest Program Ever Engaged in by William and Mary; Gettysburg and Pittsburg Among Prospects for Clashes on Home Floor.

William and Mary will have the best debating schedule in its history if present plans of the Intercollegiate Debating Council mature, according to officers of that body. The new method of division of funds for the literary societies will make possible a more extensive program than has ever been the case heretofore, it is stated.

Two tri-State debates, which will complete the last year of a three-year contract in each case, will be the main part of the schedule. The council is trying to arrange for the meets with Wake Forest and Charleston College this fall while they hope to have the triangular match with the universities of North and South Carolina early next spring. The dates and subjects for discussion have not as yet been selected.

In addition to concluding the three-year contracts with the Carolina schools, present plans call for debates with Gettysburg College and the University of Pittsburgh, both of which, it is understood, are to meet the strong team from Oxford University, England, on their forthcoming tour of the country. These debates, if definitely scheduled, will take place at Williamsburg during the Southern trips of the two Northern institutions. These two probably will prove to be among the strongest teams in the country and the debate council will consider itself fortunate if they are brought here.

Another meet of interest to the students at William and Mary is the proposed dual debate which the council is trying to arrange with the University of Richmond. The two institutions have not met in forensic contests for several years, and a debate

Twelve Are Chosen As Reporters To Flat Hat

Selections Are Made After Six Weeks Trial on Basis of Quantity and Quality of Work Done; Seven Men and Five Women Given Positions as News Gatherers.

After a six-week contest, in which those who wished to become members of The Flat Hat staff were given a chance to show the kind of work they could produce, the staff, at a meeting Tuesday night, made the following selections for the reporters' staff this year:

Office men, Willard James and Frank Hopkins; reporters, M. F. Hastings, Cornelius deWitt, Robert Speight, B. G. Carter, U. B. Thomas, Wilhelmina Swann, E. Lee Fearn Cabell, Enola Whittington, Constance Kennon and Peggy Eacho.

The selections were made on the basis of the amount of work turned in during the contest and the quality of the literary ability exhibited in the preparation of copy for publication. The names of the other contestants will be preserved so that future vacancies and dismissals may be filled from the list.

INDIANS GAIN STRENGTH AS SEASON PROGRESSES

Two Oldest Institutions of Higher Learning in the Country Will Meet in Football for First Time; Harvard Suffering From Dartmouth Defeat.

Team In Good Shape

Stock of Taskerites Takes Decided Rise Following Showing Made Against Blue Devils.

Twenty-five men of the varsity squad left Wednesday with the coaching staff and Manager Al Carlson for Cambridge, Mass., where the Indians meet Harvard on the gridiron tomorrow. While William and Mary met and defeated Harvard in baseball three years ago, the encounter tomorrow is the first gridiron clash ever staged between the two oldest institutions of higher learning in America.

The two previous invasions of the North this year have resulted rather disastrously to the Green, Gold and Silver, and the Indians hope to re-establish their Northern standing in tomorrow's game. Victorious in their encounters of the past two Saturdays over Duke and Randolph-Macon, the

Freshman Contest To Be Held December 7

Annual Contest Between Freshmen of Phoenix and Philomathean Literary Societies Being Arranged; Phoenix Winner for the Past Two Years.

The annual freshman contest between the Phoenix and Philomathean Literary societies will be held Monday, December 7, it was announced at the meeting of the respective societies last Friday evening.

The program will consist of an oration, a declamation and a reading by each society, and a debate. Medals will be given to the individual winners in each event and the freshman banner will be given to the society making the majority of points, the first three events counting one point each and the debate two points.

Committees have been appointed to arrange for procuring the judges and a chairman. The try-outs in the respective societies will be held some time during next month. The presidents of the societies expressed the desire that a large number of ducs come out for the different parts of the program.

Phoenix has won the contest for the last two successive years.

Each society will hold their regular meeting tonight and they extend a cordial invitation to all.

Y's Send Delegates To Student Conference

All-Student Conference on the World Court Will Be Held in Lynchburg Tomorrow; Colleges of Virginia Are Expected to Send Large Delegations.

An all-student conference meeting will be held in Lynchburg on October 31 for the purpose of promoting a nation-wide program of education on the world court, which is being forwarded throughout the country by the Council of Christian Associations. An invitation has been extended to all Virginia colleges in an attempt to secure a delegation from each college large enough to arouse the student bodies on the issue before December 17, at which time it will go before Congress for discussion. Various conferences will be held throughout the South where groups of students will discuss and formulate plans for the purpose of arranging and placing before the public their views on the world court question. By the use of this method much interest will be aroused among college students on international questions and opportunities will also be given for the expression of the students' views.

Miss Mary Custis Foster will be chairman of the committee at the conference to be held in Lynchburg. Representatives of both the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will attend. The representatives elected by the Y. W. C. A. are Mary S. Holman, Elizabeth Brown and Mary L. Parker.

W. & M. MARY MEETS HARVARD TOMORROW

Indians enter the fray tomorrow with renewed fight and hope. The football mentors have used every available second since last Saturday in putting the varsity in mid-season fighting trim, and Coach Tasker has devoted much of his time in specific coaching against the Harvard offense.

Harvard faces William and Mary tomorrow smarting under a 32 to 9 defeat at the hands of Dartmouth last Saturday, and with the prospects of facing the powerful Princeton eleven next Saturday. William and Mary, on the other hand, has Albright chalked up as her next opponent, and the Indians will be able to exert themselves to the utmost in an effort to hold the Crimson in check. While very little can be learned regarding the specific fighting strength of the Harvard machine, it is generally conceded that the Crimson team is hardly up to par this year and is inferior to that of the Navy or Syracuse in offensive strength.

Coach Tasker will probably start the same team against Harvard tomorrow that faced Duke at the opening of the second quarter last Saturday. Cain, Irwin, Charles and Matsu will probably start in the backfield; P. Davis and M. Davis on the ends. Eason and Parsons will hold down the guard positions; Captain Elliot and Weber the tackle berths, while Lee Todd is slated to start the game in his old position of center. House has been suffering with an injured knee since the Navy game, but he is making the trip with the team and Coach Tasker hopes to be able to use him in at least part of the game tomorrow. "Kerno" can always be counted upon to hold down his side of the line, and his absence from the game would be keenly felt by the Indians.

With the Matsu to Davis combination in good working order, the Indians should give the Harvard backs plenty to think about tomorrow in defending their goal against Matsu's deadly aim and "Meb's" uncanny receiving. Irwin will probably bear the burden of the Indians' running attack, while Cain and Charles should prove effective over the Crimson line. The Indian forward wall is expected to hold the Harvard backs in check and to form an offensive barrier behind which Matsu can get off his passes to Irwin and Davis.

Delegates of Chemical Society to be Guests

Delta Pi Sigma Chemical fraternity will have as their guests on the campus tomorrow afternoon a delegation from the Virginia branch of the American Chemical Society, in Richmond. The Virginia branch of the American Chemical Society has adopted as part of its work for this year the policy of getting in, and keeping in touch with all those who are interested in chemistry and science in general in the State. In pursuance of this policy the society has already sent delegations to confer with chemists at the University of Virginia and the city of Norfolk.

The members of the faculty from the science departments of the college have been especially invited to assist members of the Delta Pi Sigma in greeting and entertaining the delegation, and the fraternity extends a cordial invitation to any other member of the faculty or student body to meet the delegations with them. The meeting and discussion is to be entirely informal and should be of exceeding interest as well as profitable to anyone at all interested in science. Any one desiring further information on this subject can secure the same from any member of Delta Pi Sigma or from Dr. Robb of the chemistry department.

INDIAN SPORTS

SCRIMMAGE LINES

The Green, Gold and Silver against the Crimson in the Harvard Bowl is the dream of yesterday come true today. Ten or even five years ago even the suggestion of such an encounter would have seemed absurd. Harvard is not perhaps the strongest team the Indians will meet on this year's schedule, but success against Crimson will place William and Mary on the road to traditional football greatness.

* * * * *

The consensus of opinion of the sports writers who viewed the game with Duke last Saturday is to the effect that the William and Mary line put up the greatest exhibition of offensive and defensive football ever seen in Norfolk. Also, while it has been our general policy to avoid picking individual stars, we can not resist the temptation to comment favorably on the work of Matsu, Meb Davis and Irwin in the same game.

* * * * *

The varsity will return from Harvard sometime Sunday, either on the noon or evening train from Richmond. The exact time of their return will be announced later, but what we want to say here is that we hope that every member of the student body will be present to greet the team—win, lose or draw. The cheering of the megaphone club at last Saturday's game has received much favorable comment, and it is now eminently up to the student body at large to follow the example set them.

* * * * *

Saturday marks the beginning of the Indian fall track season, and also the beginning of a more ambitious program for track at William and Mary in general. The track mentors hope to bring the Indian track squad to the point where they can successfully compete with any in the State. With no football game chalked up for Saturday we can turn our attention to track for a while. Help the progress of the track squad by our presence at the meet.

* * * * *

Playing on a muddy field the Indians chalked up only six points less against Duke than North Carolina State amassed on a clear day and dry field. In this connection it is well to remember that N. C. is usually credited with one of the best elevens in the State, and this year is no exception to the general rule.

* * * * *

While the Indians were romping on Duke, the Roanoke Maroons were barely able to take the measure of Hampden-Sydney, 6 to 0. Richmond managed to down the Yellow Jackets 22 to 0, and Albright chalked up a 18 to 0 victory over Blue Ridge. Nothing could be ascertained as to the progress of the Haskell Indians last week, but from previous indications it is going to be some game when Indian meets Indian.

Sophomore And Ducs Will Play On Dec. 5

Teams Representing the Two Lower Classes Will Engage in First Gridiron Struggle of Its Kind at W. & M.; Expected to Arouse Much Spirit.

On December 5, the second Saturday after Thanksgiving, the ducs will be awarded a long-wished for opportunity. Teams representing the freshman and the sophomore classes will meet in what will be one of the gridiron classics of the season.

This game will be the first chance offered to the ducs to get even with their "oppressors" and it is expected that the game will be one of the most spirited and hard-fought battles of the season.

Inter-class athletics will not be confined to football, says "Jack" Wolbert, president of the class of '29. Nor will the girls be denied the opportunity to wreak vengeance upon their "persecutors." There will be freshman-sophomore contests in many of the

South Norfolk Plays Frosh Here Today

Little Indians Put Up Strong Fight Against Newport News Independents Last Saturday on Muddy Field Losing As Result of Fumble at Critical Moment.

Playing on a rain-sodden field that prevented any open offense on the part of the freshmen, the Newport News Independents received the large end of a 6-to-0 score against the Little Indians in Newport News last Saturday. The game was a midfield mud battle from the first whistle to the last, and was characterized by the excellent defense offered by the scrubs to the attack of their more experienced opponents.

The lone score of the game came near the end of the first period, when the Independents recovered a fumbled punt on the Papoose 5-yard line. After three line-bucks had failed to score, the ball was thrust over the goal line by inches. The Little Indians blocked the attempt to kick goal. They attempted to snatch victory from defeat in the last few minutes of the game, and by completing three successive passes, carried the ball well toward their opponents' goal, only to lose it on a fumble.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the Papooses tie up with the strong eleven from South Norfolk High school on Cary Field. The game with the South Norfolk Tigers has become an annual feature of the frosh schedule, and this year the freshmen are out to avenge several previous defeats. The Tigers recently have been defeated by Maury, which gives the freshmen the slight edge over their rivals. Coaches Keister and Nilsson have driven the scrubs hard this week in offensive work and the game tomorrow should show a decided improvement in their attack.

Girls' Rifle Club Is Reorganized For Year

The Girls' Rifle Club, which was organized last spring, elected as officers for the ensuing year: Elizabeth Berkeley, president; Elizabeth Love, vice-president; May Smith, secretary, and Marjorie Carter, treasurer. Due to the efforts of these leaders, the club has received an added stimulus and much interest in this sport has been evinced throughout the entire student body. Quite a large number of aspiring marksmen from the freshman class have signified their intention of joining the club.

The college has not spared money or effort in order to construct a model shooting gallery near the power house for the benefit of this organization, and the similar one among the men.

THE OTHER FELLOW

Occasionally something happens in our daily round of life which seems to indicate that members of the community do not always have the highest regard for the other persons who are part of the whole group. They are continual recurrences of trivial happenings, in themselves unimportant but, taken together, an index of selfishness, which do not make for the good of the College or for the development of the individuals concerned in the transaction. Such are the matters regarding dormitory life in some of its phases, more particularly the maintenance of a reasonable degree of quiet. The College rooming houses are for the greater part well managed. Not a great deal of discipline is called for in keeping everything moving smoothly. But once in a while some one makes himself a little too loud with the result that he disturbs those who wish to use the time. Such occurrences are not frequent, but it is well to be continuously alert to avoid placing ones-self in the undesirable position of being the cause of such unpleasantness.

WHAT PRICE FOOTBALL!

Under the above startling head the current number of "American Campus" presents an equally startling attack on the great outdoor collegiate game, led by no less notable person than the president of Lehigh University and supported by a well known author who has also been professor of history in an American college. The attack is bitter and assails football as the promoter of hypocrisy and the spirit of graft alleging that the doctrine taught is anything is right if you can get by with it, adding this comment: "Men thus educated will be more dangerous to society than the uneducated grafter or crook." The magazine is fair enough to present arguments on the other side but the fact still remains that the heart of collegiate athletics has been the target of damaging assaults.

We admit that football has in some cases been the cause of abuse, and that there are some faults inherent in the very structure of the game. But are there any other human organizations, including colleges themselves, which can point the finger of condemnation at the game and say, "You are unclean?" Football puts a man in the thick of an encounter. It throws him on his own resources and at the same time inculcates him with the spirit of co-operation and of fair play. Above all it places a man under rigid disciplinary authority and shows him that he must learn to subvert his own selfish desires and at the same time develop to a high degree his power of self reliance.

It seems an anomaly that the necessity arises for any one to come to the defense of an institution which has persisted in American colleges for so long a time that it has become a tradition. But the following two points are worthy of serious consideration. Football is not harmful unless it becomes dissipated and proper control will prevent this. However, granted that evils are present, as Grantland Rice has pointed out, decapitation is not the only cure for a headache.

Pollard Attends Meet On Political Science

Dr. John Garland Pollard, dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship, attended the national conference of the Academy of Political Science in New York City Wednesday, October 28. This conference is composed of professors of political science in the leading colleges, as well as men prominent in public life.

On November 27, Dr. Pollard having accepted an invitation to address the annual convention of "The Co-operative Education Association of Virginia," which will be held in Norfolk, will speak on "Community Co-operation."

Student Government To Meet On Monday

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Student Government will be held Monday afternoon. After the transaction of general business the old girls will be dismissed and the freshmen will elect their representative to the judicial committee. The following have been nominated for the place: Mary Elizabeth Duke, Polly Hines, Phyllis Logan and Minge Perkins.

Freshman Basketball Schedule Under Way

The Freshman Physical Education basketball schedule began last week and four games have already been played. The regular schedule calls for four games a week, two on Tuesday and two on Thursday, until all of the teams have played five games after which the finals will take place. The winning team will be considered champion of the freshmen class and will be awarded trophies of victory. The schedule for the remainder of the season is as follows:

November 3—1 vs. 6 and 4 vs. 3.
 November 5—4 vs. 5 and 6 vs. 3.
 November 10—5 vs. 6 and 1 vs. 2.
 November 12—2 vs. 3.
 November 17—Finals.

THE OLD GRAD

A Column Devoted Exclusively to William and Mary Alumni

J. MALCOLM BRIDGES,
Alumni Secretary

We have wondered, after hearing that the recent story gathered by the journalism classes of the college, what the old grad has to say about the width of a man's trouser as an index to intelligence. One reader of the story wrote to the members of the faculty quoted therein, declaring that, in their opinion, the faculty members were a bit narrow in their views. It is true that they favored the narrow trouser in general, but we would hesitate to brand their opinion as being of the same general trend.

According to the faculty members interviewed, the width of a man's trousers is an index to his mental capacity—in inverse ratio. Perhaps this is true, when the faculty members take the extreme dressers as a basis upon which to judge. Mr. Finchley would, no doubt, challenge the statements, but, after all, Mr. Finchley has no Phi Beta Kappa key to swing.

One old grad exclaimed at the Duke-William and Mary game of last Saturday: "If that boy, Matsu, don't stop throwing those passes so much his arm will be used up before baseball season." Why didn't the Duke players think to warn Art of this possibility before the clash?

The head of the journalism class has been accused of being a leader of an Alpine plot in having his class decide the time-worn subject of the blonde and brunette. The opinion on the campus had it that the blonde was the one to date with and the brunette the one to mate with. For the information of the reader, we might add the head of the journalistic department is blonde, and followed, sometime ago, the same advice given in the story—or, at least, the latter part of same.

Rumor has it that two members of the class of '25 will clash in mortal combat in the near future, when the football pupils of Coach Frank Nat Watkins and the artists of "Shorty"

Denton meet in Farmville in a prep game. Reports from the camp of Coach Watkins are to the effect that he is "oiled" for the battle, while Coach Denton declares that he will enter the grounds of Farmville bent on making the former president of the student body of William and Mary taste of the very bitter dregs of defeat.

When asked what he had been following since receiving his degree from William and Mary last summer, R. J. (Rat) Parrish pointed with pride to a shadow on the upper lip, declaring: "This and tobacco is what I have been raising." We trust that the tobacco crop was a success.

A Glimpse Into the College World

Here and There Among the Exchanges of The Flat Hat

Students at the University of Oregon may take golf as gym work and receive credit. Provision has been made for a three-hole course on the campus.

Columbia students are the most radical in the United States, according to Professor Moore, of Dartmouth, who conducted a nation-wide survey of student views on social and economic questions.

It is estimated that only 35 per cent of those admitted to college ever achieve the goal of a degree.

Yale seniors, four hundred in number, were questioned concerning means of financial support. Thirty of them had been completely self supporting in college, while one-third had worked for part of their expenses.

There seems to be some talk about locking up the freshmen every night at the University of North Carolina in order to keep them from going astray. One would think Chapel Hill was becoming wild.

The students at the University of Richmond are beginning to dine in style. At every meal in the cafeteria three students entertain with saxophones and piano.

The staff of the weekly publication of Davidson College dedicated one issue to their freshmen. Only green ink was used in printing, and as much of the content as possible concerned freshmen.

Dr. D. E. Phillips, professor of psychology at Denver University, declares that co-eds do not seek education as a training for a career. "Not one out of ten expects to get a job. Nine out of ten plan to end their careers at the altar. Which all goes to prove college is the greatest matrimonial bureau on earth."

There is a plan on foot to have inter-dormitory sports at Davidson. They argue it would be an excellent way to get the exercise so much needed by all.

Macon last season. The meet comes in the nature of a special attraction, since it will be only a short time before the Indian football team takes the field against Harvard at Cambridge.

Time trials run Tuesday on the four-mile course resulted in the following men finishing in the manner named: Duc Maitland, Chaplain, Hudson, Harry Mapp, Duc Parramore, George Mapp, Vernon, Scott. These men will run against the Jackets tomorrow. A number of other cross-country men who have been showing up well in practice will probably be used also. The race will be over in time for spectators to reach the Palace theater by 3 o'clock, when the

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine. Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan
"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked." Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.
"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned, may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.
"To students who have never learnt "How to Study," work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort. Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand-book and guide NOW.

Second Dramatic Club
Production A Success

The Dramatic Club presented as the second of its series of one-act plays "The Rehearsal," by Christopher Morley, in chapel Tuesday night. The cast was well selected and the acting good. Miss Anne Chenery, in the part of Barbara, "the old, stricken father," was particularly fine. The play was a farce, with a great deal of clever dialogue and several amusing "local color" jokes, greatly to the pleasure of the audience. The cast of characters was as follows:

- Freda, the director...Anna Whitehead
The Players: Christine.....
.....Elizabeth Heath
Barbara.....Anne Chenery
Gertrude.....Mrs. Walter Bozarth
Sonia.....Betty Kneeland
Marjorie, the Property Man.....
.....Elise Everett

DUKE NO MATCH FOR INDIAN BRAVES

once in the first quarter. At least two-thirds of the passes attempted by the Indians were completed, netting them gains ranging from 10 to 60 yards, and accounting for all of the five touchdowns, either directly or indirectly.

After playing his second string to draw out Duke for a quarter, Coach Tasker put in his regular line-up and the tide of battle shifted immediately. William and Mary fans were soon rewarded with a touchdown by Charles, which came as the result of a 40-yard pass by Matsu, coupled with the line-drive that carried him over for the first touchdown. Matsu kicked goal. Duke then kicked to William and Mary's 20-yard line. A series of line-plunges, followed by a 45-yard pass, Matsu to Davis, resulted in another touchdown for the Indians.

In the third quarter the Indians depended on straight football, marching down the field to within scoring distance of the Blue Devil goal, only to lose the ball on a fumble. Duke kicked out, but the Indians again staged their irresistible advance, Cain going around left end for the touchdown. Twice more the Indians went down the field, but each time they were held up close to the goal line by the Duke defense, and the quarter ended before they could annex another tally, with the score 28-0, in favor of William and Mary.

At the opening of the final period the Indians again took the offensive and, as the result of two line-plunges and a pass, Irwin carried the ball over for a touchdown. At this point Coach Tasker sent in his reserves, who held Duke scoreless for the remainder of the game, although they were unable to increase the score. The game was characterized by the passing of Matsu and the offensive and defensive power of the Indian line, which caused many critics who saw the game to say that both the Indian offensive and defensive was one of the best that had ever appeared in Norfolk. The second varsity showed plenty of defensive fight, holding Duke for downs when they threatened to score in the first period; but they were unable to get a good offensive started against the more experienced and heavier Duke team. While the North Carolinians were unable to make much headway against the defense and offense offered by the varsity, they several times held the Indians for downs and threatened to score in the early part of the game against the second varsity.

A Literary Gem

The following poem from the Naval Academy Log expresses a sentiment deeply felt by all students at William and Mary:

EXCELSIOR.

(With All Necessary Apologies.)
The shades of night were falling flat
As at a mess hall table sat
A youth who strove with all his might
To eat a biscuit stuffed with white
Excelsior.

His brow was sad, his eyes were weak,
They dripped the teardrops on his beak;

He held within his doubled fist
A sausage as he loudly hissed
Excelsior.

He spied upon a nearby plate
As if left there by kindly fate,
A croquet lying all alone;
He bit it and we heard him groan
Excelsior.

"Try not the hash," his comrade said,
"Tis stuffed with grass and rancid bread."
"Not grass, but something just as punk,"
The youth replied, "They call this junk
Excelsior."

Then homeward went the weary lad,
His stomach ached, his heart was sad;
He went to sleep in his own bed
And clutched the mattress as he said,
Excelsior.

The morning dawned clear and fair,
The breakfast bell rang on the air;
The youth prepared his breakfast food
And murmured as he softly chewed
Excelsior."

At dinner time his tired mind
Was more to soup than meat inclined
And as it trickled down inside
The youth most gratefully replied,
Eureka.

NEW AFFILIATE

Virginia Kappa Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon announces the affiliation of John G. Holland, of Virginia Sigma Chapter, Washington and Lee University, and the pledging of Geo. St. Clair, of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

would be sure to create interest in the highest degree. The only possible arrangement to which both colleges would agree, however, seems to be a double schedule, whereby each would have an affirmative team at home and a negative team on the other's home floor, with the two debates to occur simultaneously.

Other probable debates include those now under consideration with Davidson College and Roanoke College. The council hopes to have the schedule completed within the next few weeks in order that debaters may know just how much work will be required of them on the varsity debating team.

At present no date has been set for the selection of debaters, but an announcement will be made in the near future. The members of last year's teams in college this session are Bruce Stewart and F. O. Adam. The loss of Arthur Winder, of the negative team, and E. W. Wright, alternate, will be seriously felt by the teams. All men of the college are eligible to try for the team and the debate council hopes that all who can possibly do so will enter the elimination contest.

The 1925-26 Intercollegiate Debate Council is composed of Carl Andrews, president; W. F. Lawson, Jr., manager; Russell Winborne and Cornelius deWitt. Advisors of the council recently elected Dr. John Garland Pollard; Dr. Richard L. Morton, Dr. W. A. Hamilton and Professor H. L. Childs.
