F.E.R.A. EMPLOYMENT INCREASED TO 113

Five Students Furnish Guide Service in Wren Building Building from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Five students have been made guides to the College Building, the St. Christopher Wren Building, through the Federal Emergency Relief Administration. These students have all been transferred from other departments of this work, their names are as follows: Phillips Claud, Emil Johnson, Henry Land, Ruffin Winfree, and Robert Land. By this method visitors can be taken through the building each day from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., as there is at least one guide on duty at these hours.

113 Students Get Jobs
Twenty-six more students have received jobs under the Federal Emergency Relief Administration since March 13, bringing the total number of FERA workers on the campus to 113. Of this number 53 are women and 60 men. Most of the assignments in the last month have been to women, only five more men receiving aid from the government. The names of the students assigned recently follow:

NEW CONSTITUTION IS ADOPTED BY MEN

Governing Organ Is Reorganized; Students No Longer Held "Honor Bound" To Report Violations of Honor Council Code.

ADVISORY GROUP CREATED

Qualifications for Student Body Officers Are Raised; More Power Given to Officers.

The constitution of the Men's Student Body was completely reorganized at a meeting of that group last night in Washington Hall. A constitutional committee presented an entirely new constitution which was adopted with one amendment.

Amendment Is Proposed
This amendment, proposed by John Weiniger, changed the wording of article III of the Constitution of the Honor Council from "honor bound" to "morally bound." This section applies to students who are witnesses of violations against the Honor System and who are bound to report same.

No Freshmen Members
Under the provisions of the new constitution there will be no freshman member of the Honor Council. In the future the council will consist of three seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore.

Advisory Committee
Another provision brings into service an advisory committee for the Honor Council consisting of members of the faculty and students.

More Executive Power
More power to student body officers is seen to be the general effect of the constitution. Standards of eligibility for these offices is raised to insure the positions being filled by competent men.

Will Be Published Soon
The Flat Hat will publish the new constitution in its entirety in the near future.

Robert Downs Presides
At this meeting of the Men's Student Body, Robert Downs, vice-president of the organization, presided in the absence of Jerry Quirk, the president.

Howard Addresses Body
After the meeting had been called to order, Dr. L. V. Howard, Assistant to the President of the College of William and Mary, addressed the men for a few moments. He asked that all sophomores and juniors call at his office at some time in the near future to discuss with him their choice of majors and minors.

Woolfin' Along

Last Saturday, the Indian track team went down to defeat before the onslaught of the North Carolina Tarheels. Yet, despite the defeat "Monk" Little stood out like a shining light, taking no less than three firsts and one second for a total of eighteen points.

Captain Legore, of the North Carolina field team (they have two captains) has a right arm that seems to be a coiled steel spring, unleashing like a whip, when he flings that javelin into space for new records.

A boy, Bill Hopkins, of the John Marshall track team pulled a feat on the older paths that is rarely seen. In the meet against the Indian frosh, Hopkins won the hundred yard dash looking behind, won the two hundred in a stride, and in the four hundred and forty yard dash ran the heart out of our star, Gresham. We need one like Hopkins for our track team, Scrap.

A tale of true fraternalism; — A William and Mary student last summer, while in New Hampshire, lost his wallet. A fraternity brother attending the University of that state found the wallet. Nine months later, he saw the William and Mary boy's name in the national fraternity national magazine. He recognized the name as the same as the one he had observed in the wallet. He sent the wallet and its contents of six dollars to this William and Mary boy. Truth is indeed stranger than fiction.

This is the height of something or other. The R. K. O. books two Eskimo pictures one right after the other. Maybe Tom thinks that Eskimo scenery will cool the theatre for the coming hot months.

"Jumbo" Elliott is the reincarnation of Big Ed Walsh the old Sox pitcher. He pitches morning, noon and night. Jumbo turned in a beautiful relief game against Virginia striking out the three last men to face him in the ninth inning.

The barefoot boy has returned to Williamsburg. Woody Woodson likes to wade thru the mud with his shoes off "sometimes."

A freshman sees Mr. Armstrong in the chem lab carrying some glass wool.—Conversation follows.
Freshman—What's that?
Mr. Armstrong—Some Pyrex glass wool.
Freshman—Where did you get it?
Mr. A.—Off a Pyrex sheep.
F.—Oh.

Up at Syracuse University, they go for boxing in a big way. In the recent Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Championships, of a possible eight finalists they had seven men battling away in the finals.

Maxie Baer's brother is a shy modest violet. He signs his exam papers thus—Maxie Baer's kid brother, Daddy.

William and Mary sure has the two men. Deguttis, freshman, was only entered in six events in the meet last Saturday, but he claims that he isn't yet in the best of condition, as usually he is entered in every event.

Fox challenges Babe Ruth to a home run duel with a side bet of some thousands. It seems the Foxx waited too long, for their paths have crossed and the Babe is on the way out while the baby faced Jimmy Foxx is still on the way up... What I would like to see is Foxx challenge Lou Gehrig. There would be a duel worthy of the steel of both men.

Predictions seem to be in order in the line of baseball. The Cleveland Indians are going to cop the American bunting and the Chicago Cubs look the class of the National league.

The boner of the week seems to have been pulled up in Lexington, where in the track meet, the officials saw some blunder marked off 110 yards instead of the well known 100.—And they wondered why the time was so poor.

INDIANS OPEN SEASON WITH GREEN AND GOLD

Tribesmen Take Opening Game of Doubleheader With University of Vermont But Drop Nightcap.

Waddy Stewart Gets First Home Run of the Season; Jumbo Elliot Pitches Fine Game.

The William and Mary Indians opened their season with two defeats and two wins. They were victorious in their opening game against Vermont by a score of 6 to 3. The Green Mountain nine, however, turned back the Tribal invasion in the nightcap of the doubleheader with a 10 to 8 victory. On Tuesday of last week, the Tribe dropped a 5 to 4 decision to the Washington and Lee Generals. Following this game the Tri-Colormen journeyed to Charlottesville where they topped the University nine 6 to 4.

The home team made their debut by capturing their first game with Vermont. Waddill Stewart, William and Mary catcher, featured this game with a home run, and incidentally clinching the contest.

INDIANS-NAVY MEET SATURDAY

"Scrap" Chandler's Squad Hopes To Avenge Defeat of Last Season.

Navy, the third opponent of the Indian trackmen, will be met Saturday, April 14. Coach Chandler and his squad will leave here on Friday for Annapolis, the scene of the annual meeting.

Last season the Navy harriers nosed out the Indians by a close score, but this year, with the Braves boasting of a powerful team, the outcome may be different.

The men who have scored heavily so far this season and on whom Coach Chandler is banking most are Monk Little, Lou Plummer, Platt Bullard, Charley Smeltzer, Lloyd Langbauer, Irvin Upson, John Bacon, Gerry Quirk, Arthur Hart, and Woodrow Bralley.

HOPKINS OUTSTANDING

Led by DeGutis and Brooks, the freshmen tracksters opened their season last Saturday with a decisive 73-35 victory over John Marshall High of Richmond. DeGutis piled up 29 points with five firsts, one second, and one third. Brooks followed closely with 20 points.

Take Three Firsts

The Justices also showed an individual star in Captain Bill Hopkins, who raced to victory in the 100, 220, and 440. In the latter event the sensational Marshallite defeated Willard Gresham, something that had not been accomplished in any competition since Platt Bullard left John Marshall two years ago. The Papoose ace seemed to suffer from one of his extremely rare "off" days Saturday, but he expected to have his winning stride this week against Maury High of Norfolk.

Oldfield Wins Half

George "Barney" Oldfield cut loose with a nice sprint to defeat John Marshall's Fred Hardy in the last few yards of the half mile. Oldfield also was close on the heels of Gresham in the quarter. After a slow (Continued on page 6)

Bacon, Zable to Run Sprints With Oldfield and Gresham in Middle Distance.

The trackteam of Maury High School, Norfolk, will compete against the Papooses on Carey Field at four o'clock, Friday. The Yearlings, confident because of their one-sided win over John Marshall, expect to take the school boys into camp without much trouble. The freshmen should build up a substantial lead in the field events with DeGutis in the shot put, high jump, broad jump, pole vaulting, and discus, Lessner in the javelin, and Brooks in the shot put, broad jump, discus, and high jump. ## SOUTHERN INTER-COLLEGE FENCING MEET SCHEDULED HERE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

The Southern Inter-Collegiate Fencing Tournament will be held in Blow Gymnasium on April 13 and 14. The schools participating are: Virginia Military Institute, South Carolina University, Georgia Tech, North Carolina University, Alabama University, and the College of William and Mary. The conference last year was won by William and Mary. This year Alabama has an undefeated team and Georgia Tech has lost only two out of five performances. William and Mary met V. M. I. once this year and defeated them. The judge officiating has not been definitely selected but it is certain that it will be either Vince or Hice. The latter is the National Epee Champion. The first day of the tournament has been reserved for team competition for the team championship. The participants of the tournament include such men as Moody of V. M. I. the conference champion. ## "FENCING"

By James Mack

Fencing with the epee, or duelling sword, as it is so often called, is perhaps the most confusing for the average spectator to watch. Few know what the judges are trying to find when they examine the contestants so closely, nor why the play is stopped, when a touch is not apparent from the gallery.

The epee has a long, heavy steel blade, tipped with three sharp steel points, making the blade stick where it hits, or leave small holes. Some substance is placed on the end of the blade, to leave a mark that is easier to see than the holes themselves. This is colored, frequently a chemical compound, or lipstick.

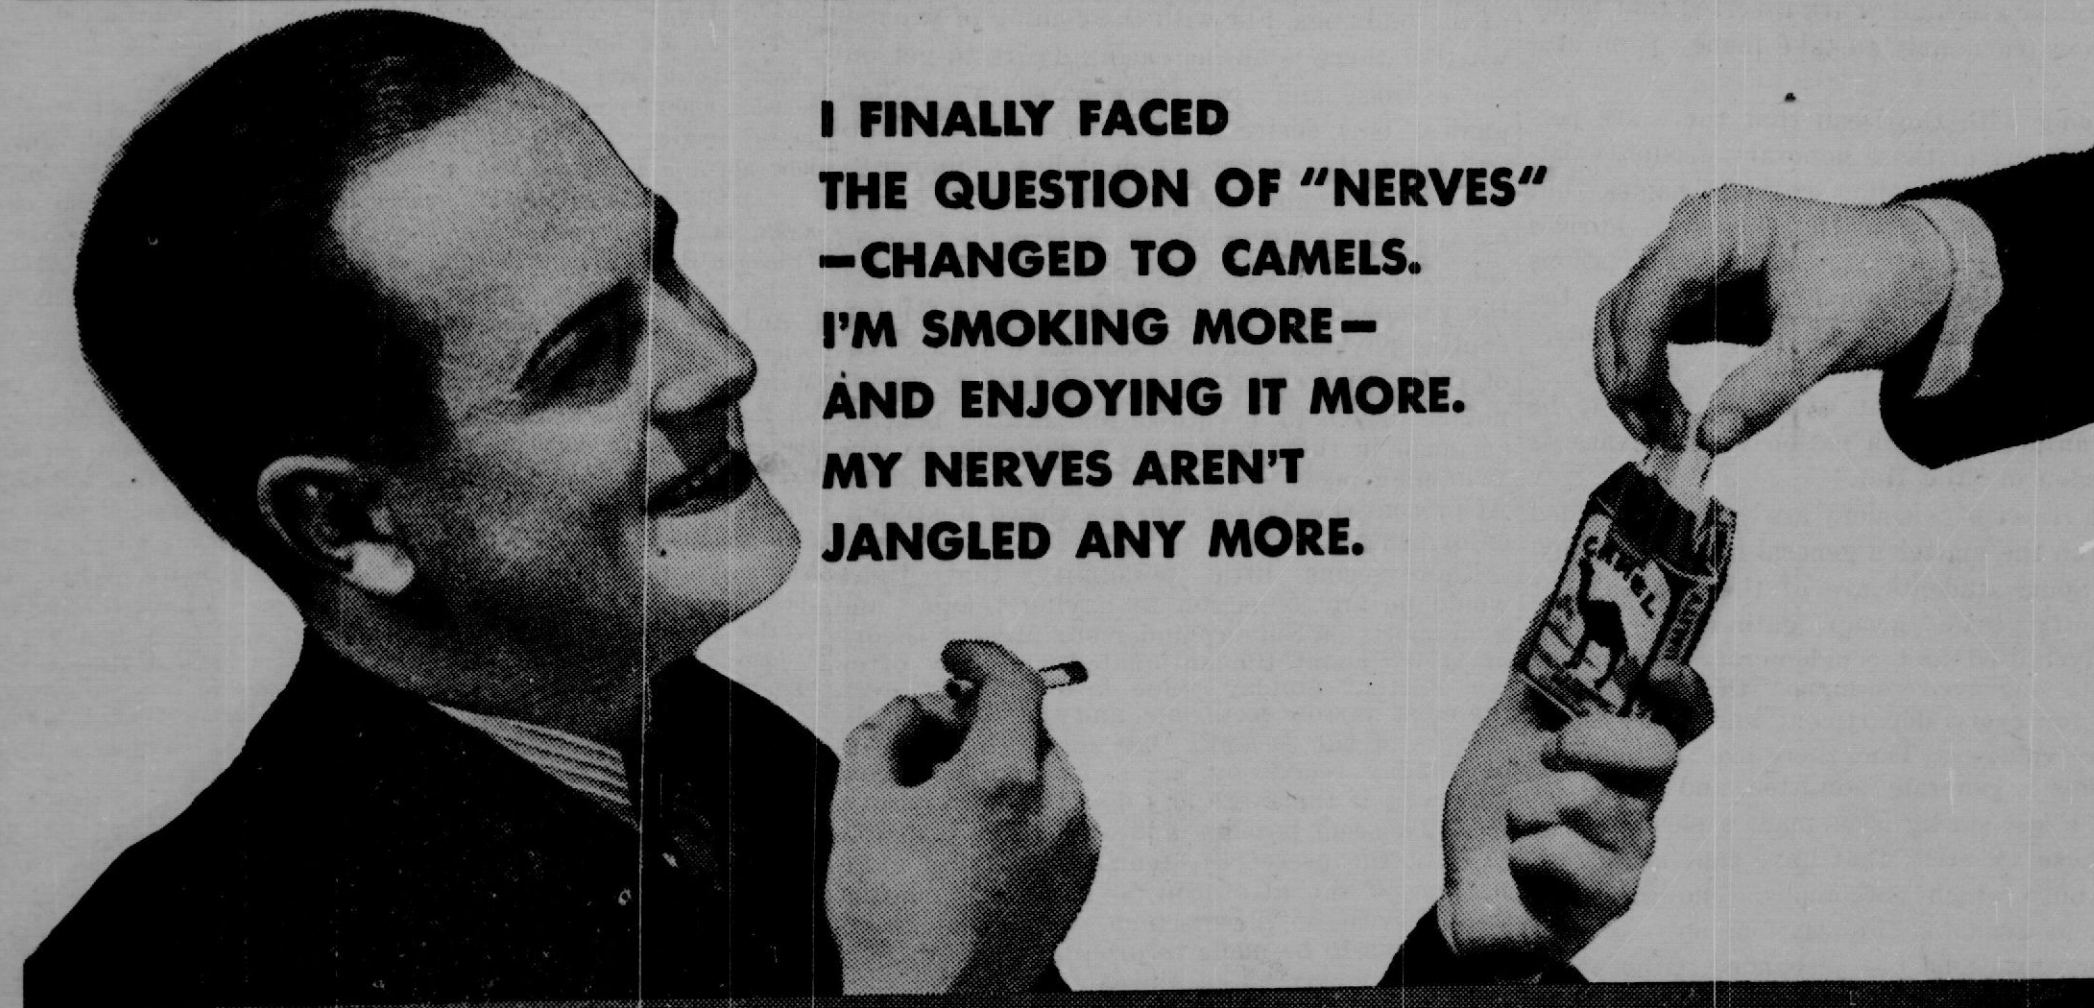

Play with this weapon differs from that of the others, as a total of only two points is needed to win a bout, and any part of the body is a fair target. The time of the hit is taken into consideration, though the direction of the attack is ignored. The movements are small, and attacks are of two general types: either a fast approach, closing all distance between the man attacking and his opponent, or small jabs at the hand and arm. The latter are harder to discern. Four judges are mostly used, as the movements are so rapid.

Sabre, on the other hand, is the sport most interesting to the average spectator, as it consists of cutting and thrusting, with much more action. It is also the most dangerous to the fencer, since the cutting edge is used. Some places they require heavy padding on the arm and body, but it is not essential. The weapon has a lighter, more flexible blade, with a thin edge, known as the "cutting edge." This is the side used in hitting an opponent.

The target is any part of the body above the waistline, and, as in foil, the bout is for five points. Both time and direction of attack are taken into consideration, and influence the decision of the director. The number of judges, and their methods are similar to epee, without the system of marking the blade.

COLLEGE "RACKETS"

In this age of "rackets", when every thing from the activities of post prohibition day bootleggers to the dubious working of organized labor in demanding big "cuts" in business profits is classified under this inclusive and intimating term, it is not surprising to notice on page one of the Saturday New York Herald-Tribune, carried under an Associated Press caption, a statement by the Ohio State University dean calling college honorary societies "rackets." In a talk before the conference of the National Association of Deans and Advisers of Men, Dean J. A. Park estimated that honorary "racket" societies took an average of $500 apiece annually from every college campus where they were organized. The total contributed for the annual upkeep of so called honorary societies, he placed at $279,000, according to the dispatch. Admitting that there are some good honorary societies, Mr. Park asserted that many others existed mainly to take money from students.

Agreeing with the Dean that there are perhaps too many of these honorary groups, existing under high sounding national names that are worthless, the Flat Hat, however, hurries to defend the majority of school organizations that are carrying on worthwhile work on the scattered campuses throughout the country. Classifying college honor club as "rackets" is a rash assumption that would be found to be wholly unjustified by a nation wide canvass, is the opinion of "the Hat."

Local fraternity leaders are of a divided opinion on the matter a general inquiry has disclosed. Some students are of the opinion that these petty little group gatherings having their diversified and conglomerated membership with engraved "shingles" that are in existence for every department and every purpose, are valueless. That there are too many of such clubs is generally admitted, and the FLAT HAT in a last spring issue made a plea for fewer of these societies, that have convincing purposes but which accomplish nothing. According to available information, only one of these organizations has disbanded. Others still linger in a static condition having meetings periodically to elect new officers to carry on the nothingness that is so evident.

However, there are many campus leaders that rejoice in these numerous groups where fellow students of similar tastes and interests mingle amid a prevailing spirit of accomplishment. They maintain that membership carries a certain amount of notable distinction, some clubs more than others, but all give the individual a feeling of pride from his selection, if nothing else. To have gatherings where student officers conduct meetings and carry on fraternity business, to talk and express one's opinions, to hear interesting discussions, to meet for social and fellowship purposes, etc, makes these honorary societies justify their existence, in the belief of many people.

The financial strain of these societies is exaggerated by the Ohio Dean it is thought. Certainly as far as the amount of money leaving the campus is concerned. True many of these groups have high initiation fees, but in most instances a large portion of this goes to the local chapter for the use and the benefit of the whole local membership to defray incidental expenses and to take care of entertainment and refreshments.

No one can doubt the apparent pleasure and good derived from membership in the nationally known key fraternities of which several originated on our own campus and many more in the other Virginia schools. The obvious eagerness of the undergraduates to obtain membership is a good indication of the esteem in which they are held in the intercollegiate world. This desire for club membership even with its doubtful distinction, by the individual should be a fair index to the value of these so-called "rackets." This is an age or organization in every field for accomplishment. Ours is a land where club membership is cherished and organization connections are relished. There is a certain bit of pride that even the most trivial fraternal affiliation affords to our titleless populace that seems to be pleasing. It is only natural that college and university men and women, desiring to succeed, should have their honorary groups, membership in which carries some tangible sign of recognition and social prestige.

Yes, Dean Park, to term honor societies as worthless "rackets" is putting it too strong in most cases. The intercollegiate world to which these clubs often mean much, will not agree with you.

HANDICAPPED SUNDAY RECREATION

That tennis and gymnasium games are enjoyable and beneficial as recreational forms of exercise is generally recognized throughout the nation. That they are particularly popular at William and Mary is evident from the crowded courts and from the number of students that play around the gyms during the week. However, on Sunday, the day on which the majority of the students have freedom from work, these buildings with all of their available equipment for student use and enjoyment are closed and the nets on the tennis court are not erected. Inquiry concerning this apparent inconvenience for the men and women who would like to participate in athletic exercise on Sunday, when they have the opportunity to get in a few sets of tennis, limber up a little in the gyms, or take a swim in the pools, discloses no particular reason other than custom. Of course the college employes who regularly care for these buildings, quite naturally, are off from work on the Sabbath. However, it would seem that with the number of college students being employed at present under the FERA, that several could be detailed to keep these buildings during certain hours of the day just as they are doing at present in the Sir Christopher Wren Building. If this is possible there would certainly be a sufficient student response to justify the opening of the buildings. For with the coming of warmer weather there is an increasing desire to get out for exercise and to participate in athletic games. This desire is unusually keen on Sunday when the average student has a chance to get on the tennis courts, that are usually in use by the college team during a large portion of the week afternoons, and when he can enjoy the gymnasium facilities without fear of interrupting physical education classes. With the heat of the spring climate, men and women would not be driven to Yorktown and nearby beaches as much in the search of a cooling dip if the swimming pools were open for use on Sundays. At present these diversions are closed to student enjoyment.

There seems little possibility that there would be any objection to having tennis and gym sports on Sunday under our present theory of laxity about the antiquated and now often non-existent Sunday "blue laws." Today even the most narrow sectarians and the strictest observers of the Seventh Day admit the benefits of Sunday relaxation in sport participation. However, if there are any doubts on this score, it would seem possible and altogether plausible to limit the use of the tennis courts and gymnasium to the afternoon so as not to conflict with services in the morning. At present no effort seems to be made to prohibit Sabbath play for last Sunday all of the courts, with cord strings tied from poles to serve as net, were in constant use throughout the afternoon. But playing tennis on one of the netless courts is about like going fishing without a hook; and just about as successful and pleasant. It appears to be a ridiculous situation from a needless handicap to see men running around batting a ball and then having to stop and argue whether it went under or over the string, when just inside a closed gym are the nets that can be used.

The FLAT HAT makes a plea for more fun on Sundays, in an effort to make our already delightful college, a still better place in which to live.

(By Snub McGrub.)

I once met a girl named Passion—
I asked her for a date;
We then went out to dinner—
My Gawd how Passionate.

Or
Jack and Jill went up the hill
To watch the moon together;
Jack came down with a great big frown
Because he had to wed her.

Well, 'tis the season when we notice the co-eds in the sunlight . . . the season of roller-skating, outside dates and the similar . . . and we swing into another column even tho' we lack "scruples" as another columnist on this sheet notes . . .

That little track man who runs so fast in the quarter and half, has broken a number of hearts on the local pastures by his announcement of his merge with a Richmond gal tagged Helen Cox, as his lack of possession of an S. A. E. pin would indicate . . . Nice going, Bullard and watch out you don't set any houses on fire as your feats on the cinder path might suggest . . . the Allen-Florence Carpenter Limited was in two sections last weekend which may or may not mean anything . . .

'Tis rumored that the light of the torch Ann Price and Preacher Appleton have been holding since way back in October is beginning to flicker and die out . . . (if you ever find yourself in jail, you can always break out with a laugh) . . . this lad Jerry O'Neill is spending a lot of time over in Chandler with a gal who answers to Virginia . . .

And another Sigma Nu pin changes hands . . . Hardy Dudley and Yette Winslow . . . to which merge we offer the usual salutations of congratulations . . . and William (Bill to you) Slocum, who has defied the local honies for three years, has finally fallen and spends lots of time in the company of Harriet Davis . . . the lad who captained Williams and Mary's swimming aggregation this winter (Cameron "Slim" Ogden) is discarding his theories on bachelorhood and swings down the Road with Pauline Stanley of the Kappa Delta Stanleys . . .

Mops Connelly is back to the old Hangout over thar in the court . . . glad to see your back . . . several of the lads took in the races last weekend at Curles Neck including Eddie Meade who bet on one horse in the steeplechase while the other won . . . but Hank Seymour and Harry White won a few greenbacks so they say . . . Warne Robinson spends many an hour over in the Chandler with Stier Cameron . . . 'twas a swell junior dance last weekend was it not? as Eddie Meade and Dot came Hand in Hand . . .

Jane Thornburgh seems to have found the light of her life in no uncertain fashion with a lad handled Shields Henley providing the other half . . . Mr. Ruffin Winfree a frequent visitor over at the Apple Pie house, maintaining excellent "Express" service with Joy Smith . . . how about a Kurtzon-Jaffee merge? . . . And Hear ye—Hear Ye—the miracles of the day . . . my old friend Murray "Mooseface" Harrison came all the way from Norfolk, spent all the carfare, etc., with the full realization that the dance of the evening was NOT a co-ed affair . . . nice going kid and am glad to hear that you're making out so well with the Telephone Co. . . . Chick Walker, of the Tazewell Walkers, has found a heart over in Barrett who gives him Fitz pretty near all the time . . .

That was sure one swell race Lou Plummer ran last weekend and we wish him luck in breaking that two mile record this spring . . . he was only three seconds away last Saturday and we predict that he'll make the new record on Saturday against the Navy, even with that lousy Farragut Field track . . .

The rumor that the honeymoon is over when the bride notices how cold the apartment is . . . just like the saying that the coat and pants do all the work but the vest gets all the gravy . . . we won't invest much in that crack, but do you know about the girl who, every time she sees anything in trousers, she pants . . . up . . .

Answers to correspondents:
To the B. A. E.'s: Thanks a lot for a swell time.

MAN ABOUT CAMPUS

ED MEADE

Several years ago at the opening of the college term a tall, powerfully built Freshman appeared at the registration desk and gave his name as Edwin D. Meade and his home as Babylon, Long Island. Other than these two facts, little was known concerning the gentleman at the time. Now, however, there is scarcely a student on the campus—co-eds especially—who does not know, and have a good word for, Ed. Meade.

There are two chief reasons for Ed's great popularity on this campus—his personality, and his athletic ability. For the present we shall confine ourselves to a study of the latter reason.

During the years in which he competed in athletics Ed won letters in three sports—football, track and swimming—and in each of these sports he was an outstanding performer. His record of nine varsity monograms and three Freshman numerals gives a rough conception of his abilities as an athlete. These monograms and numerals do not, however, tell the entire story of Meade's athletic career. They do not, for example, reveal the fact that his play at a guard position will compare favorably with that of any linesman in the history of the college; that it twice gained him a place on the all-Virginia Conference first team and the same number of times a berth on the second All-State eleven; and that it further caused him to be selected, in the fall of '33, as a member of the All-Star Southern team chosen to play in the annual North-South football classic.

Some other interesting facts not revealed by these monograms are: that Meade holds the college record in the shot-put—44 feet, 7 3-8 inches; that he also won many points in the discus and javelin events; that he was captain of the track team in '34; and that he is one of the finest fancy divers ever to compete under the tri-colors.

Such, in brief is Ed's athletic record. As for his achievements in other fields—well, here they are. He is a member of the "13" Club; belongs to the Gibbons Club; served as Sports Editor of the Colonial Echo in '32; has more than once represented Sigma Phi Epsilon on the Inter-Fraternity Council; is a past-president of S. P. E.; and last year held the position of vice-president of the Cotillion Club. In addition to these he was selected last fall to head the Parade Committee for Home-coming Day. All who witnessed the parade can testify to the fact that he did an excellent piece of work.

Ed is vitally interested in every phase of William and Mary life. Not a single dance or social function of any description takes place but what he is present, not a single political discussion is held without his being one of the leaders. He sees all, hears all, and knows—well, nearly all at any rate. Not only is he one of the most active men on the campus, Ed is, without a doubt one of the most popular, and he more than deserves to be classified as one of the "Men About Campus."

STUDENT VOICES

Student Opinion Letters, and Letters to "Connie Confidence" should be mailed to the Flat Hat, Box AA, Williamsburg, or left in the Flat Hat Box in the Administration Building. Students are invited to use these columns for advice, and for expressing their opinions concerning campus affairs. The editors reserve the right to change any letter to conform to space limits or to the ethical standards of this publication.

Connie's Column

Dear Connie:
I have a grave confession to make to you Connie—I am too popular! Everywhere I go I am gazed at by admiring members of the female sex, and it puts me in a bad position. I would like to be a one-woman-man like hundreds of other satisfied males on this campus, but my curious attraction makes this impossible. I have tried everything, even to wearing caps, and pink ties, but nothing seems to stop the onrushing amazons. What solace can you offer me, oh woman of many emotions, for my tired and love hungry nature?
Bright Eye.

Dear Bright Eye:
Keep up that kind of an idea, my young fop, and the bright eye will be dimly blue. In fact, my dear boy, you have a bad case of "I" trouble. I offer no solace, my one emotion now being disgust and supply one remedy—some girl to knock the conceit out of you.
Connie.

Dear Connie:
I need your advice about a very serious and unusual situation. Believe it or not, I am too popular. The girls on this campus (not to mention others) rush me all the time, and it's getting me down. Why, the other day I had to have three dates in two hours! And when dances come along, I have a helluva time trying to decide whom to take.
Now I know that I must give the girls on this campus a break, but a thing like this can be carried too far. These days I never get a chance to study, as some coed is always calling me up and asking me to go to the show, walk out to the lake or something of the sort. In particular there's one little redhead who calls me up about six times a day.
Another thing that annoys me is the way the girls try to drag me to the houses for lunch or dinner. They don't give me enough food, and I don't like it. I'm used to eating a big meal (I'm a big man, you see) but when I go to one of the sorority houses, they feed me as if I were a pet canary.
Madam, I am becoming desperate. If some way of stopping these petty annoyances (known around here as coeds) isn't found very soon, I shall be compelled to leave school. And

Student Opinion

ARE WE ADULTS?
To the Editor of the Flat Hat:
Dear Sir:
In the March 20th issue of the Flat Hat appeared an editorial concerned with the restrictions against students having dates on the campus and sorority porches.
I think the question, as stated, is trivial. Whether we sit inside or outside is unimportant. The real question involved is more fundamental than that: Are we students to be considered as adults, able to take care of ourselves, or as children who must be kept under surveillance lest we be naughty?
I maintain that college students as a class are able and should be allowed to regulate their personal conduct by themselves without constant adult control. They might do things that are now forbidden—such comparatively harmless activities as walking in company around the streets of Williamsburg and the new paths in the College woods. But they wouldn't engage in practices detrimental to the college morale and to their students to any greater extent than under the existing conditions.
With such a system, individual cases of disorderly conduct might arise, as they do at present, the difference being that while now they are labelled infractions of the rule and treated as such automatically, in the proposed scheme they would be disciplined individually on the merits of the case without reference to precedent or precept.
Is this not worth a trial? Would not the advantages, in increased sense of independence and self-confidence of the students, more than offset the disadvantages, in decreased enrollment due to old-fashioned parents not liking their children to enter a life fraught with such dangerous possibilities? (I can think of no other ill effects of such a program.)
—Written by William after being consulted by Mary.
then what would all the girls do?
The Man Who Taught Clark Gable All He Knows.
Dear Mr. Man:
I feel so sorry for you. I know you'll be a nervous wreck in a little

I'm very much worried about your case. It's unique. I fully realize how indebted Clark Gable must be to you. Even he isn't rushed as much as you are. I met him in California, but he's very ungrateful—he didn't even mention how much he owed to you.

If I were you I'd just put my foot down and say, "Girls, fight it out among yourselves. I'll have no more than one date a day, and only one date for a Saturday night dance. Also, ladies, I'm off sorority food for life."

The girls like them masterful and when they get through fighting it out, there'll be only one in fit condition left to have the date.

THE DIRT TEST...
Dust was blown over the face of various types of summer suitings. The suitings were then rinsed in clear water. The dirt that adhered to the fabrics is plainly shown by the color of the water after rinsing. Note that the water in the case of the Palm Beach Cloth tests is almost clear. Other fabrics tested retained from two to five times as much dirt.
Your Palm Beach Suit, because of the smooth yarns of the cloth and its patented construction, sheds the dirt, keeps clean and needs less laundering.

Diagrams don't do it justice. What we need is a microscope. Then we could show you how a flock of dust comes down on a Palm Beach suit and bounces off...doesn't cling a-tall.
We could show you how the clean, sanitary, un-fuzzy fibres of Palm Beach resist dirt. None of the whiskers or scales (scillia) which make wool catch dust and hold it. That's why Palm Beach suits mean smaller laundry bills.

VARSITY DROPS MEET TO N. C. DARTMOUTH

Held On Muddy Track

The Dartmouth meet was held on a muddy track which slowed up the times in the races. The big Green showed outstanding performances in the 100 pole vault, high jump, and quarter mile, while Lou Plummer in the two-mile, Platt Bullard in the half mile, Little, Smeltzer, Langbauer, and Upson looked good for William and Mary.

Sweep Mile

North Carolina took seven first to the Indians' six, the pole vault ending in a tie, but heavy scoring in seconds and thirds gave the Tar Heels their nineteen-point margin. Coach Bill Fetzer's charges scored a clean sweep in the mile and took the first two places in both hurdles. The Carolinians took second and third in four of the six events which William and Mary won.

Co-captain McRae, Southern Conference champion, ran a pretty 4:35 mile, easily outdistancing his teammates who finished second and third. Lou Plummer ran along with the Tar Heels' three entries in the two mile until the last 440 yards when he opened up with a sprint to win the race by a good margin. Little ran the 100 in ten seconds flat, to nose out Hubbard in a thrilling race. Williamson ran a 2:03.5 half in defeating Bullard whose sprint failed to catch the flying Tar Heel.

in the century and the furlong. Oldfield and Gresham will handle the middle distances. Gresham expects to be fully recovered from his leg injuries of last week.

Wolfe, who won the mile last Saturday, deserves more than passing notice. He is a quarter-miler who changed to the mile because of the dearth of distance men in the freshmen ranks.

Maury did not appear to be too strong last Saturday in the meet with Newport News High, and the Freshmen should not have a great deal of trouble.

game was accounted for when Stretch Kirley, pinch-hitting for De-gree, Vermont third baseman, rifled a single to short right in the seventh inning to send Palmer and Werner home for a Green and Gold victory. The Washington and Lee game was featured by a pitching duel between Jumbo Elliott and the Generals' flinger. The game was a closely-fought contest throughout, as the score indicates.

70 million dollars worth of tobacco

— 4½ miles of warehouses

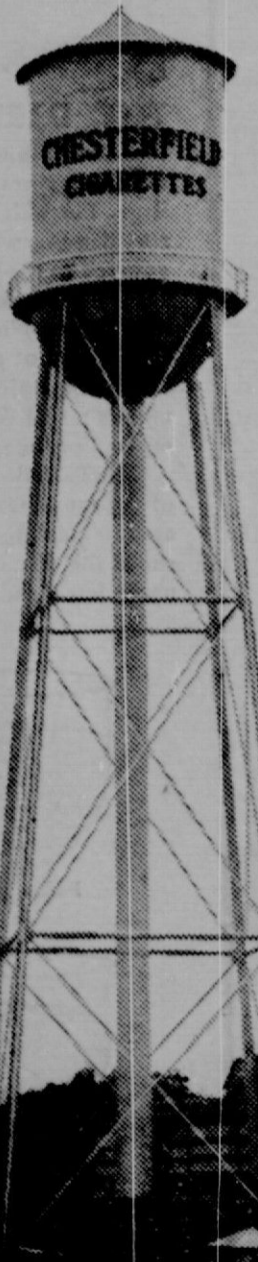

Everything that Science knows about is used in making Chesterfields.

One thing we do is to buy mild, ripe tobaccos and then lock up these tobaccos in modern storage warehouses to age and mellow like rare wines.

It takes about 3 years to age the tobaccos for your Chesterfield, for Time does something to tobacco that neither man nor machine can do.

It means something to keep 70 million dollars worth of tobacco in storage. It means just this:

We do everything possible to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

the cigarette that's MILD

the cigarette that TASTES BETTER
