College Asks State Assembly For $557,000

Chandler Offers to Raise $500,000 if State Will Appropriate $200,000 for New Buildings; Need for New Dormitories Now Keenly Felt.

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler has announced that the State budget for the biennial period of 1926-28, calling for an appropriation to William and Mary of $557,000 has been submitted to the General Assembly for their consideration. Of this amount $400,000 is needed for the settlement of operating expenses of the College and the remainder to be utilized in defraying the expenses contracted in the erection of the new dining hall, the refrigerating plant, the addition to the power plant and other new equipment.

In view of the fact that there is an obvious need of two new dormitories, one for men and one for women, in addition to a new science hall, the College has proposed to the General Assembly that the former raise $500,000 through personal donations if the legislature will make an appropriation of $200,000, the total being the amount necessary to construct the dormitories and science hall. There has been much unfavorable comment recently regarding three of the dormitories on the campus. One in particular to which reference is being made was a soldiers' barrack, and the

J. Stitt Wilson to Give Lectures Here

Well Known Author, Sociologist and Lecturer, Will Speak at Series of Meetings Under Auspices of College Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. announces that a series of three lectures will be given here this week-end by the Hon. J. Stitt Wilson, of Berkley, California. Dr. Wilson is well known all over the country as a lecturer, author, publicist, politician, student sociologist, and mayor of his home city, Berkley. As a student of sociology Dr. Wilson is probably one of the best in the country. He spent nine years at the University of Chicago in study and in practical and experimental work in the field of sociology. Through personal investigation of social conditions he has gained an unusual insight into modern problems. As a lecturer he is reported to be unusually interesting and especially attractive to students. He is liked in collegiate groups because of his liberal and modern attitude toward social and religious problems.

Dr. Wilson is making speeches at several colleges in the South, creating very favorable impressions everywhere. He is expected to be received here with no less acclamation. The Y. M. C. A. is fortunate in being able to secure him.

One-Student Class Sets A New Record

All records of the past for small classes at William and Mary have been broken this semester by what is probably the smallest class which can be scheduled under the college regulations. This class, Jurisprudence 206, known as International Law and taught by Mr. Peebles, of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship, at the time of this writing, has but one student, Stanley Fein, a sophomore.

C. H. Shield, Jr., Is New Track Captain

Conway H. Shield, Jr., of Yorktown, was elected captain of the 1926 track squad at a meeting of the track letter men held last Thursday. He will take the place of W. H. Charles, who failed to return to college for the second semester.

"Connie," as the new captain is known, has been prominent in several branches of Indian track athletics for the past three years, having entered William and Mary from Virginia Episcopal School at Lynchburg in 1922. He is counted one of the best dash

GIRLS BASKET BALL TEAM PROVES TO BE INVINCIBLE TO LYNCHBURG AND SWEET BRIAR

Philadelphia Team Here Tomorrow Night

Fredericksburg State Teachers' College Sextet Follows Northern Team on Schedule, Playing Co-eds Tuesday Night.

Temple University team will invade the Indian stronghold for a game with the co-ed team tomorrow night, bringing with them what promises to be the best team the Marys will face this season. The Philadelphians come from the department of physical education at the Quakertown University and have given the co-eds one defeat in the two games that the two teams have played in seasons before this one.

Although the Indianettes have had the arguments much their own way to this time, if advance information has any weight, they will encounter real opposition when they face the Temple squad tomorrow night. This team is usually good and has made a good record in the games played so far this year. Coach Barksdale has been drilling the squad for the past week in special preparation for this game, and the players are expected to be in excellent condition for the fray when the game starts.

Next Tuesday night the girls from the State Normal School at Fredericksburg will come to the college for a game. Little could be learned about the relative strength of the school marms but reports tend to show that they have as good a team as the one which faced the co-eds last year. Not so much opposition is expected from them as from Temple, but the game will more than likely prove interesting.

Mid-Winter Dances Score Great Success

Cotillion Club Puts Over One of Best Series of Dances Ever Given At William and Mary; Decorations for Valentine Season Are Most Appropriate.

Another great success was the verdict passed by the visitors and all others who attended the mid-winter dances given by the Cotillion Club in the Blow gymnasium last Friday and Saturday nights. Valentine Day was the theme of the decorations and favors and the whole affair carried out the idea to perfection.

Music was furnished by Naylor's Seven Aces, a really Southern orchestra from Birmingham, and their per-

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR AN EXCELLENT SEASON

Lynchburg College and Sweetbriar Beaten in Hard Fought Games on Trip to Hill City; First Road Series Proves Overwhelming Success.

William and Mary's co-ed basket-tees took another step toward the championship and the realization of their no-defeat goal last Tuesday night when they gave the girls from Chowan College in North Carolina a 48-to-8 defeat on the Jefferson Hall court. The Indianettes took the lead at the beginning of the game and at no time were they in danger of receiving any stiff opposition. The visitors showed excellent spirit and contested the ground to the utmost of their ability, but were outclassed by the speed and finish of the local sextette.

Viola Etheridge and Sliz Love exhibited their usual excellent form, finding the ring for 13 and 5 baskets, respectively. The other members of the team had as little difficulty caging the sphere, Perkins, Carter and Hale all sending the ball through for two tallies each. The passing of the centers and the work of the guards, especially Burke, were features of the game.

The co-eds kept the ball in constant motion from the sound of the whistle and supplied good sport for the spectators, despite the fact that the game was decidedly one-sided. As the ball moved from player to player, perfect form and well timed team play were shown to be the secret of the team's success.

This made the fourth victory for the William and Mary team in as many starts, and in all four encounters the Indianettes have shown the same well trained form. Students and other followers of the sextette feel confident that the team of '26 will equal any placed on the floor in the last several years. That Coach Barksdale and her assistants have rounded into form an aggregation that will compare favorably with any in the state, if not in the South, is the opinion of those who have witnessed the performances of the team so far.

The line-up used against Chowan was:

W. & M.:	Po.	Chowan.
Etheridge	F	Vann

English Lit. Founded On Bible, Says Hall

Dr. J. Lesslie Hall Address First of Series of Meetings in Y. M. C. A. on "The Literary Value of the Bible." Bob Miles to Speak on Feb. 28.

As an illustration of the extent to which the Bible has become interwoven into the classical and contemporary literature of the English language, Dr. J. Lesslie Hall, in the course of his discussion given in the "Y" room last Sunday afternoon on "The Literary Value of the Bible," made the statement that, should all the copies of the Scriptures now in existence be destroyed, the Bible could be completely rewritten from English literature.

Dr. Hall very clearly brought into belief that from Caedmon's "Paraphrases" to Kipling's "Recessional," the Bible has been the foundation of the greatest in English literature. The English Bible, he said, has formed the model for style and the basis for material and thought in one of the world's greatest literatures, and as such is worthy of our most careful and thoughtful study.

The next of this series of Sunday afternoon discussions of the practical value of the Bible will be given a week from this Sunday by Bob Miles, of Richmond, who led the series of meetings held recently in the local Presbyterian church.

"Dammit" Passes To Happy Hunting Ground

Best Known of Campus Dogs, Loyal Supporter of All Activities and Strong Backer of Athletics, Has Attended His Last Rally at W. & M.

The world and its population may be taken up with events of the so-called age of commercialism and overlook the more human side of life, but when college students allow the death of a dog to cast a bit of gloom over the campus during the whirl of mid-winter dances, there is some hope for the younger generation after all. Thus commented one of the college officials, speaking of the discovery here last week of workmen who found the remains of "Dammit," the college dog for the past two years, one of the best known figures on the local campus.

"Dammit" was a gay dog, showing a decided preference for the co-eds of the campus. He served as companion for many of the girls in their shopping tours of Williamsburg, and was one of the few outsiders who had free access to Jefferson Hall at all hours. No campus cop molested his rounds of the campus, nor attempted to correct him in his conduct at the local institution. No cheer leader had to heap threats upon the shaggy head of "Dammit" to insure his presence at all student body gatherings, for "Dammit" was always ready to take a hand in everything. His low, heavy coated figure was as familiar a sight as that of Lord Botetourt or the Sir Christopher Wren building, and, to the minds of the students, his name deserved as high a place in William and Mary's hall of fame.

"Dammit" was the aristocrat of the campus, who passed on the qualifications of all stray dogs seeking membership in the select campus gang. A wag of "Dammit's" plume-like tail either admitted strays to membership, or sent them howling down the road to Jamestown.

"Dammit" died as near as possible to his beloved co-eds. His body was found stretched stiff and cold under Tyler Annex, one of the girls' dormitories of the campus.

BETWEEN BASKETS

If every basketball game were like that played last week between the Indians and Roanoke College, the general interest in and support of court games would undoubtedly rise to new heights. It is hard to understand why the brand of ball exhibited by the same team varies so much in successive games. Whether it is a result of the moods of the players, moods of the supporters, or a combination of both is an unsolved mystery.

* * * * *

The addition by the track managers of George Washington University to the spring schedule completes the heaviest card ever to be attempted by an Indian track squad. This year track as a sport is joining hands with the other branches of athletics to set a new standard at William and Mary—a standard which is characterized by the scheduling of the best teams in the country in all sports.

* * * * *

By the latest comparative scores, the Spider quint has the Indians by one point, in as much as they defeated Roanoke by one field goal while the margin of the local team resulted from a foul shot. With plenty of the old time fighting spirit and the unswerving support of the student body, a victory is by no means impossible when the green, gold and silver basketeers meet the red and blue again on March 2.

* * * * *

The sports department takes this opportunity to extend thanks and congratulations to "Collegian" for his article on College Spirit in the last issue of The Flat Hat and also recommends that the article be read and digested by every student at this and other colleges which might be in need of it.

W. & M. Downs Roanoke After Bitter Fight

Indians Seem to Recover Old Form for Moment to Defeat Spruhan's Fighting Maroons, 35-34; Score Is Tied at the End of First Half.

In what was probably the most exciting game witnessed on the home court this season, William and Mary won from Roanoke by the score of 35-34. From the referee's whistle marking the beginning of the game until the final gun, the Indians and Maroons put forth a close fight that resulted in the Indian victory. Although Roanoke scored the first few points, the Indians soon came to the front and for the remainder of the game neither side led by more than four points, while the score was tied several times. The first half ended with an 18-18 tie.

At the beginning of the second period, the Maroons took the lead, but for only a short time, for the Indians came back and again tied the score. For the rest of the game the outcome was continually in doubt. William and Mary finally managed to keep her lead until the end with the score 35-34 in favor of the Indians.

The passing and floor work of both teams was excellent throughout the game. Young was high scorer for the Indians with six field goals, while Bissinger led in points for the visitors with four goals.

Indians Will Meet Guilford Tonight

Team Returning From Trip to Meet Strong Foe From North Carolina; Defeated Same Team Twice During the 1925 Season.

Tonight the Indians are encountering the Guilford quint on the Blow gym court. Last year the Taskerites succeeded in gaining two victories from the Carolinians, but reports from the Tarheel State this year indicate that the Guilford five will prove hard foes to overcome. Duke and Wake Forest have both felt the sting of defeat at the hands of this year's fast quint, though Davidson and Lenoir-Rhyne have each gained victories over them.

The Indians have just come back from a Northern jaunt and the return to the home grounds should give them the necessary pep and spirit to put across a win.

Patriotism is taking your arm from around your girls when the United States cavalry gallops across the screen.

Indian Relay Teams Take Second Places

Varsity Finishes Second to Richmond and Ducs Trail Virginia Freshmen in Richmond Indoor Carnival; Begin Preparations for Baltimore Meet.

The Indian relay team took second place in the triangular mile relay among Richmond, Randolph-Macon and William and Mary, which featured the indoor carnival at Richmond last Saturday night. The varsity team, consisting of Green, Warren, Daughtery and Yates, running in the order named, was defeated about 40 yards by the Richmond quartet, composed of Goode, Hood, Bloxom and Tharpe. However, Randolph-Macon, who defeated the Indians last year, trailed the Green, Gold and Silver team at a safe distance.

Although last year William and Mary made complete entries, Coaches Siersma and Chandler this year entered teams only in the relays and did not participate in the point events. Earlier in the games a freshman team composed of Smith, King, Melvin and Gresham ran second to the University of Virginia freshmen, but outdistanced the Richmond University rats by several yards. It was the froshes' first run, but their exhibition was very creditable and deserves great praise.

The team is entering the meet in Baltimore on the twenty-seventh of this month, and will in all probability meet the Richmond runners for the collegiate championship of the South Atlantic section. According to the members and coaches every effort will be made to return the defeat administered Saturday.

College Enrollment Has Reached 1094

The beginning of the second college semester for the session 1925-26 shows an addition to the rolls to date of 46 new students, 25 of whom are women and 21 men. It is not known as yet what religious denominations are represented by the new matriculants, nor what States they represent that are not already represented in the student body.

The total enrollment of the student body at present since being supplemented by the students who enrolled for the second semester is 1,094.

PROPAGANDA

A mass of data comes in a constant stream to the office of The Flat Hat accompanied by detailed letters designed to impress on the editor the importance of the movement represented with suggestions on the best method for him to assist in bettering the world by using the enclosed material. Such propaganda as this goes to other students who are thought able to present it to the remaining members of the college community. Until recently not much of this matter appeared on the campus of William and Mary, but current tendencies seem to indicate that the insidious attacks of the professional organizer of movements are taking their effect.

The multiplicity of forms that this disease assumes and the various agencies of attack are astounding. The doctrines range from attacks on the use of chewing gum to proposals (in essence) to reorganize the social structure of the world. They come from organizations which, if their name is any index, are fostered by Bible societies and other religious bodies, including one from an institution which presumes to call itself a Christian College. In them are articles attacking everything, including in one case the War Department of the United States, the latter's crime being that of providing defense for the country. Most of them are directed to the recipient with the assurance that they are sent only to a few of the outstanding men on the campus so that they may present the light to the other students. Lastly, we have the evil of the speaker who spends his time going about to arouse interest in the "cause." In some cases this data is endorsed by men of surprising status.

The general characteristics of the pamphlets and folders vary in a very slight degree. Some isolated example of an evil or some minor evil is selected and every conceivable connection—with some inconceivable connections—made with the "problems of life." The whole matter is then magnified and a vast structure of theory built on the resulting foundation of sand. The final result is an excellent piece of propaganda. Out of fairness we must admit that the purveyors of this material are not vicious; they are actuated by the highest of motives and are thoroughly sincere, but in most cases equally misguided.

We shall not attempt here to meet the various points at issue. The evils portrayed do in most cases exist. All the fallacies in the propaganda may be reduced to one general fault; some insignificant point is removed from its context and magnified to disproportionate importance. When it appears in the scheme from which it comes, it is merely a detail. That these trifles should engage as much attention as they do is the surprising aspect of the situation.

The criticism above is too general to apply in every case. Students should assist in all matters worthy of attention which they may help alleviate. On the other hand, they should not be subjected to a deluge of such literature as is described and the most practical way to provide self defense is openly to disapprove of that which is forced in by courteously but firmly declining it.

IN CONCLUSION

The Georgetown Hoya, commenting on a recent editorial in The Flat Hat, says:

"The honor system," according to the William and Mary Flat Hat, "is the embodiment of all that is good, fair and noble in student life.' If such be the case, why has this much discussed plan failed in so many prominent universities?"

We do not wish to make this an editorial debate, but we shall add this one comment. We thought this point had been made plain in the article in question. However, we shall reply, with due apologies to the Bard of Avon: "The fault, dear reader, is not with our stars, but with ourselves."

Second Issue Literary Magazine Appears

Wealth of Material in Latest Volume Off Press; Agnes Curtis and F. J. Barnes Appointed to Fill Vacancies on Staff.

The January Literary Magazine, issued this week, compares well with the last issue, and in many respects surpasses it. It is better rounded, more complete in its departments, and more generally representative both in numbers of contributors and in variety of material. Its pages are particularly abundant in poetry, always an indication of literary activity, and the number of really worthwhile essays is especially commendable. Of short stories and sketches at least two are eminently praiseworthy, while a one-act play and a translation from the Spanish complete the variety. Both the editorial and the book review departments have been well organized, while a third department, that of exchanges, has been added since the last issue. Another noticeable improvement is in the appearance of the magazine inside. More careful attention to spacing and type proportioning has been conducive to a neater and more artistic interior finish.

Of the short stories "The Mother Smiles," by Ruth Burton, is perhaps the best. Among the poetry, "A Sonnet" and "To a Cripple," by Phyllis Walsh, are outstanding. They are beyond comparison with anything else that has appeared in the magazine this year. "Dance Mad," by Samuel G. Staples, a pretty impressionistic sketch, is excellent. The best essays are "Searching for the Golden Bough," by Mary L. Parker and "The Joy of Salt Water Swimming," by Sewell H. Hopkins, while "The Birth of a Railroad," by Lillian Berlin, and "Ye Bare and Ye Cubb," by F. James Barnes, are interesting historically. The editorials show a live interest on the part of the editors in matters of importance both on and beyond the campus.

Elizabeth Kneeland, who was associate editor and handled the exchange department last semester, has graduated, and will be succeeded by Agnes Curtis. F. James Barnes has also been reappointed to the staff.

The editors of the magazine stated that the lateness of the January issue was caused by the failure of some of the contributors to hand material in sooner, and they would like to emphasize the importance of the active support of the student body for a worthwhile Literary Magazine. Surely a much larger amount of material could be produced for the next number. The editors add that they can only select; the students must provide.

A F(rank) Discussion
(By Collegian)

(Note—This is the sixth of a series of articles written for The Flat Hat Collegian dealing with college life. Fraternity men and women are asked to overlook any errors appearing in this article.)

Fraternalities are what the students wear when he runs out of clothes. The outfits bought by any of the good brothers are, after the initial wearing by the purchaser, considered property of the group. Unusual indeed is the case if a tie is seen by the owner until after it has been worn several rounds and adorned each noble neck within the house. The first man each morning is always the best dressed while the poor brother who is a case of late sleeping, if he can find any clothes at all, looks for the best at least like one who has been the best man at a rummage sale. This makes little difference to him, however, as most people will think he is a "collegiate." That the sororities use the same plan is beyond question and for proof the reader may follow the evolution of some particularly appalling red or green dress from day to day.

Some of the necessary features of a fraternity house are as follows:

First, a house of some sort or description.

Second, from ten to twenty students.

Third, half enough beds for the above mentioned.

Fourth, a broken down victrola and several cracked records.

Fifth, a collection of antique furniture.

Sixth, old pennants, pictures, etc.

Seventh, a bottle of "glueco," one tin of talcum powder, two combs, one wash brush, three towels, six sheets, four blankets and a tooth brush. If anything is omitted, we assure the gentleman reader that it was not intentional.

Among fraternities it is generally customary to have most of the beds on a sleeping porch, piled one on top of the other until the ceiling protests. Why the word "sleeping" was ever attached to the porch, no one has yet discovered. There are always two classes of brothers, those who go to bed late and those who get up early and each is always thoughtful of the other. The "owls" consider it a duty to wake everyone up when they are retiring, while the "early birds" believe it a rare privilege to return the compliment upon their arising the next morning. Hence no one ever sleeps—except in classes.

For the benefit of pledges to the frats, furnaces are installed and must be tenderly nursed. Woe unto the goat who neglects his duty. There is a destiny that shapes his end (usually a paddle) toward more perfect accomplishment in the future. For the same unfortunate there are in most cases spacious lawns, which must be kept in condition, back yards to clean, cellars to renovate and errands to run. If the pledge does not dance, his education in "bawroom ettiket" is one of hard work. Each good brother must teach him an individual style, and in the end the "goat" blossoms forth with strange and weird creations of his own.

In most cases the frats have rules for the brothers to disregard. Quiet hours for study are set aside, and during this time dancing lessons are given and bull sessions held. Those who want to study seek other refuge or resolve to study some other time. The first class then find that someone already has their books and the second goes to the movies.

Each brother has his regular date and if he don't the noble fraters get him one, pour him into some of the fraternity's clothes, and drag him off to meet the "blunder." At the end of each evening, they gather to make their reports of progress achieved and exchange dates for the next occasion. But enough of this. Each tale must have an ending and as the campus nut said as he read the first part of this, "there's no time like the present."

MID-WINTER DANCES
SCORE GREAT SUCCESS

formance, particularly on the second night, was entirely satisfactory. No better music has been supplied by any set of musicians who have appeared at William and Mary this year.

Special credit is due to the members of the decorations committee and their chairman, Joe Perkins. The arrange ment worked out for the mid-winter is the best that the Cotillion Club has offered in the memory of those now at college. Red and white streamers running into a canopy at the top of the room formed the base of the scheme, while down the streamers and along the wall rows of hearts completed the effect. The press box, usually hard to make presentable for such an occasion as this, was transformed into a huge valentine by working crepe paper among the meshes. The scene was completed by the use of Japanese lanterns to soften the light.

Many alumni returned for the event, while numbers of visitors enjoyed the dance and the various concomitant social events.

*Decorate yourself with the degree

THAT means "Pipa Amoroso" in the Latin, or "pipe-lover" in plain campus English. P. A. has certainly endeared a pipe to more men than any other letters in the smoke-alphabet. Because Prince Albert lets a fellow smoke all he wants to—and makes him want to!

Cool as the stare of a marble Venus. Sweet as the approach of vacation. Fragrant as spring blossoms. Think up your own similes, Fellows. You will when you pick P. A. and a jimmy-pipe for permanent roommates. Prince Albert is great tobacco, and that's not blah.

Get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today. Fill the bowl of that old jimmy-pipe to the brim and borrow a match. Then you're set for some great smoke-sessions, as sure as you're a foot high.

PRINCE ALBERT
—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Freedom At Last!

The principal of equal rights for men has been established at the University of California. Professor Ira B. Cross recently expressed annoyance at the time taken from studies by feminine students powdering their noses and freshening their countenances. He said boys had an equal privilege and rights if they desired them. The next day two men appeared with shaving equipment and when Professor Cross started his lecture, they lathered and shaved. Professor Cross led the applause, saying that if they would make their names known to him—he was unable to recognize them under the lather—he would see that they received a grade of "A" for the term.

Ecker Wins Faculty Handball Tournament

Professor of History Department Emerges Victorious in First Two Rounds of Contest; Arrangements Now Being Made for Student Tournament.

The results of the first two rounds of the faculty handball tournament shows Professor Ecker, of the History Department, to be champion, with Professor Jantz, of the Biology Department, runner-up. In the first round, Professor Russell eliminated Professor Nilsson, only to be himself eliminated by Professor Ecker, who had previously overcome Mr. Cassidy, the Y. M. C. A. secretary.

Professor Jantz showed his ability in the second round by first beating Dr. Guy and then Dr. Davis, who had eliminated Dr. Robb. He proved a worthy opponent for Professor Ecker and the latter had to extend himself to the uttermost finally to overcome him.

The final round to determine the college champion will be played off on February 17. As a result of the efforts of Coaches Siersma and Chandler, enthusiasm is running high over the coming encounter. The courts are open to the faculty from 4:30 to 6 p. m. on Wednesday and Friday, and all members of the faculty are cordially invited to enter the games and show their skill. A tournament for students is being arranged and will be started in the near future.

men that William and Mary has ever had, having run the sprints in good time for the three years that he has been in college. In addition, he has been a member of the relay team for the last two seasons. Altogether, he is adjudged to be one of the mainstays on the Indian track squad, and the letter men are believed to have shown good judgment in electing Shield as their captain.

Besides being a track star, Shield is quite prominent in other branches of student activities, especially in the social life of the campus. He is an active member of the Cotillion Club and is also a member of Kappa Sigma, Flat Hat Club, O. D. K., the Thirteen Club and several other student organizations.

Many Va. Colleges At Bible Institute

Series of Meetings Sponsored by College Y. M. C. A., J. W. Bergthold and Brook Anderson, Two Leading Men of South on Institute Program.

At the instance of the Y. M. C. A., William and Mary was host last week to the Bible Institute held for the colleges of Eastern Virginia. J. W. Bergthold, general secretary of the Southern Y. M. C. A., and Brook Anderson, student secretary at the University of Virginia, were the special representatives here who assisted by Mr. Cassady, the local secretary, led the program. Dr. Goodwin made several instructive suggestions and comments which helped to carry on the discussions.

The first session was held Wednesday night in the "Y" room at the Blue gymnasium. Preliminary organization occupied the assembly for this meeting. The next three meetings were used to illustrate various approaches to the study of the Bible. After these groups had completed their work, the conference met as a whole for the next two sessions and organized the findings of the several groups into a unified method for use on the several campuses represented.

Thursday afternoon a committee, headed by Bill Bozarth, took the delegates to Yorktown and Jamestown. The final meeting was held Friday morning.

About twenty delegates from Richmond College, Medical College, Hampden-Sidney, Randolph-Macon, Union Theological Seminary and Westhampton attended the convention.

The Trip.

Lynchburg Game.

The co-eds' basketball trip last week-end proved very successful for the Indianettes. The first game played was that Friday night with Lynchburg College at Lynchburg, from which William and Mary emerged victorious by the score of 37-33. The teams were fairly evenly matched and the game was a close one, although it was marred in places by a little unnecessary roughness on the part of some of the participants. The Indianettes came through clean with one more victory to their credit, not having lost a single game thus far.

The line-up was:

W. & M.	Po.	Lynchburg.
Etheridge	F	Elliott
Carter	F	Hunter
Brown	C	Swart
Townsend	C	Hoye
Tompkins	G	Gardner
Perkins	G	Smithson

Summary—Field goals: William and Mary: Love (6), Etheridge (7); foul goals: Love (9), Etheridge (2). Substitutions: William and Mary: Love for Carter, Perkins for Brown, Wilkins for Townsend, Perkins for Burke; Lynchburg: Eaton for Hunley, Wray for Smithson. Referee, Miss Rogers, Sweetbriar, coach; umpire, Miss Taylor, Lynchburg.

Sweetbriar Game.

The second game was played with Sweetbriar Saturday afternoon in the Lynchburg Y. W. gymnasium, resulting in a second victory for the Indianettes, score 25-21. The players on both teams were considerably handicapped by the small floor, but even despite this, the Indianettes played a fine game. The passing of the co-eds was exceptionally good, and that, coupled with the team work, displayed by both teams, tended to keep the game interesting from the beginning.

The game with Sweetbriar marked the third win in as many games played by the Indianettes, and Coach Barksdale's team this year bids fair to rival that of a few seasons ago, if they keep up the pace which they have set for themselves.

Line-up and summary:

W. & M.	Po.	Sweetbriar.
Etheridge	F	McDiarmid
Love	F	Compton
Brown	C	Peterman
Wilkins	C	Boone
Tompkins	G	Williams
Burke	G	Gilcrest

Summary—No substitutions. Referee, Miss Cary. Umpire, Miss Peck.

Dramatic Club Takes Six New Initiates

Virginia Alpha Chapter of Theta Alpha Phi Dramatic Fraternity Initiates First Group to Be Taken Since Installation Last Year.

Virginia Alpha chapter of the Theta Alpha Phi Dramatic Fraternity has announced the initiation of six new members. The initiates are Mr. E. M. Gwathmey, Miss Gertrude Carey, Tommie Bland, Kitty Myrick, Fairfax Berkeley and A. Scott Anderson. Members were selected on the basis of their histrionic ability as shown in the plays produced this year.

Mr. Gwathmey and Tommie Bland were members of the old dramatic club, which successfully petitioned Theta Alpha Phi last year. Because of their absence from college at that time, they were not initiated when the members of the original group were installed.

Miss Cary has assisted the managers in the production of the plays by designing the scenery and costumes and directing the arrangement of the stage settings.

Kitty Myrick has played lead parts in productions for various organizations since she entered William and Mary. She appeared as the queen in the "Queen of Hearts" some time ago, and later took the part of the thief in "Ten Thousand Cash." This year she appeared as Miss Pencil in "The Pot Boiler," and scored her greatest success as Lady Thomascine Bertlubet, in "The Amazons."

Fairfax Berkeley made his first appearance at William and Mary in the lead role of Mr. Pim in "Mr. Pim Passes By," last spring. He took the part of Mr. Pencil in the "Pot Boiler" last fall and also played as Bishop Minchen in "The Amazons."

Scott Anderson has been on the managerial staff of the club for the last two years. He assisted in the management of the plays presented last year and had full charge of "The Amazons" and the four one-act plays given this fall.

Theta Alpha Phi is a national order having sixty-one chapters in the United States and one foreign chapter. Members are drawn from among those who exhibit the best ability as actors and the greatest interest in dramatic art among the students. The members of the local chapter, in addition to the new members, are Dr. W. A. Hamilton, Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, Dr. W. A. Montgomery, Miss Bessie Porter Taylor, Mr. G. H. Gelsinger, Baker Wynne, W. E. Bull, W. H. Morrow, George W. Reilly, Mrs. W. E. Bull, Anne Townsend, Virginia Hardy and Virginia Ayers.

COLLEGE ASKS STATE ASSEMBLY FOR $557,000

other two were formerly bespattered store houses which have been converted into improvised dormitories. One of them is at present being occupied by men, and the other by women. As a result of the rapid growth of the College in recent years, it has been practically impossible to find desirable quarters for the yearly increase of students, especially women.

The College proposal to the General Assembly has not been acted upon as yet, but it is hoped that a favorable decision may be reached, since it is vitally important that the College secure this amount so that it may keep pace in equipment with the increase of students.

All alumni of the College are urged to impress upon their respective representatives the importance of this expenditure. In the proposal to raise the stated quota, the College has been very conservative as compared to the amount that is being asked of the General Assembly for other purposes.
