PEARL YOUNG SETS A WORLD SPEED RECORD

Former William and Mary Student Wins Fifty Meter Dash After Trailing for Half the Distance in Indoor Track Meet.

TIME CLOCKED AT 0:06.8

Miss Young Attained New Record in Madison Square Garden; Held Records on Campus.

Miss Pearl Young, last year's star of the William and Mary girls' track team, set a new world's record for the fifty meter dash last Saturday, in the 1933 Indoor Championship races held in Madison Square Garden, New York. The time record set by Miss Young is expected to stand for quite some time.

Running under the colors of the Newark A. C., Miss Young trailed Miss Carey Carew, of Medford, Mass., for about half the distance of the race, but finally when she put on the added burst of speed that carried her to the new record of 0:06.8, she astounded both the fans and the sport writers. This is the first time that the A. A. U. has used the metric system and there were no existing marks for the new distances. The time of each existing distance will, however, be looked as both a new existing championship and a new world's record. Miss Young also won the National Championship race—time 50.8. Held College Records.

At William and Mary, as a student, Miss Young held the women's high jump record, as well as the record for the women's sixty-yard dash, while majoring in Physical Education under Professor Tucker Jones.

Mr. Jones, upon commenting upon her record, stated that he was not at all surprised at her new attainment. He said that he had always had the feeling that Miss Young was the best woman athlete in the world for her size. "We are all overjoyed at the success she has attained and all wish her the best of good fortune for her future," said Mr. Jones.

LEARNING LAWS ARE DISCUSSED

Miss Schwartz Speaks Before Psychology-Philosophy Club; Blumenthal and Bennett Are To Read Original Papers.

The Psychology-Philosophy Club met with Mr. Lambert on Monday, February 20, at seven-thirty at the home of Mrs. Mary W. Craighill. Mr. Lambert introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Claire Schwartz.

Miss Schwartz read a paper on "The Laws of Learning" which presented a critical analysis of hypotheses which have been accepted for some fifty years, and which psychologists have recently begun to question and in some cases discard. Such principles as Thorndike's laws of exercise and effect and idea upon readiness, contiguity, and intensity or vividness were considered from a comparatively new standpoint. After Miss Schwartz had presented her paper, Mr. Lambert led in an informal discussion on several of the points emphasized by the speaker.

As this meeting was the first since before the Christmas holidays, there were several matters of business to be taken up. Mr. Lambert announced that he would hand over to the club the names of those majors or minors in Philosophy or Psychology who are eligible for membership.

The Steering Committee, composed of William Gracey, Georgia Belle Bennett, Joseph Jackier, and Claire Schwartz reported that Melvin Blumenthal and Georgia Belle Bennett would read papers at some meeting in the near future. The subjects which they are to discuss were not announced. It was also reported that Dr. Geiger will address the club on some topic relating to Religion.

Possible dates and places for the annual picnic which the club holds in the springtime were discussed.

MID-WINTER DANCES HAILED A SUCCESS

Nick Lanney and His Blue Devils from Durham, N. C., Play for Cotillion Club Formals Friday and Saturday.

SET BRINGS IN PROFIT

Playing before a large and appreciative crowd of dancers in Blow Memorial Gymnasium on Saturday night, Nick Lanney and his Blue Devils, from Durham, brought to a close the set of Mid-Winter formal dances of the William and Mary Cotillion Club. The set of three dances was the bright spot of the mid-winter social season, which started with the Co-ed dances held two weeks ago. The first dance was held on Friday evening from 10 until 2, followed by a tea-dansant on Saturday afternoon, and the concluding dance on Saturday night.

Under a new system of checking, the door was handled by a person not associated with the College. All members of the faculty were invited guests, and wore distinguishing ribbons. A pass was given every person leaving the door, and these were carefully checked to the satisfaction of the Board of Control. Mr. Wayne F. Gibbs, faculty representative, was very much pleased with the manner in which the tickets were handled.

Second Set of Year
The dance set brought to a close the second set of dances sponsored jointly by the Cotillion Club and the Board of Control, which was inaugurated this year.

This marked the first appearance of this Duke organization on the campus, and their music was well received by the students. The orchestra played at the Roosevelt Grill with Guy Lombardo this New Year's, and came to William and Mary highly recommended.

POPP'S WORK COMMENDED

Johnson Made Transport Pilot and Assistant Pilot Instructor of William and Mary School of Air.

Vaughan Woodward, Max W. Doman, Marion F. Bozarth, and C. Littleton Upshur received their private pilot licenses, and Chief Mechanic Otto Z. Johnson received the coveted transport pilot's rating, at the College Airport on Friday, February 7 and 8, under the supervision of Federal Inspector M. P. Hanscom of the Department of Commerce, Aeronautics Branch.

The NC379V Fleet biplane was used for the solo work.

Johnson was made Assistant Pilot Instructor, approved by the Department of Commerce and the insurance company in connection with the College Airport. Johnson will be assistant to Colonel Earl C. Popp, head of William and Mary aviation. Hanscom complimented the Airport personnel on the splendid work going on at the College Airport, and the condition of the equipment of the William and Mary School of the Air.

Otto Johnson took a four-hour written examination on the air traffic rules and those portions of the Air Commerce Regulations pertaining to pilots' privileges and limitations and to the inspection and operation of aircraft, followed by a practical and theoretical examination in elementary engine and plane mechanics and rigging and also a theoretical examination in the fundamentals of meteorology and air navigation.

The practical flight test, in addition to normal take-offs and landings, included a 360 degree turn from 1500 feet with engine throttled, landing in normal attitude, by the wheels of the plane touching the ground in front of and within 200 feet of a line designated by Inspector Hanscom. From 100 feet, engine throttled, Johnson then made a 180 degree turn, followed by a series of five gentle and three steep figure 8 turns from 800 to 100 feet, respectively, and ending (Continued on page 6)

"Chesterfields Satisfy"

WHEN smokers keep buying the same cigarette day after day... it's a pretty good sign that they're getting what they want... mildness, better taste—a smoke that's always the same.

So we're going right on making Chesterfields just as we always have... selecting choice, ripe tobaccos... ageing them... blending and cross-blending them... making them into cigarettes in the most scientific ways that are known.

As long as we do these things we know that smokers will continue to say, "They Satisfy". For that's what people are saying about Chesterfields.

If you smoke, why not find out about them? A package or two will tell you the whole story.

To William and Mary's long-suffering literary public, i. e., to those unfortunates who have to endure and put up with the various columns which float hither and yon through the medium of collegiate publications here at the Tricolor's lair, to those idle who waste beaucoup tempo by riddling their chances for social eclat and intellectual elevation by following the undigested and over-ripe literary efforts of would-be columnists, your humble correspondent presents this morbid, pernicious and noxious "column" for what reason we know not, unless by chance the highly-esteemed sports editor was short of copy and asked one of the local fishes, see your humble correspondent, to "fill a column."

"Waiter, when you bring the soup in, keep your damn thumbs out of it."

"Oh, that's all right, sir. It isn't hot."

CO-ED QUINTET LOSES TO STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE IN FARMVILLE SATURDAY

Squaws Play Savage, Panzer College, and Upsala College; Defeated Savage Last Year; First Game With Panzer and Upsala.

The Co-eds went down to the first defeat of the season in a very fast game against Farmville State Teachers College, Saturday, February 24, with a score of 27-13.

During the first half of the game the Indiannettes gave the Teachers a hard fight. At half time the score was 11-10 in favor of Farmville. In the third quarter, however, the Farmville basketweavers piled up a score which the Co-eds in spite of hard playing were not able to overcome.

The Farmville team which is known for the excellent pass work succeeded in out-playing the Squaws in the center territory. Their forwards, who were both very fast and very tall were able to overcome the W. & M. forwards in spite of the excellent work which Captain Hudak did as guard.

Make Northern Trip

On Friday, March 3, the W. & M. women's basketball team will leave on its northern trip. Three games are to be played between Friday and Wednesday of the following week.

The first game is scheduled with Savage on Saturday. William and Mary and Savage for the past five or six years have played an annual game alternating at the different schools each year. Last year the Indiannettes defeated Savage here by a 16-

CLASSES TO PLAY BASKETBALL TILTS

Coach Chandler Announces Intra-Mural Games Between Various Classes; Prize for Winning Team to be Given.

It has definitely been announced by "Scrap" Chandler, physical education director, that intra-mural basketball between the various classes will commence as soon as the weather permits the baseball batterymen, who are now using the gym, to go out on the diamond.

Each class will have the opportunity to compete against each other. The prize for the winning team is yet to be announced.

All men who were on the freshmen or varsity basketball squads will not be eligible for these teams. Barrett Horton, president of the Sophomore class, an instigator of this movement, wishes to see those Sophomore men who are interested in playing for their class.

VARSITY TRACK TRAINING OPENS

Meade to Lead Scrapmen; Brilliant Material Coming From Yearling Squad; Flickenger, Quirk, Perzekow, Litwin and Bacon Hold Records.

The William and Mary track aggregation opened preliminary workouts in preparation for the outdoor season yesterday afternoon, some twenty-odd men responding to the opening call issued by Coach "Scrap" Chandler.

A tentative schedule calling for some seven meets has yet to be approved by athletic officials but it will in all probability include such opponents as Virginia Military Institute, Duke, Washington and Lee, Virginia Poly Tech, University of West Virginia, Navy and the University of Richmond. Five of the scheduled meets are due to take place at Williamsburg, the outfit journeying to Lexington for the V. M. I. affair, and to Annapolis for the meet with the Midshipmen.

Graduation took away many outstanding veterans of the 1932 club including such stars as Johnson, ex-Capt. Smither, Clark, Renn, Doane, Shaw, Douglas, Syer and Swentzel. However, the frosh outfit of last year has sent up a number of men to fill in the gaps and prospects for another year are bright.

MACK STARS IN FENCING MATCH

Coach Jones Gives Exhibition in Intra-Mural Fencing Tournament Held in Jefferson Gymnasium; Meet V. M. I. Here Feb. 4th.

An intra-mural fencing tournament was held in Jefferson Gym on Feb. 23. With the loss of de Samper and Ben Fowler from the varsity squad the Indians now place high hope in Jimmie Mack and MacDonald. Jimmie Mack led with honors in the meet by winning three matches, two with the foil, and one with the epee. MacDonald, Phillips, and Petrie came next, each winning one match.

Coach Jones gave an exhibition of sword play with Jimmie Mack, showing various methods of disarming an opponent. He also fenced against two freshmen, Petrie and Magdalen, using a sabre against their foils. One of the most interesting exhibitions was his match with Colonel Popp in which he was blindfolded. In this way he showed the importance of sense of touch in fencing.

There will be a meet here with V. M. I. on Saturday, March 4th, which is to be held in Blow Gym. The only veteran on the William and Mary varsity is Judson Wheller who may not enter because of indisposition. How-

TWO W&M MEN CHOSEN FOR ALL-STATE QUINTET WHEN VIRGINIA'S COACHES MEET

Les Litwin and Milt Gallinant Chosen as Guards on All-State Basketball Squad as Selected by State Coaches.

Table with columns: Player, Pos., School. Lists Joe Sawyers, Bus Hall, Glenn Roberts, Les Litwin, Sidney Young, Milt Gallinant.

Virginia coaches met last week and rendered their decisions for the selection of the 1933 All State Mythical Basketball Team. Of the five colleges whose players earned this distinction, William and Mary placed two men, Litwin and Gallinant, whose fast and clever playing is not unknown to the Indian supporters.

Bus Hall of V. P. I. was the outstanding choice of the coaches and receives the captaincy of this mythical quint.

Throughout the state many rugged players starred but the coaches decided on faster and more clever players. Young of Virginia, Gallinant and Litwin of William and Mary, and Sawyers of W. & L. were rated as such and earned their positions.

Coaches who voted included Gus Tebell, of the University of Virginia; Frank Dobson, University of Richmond; Monk Little, V. P. I.; Norman Sheppard, Randolph-Macon; Cy

BACON AND LITTLE TO COMPETE IN N. Y.

Coach Chandler Sends Track Luminaries to Uphold Tri-Color Honors in Intercollegiate Track Meet Held on March 4th.

With a criterion set by Pearle Young in the recent Woman's National A. A. U. meet, "Monk" Little and John Bacon are strenuously making preparations for the forth-coming I. C. A. A. A. meet to be held in New York on Saturday, March 4th. Bacon will encounter some stiff competition in the high jump when he matches leaps with George Spitz of New York University. The Violet jumper bettered the intercollegiate record of 6 ft. 4 inches by 3 5-8 inches which brings his mark to 6 ft. 8 1-2 inches, the universal record. The former 70-yard dash title-holder, George Weinstein, of N. Y. U., and Al Kelly of Georgetown, will be "Monk" Little's main adversaries in the short dash.

The pick of twenty-seven colleges and universities will compete in this galaxy of stars and it is the whole-hearted wish of "Scrap" Chandler and the entire student body that the Indians entered in the meet will come through.

E. & H. WASPS AND VA. CAVALIERS ARE SECOND AND THIRD

William and Mary Lost Only Two Games Out of Fifteen Encounters; Has Percentage of 1.000 in Conference Standing.

VERY SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Captain Lynn, Lembeck, Gallinant, Litwin, Halligan and Franklin Backbone of Team; No Outstanding Luminary.

The William and Mary Indians, having won twelve games and lost two in the State race and won eleven and lost none in the Conference tilts are undisputed All-State and Virginia Conference Champions. The Indians have a percentage of 1.000 in the Conference and .857 in State standing.

Their nearest rivals, the Emory and Henry Wasps, won six state games and lost one for a percentage of .857. The Indians, however, not only played more games than the Wasps but handed the Wasps their only defeat.

The Virginia Cavaliers, who handed William and Mary one of her defeats, hold third place in the State standing with a percentage of .750.

There can be no better time to offer praise and congratulations to both Coach Kellison and the entire Indian basketball team. Coach Kellison began with fundamentals, and gurae by game rapid improvement has been the keynote. The three opening games which the tri-color lost are far overshadowed by the unheralded "fighting Virginians" winning the Virginia All-State Title. Last year the Indians were Virginia Conference Champions. This year the Braves held both the Virginia Conference and All-State titles.

It would be difficult to choose an outstanding luminary. The Indian team clicked as a unit. Capt. Lynn, forward, Milt Gallinant, guard, Happy Halligan, center, Les Litwin, guard, Jackie Lembeck, forward, and Preacher Franklin, forward, were the backbone of the quint. Each fulfilled his assignment and each took his turn in featuring the news.

To open the season the Warriors journeyed North and met the Navy, who boasted one of the best teams of the east. The Midshipmen had little trouble in bowling over the Indians to the count of 57-46. Capt. Lynn scored 19 points in this game. Still on foreign territory, the Indians encountered St. Johns without the services of Litwin, who had sprained an ankle in the previous game. Again the Braves were handed a defeat to the count of 25-21.

Again on Virginia soil, the Tri-Color ran into a snag in competing with the Virginia Cavaliers. A desperate rally fell short and the Cavaliers emerged victorious by a 45-35 count.

Imbued with new hope, though perhaps discouraged, the Indian five then took the Roanoke Maroons to camp by a 36-25 score. This contest marked the first home game and the first victory. Gallinant and Litwin starred to spell Roanoke's downfall.

With last year's defeat in mind, the determined Braves then took another scalp at the expense of the Hampden-Sydney Tigers. Although the final reading of the score-board was 26-23, the outcome of this game was never in doubt.

There followed four more victories, the Lynchburg Hornets by a 39-32 count; Randolph Macon Jackets 45-20; Guilford College Quakers 45-20; and the University of Richmond Spiders. The last mentioned game left the Indians all smiles. Litwin, Gallinant, and Lynn popped in shots consistently from all angles of the court. The Turkey Day football defeat was at least partially revenged. When the smoke had cleared W. & M. had defeated Richmond by a decisive score, 45-25.

Returning to home soil, the heart-breaker was a loss to the University of Georgia Bulldogs by one point, 32-33.

Departing for the final engagements of the year, the Indians launched an unsuccessful attack on the Washington and Lee Generals. After leading at intermission, the

SIGMA NU'S NEW HOME

Congratulations are due to the Epsilon Iota Chapter of Sigma Nu upon the breaking of ground for their new chapter house. The new home of the fraternity promises to be a notable addition to the fraternity housing of the campus, and is indicative of the strength of the fraternity life of the college.

THE CHANGING FRATERNITY

A recent article in the "New York Times" devoted to the subject of the place of the Greek-letter fraternity in the college life of today, carried the summation of the opinions of deans of various collegiate institutions of note through out the land. The consensus of these opinions was that the fraternity still occupied a vital place in the college and university. They were nearly all of the mind that nothing would be gained by the abolition of fraternities, for all believed that clubs of one form or another would spring up to take the place of the abolished societies, and that these clubs would lack the advantages of tradition and alumni support that the fraternities possess.

Despite this seeming commendation of the fraternity system, leaders of fraternity thought throughout the land are aware of the fact that the fraternity is not as secure in the higher education system of the nation as might appear. The recent adoption of the house system by several of the larger and more influential universities of the nation, the spread of the junior college, and the change in the mind of the undergraduate as to the relative value of the rah-rah existence of college as compared to the more sober side have all given occasion to deep thought on the part of those charged with the leadership of the great national fraternities. There has been a recognition of the fact that the old time place of the fraternity in the collegiate scheme of things must give place to something that endows the fraternity with the capability of greater virtue as an educative factor in collegiate life. Before there can be an accurate thinking in regard to what that "something" will be, there must first of all be a discarding of those things which are in obvious contradiction to the values of life that the college and universities are trying to instill in their students. The tendency of the average fraternity to be satisfied with a merely passing group of members, the crookedness of campus politics, in most cases due to fraternity cliques, the barbarity of "Hell Week" and the other delightful phases of many fraternity initiations, all of these things militate against the values of life that the college is trying to inculcate, and if the fraternity is to retain the toleration of the colleges, it certainly must change or abolish these features that are associated with it. If it does not, but attempts to perpetuate a scale of values inimical to the real virtues of higher education, then it must be prepared to take the consequences.

THE "VIRGINIA PLAN"

Of late, there has been a great deal of editorial praise in favor of what is called the "Virginia plan" of budget balancing. This plan, so-called, gives the Governor the authority to slash the appropriations of the state whenever he feels that the expenditures of the government are likely to run ahead of income. The "News-Leader" and the "Times-Dispatch" of Richmond have been particularly eulogistic, and with the Washington talk of giving the incoming President the authority to cut appropriations whenever he saw fit, stated that Virginia had again shown leadership to the nation in the time of trouble and crisis.

It would be delightful to believe that this state had found the ultimate solution of the problems of unbalanced budgets that are plaguing governmental authorities everywhere, but there are one or two considerations that should be taken into account before the hosannahs are shouted too loudly. Even if it is conceded that the aim of government is to stay out of the red, rather than the furnishing of public service, there is one factor that makes the scheme now current in this state more successful than it would be in the majority of states or in the nation. That factor is the small indebtedness of the state. It is a vastly different task to balance the budget in a state where the debt is only $21,000,000 and the interest charges are correspondingly low, as in Virginia, and to balance the budget in a state where the bonded indebtedness is in the neighborhood of $178,000,000, to cite the condition of the sister state of North Carolina. In this situation, Virginia should give the credit of the balanced budget, not to a scheme which is working terrific damages in the various public services of the state, but to the wisdom of the former leaders of the government who kept her debt low.

THE NEW CABINET

The recent announcement of the members of the cabinet of the incoming administration reveals a group that, like all the other cabinets that have preceded it, has strong, mediocre and weak members. As long as political expediency, geographical considerations and personal obligations are factors in political life, it will be thus. The wonder cabinet that Democrats pictured to the voters during the campaign, that was to contain the names of Newton D. Baker, Albert C. Ritchie, Owen D. Young, Al Smith, Harry Byrd, et al, is still a product of the imagination, and the Roosevelt administration swings into action with a cabinet that is of the same standard as the majority of its predecessors.

The outstanding members of the new presidium are Cordell Hull, who is to be Secretary of State, Thomas Walsh, who is slated for the post of Attorney-General, and Miss Francis Perkins, who is given the position of Secretary of Labor. We have had occasion already to comment upon Mr. Hull's fitness; for the post he will occupy. It will suffice to repeat that he is one of the most competent students of international affairs in public life today. The dogged persistence and legal ability that Senator Walsh displayed in the tracking down of the sordid details of the Teapot Dome case will be sufficient guarantee to the American people that the legal affairs of the nation are entirely safe in his hands. The appointment of Miss Perkins will arouse more public attention than the majority of the appointments because she is the first woman who has attained membership in the cabinet. It will be most unfortunate if this curiosity should detract from the acknowledgement that should be paid to the ability of Miss Perkins, an ability that makes her completely worthy to stand with the best of the other members of the body. Miss Perkins has been chairman of the Industrial Commission of New York State, and on the basis of her record there is entitled to the highest office that can be given to a public servant engaged in her field of work and study. Her appointment is also notable in that it implies the refusal of President-elect Roosevelt to consider the post of Secretary of Labor a monopoly of the American Federation of Labor.

Of the other members of the official family of the new President there is little that can be said with authority. They are yet in the majority of cases to prove their ability in the business of the national government. For the sake of both Mr. Roosevelt and the nation, it is devoutly to be hoped that he has not chosen unwisely.

THE GREATER CONFLICT

With the action of the Assembly of the League of Nations in accepting the recommendations of the Committee of Nineteen in regard to the Manchurian crisis, despite the threat of the Japanese delegation that such acceptance would result in Japan's withdrawal from the League, the conflict between official Japanese thought and word opinion assumes an infinitely greater importance than the result of the conflict now occurring in Jehol province. The latter is settling perhaps the possessions of a comparatively small strip of territory, the former will advance or retard the march of the world toward universal peace immeasurably.

It is heartening to note that the United States, as recorded in Secretary Stimson's recent note to the League, places itself directly in support of that body in its efforts to bring Japan to heel. There is little doubt that Russia will likewise support the League, thus bringing the entire moral force of the world to bear upon Japan.

It is very doubtful whether Japan's course of action will be changed to any application of moral force. If any immediate check is to be placed upon the crazy line of action that she is now pursuing, it will have to be something more than the telling her that she is very unpopular. She will have to be confronted with some tangible symptom of that unpopularity. What that symptom will be is up to the League.

Whether any positive action is taken against Japan or not, it is probable that in the long run she will find the non-recognition of the "independent state of Manchukuo" will be sufficient to make her relent a trifle of her actions. It is very doubtful if any action that the world can take will bring to Japan to book. The far greater probability is that the internal condition of Japan itself will put an end to her adventurous course. The military clique that has Japan under its thumb at the present time has not been able to stage the Manchurian affair without great expense, expense that must be borne by an already over-burdened people. Long before the newly won provinces begin to pay any revenues to pay off the huge expenditures that their acquisition required, the people of Japan will have been forced to recognize the folly of the course of their present rulers, and to have taken action to rid themselves of that Prussian-minded crew.

THE SQUASHED CHAPEAU

Is it any wonder we Higginbothams die with our boots on?

Of course, we make an exception in the case of great Grandpaw McNure (on cousin Hilly's side) who was too lazy to wear shoes even. In fact we recall Grandmaw McNure's comment when someone told her that Grandpaw had left this vale of tears. "Humph," (pronounced chum-ley) she said, "I don't suppose it could have been much effort for him. If it was, he wouldn't have done it!"

The trend of thought it interrupted momentarily by an argumentative assertion. The other day someone asked us who wrote the famous poem, "Breathes there a man with soul so dead, and the so forth." Upon careful investigation, we find that it was written by Sir Walter Scott just after he had been talking with a man who had eaten Limburger cheese at a picnic . . . Not that it matters.

Rocky Mount, Va.—98-year-old Sparrel Adkins went on trial for his life here this week. Charged with the murder of his 32-year-old grandson, who was killed in a remote section of Franklin county last November, Adkins entered a plea of not guilty.

An interesting theory in the case is that of Elmer Whistletree, neighborhood corn raiser, who says,

"Sparry's gittin' purty old now. His eyes ain't what they use to be. I reckon he mistook his grandson for one of them thar Eveeneoers."

Five stills were captured in southeast Virginia, last week.

Geneva—Japan's final answer to the League's action on the Sino-Japanese question, was apparently definite refusal to accede with the opinion of other world powers in the Manchurian shindig. Japanese delegates walked out of the assembly chambers after the adoption of a report condemning Japanese tactics in Manchuria.

Meanwhile, Japan sends an army of sixty thousand men into Jehol (pronounced Right-ho), where a poorly organized group of eighty thousand Chinese regulars await them. In spite of the fact that this struggle has been under way for some time, and in all encounters, the Nipponese have been decidedly victorious, the present conditions point to the biggest struggle of the war. China has finally organized a powerful, though poorly equipped, military unit, and they mean resistance.

Consider the case of the average Chinese soldier. Generally uneducated, he is a difficult subject for military discipline. At home, he was a horse and pulled ginrickies (Oh pshaw!) about the streets to earn enough to put something between his chopsticks.

No, seriously speaking, the average Chinese soldier is not so hot—in fact, he's a coolie. Is it any wonder we Higginbothams die with our boots on? He is slow to rouse to anger. In fact it has taken a few months of murder, arson and the etc., to convince him that something was wrong about it all . . . But he knows now.

We hear that Floyd Gibbons asked for a raise.

Brief mental deliberation: "Aw nuts!!" Afterthought: "Perhaps not." Still afterthought: "Not nuts, so what?" Conclusion: "Gooseberries!"

So with your best interests at heart, Dear Reader, we submit the following narrative. Forgive us if you can: Is it any wonder—?

Synopsis of preceding chapters: I was born in a little Ohio village at the age of three. I had three brothers in the family, all of whom were named Tom, except Jim, whose name was Jack. One day a telegram arrived which threw us all in a state of wild excitement. It was from Uncle Jim, and announced that the folks out home in Iowa had discovered oil—in their Buick, so they were coming to visit us . . . I have never forgotten what my father said when he heard the news. For that matter, you couldn't print what he said even in a Mac Fadden publication. Then Jo-jo came into my life.

The story continues: Hurriedly I ran to the window. Ah! at last the hopes of my young life were realized. She, herself, was passing by on the sidewalk. I gazed in silence, wrapped in thought. I could not believe, at first, that it was really she (or her, as the case may be.) But then, there could be no doubt about it. (Continued next week.)

Red Crank were voted membership to Wranglers Club, William and Mary's debate squad for men, last Friday night after the regular semester try-outs. Final admittance is being withheld on Woodward, Dodson, Bacon, Griffin, Cardillo, and Newton because of the wishes of the judges to hear these men in impromptu talking. er successful season would seem to be in the offing.

Outstanding candidates for the dashes include Little, Hemingway, Harrison and Upson. Upson, Penello and Cifelli, who holds the yearling record in the quarter, will take care of the 440. The 880 and the mile run will be taken care of by Roberts, Sparrow, Bishop, Torrence, Pleasants and R. Upson. Dietrich, Dudley, Woodson, and Schmidt are promising candidates for the two mile run with Hart, Lynn and Litwin competing in the hurdles.

In the field events, Captain Meade, who competes in the shot put, the discus and the javelin, will be supported by such stars as Bacon and Reid in the high jump, Perzekow and Little in the broad jump, Quirk in the shot, Sorenson, Johnson, and Lawson in the discus and Little, Casey, Harrison and Flickenger in the javelin. In the pole vault, Flickenger and Langbauer will represent the Tricolor.

A number of college record holders will be in evidence when the season opens on April 1st against V. M. I. Bacon in the high jump, Flickenger in the pole vault, Perzekow in the broad jump, Quirk in the shot, and Litwin in the hurdles, are these Tricolor representatives who will compete for the silver, green and gold.

15 score. This is the first game the Squaws have won from Savage for several years.

On Monday the basketballers will go on to Panzer College in East Orange, New Jersey. While there a fencing match will also be held with Panzer. The final game on Tuesday is with Upsals College, also in East Orange.

ALL-STATE-CONFERENCE TITLES GO TO W&M FIVE

Tri-Color offense weakened and the host's scoring guns sputtered to gain a 53-36 decision.

Bridgewater next was crushed by a 47-20 score. The Eagles never had a chance, although they were game.

An outstanding conquest was that of the Warriors over the V. M. I. Keydets, the game being played in Lynchburg. This game was conceded to have shown the best defensive of the Indians. None of the Keydets could score more than 4 points, and the team which later brought down the Virginia Cavaliers went via defeat at the hands of the Kellisonites, 27-21.

A large crowd assembled in Blow Gym and watched the highly touted Emory and Henry Wasps and the phenomenal Roberts held at bay. Roberts, who had up to that game scored 305 points this season against 137 for his nearest rival, and who usually scored 20 to 35 points every game, was held down to only 8 points by the excellent "hanging-on" of Happy Halligan. The final score was 32-27.

The return games with Bridgewater and Randolph-Macon were repetitions of the previous encounters; the results being 51-13 and 38-27.

In the second matches with the Spiders and Tigers, the Indians forged ahead again, although both opposing teams staged a close battle from whistle to gun. The final scores were 40-37 and 27-23.

In conclusion, the winning team is usually voted a wreath. But this year, by unanimous approval, the Indian All-State and Virginia Conference Championship team should be voted a LAUREL WREATH.

ILLUSION:
 Look at this remarkable lady... with three lovely and perfect heads... all attached to a normal body. She appears to sit on the stage, with the lower part of her body concealed by flowers. She can wink, smile, and nod. She can talk, laugh, and sing—all at the same time. Thousands of people have seen this feat of magic and pronounced it a wonderful sight!

EXPLANATION:
 Audiences used to pay an extra fee to go behind the scenes to see how this trick was worked. They discovered that the three-headed woman was merely a reflection in a mirror. The glass showed the heads of three girls but the body of only one. The other two were cleverly hidden so that only their heads showed in the mirror.

It's fun to be fooled —
 ...it's more fun to KNOW

This "three-headed woman" trick goes 'way back to the early days of magic. Also old is the suggestion that protection for your throat and freedom from coughing can be achieved through some magic trick.

THE EXPLANATION: The easiest cigarette on your throat is the cigarette that is made from the choicest, ripe tobaccos. Cheap, raw tobaccos are, as you would naturally expect, harsh to the throat. Ripe, costly tobaccos are mild, mellow—gentle. The question is whether a cigarette is made from cheap tobacco or the more expensive grades.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

American men and women have smoked more billions of Camels than any other brand because of the appeal of more expensive tobaccos and matchless blending. Won't you stack up your own experience with a cigarette made from milder, costlier tobaccos... against magic claims about "cigarettes and your throat"?

Try fresh Camels—in the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack that seals the freshness and coolness, the mildness and flavor of Camels... inside.

History conducted by Professor T. J. Stubbs. But other students, the faculty, and the citizens of Williamsburg are cordially invited to attend the lectures. The first of the series will be given on Friday, March 3, at 10 A. M., in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

President Chandler of the College of William and Mary and Dr. Morton, Head of the History Department have expressed themselves as being very glad that the students and others will have the opportunity of having this intimate view of the greatest restoration project in America brought to them by those actively engaged in the work.

Both President Chandler and Dr. Morton have lectured during recent months on the work being done by the Restoration. Last year Mr. Harold R. Shurtleff, who has charge of the research department of the Restoration, at the invitation of Dr. Morton, gave lectures to several hundred students of American History and others describing the general work of the Restoration. During the present session, Dr. Goodwin and the Restoration authorities have been most kind in arranging with the History Department for groups of students to visit the museum and other places of interest connected with the Restoration.

MID-WINTER DANCES HAILED A SUCCESS

The dances were among the most successful ever held at the College from a financial standpoint. The Cotillion Club made up a part of their deficit from the proceeds. The total gross receipts were $698.70, with items of expense listed as Federal Tax $69.60, and orchestra and decorations $425.00. This left a net profit of about $204. This is to be applied against the deficit which the Club incurred last year.

Johnson concluded his tests by flying emergency maneuvers, doing spirals, side slips, climbing turns, and recovering from stalls. Upon presentation of satisfactory proof that Johnson has engaged in solo cross country flights, the flight test was exempted, since Johnson has flown several thousand miles. The private pilot test was composed of an examination on the air traffic rules and those portions of the Air Commerce Regulations pertaining to pilots' privileges and limitations and to the inspection and operation of aircraft.

The private pilot test included a series of five gentle and three steep figure 8 turns from 800 to 100 feet, respectively. Spiraling in one direction from 2000 feet, with engine throttled, and three satisfactory landings to a full stop.

CITY LIBRARY LOCATED IN COURTHOUSE YARD

Work is progressing on the new city library building which is located in the courthouse yard. Recently, the Williamsburg Holding Corporation offered to lease the building to the local library for a period of years at the sum of one dollar a year. It also offered to construct shelving and to install conduits for steam, water and electric lines from the courthouse to the building.

The city, in turn, is to furnish heat, water, and lights to the building, while it is occupied by the library the library committee relinquished its right to use the old courthouse as a library.

The building was erected over a year ago but its interior remained unfinished until a short while ago.
