B. K. Building Will Be Finished Easter

Memorial Auditorium Building to Fifty Founders of Greatest Honorary Fraternity Will Be Dedicated About That Time; Ready for Use in 1926 Finals Says Office.

According to a report from the office of Dr. Chandler, the Phi Beta Kappa building, which has been under construction since last December, will be completed by Easter, at which time all Phi Beta Kappa societies throughout the country will hold a meeting for the purpose of dedicating the building to the fifty founders. Although the building itself will be completed by Easter, it will not be adequately furnished until later. It is hoped, however, that it will be completely furnished and ready for use by finals.

The cost of the Phi Beta Kappa building is estimated at one hundred thousand dollars, of which over fifty-six thousand has been paid. The appropriation that makes possible its construction is received from the Phi Beta Kappa society, of which there are 140 chapters and forty thousand living members. To obtain this amount each active chapter association is asked to appoint a committee to solicit contributions from every member of

Rifle Club Adopting Ambitious Schedule

National Rifle Association Has Practically Granted Petition of the Local Organization; New Rifle Range Behind Dining Hall Will Be a Great Help.

The National Rifle Association has practically granted the petition of the William and Mary Rifle Club and, as a result, the club is planning to enter upon an ambitious schedule of activity this year, including the fostering of a rifle team to represent the college in matches with other institutions throughout the nation. A schedule of inter-collegiate meets is being arranged that will include the best teams in the South and a few Northern squads. This schedule will be announced later.

An indoor range has been erected behind the dining hall and will be ready for practice this week. A telegraph line is being connected with the range by the Western Union Company for the inter-collegiate tournaments which the National Rifle Association is sponsoring.

The membership of the club is limited by the number of rifles available and the rules of the organization. Officers of the club elected last spring are Bayard Borden, Captain and Stanley A. Fein, manager. Captain Borden did not return to college and his

Armistice Day Expected to Produce Large Holiday Football Crowd.

The football game that is to be staged between William and Mary and the Haskell Indians at Mayo Island in Richmond next Wednesday is expected to be one of the gridiron classics of the season for this section of the country. On account of the Armistice Day parade and celebration in Richmond, the game will be called at 1 o'clock. This encounter will mark the first game ever played between the William and Mary and Haskell Indians, and a great deal of interest is being shown over the game. It is probable that a special train will have to be run to accommodate the student body from William and Mary. Football enthusiasts from all over the State will probably be in Richmond Saturday to witness the battle between the rival Indian teams.

For a good many years the Haskell Indians have been noted as having one of the best football teams among the smaller colleges of the country. For the past three years and up to this year Haskell Indians have scored a total of 1,057 points against 224 by their opponents. During this time they have won 27 games, tied two and lost six, traveling over 32,000 miles to accomplish this feat. While not much definite material is available as to the record established by Haskell

Albright Will Face W. & M. Here Today

Northerners Come for Second Successive Year With Strong Team, Hoping to Avenge Last Year's Defeat; Cross-Country Meet With Richmond Will Feature.

The game between William and Mary and Albright College here tomorrow will mark the second gridiron encounter ever staged between the two colleges. The game will start promptly at 2:30 p. m. Last year the Indians defeated Albright here by the score of 27-0, but Albright put up a hard fight, and made the Indians work hard for the four touchdowns. The Indians are expecting to improve on last year's showing, however, in the game tomorrow.

Albright has had a fairly successful season thus far, having defeated Galaudet and Blue Ridge, but lost to Muhlenburg and Dickinson. In all their encounters the Pennsylvanians have either held their opponents scoreless or been unable to score themselves. Whether their record will continue in this manner will be determined tomorrow. Angle, right halfback; Gasull, left halfback; and Griggs, fullback, will bear watching by the Indians tomorrow. They have been playing good football this year, and accounted for the three touchdowns against Blue Ridge on October 23.

Harvard Forced To Use Reserve Strength

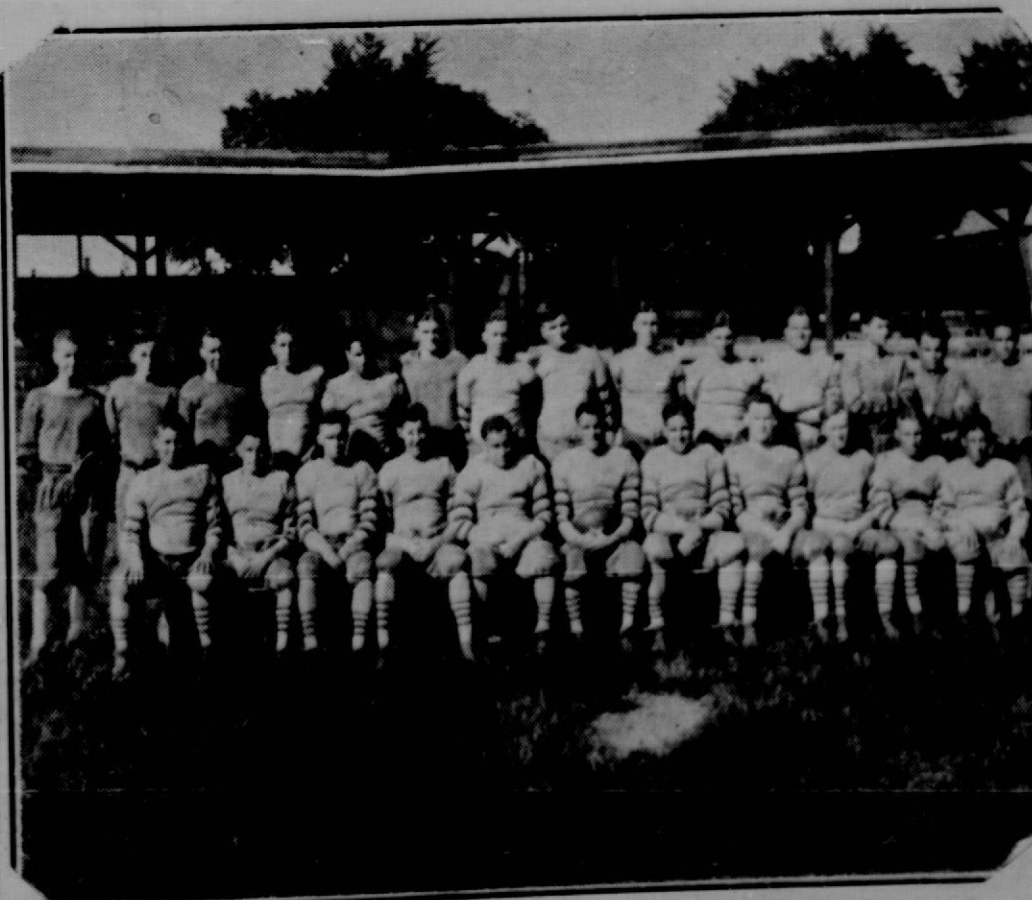

Tasker's Braves Put Up Greatest Game Ever Played by a William and Mary Eleven; House Hurt Early in the Contest and Forced To Retire.

Playing before a crowd of thirty thousand in the Harvard stadium, William and Mary went down in defeat before the Crimson last Saturday by the final count of 14-7. The Indians scored early in the second quarter and held Harvard helpless until near the end of the third quarter when the Crimson succeeded in tying the score and barely nosed out a seven point victory in the closing minutes of the game. Except for the few minutes during which Harvard scored twice, the Indians completely outclassed Harvard in all departments of the game and held the Northerners helpless for nearly three-fourths of the game.

The game started with William and Mary kicking off, and Harvard retained the ball on their own 45-yard line. In the first play of the game "Kerno" House was injured and had to be removed from the game, and Walker substituted. Harvard failed to gain through the Indian line, and Mather kicked to William and Mary on their 20-yard line. Line plunges by Cain and Irwin gave William and Mary her first down. Matsu punted short, giving Harvard possession of the ball on William and Mary's 35-yard line. Harvard failed to get first down by inches and the ball went over on downs. The Indians gained 6 yards through the line, but a forward pass, Matsu to Charles, was grounded.

"Helena's Husband" Is Next Dramatic Play

Satiric Comedy Based on New Version of Elopement of Helen of Troy Will Be Given by Dramatic Club November 17; Cast Already Hard at Work.

The Dramatic Club is making elaborate plans for the presentation of "Helena's Husband," a one-act satiric comedy, in the college chapel November 17. This play is far superior to any given here so far this year, and promises to be well worth while. The scene of action is ancient Sparta, and the plot is a new version of the elopement of Helen of Troy. The part of the beautiful Helena is to be taken by Frankie Roberts, while W. S. Teagle

Should Co-eds Bear Expense of Date?

This Question To Be Subject of Debate In English Class.

Members of the 102 English class, under Mr. Cecil Ball, have taken a very interesting subject for their class room debate. This subject, which is now being debated in the large northern universities, is: "Resolved, That Co-eds Should Pay Half of the Expenses Incurred During Social Engagements." The members of the class who are to debate this question on the affirmative side are Miss Mary Johnson and Mr. Russell Gordon, while those on the negative side are Miss Delia Nebeker and Mr. Harold Glenny. There is much doubt whether there will be more "dating" and less studying or less "dating" and more studying if this question is won by the affirmative.

Columbia Men Guests of College Tomorrow

Representatives from Many Nations Making Tour With Educational Department of Columbia University! Will Visit Points of Historical Interest.

The annual tour of the Educational Department of Columbia University will visit the college and the surrounding places of interest tomorrow. They are expected to arrive shortly after lunch and spend the afternoon and evening. This group is composed of students from all nations who study in America especially to observe the system of education in our institutions of instruction. After touring through New England, New York and the largest educational centers of the East, they are coming as far South as Virginia. They visit Hampton, Williamsburg and Charlottesville.

The Columbia students will be entertained while here by different committees, which are interested in meeting and exchanging opinions with other students. Miss Wilhelmina Swann is at the head of the receiving committee. All students are asked to show true Virginia hospitality in assisting these guests in every way possible during their stay on our campus.

Mrs. C. G. Eidson Is Guest of Iota Mu Pi

The Iota Mu Pi sorority entertained at tea last Saturday afternoon in their rooms at the home of Mrs. Leon Hall in honor of Mrs. Charles G. Edison, of Long Island, New York. Mrs. Paul Warren assisted in receiving, while Mrs. J. E. Rowe poured the tea. Besides the active members of the group and the guest of honor those present were Miss Bessie Porter Taylor, Miss Rachel Tarrell, of Norfolk; Anna Whitehead, Betty Kneeland, Virginia Smith, Martha Leigh Gibbs, Margaret Thompson, Esther Stewart, Marjorie Lacy and Mae Muir.

Fashion Show To Be Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night, at 8:00 o'clock, a fashion show will be given in Jefferson hall by Thalheimer Brothers, under the auspices of the Edith Baer Club. Six college girls will act as models, while two regular models will come down from the Thalheimer store. The girls from the college who will help display the costumes are Virginia Ayers, Grace Miller, Dot Farrar, Virginia Floyd, Virginia Hardy and Anne Townsend. Irene Osborne will act as page to announce the various costumes to be shown. Ten cents admission will be charged and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

"HELENA'S HUSBAND" IS NEXT DRAMATIC PLAY

will be Menelous. Other characters are Paris, to be played by Frank Hopkins; Analytikos, to be played by Kenneth Beatty, and Tsamu, the queen's Ethiopian "femme de chambre," to be played by Chippie Barrow. The costumes will be appropriate to ancient Greece, the real classical garb. Dr. Montgomery is the director.

As additional attractions to the production, plans are being made for special music and dancing, and a dramatic dialogue to be acted by Kitty Myrick and Baker Wynne.

SCRIMMAGE LINES

The game with Harvard was, according to all accounts, the best exhibition of football put up by the Indians this year. Coach Tasker's charges outplayed Harvard throughout the game and held the big Crimson eleven helpless for nearly three quarters.

The reception accorded the team upon their return by the student body was indicative of the intense enthusiasm which prevailed upon the campus as the result of the showing made by the Indian varsity. The student body at least realizes that William and Mary lost the game because of adverse breaks and not through any superiority of the Harvard machine.

Boston sports writers who witnessed the game have been unanimous in their declarations that bad officiating was a large factor in the Indian defeat, costing the Taskerites at least two possible scores. It might be said that the Indians lost to Cheek, Sayles and the officials. The Boston Post states: "In years to come football history will tell us that Harvard defeated William and Mary 14 to 7, but it will be hard to convince the 30,000 who saw the game that the Southerners were not deprived of a chance to tie the score in the final minutes of the game by incompetent officiating." The Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch adds: "And not a single alibi has come from Williamsburg either." We will let it go at that.

The returning team are unanimous in their praise of the treatment accorded them by the Harvard team, coaching staff, and student body. We feel safe in asserting that last Saturday's clash will result in the establishment of friendly bonds of athletic rivalry and good fellowship between the two oldest institutions of higher learning in the country.

William and Mary track got off to a flying start last Saturday, and the track coaches hope to repeat the feat against Richmond Saturday. The impressive showing made by the Indian track squad last year merits the backing of every follower of the Green, Gold and Silver in the effort to better that record this year.

"Chesty" Cain seems to have recovered his old plunging abilities, and succeeded in ripping the Harvard line open time and again. The work of Captain Elliott, Matsu and "Meb" Davis was also of the highest order. The entire Indian line in fact had the Crimson running attack helpless from the start of the game, and the line was credited with the hardest tackling seen in the Harvard gridiron in some time.

With Haskell and Albright off the Indian card within the next few days, there remains only the Roanoke and Richmond games to complete the program for this fall. Richmond went down to unexpected defeat before Duke last Saturday, 10 to 0, while Roanoke was nosing out a 13 to 0 victory over Venoir. After the struggle with Haskell next Saturday, it begins to look like clean sailing for the Indians, not that both of the remaining games will not be hotly contested.

Little Indians Meet Newport News Today

Squad of Keister and Nilsson Will Meet Strongest Team in High School Circles in Eastern Virginia! Recently Down Maury High, of Norfolk.

The Papooses journey to Newport News this afternoon to meet the High school in what is likely to be the hardest game of their schedule. The Shipbuilders are experiencing their most successful year and have just administered a 13-6 blow to Maury's State chances. Their team is further strengthened today by the return of Captain Jake Davis and Casey Jones to the line-up, but regardless of their power and achievements, they are meeting a stout rival in the Little Indian aggregation. The latter is playing a better brand of football than they were when Maury tied them, and the decision will be in doubt until the final whistle.

Old team-mates are meeting today as the rival coaches, Monk White and Paul Keister, played together on the Indian varsity several years ago.

Indian Ducs Defeat South Norfolk High

Papoose Have Little Trouble With Lads From Across Hampton Roads; Game Played in Rain and Mud Ends 13 to 0 in Favor of the Nilsson-Kesiter Charges.

The Freshmen triumphed over the South Norfolk Tigers 13-0 last Friday on Cary Field in the annual grid encounter between the two teams. The entire game was played in a hard rain, mud and wet ball allowing few first-downs and causing many fumbles. The Scrubs outplayed their opponents throughout the game and presented a better offense than they have exhibited before during the season.

The first touchdown came in the first quarter when King blocked a punt and the ball rolled across the goal-line. Three Scrubs fell on it for first tally. Justice failed in the try for goal. In the second quarter the Little Indians marched down the field to the Tiger's five-yard line and lost the ball on a fumble, but the South Norfolk boys duplicated the feat and Adams scooped the ball up to race for a touchdown. Justice drop-kicked for the extra point.

The second half was one of punts and fumbles. South Norfolk brought the ball within the shadow of the goal posts in the last few minutes of play, but the Little Indians held them for downs and a few seconds later the whistle blew.

The victory kept the Scrub's high school sheet clean, with one win and one tie.

Hockey Squad Will Meet Sweet Briar

William and Mary Girls To Play First Inter-Collegiate Hockey Game Tomorrow In Lynchburg; Marks a Further Expansion In Women's Sports.

The girls' hockey squad has been undergoing intensive training for the past few weeks, and as a result are eager to meet Sweet Briar College in Lynchburg tomorrow. This game will mark the first inter-collegiate hockey game for the women, and the encounter is being anticipated with a great deal of interest on the part of the students, co-eds in particular.

Up to the present time the only hockey games played have been inter-class games, but with a schedule for this year that includes other colleges beside Sweet Briar, hockey will be placed almost on a par with tennis and basketball for the girls. Those who will make the trip to Sweet Briar are: Coaches, Barksdae and Roberts; Anna Wilkins, Nina Trevoett, Marjorie Carter, Dot Seward, Sally Cogle, Harriett Zimmerman, Christine Winborne, Ellen Moody, Genevieve Hoffman, Alice Chewing, Betty Kneeland, Olive Thomas, Ernestine Greenwood, Pauline Hines, and Bessie Harwood.

BY THEIR FRUITS

A man is known in life not so much for his intangible worth or for his inherent qualities as for those which he exhibits in his relations with his fellow men. The influence which he exerts and the advantages which he enjoys for himself are very largely determined by the extent of his willingness to give due regard to the other persons with whom he may be thrown.

All of this brings us to a discussion of the extent to which the usual rules governing social intercourse are respected by the average student at the College. It may be said that the average William or Mary, as the case may be, recognizes that they exist. Very few of them balance peas on their knives, most of them say "Pardon" when they knock down an unsuspecting professor. But in the finer points somehow there is a notable lack on the part of the undergraduate at William and Mary in making the necessary distinctions to mark himself as a thoroughly cultured individual.

To reduce the problem to cases the following may be submitted. One of the oldest members of the faculty in point of service, the head of one of the departments, finds it impossible to induce the deacs to speak to him. At the entrance to the College Dining Hall there is always a jam just before the bell rings. The judge of a Virginia court passed through that mob recently and the expression on his face as he fought for his ground was enlightening. His remarks, if he had been undignified enough to make them, would more than likely have been more so. It is impossible for the Dining Hall chaplain to obtain perfect silence so that he may with due reverence ask divine blessing on the food for which a violent struggle is being waged in opposition to his efforts. At the laundry counter the conditions are equally as bad. The co-ed who attempts to get her package before all the scions of Adam are served is brave indeed and, if she escapes uncrumpled, is an object of admiration to all of her sex.

Not all of the students are guilty of the barbarity cited above. But twenty men can make a deep impression. Insofar as the others countenance such conduct as this on the part of their fellows, they are partners in the crime. On the other hand, it would be hard to find on the campus a Lord Chesterfield; but there are many who appreciate the niceties of life and resent any action that does not tend to the development of this appreciation as a general attitude. Those who are not in accord with this feeling should realize that their own selfishness militates against their accomplishing their desired ends. Such persons for this reason if for no other, should respect the will of the majority. The ideal, however, is the complete development of one's better tendencies so that such behavior as is described above is impossible.

THE WORLD COURT CONFERENCE

Last Friday and Saturday at Lynchburg 150 delegates from 25 Virginia colleges met in what may be the first organized attempt of American students to make their influence in world questions a vital part of our national political life. The matter immediately before the convention was that concerning the entrance of the United States into the World Court.

No worthier cause could be fostered by students or, as a matter of fact, by anyone. Such action as is suggested will place the United States in a position to fulfill the mission which we are told she has in the world. But it is well for the students to realize that even a student has limitations and that enthusiasm may often dull perception of subtle but none the less real forces that come into play in relation to the subject in hand. We do not mean to insinuate that such criticism applies to the work of the conference, but we do wish to point out that wherever a group of enthusiastic young people are gathered, fallacies are liable to be developed, more especially if only one side of the case is presented. Such an event could only hurt the work of a worthy cause.

Dr. Lonn Will Begin Her Lectures Monday

Professor of History at Goucher College, Baltimore, Md., Will Speak Five Times on International Relationships; First Lecture in Chapel Monday Night.

Dr. Ella Lonn, professor of history at Goucher College, Baltimore, Md., will begin the first of a series of five lectures in Chapel Monday night. The securing of Dr. Lonn was made possible through the co-operation of the American University Women and this college. The lectures will be given in the chapel of the main building beginning every night at 7 o'clock and will be delivered in the high school auditorium every afternoon at 4 o'clock for the benefit of the town people and those students who are unable to attend the lectures given at college.

The lectures of Dr. Lonn will be conducted chiefly on the contemporary international problems which exist in the world today, on which she is well acquainted because of her extensive travels in Europe during the summer of 1924. Dr. Lonn was an instructor in history during the William and Mary summer session of 1925 and therefore will not be considered a stranger at the college.

Educational Council Formed By Students

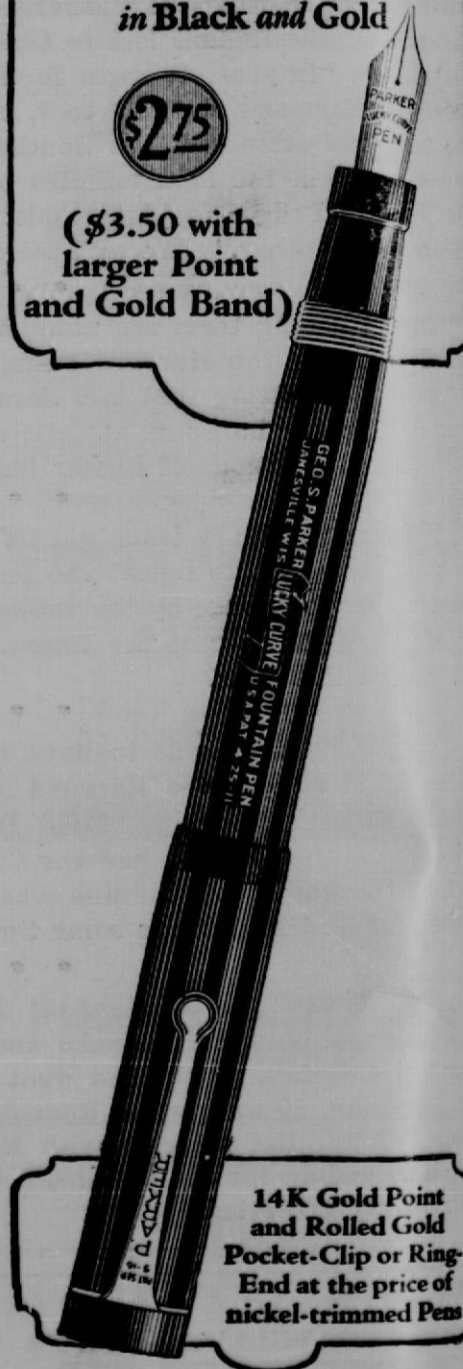

A meeting of representatives elected from the education classes was held Friday, October 30, at 7 o'clock in Dr. Hoke's office. These representatives, about sixteen in number, will constitute a permanent council which will discuss the future activities of the education department on the campus and direct all plans of interest to the campus concerning this department. This body will be under the supervision of the faculty of the education department.

THE OLD GRAD

A Column Devoted Exclusively to William and Mary Alumni

J. MALCOLM BRIDGES, Alumni Secretary

INDIAN VS. INDIAN.

Following the showing made by William and Mary in her first clash with Harvard University, the eyes of football enthusiasts here are directed toward the Armistice Day game with the Haskell Indians at Lake Island Park, Richmond. Every effort is being made to make this one of the South's football classics of the year, and the student body of the college expects to be represented with one hundred per cent attendance.

Arrangements have been made with the various lines of Virginia to provide special train service and rates to Richmond for the game with the most talked-of team found in football circles for the past three years. The fact that Haskell will bring with them the largest man in collegiate football, Tiny Roebuck, and George Levi, brother of the famous John Levi, who was declared one of the greatest football players ever seen on the gridiron, will make the game a colorful battle. Matched against the giant Roebuck will be Tiny Grove, huge William and Mary tackle, who towers six feet seven and one-half inches and weighs over 215 pounds. While the Haskell tackle has it on the local player in weight, Grove boasts of one and one-half more height than his rival. The two youngsters are expected to provide the spectators with as fine a display of manhood as Richmond has seen in years.

The demonstration held to welcome the William and Mary team home after their battle with Harvard brought back memories of the old days, when the Spotswood cannon was brought into free play in celebration here. More than 500 football enthusiasts gathered at the depot to welcome the boys back. Led by the coaches, captain and several players, all seated in a cart covered with the Green, Gold and Silver of the college, a noisy throng escorted the squad to the gates of the campus, where another welcome awaited them.

Cross-Country Team Wins First Victory

William and Mary's cross-country team lived up to expectations last Saturday and came in victorious over the Yellow Jackets from Randolph-Macon in their first cross-country meet of the season. Both teams got off to a good start and kept nearly even for about three-quarters of the distance. Although the Indians failed to annex first place in the finish, they easily gained the smaller score.

Tomorrow will be the cross-country meet between William and Mary and the University of Richmond, which will end in front of the bleachers during the period between the halves of the football game. The meet will probably start ten minutes before the end of the first half and will finish on the track. The runners will start in front of Jefferson Hall. The course will include a part of the Jamestown road and return will be run by the College Shop, up the Richmond road, around the cinder track once and will finish in front of the bleachers. Thorpe and Fleming, Richmond milers, and William and Martin, Richmond two-milers, all letter men of Richmond's track team last year, are on her cross-country team this year. Each team will consist of eight men. The William and Mary team will be practically the same as that run last Saturday against Randolph-Macon.

In all probability the second team will bear the brunt of the Albright game. Since a good many of William and Mary's letter men will be lost by graduation after this year, Coach Tasker is anxious to give his reserves as much experience as possible in order that they may be better able to cope with the hard games that the Indians are certain to have next year.

In an isolated region, almost inaccessible in winter, this 6500 h.p. hydro-electric plant located on the Deerfield River in New England, starts, protects, and stops itself.

A Self-Starting Power Plant

Dawn—the slumbering city awakens and calls for electric current. Many miles away the call is answered. A penstock opens automatically, releasing impounded waters; a water turbine goes to work, driving a generator; and electric current is soon flowing through wires over the many miles to the city. This plant starts and runs itself.

Power plants with automatic control are now installed on isolated mountain streams. Starting and stopping, generating to a set capacity, shutting down for hot bearings and windings, gauging available water supply, they run themselves with uncanny precision.

Thus another milestone has been reached in the generation of electric power. And with present-day achievements in power transmission, electricity generated anywhere may be applied everywhere.

The non-technical graduate need not know where electricity comes from—nor even how it works. But he should know what electricity can do for him no matter what vocation he selects.

The General Electric Company has developed generating and transmitting equipment step by step with the demand for electric power. Already electricity at 220,000 volts is transmitted over a distance of 270 miles. And G-E engineers, ever looking forward, are now experimenting with voltages exceeding a million.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

Here and There Among the Exchanges of The Flat Hat

The oldest journalism school in the United States, founded in 1869, at Washington and Lee University, at the time Robert E. Lee was president, has recently been re-established.

The Oxford debaters of 1925 have reached the United States. The team is composed of three speakers and will represent Great Britain as one speaks in English, another in Scotch, and the third in Welch. They are prepared to debate on any one of six subjects. At Harvard and Princeton it will be "That the Growth and Activities of the Socialist Movement Are Detrimental to Social Progress." At several other colleges they will denounce prohibition. They have other engagements to discuss, the world court and recognition of Russia.

Governor E. Lee Trinkle became an honorary member of Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity recently. He was initiated by the chapter at Hampden-Sidney, the college of which he is an alumnus.

Freshmen at Mercer College are required to wear green bow ties. As they have exhausted the supply in the stores of Macon, the poor rats are forced to wear green ribbons instead.

"Dad's Day" is an annual affair at Ohio Wesleyan. On this occasion all fathers are invited and entertained. The program includes various receptions, a stunt program in the gym, and a football game in the afternoon. The celebration is supported by the Booster's Club and the University officials.

Less than one per cent of American men are college graduates, yet this one per cent has furnished 55 per cent of our Presidents, 36 per cent of the members of Congress, 47 per cent of the speakers of the house, and 54 per cent of the secretaries of state. So it's worth it, after all!

A "Confidential Guide of College Courses" is published at Harvard for all new students. It is really an honest criticism of the work, giving the merits and unattractive features of forty of the most important courses in the catalogue. The criticism is given with the sincere hope of bettering methods of instruction.

HARVARD BARELY NOSES OUT OVER INDIANS 14-7

Matsu punted and it was Harvard's ball on their own 47-yard line. Crosby made 10 yards around end, but the Crimson were penalized for holding, and Matsu received a punt on his 35-yard line. The Indians fumbled and Parsons recovered. Cain made 4 yards over the line; Matsu kicked to Harvard 40-yard line. Harvard attempted a forward pass, but it was intercepted by William and Mary on their own 27-yard line. The Indians failed to gain and Matsu kicked to the Harvard 47-yard line. Crosby was thrown for a 4-yard loss by Elliott, and Mahear punted to William and Mary's 13-yard line. On the first play the Indians fumbled, but Irwin recovered and made 10 yards before he was downed. The period ended with William and Mary lacking a foot for first down on her own 35-yard line.

Indians Score.

Harvard sent in fresh backs at the beginning of the second period, and after a few minutes of play they blocked a punt which resulted in Harvard obtaining possession of the ball on William and Mary's 29-yard line. After failing to gain, Zerakov attempted a goal from placement, but the ball was caught by Charles on the Indian 1-yard line. Matsu kicked from behind his goal to the 37-yard line. Here Harvard fumbled and Eason recovered for the Indians on the 40-yard line. William and Mary failed to gain; Matsu kicked to Harvard's 15-yard line. Harvard immediately kicked out of danger, and a pass, Matsu to Charles, made 7 yards. Matsu kicked to Harvard 10-yard line and a poor Harvard punt gave the Indians possession of the ball on the 26-yard line. Meb Davis, on a triple

"HOW TO STUDY"

The Students' Hand-Book of Practical Hints on the Technique of effective study

By WILLIAM ALLAN BROOKS

A GUIDE containing hundreds of practical hints and short cuts in the economy of learning, to assist students in securing MAXIMUM SCHOLASTIC RESULTS at a minimum of cost of time, energy, and fatigue. ESPECIALLY RECOMMENDED for overworked students and athletes engaged in extra curriculum activities and for average and honor students who are working for high scholastic achievement.

Some of the Topics Covered

- | | |
|---|--|
| Scientific Shortcuts in Effective Study. | Diet During Athletic Training. |
| Preparing for Examinations. | How to Study Modern Languages. |
| Brain and Digestion in Relation to Study. | How to Study Science, Literature, etc. |
| How to Take Lecture and Reading Notes. | Why Go to College? |

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine. Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan
"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked." Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.
"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned, may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.
"To students who have never learnt "How to Study," work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.
"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.
Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand-book and guide NOW.

pass end run play went over for the first touchdown of the game. The rest of the first half was a midfield battle, with William and Mary getting the best of the fight.

The beginning of the second half found Cheek, Harvard's captain, in the Crimson backfield in an effort to break down the Indians' lead. Harvard kicked to William and Mary's 34-yard line, where line plunges by Cain and Irwin and a pass, Matsu to Irwin, netted the Indians first down on their 48-yard line. Line plunges by Cain, Matsu and Davis brought the ball to the Harvard 42-yard line, where Cheek intercepted a pass from Matsu on his own 16-yard line. Soon afterwards, a blocked kick was recovered by Harvard on the Indian 30-yard line and Sayles went in for Harvard on left end. Harvard failed to gain through the Indian line, and a pass, Cheek to Sayles, gave Harvard the ball within a foot of the William and Mary goal line. Crosby carried the ball over on the next play and kicked for the extra point.

Desperate Battle..

The fourth period opened with Harvard in possession of the ball on their own 43-yard line. Harvard failed to gain and the ball went over on downs. The game developed into a midfield battle, with William and Mary making downs consistently, but unable to come within scoring distance of the Harvard goal. About the middle of the period, Meb Davis broke loose for a 30-yard gain, but was recalled by the referee because he did not understand the play. A bad pass to Matsu near the end of the fourth quarter paved the way for the last touchdown, which gave Harvard possession of the ball on the Indians' 30-yard line. Harvard failed to make first down against the Indian line, but another pass, Cheek to Sayles, netted a second touchdown. Crosby kicked the extra point. The rest of the game was featured by the desperate attempts of the Indians to tie the score, which brought them within 28-yards of the Harvard goal. The game ended with William and Mary within striking distance of the Harvard goal.

Dr. Davis Will Speak Before Biology Club

The Clayton-Grimes Biology Club will meet in room one of the science hall tonight at 8 o'clock. The feature of the program will be a talk by Dr. D. W. Davis on the work done last summer in his Balsam garden. All members of the club are expected to be present and those who have fifteen credits in biology and who are interested in the work are invited to join.

In past years the Clayton-Grimes Club has been one of the most active organizations on the campus. Several programs are executed during the year, an annual exhibit is held each spring and to end the year's work the members of the club take an outing to the Dismal Swamp in order to study the animal and plant life of that region.

Pollard To Speak

Dr. John Garland Pollard, dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship, has accepted the invitation to speak before the Women's Club of Norfolk at the occasion of the occupancy of their new building on November 16. His subject will be, "Women in Legal Literature."

so far this year, the dope would indicate that the Kansas eleven can be credited with a strong, aggressive line, and a fast traveling, plunging backfield.

The brunt of the Taskell Indian attack is expected to be borne by George Levi, captain and halfback, who is fast establishing a record almost as impressive as that made by the famous John Levi, who graduated from Haskell last year. As far as can be learned, the rival teams are about equally matched in weight and speed, and play much the same offensive and defensive football. The Taskerites undoubtedly have a slight advantage over the Kansas eleven in both experience and reserve strength, although a large part of the Haskell line is composed of veterans, who played stellar football for them last year.

The fact that at the College of William and Mary was established the first Indian school in America, in what is now Brafferton building, should serve to enhance the already high interest that is being evidenced in the coming fray, as it might well be called a gridiron encounter between the first and what will probably be the last Indian college in America. The scrap between the rival Indian camps is expected to be a hard fought one from start to finish, and probably only the last whistle will determine the final resting place of the scalp of victory. As the game is to be played upon Armistice Day, the attendant holiday is expected to produce a large and colorful crowd of football enthusiasts from all over this section of the country.

the fraternity, in order that the necessary amount may be raised.

Among the fifty founders of the Phi Beta Kappa are many men of distinction, such as William Short, who was at one time commissioner to Spain and who, after the chapter had died in 1781, returned in 1849, at the age of 92, to reorganize the fraternity. Other men of distinction were John Marshall, Bushrod Washington, Richard Bland Lee, Spencer Roane, George Braxton and Elisha Parmele. The last named established the Phi Beta Kappa branches at Yale and Harvard.
