CONTEST ENTRANT WILL BE SELECTED

Elimination Contest to Determine W. & M. Representative at State Oratorical Contest Will be Held Friday, April 15.

The Philomathean and Phoenix Literary Societies voted to contribute money to completely cover the expenses of William and Mary's contestant to the state-wide oratorical contest to be held at Roanoke College the first Friday in May. This action assures William and Mary of an entry in the contest.

Local eliminations to determine William and Mary's representative at Roanoke will be held on this campus Friday, April 15, and the contest will be judged by professors from the local campus. Any student of the college may take part in the contest. However, the declamation must contain not more than 2,400 words, and may be on any subject that the student desires.

It is desired that a large number of students come out for the contest, and anyone who is interested is urged to see Professor Brooks or either one of the presidents of the two men's literary societies for further information.

Contestants from all of the leading schools of Virginia will be represented at Roanoke and a varied number of prizes will be offered to the aspirants.

PLAY PRODUCTION CLASS TO GIVE ONE-ACT PLAYS IN PHI BETA KAPPA HALL

"The Managers," "Overtones," "Pierrot's Mother," and "Society Notes" Will be Plays Given on Friday Night at 8:15

STUDENTS ARE DIRECTORS

The second group of the current series of one-act plays that the Advanced Play Production Class is presenting during April, will be shown in Phi Beta Kappa Hall Friday night, April 15. This group will consist of four plays, all produced under the direction of members of the class as a portion of their class work.

Cape Cod Play to Be First

The first play of the evening will be "The Managers" by Joseph C. Lincoln. This play is being directed by Ann Garrett, who has in her cast Arthur Kelley, Lee Rubin and Lucie Grossman. The first named have appeared in previous plays on the campus, but this will be Miss Grossman's first appearance on the Phi Beta Kappa stage. As usual with Mr. Lincoln's work, the scene of this production is a Cape Cod village.

Eleanor Chambers is the director of the second play of the evening. She has chosen "Overtones" by Alice Gerstenberg as her production. Anabelle Hubbard, Mary Virginia Rigg, Anne

EIGHT HIGH SCHOOLS TO GIVE TOURNAMENT PLAYS

Plays to be Presented at Matthew Whaley High School Auditorium; Tournament Sponsored by W. & M. Players

The third annual Tidewater Dramatic Tournament will be held under the auspices of the William and Mary Players the nights of April 22 and 23. The performance of the competing high school will be shown in the Matthew Whaley High School Auditorium. Probably owing to the slashes in the faculties of the various schools, the number of competing schools is not as great as in previous years. There are only eight schools entered in the contest this year. The city schools are in a heavy majority, for there are six of that class to two of the county classification. This necessitates the elimination of an evening of plays that was to have been devoted to the county schools exclusively, and the combination of two city and two county entrants for a single evening.

The first group of plays to be presented will be those of four city high schools. Maury High School, of Norfolk, will present "The Slave With Two Faces" by Mary Carolyn Davies. The play is under the direction of Miss Mary L. Johnson. This is the third time that Maury has competed in the Dramatic Tournament. Richmond will be represented by Thomas Jefferson High School, instead of John Marshall, as in the previous contests. This school will produce "Old Moonlight" a Chinese fantasy by William Ellis Jones, a Richmond author. The direction of this group of players is in the hands of Miss Josephine Talley. The third school to be represented in the contest will be Petersburg High. The dramatic group of that school, under the direction of Weldon Thompson, a former William and Mary student, will present "Aria de Capo" by Edna St. Vincent Millay. The evening of plays will be completed with the performance of "On The Lot." Newport News High School is to be represented by this play. Miss Dorothy Crane is the director of this Summer and Fall Classes Limited to 35 and 50, Respectively; W&M Students Are Given Preference.

APRIL 30 IS CLOSING DATE

The William and Mary aeronautics ground school and flight courses will be limited to 35 for the summer sessions and 50 for the fall season, according to the Director of the Department of Aviation, Colonel Earl C. Popp. Five hundred of 1800 aeronautics course bulletins have been sent to principals of preparatory and high schools of Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland, and New Jersey, with a complete explanation of the courses offered, fees, necessary books for classes and laboratory.

The bulletins urge the teaching staffs to be fully aware of the work available in aeronautics at William and Mary. Results of the communications have been astonishing, for already enrollments are coming in fast from principals, teachers, and even graduate students. Colonel Popp stated he will have the complete enrollment for both the summer and fall sessions in sixty days.

If members of the William and Mary College student body desire to

DOROTHY MAAS CAPTURES HONORS IN PAPER CHASE

Paper Hunt Which Was Postponed on Account of Rain on March 31 Took Place Tuesday, April 5.

Dorothy Maas won the paper chase held by the riding school on Tuesday, April 5. The original date set for the chase was Thursday, March 31, but it was postponed on account of rain, and consequently many riders who had planned to take part were unable to do so.

The course, which began at Lake Matoka and extended cross country to the old Riordon airport, was so arranged as to present no handicap to the inexperienced rider. The trail was laid over fields and country roads, and offered many obstacles in hedge and brook jumps and false leads. At one point the riders were instructed to lead their horses one hundred paces off the trail only to be compelled to retrace their steps.

Mr. Bass, manager of the school, accompanied the riders on the hunt, which lasted about two hours and a half.

The prize presented to Dorothy Maas by Mr. Bass was an English riding crop. Miss Maas, who is from New York City, is an experienced equestrienne, having ridden since she was ten years old. She said that the finish was very close and the whole race exciting. Her mount, Dick Woodward, a red sorrel, fifteen hands high, is a favorite among student riders for his spirit and excellent jumping.

Dick Conlen, student instructor of the riding school, in announcing the winner stated that there would be another hunt in about two weeks for the benefit of those who were unable to take part Tuesday. Mr. Bass has purchased several new horses so that more riders may enter the various events of the spring program.

Their schedule included the College of City of New York, Hunter College, Penn State College, and the University of Pennsylvania. The debate with the College of City of New York was cancelled at the last moment and the other debates were non-decision ones.

Lota Spence, Virginia Bruce Houghtwout, and Isabel Nielson returned Saturday from a debating trip to Philadelphia where they debated Temple University and Drexel Institute. These debates, too, were non-decision ones but the William and Mary team received very favorable comment from the critic judges.

"Resolved that Collective Ownership and Operation of the Means of Production is better than Private Ownership and Operation" was the subject of the debate April 11 against the University of Buffalo. William and Mary will be represented by Lou Lang and Lucie Grossman, who will hold the affirmative before the Woman's Club of Gloucester, Va.

"PAGLIACCI" SOUND FILM TO BE SHOWN

There Will be Four Showings of the Opera, and Tickets May be Procured From the Box Office or From Music Students.

The sound-film version of the opera "Pagliacci" will be shown at the Campus Theatre on Saturday, April 16th. There will be four showings of this opera, which is being sponsored by the Music Department of the College, at two and four in the afternoon, and seven and nine in the evening. Tickets for all performances are now on sale in the box office, and from students of the music department. There are a limited number of reserved seats for each performance.

This will be the first showing of this production in the state of Virginia, and its engagement here will usher in a program of first run pictures to be presented by the campus theatre. The picture recently released in New York, follows the Metropolitan Opera Company's version of the opera with the exception of the interpolation of two elaborate ballets in keeping with the opera.

The producer of the picture, Fortune Gallo, is one of the best known impresarios of today. For many years his San Carlo Grand Opera Company has toured this country giving various operatic performances. All of the principal singers in the film production have been members of this organization, and are well fitted to sing the different roles of the opera.

The cast of -50 persons will be augmented with an orchestra of 75 under the direction of Carlo Peroni, noted orchestra leader.

SHORT STORY CONTEST

The Sigma Upsilon-Chi Delta Phi Short Story Contest will close Saturday, April 16. All contestants are urged to have their contributions in promptly. Only one contribution from each person will be accepted.

GEODETIC SURVEY DETERMINE "G" ON COLLEGE CAMPUS

Lieutenant Hoskinson and Mr. McConnell Have Instruments Set Up in Rogers 103 to Get Earth's Gravitational Attraction.

Lieutenant Albert J. Hoskinson, Hydrographic and Geodetic Engineer, and Mr. Harold E. McConnell, Recorder and truck driver of the United States Department of Commerce Coast and Geodetic Survey have made a determination of the value of the earth's gravitational attraction. Lieutenant Hoskinson had intended to make the precise determination of "G" elsewhere in Williamsburg, but when Professor William W. Merryman learned of this, he invited the survey to be made on the William and Mary campus, in room 103 of Rogers Hall.

The purpose of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey truck now located on the college grounds is to determine the relative intensity of gravity at this point on the earth surface. The instrument consists of an invar pendulum (1.4 meter in length) which swings through a very small arc from 8 to 12 millimeters in an evacuated chamber. The period of the pendulum is a measure of the intensity of gravity at the point. The pendulum is swung, beginning and ending of the swing being accurately determined to 1-1000,000 of a second by comparison with the radio signal broadcast at Arlington. The "period" of the pendulum may then be determined to 1-1,000,000 of a second of time, or less.

The radio time signal is received on a short wave receiver and recorded by one stylus on a chronograph. The movement of the pendulum is also recorded on the same chronograph so that a comparison may be made. This is accomplished by having a beam of light reflected by a small mirror on the swinging pendulum. The reflected rays sweep back and forth across a photo electric cell and the tiny current thus generated is amplified by vacuum tube circuits and conveyed to a second stylus which traces its record on the same chronograph sheet that time signal stylus records on. Thus the time interval for a large number of beats of the pendulum is very accurately determined.

Their outfit represents the latest developments in portable determination apparatus and is perhaps the finest in the world. This trip is the first field trip with it and it is expected to yield accurate and consistent values true to one part in a million. The two men started out on this trip from Quantico and then to Newport News. They are now working in Williamsburg and will follow a prolific route over to West Virginia and thence into Pennsylvania and back to Washington, D. C. This trip is also to determine the field-worthiness of the new apparatus, that, according to Lieutenant Hoskinson, "is merely an experiment, which will include the eastern half of the United States." The length of the survey takes from 10 to 17 hours.

enrol for either season, Colonel Popp seriously asks them to make application immediately, for it is obvious that with the pouring in of outside enrollment, the William and Mary student body will be left out in the rain. The applicant for either ground or flight courses need not formerly enroll or pay a fee, but is merely asked to make his intention which will assuredly hold a place for him. Colonel Popp will hold open the enrollments on behalf of the student body until April 30, after which he will be obliged to accept outside applications. This allotted time will give the student ample time to write home, explain the course, receive an answer, and then have adequate time to see Colonel Popp. Bulletins with complete information on the aeronautical curriculum may be had from Colonel Popp. The closing date for William and Mary students for enrollment in the aeronautical courses is April 30.

N. A. C. A. Expert Talks Here

Mr. Silverstein of the Research Staff of the National Advisory Council for Aeronautics, at Langley Field, will speak to the aeronautical classes on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, in the physics lecture room of Rogers Hall, on the subject, "Recent Developments in Aeronautics." The physics and aeronautical classes, and the student body are cordially invited to attend.

This is the first of a series of five lectures to be given for the following five weeks, sponsored by the Department of Aeronautics.

the lover. Merrill Brown and Kenneth Umlah will portray the father parts and Harry Bernstein the part of the amusing Luis, the slow-witted suitor for Paquita's hand. Marjorie Hurson will play the part of the scheming maid to Paquita.

Musical Selections are Features

Athur McLawhon will sing the Towner's song from Carmen. Lester Litwin, Thomas McCaskey, Marjorie Virginia Webb and Prof. Morales will give vocal and piano solos.

The program will conclude with a dance with castanets by Laura Colman, with the final touch being an interpretation of the Tango by Nancy Davis and Benjamin Fowler.

The play, "La Casa de Paquita," is concerned with a girl's struggle to marry the man of her choice instead of the tiresome man whom her father has selected. Paquita, the heroine, is in love with Ramon, a clerk in a large commercial house in Toledo. Luis the dull suitor chosen by Pedro to marry his daughter, persuades his father, Enrique, to buy the unproductive estate belonging to Paquita's father, provided the girl marries him (Luis).

Paquita is anxious to move to a larger and more comfortable house, but she refuses to marry Luis, even to attain her desire. In order to compel her obedience her father and Enrique, Luis's father, invent a number of stories of Ramon's allegedly infidelity. The vow that a rich widow of the village has recently given him an expensive gold ring. Paquita pays no attention to their stories, but when Ramon enters wearing a gold ring, she does suspect him. Jokingly Ramon refuses to tell her where he has obtained the ring. To test the strength of Paquita's love he allows her to believe that it really is the gift of the widow. Paquita haltingly agrees to sign the marriage contract which is to bind her to Luis. After innumerable delays she confesses that her love for Ramon is too great to allow her to marry anyone else.

Ramon explains joyfully that the ring is to be their wedding ring and that in a few days they will all sail for New York where he is to be the manager of the branch office of his firm. Pedro embraces his daughter and gives his consent to her marriage with Ramon. He is amazed to find that there is no wine in the United States, so he lays in a good store for the trip.

The college orchestra under the direction of George M. Small, of the Music Department, will play several authentic Spanish compositions. No admission will be charged.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT GIVES "THE MIKADO"

Popular Gilbert-Sullivan Comic Opera Presented Thursday and Friday Nights in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

With the sparkle and fire of professional finish, the Music Department, under the skillful direction of Professor George M. Small, produced the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "The Mikado" Thursday and Friday nights in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. With this year's successful production, the campus has viewed its second complete opera, last year's presentation being "The Pirates of Penzance," another opera by the famous writers of "The Mikado."

"The Mikado," jointly staged by the Men and Women's Glee Clubs and sung by the finest musical talent available, prove to be one of the outstanding hits of the year as attested by good audiences at both performances. The second performance had a slight edge on the first night, due perhaps, to the actors' reaction to a larger house and to the experience gained in the first performance.

Arthur McLawhon's stealing the show was the highlight of the evening. In the part of "Ko-Ko," Lord High Executioner of Titipu, he was the comedian of the evening, carrying off his songs and lines with a zest which soon associated itself in the applause of the audience.

George Roller, in the tenor role of "Nanki-Poo," son of the Mikado sang very creditably. The feminine lead of "Yum-Yum," beautiful ward of the executioner, was delightfully played by Grace Settle, whose soprano voice and engaging personality gave a distinctive charm to her songs.

Singing the title role was George Stewart, vibrant tenor, whose Oriental dignity, excepting the eccentric jig which incidentally was his own interpolation, imparted impressiveness to the old monarch. Margaret Davis as Katisha, while lacking the volume which would have made her part more brilliant, contributed to the comic element in her numbers with McLawhon, particularly the second performance. In the other major parts were Virginia Webber as pretty "Pitti-Sing," Ruth Proudman as "Peep-Bo," Earle Morden as the austere "Pooh-Bah" and Hermann Hoffmann playing the sprightly "Lord Pish-Tush." In addition to the principals, were two choruses composed of sixteen girls and fifteen boys which appeared periodically to take up popular choruses.

"The Mikado" was more spectacle than the dramatic production, riotous color in sets and costumes producing a kaleidoscope of sensations rather than definite impressions.

The work of the orchestra was excellent. Credit must be given to Henry Wolfe, pianist, whose fine accompaniment was invaluable, and Mr. Small of the Music Department.

GREEN SOX TO PLAY RICHMOND AND BRIDGEWATER SQUADS

SPIDERS PRESENT A STRONG TEAM IN HOPE OF VICTORY

Second Eagle Game to be Played at Bridgewater; Marks the First Game of an Extended Trip.

The William and Mary baseball squad will be host to Richmond tomorrow afternoon when the game which was postponed from Saturday shall take place.

Richmond shall present some formidable opposition to the Tri-color squad, being one of the foremost Conference contenders.

GREEN SQUAD WINS TURKEY GRID GAME

But "Billy" Gooch Announces Margin of Victory Too Slim and Both Teams are Awarded Feed.

The Spring football training squad terminated its session when the Green Squad defeated the Orange Squad on Cary Field last Wednesday afternoon by a score of 2 to 0.

The contest was a close fight from start to finish. During the first half the Green Squad proved to be the aggressors.

But in the second half the conditions were reversed, though not quite so marked.

INDIAN LINKSMEN BOW TO WASHINGTON AND LEE, 13-5

Team Stars on Northern Trip Tomorrow Meeting Swarthmore, Haverford, Lafayette and Bucknell.

The William and Mary golfers journeyed to Hot Springs last Wednesday to engage Washington and Lee over the famous Cascades golf course.

The most outstanding match of the day, as far as good golf was concerned, was between Mort Jaffe, captain of the Indian linksmen, and Billy Howell, last years National Amateur semi-finalist.

Rain forced a postponement of the scheduled match with the Medical College at Richmond on Saturday.

THREE NEW RECORDS SET AS FROSH TRACKMEN WIN TRI-ANGULAR MEET HERE

Yearlings Win, Scoring 74 1-3 to 22 2-3 for Maury and 19 for Norfolk Division.

The William and Mary frosh track team defeated Maury High School and Norfolk Division of William on Friday, April 8, in impressive style, scoring 74 1-3 points to 23 2-3 for Maury and 19 for Norfolk Division.

Three new records were set by the yearling performers. Monk Little ran the 220 in the fine time of 22.7 seconds to establish a new record for this event.

Monk Little, with five firsts to his credit, was the high scorer of the afternoon with 25 points.

Daugherty and Harrison both placed in three events to star for the invaders.

TARHEEL FENCERS WIN OVER BRAVES

Tri-Color Swordsmen Lose by Close Score of 9-8; Col. Popp and Staff Fly Squad to and From Chapel Hill.

Last Wednesday, April 6, the William and Mary fencing team journeyed to Chapel Hill via airplane to cross blades with the University of North Carolina, runners up in the Southern Intercollegiate Championships held a few weeks ago.

In the Epee events the Indians were victorious 3-1. Fowler easily defeated F. Wordlaw, Wheeler beat out Litten, and Litten reversed the decision in the second meeting.

It would be interesting to note that Col. Popp and his assistants, Judy Chandler and Yel Kent, flew the fencers to Chapel Hill in two hours.

INDIANS CAPTURE FIRST CONFERENCE GAME 17-2

Sundin Allows Six Scattered Hits; With Tribe Scoring in Every Inning but Second to Facilitate Victory.

The Green Sox won their first Virginia Conference start here last Thursday against the Roanoke Maroons whipping the visitors by 17-2.

Corby Sundin performed brilliantly on the slab allowing the invaders six scattered hits.

The Indian batsmen put a pair of runs together in the initial inning. Roanoke was able to get a run in the second but from then on they were completely outclassed by the heavy hitting Tricolor teams.

Buck LeCroix led the Tricolor batsmen with three hits in three times at bat for an average of 1.000.

FROSH AND VARSITY TRACKSTERS WILL ENGAGE GENERALS

Meet to be Held at Lexington on Saturday; Tricolor Will be Represented by Strong Squad.

Friday morning the Tricolor varsity and frosh track squads travel to Lexington to engage the Generals in a dual meet, which is to take place on Saturday, April 16th.

The Washington and Lee men have, as usual, a strong combination lead by Edmonds. Although the Lexington team has suffered the loss of Captain Finckelstein, last year's Southern Intercollegiate hurdles star, they are fully equipped to give the Scrapmen a close contest.

The Indians will be ably represented by the veterans Smithers, Johnson, Reed, Doane, Roberts, Renn, Douglas, and Meade together with a promising lot of last year's duc aggregation.

The General yearlings have not, at the time of this printing, engaged in competition, but it is probable that they shall, as usual, present a formidable squad, which will be particularly effective in the one-half and mile events.

300 BOXING PETITIONS RETURNED BY STUDENTS

All Those Who Have Not as Yet Handed in a Petition are Urged to Respond.

In the last issue of the FLAT HAT was printed for the purpose of seeing whether or not the return of Boxing as a part of the sport curriculum here at William and Mary had the support of the entire student body.

According to "Rip" Collins, one of the leaders in this movement, 300 petitions have already been handed in as this paper goes to press, and a large number of returns are anticipated during the coming week.

Last week's editorial stated that the pioneers in this movement had little to work on at present. This is very true, because without the support of the entire student body all efforts to reinstate Boxing as a minor sport would be useless.

Class baseball games are going strong. Now that teaching positions are few and far between, some Squaws are weakening and probably will join the ranks of the professional ball players.

FRESHMEN TO INAUGURATE BASEBALL SEASON HERE WITH HIGHLAND SPRING

First Year Squad of Thirty Working Out Daily Under Coaches Fetzer and Davis.

Coaches Fetzer and Davis have been tuning up their 1932 Frosh machine in preparation for their engagement on Thursday with Highland Spring High School.

Although no definite battery has been announced for Thursday's game it is probable that Cann will hurl at the outset with Jester doing the receiving.

The yearlings will be favorites to repeat last year's win over the high school boys and a triumph will be just what is needed to put the boys in the right spirit for their important battle with Petersburg High a week from Friday.

GROUP TAKE TESTS FOR LIFE SAVING

Mr. Carr, National Red Cross Field Representative, Gives Examiner's Tests to Twenty Students.

On Friday, April 8, sixteen Indianettes and four men who were taking Examiner's tests, completed the ten hour course in Life Saving which was held last week under the instruction of Mr Melville Carr, American Life Saving Field Representative for the Red Cross.

Mr. Carr is one of the few credited with over 250 swimming rescues of drowning persons and 17 people saved by the prone pressure method of resuscitation, which he teaches.

The women who took the examiner's tests were: Barnes, Baughman, Beck, Bibee, Brown, B. A. Castator, Cubberly, Dabney, Dunleavy, Fleck, Hamond, Moore, Ranges, Sollenberger, and Trent.

The men were: Otis Douglas, James Cuddihy, Jesse Klein, and Tom Miller.

TENNIS TEAM LOSES TO VIRGINIA COURTSMEN, 7-2

Undefeated Cavaliers Play Good Tennis to Win; Indians Take One Singles and One Doubles Match.

Virginia's undefeated net team displayed a good brand of tennis on the William and Mary courts last Wednesday to defeat the Indian representatives 7-2.

"Vic" Lebow won the only singles match for the Indians, defeating Dame 8-6 6-3, while the combination of Nelson and Minskoff defeated Fletcher and Burnett 6-4 8-6 to account for the other point.

Singles—Newell (Va) defeated Joslyn 6-4 6-2; Lebow (WM) defeated Dame 8-6 6-3; Delafield (Va) defeated Minskoff (WM) 6-3 6-2; Hedges (Va) defeated Captain Shaffer 6-0 (Continued on Page Five)

TEEPEE TOPICS

Tomorrow the Green Sox shall face what may prove to be the toughest Virginia Conference opposition of the season.

Carter "Lefty" White, who is slated to pitch against the Richmond outfit, has his own special reasons for wanting to see them lose.

Babe Ruth has earned far more than the $750,000 credited him by most sport writers. They consider only his Yankee salaries.

Speaking about this season's salary, it has been discovered that with Babe Ruth getting $75,000 for one baseball season his earning capacity is approximately $500 a game or $250 an hour or $4 a minute of actual playing time.

It just doesn't seem fair!

In Sherman, Wisconsin, a recent election proved a solid foundation to the popularity of the Shermans. The results were: Town Chairman, John Sherman; Treasurer, Frank Sherman; Assessor, Venard Sherman; Justice of the Peace, Herbert Sherman.

The entire sporting world recently joined in mourning for Phar Lap, the wonder horse.

Phar Lap ran in 13 Australian races, on which the smart bookies refused to take wagers. Which is what we call mighty fair and square.

Gar Wood, Detroit's famed speed-boat builder and pilot, is fashioning Miss America X, his newest speed creation. The motors of Miss America IX will be used in the new craft.

Of all the new men, Frank Crosetti, of the New York Yankees, looks like the goods.

He has been on fire ever since he peeled out of his store clothes and donned Yankee trappings down in St. Petersburg.

He has been knocking the official American league baseball all over the lot and looks like a sure shot as a big star.

They also say that the headpiece Frank brought to camp still fits, and that being the case, he looks as though he's in.

Ben Fontaine, of Green Bay, Wisconsin, scoffed today when he learned police credited him with unusual bravery for knocking down a hold-up man with his fist.

"I'm neither brave nor fool-hardy," Fontaine explained. "I was all set to give the fellow my money when his gun touched my ribs. I can't stand being tickled."

In twelve seasons of pitching Lefty Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics has worked a total of 3077 innings.

Syracuse University is rather proud of the fact that three of its coaches, leaders in their respective fields, are apparently well satisfied with their posts.

Jim Ten Eyck is directing rowing for the 29th year, Tom Keane, Olympic coach, is starting his 26th season, and Lew Carr has been at the baseball helm for 23 years.

The Athletics, in their chase after a fourth successive pennant, will have to set a new American League record to make it. No team in American League history has won more than three in a row.

Charles Blair MacDonald, the first national amateur champion of this country, holds the record for the longest golf drive on earth and won a $1,000 wager in performing the feat.

He bet he could drive a ball a mile with a putter, provided the playing conditions were selected by himself. One day Lake Michigan froze over and he gave a ball a tap in a forty-mile gale and it never was found again.

Rabbit Maranville greeted Babe Herman a day or so after the reformed Brooklyn player had signed his Cincinnati contract.

Three of the Sewell brothers reached the big top in baseball. Tom did a little outfielding for the Cubs, Joe is with the Yankees and Luke with the Indians.

"But the best ball player in the family wouldn't turn professional," says Joe. "That was Toxey. He was a great hitter and a great outfielder. They still tell you at the university (Alabama) that Toxey was the greatest ball player we ever had. I think he would have been another Speaker."

A couple of colored gentlemen were studying a flaming poster in front of the St. Petersburg Ball Park. It was an announcement of the impending game between the Yankees and the House of David team.

"You can't kid me; them ain't ball players," scoffed Amos to Andy (or was it vice-versa?) "Them's boll weevils."

Now the French want an auto speed record. Their engineers have constructed an automobile in which they hope to break the world speed records held by Malcolm Campbell, of Great Britain.

The car, constructed by Strapp engineers, is expected to average approximately 360 miles per hour. It will be tested in France and if the runs are satisfactory it will be taken to Daytona Beach, Florida.

Charlie Wood, rookie Pittsburg pitcher, was expelled from Wofford College in North Carolina for playing bridge on Sunday. He drew a hand of thirteen spades, that comes but once in 3,000,000 deals, and when a local newspaper published the story, the dean told him he was too smart for higher education.

AIM HIGH

Twice a year, Omicron Delta Kappa, one of the most prominent honorary fraternities on the William and Mary campus, holds tap services for those men who have proven themselves to be leaders in one or more fields of college activities. The receipt of a bid from this organization is perhaps as high an award as can be obtained by an undergraduate on this campus. In recognizing outstanding work in combined scholastic and activity efforts, O. D. K. follows a policy which is instrumental in awarding just recognition to those who have compiled all-round accomplishments.

Five qualities are considered in selecting men: scholarship, athletics, social leadership including conspicuous service to the institution, non-athletic activities other than publications, and publications. Through the medium of this broad field, a student has a chance to prove himself outstanding in the field that he desires and likes best. He is not bound nor compassed in his choice of activity and recognition is always given according to the success he obtains as a result of his efforts.

Not more than one quarter of the total membership can be selected from any of the five groups mentioned, a ruling which prevents domination by fraternities or other groups. Every man, fraternity or non-fraternity, works on an equal basis and every man who is outstanding and deserving is elected into membership.

The freshmen in the college should begin now to prepare for Omicron Delta Kappa if they have not already done so. They have two or so years in which to meet the requirements. A freshman can begin right by passing his work for no consideration is given whatsoever to those men who fail to meet the scholastic requisites.

Freshmen who wish to make the effort for the honor should familiarize themselves with the requirements of the organization. Members of O. D. K. are always glad to discuss the system in use and any and every effort directed towards making this society will prove of great benefit to the student whether or not he reaches his goal.

GIVE THESE GIRLS A HAND

To the freshman woman Mortar Board is an aim, an ideal toward which they plan to work. Gradually, as the years of college life pass by, more and more students are eliminated from the race, and finally, when the spring tap service is held for the recognition of work done by the juniors, there is a small number who are actually taken into Mortar Board. These selected few realize then that Mortar Board is not an end in itself. If it were, it would be worthless. If all of us always reached our ideals, life would be rather unprofitable. Mortar Board is a means to an end. It recognizes the work of an outstanding few and shows them the way way in which they can become better leaders.

In selecting the women who have proven themselves worthy of being taken in, Mortar Board considers three things, leadership, scholarship and service. The first two of these are self-explanatory, but in passing it may be well to say that to be selected by Mortar Board, a student's average must be three points higher than the present campus average. The element of service is another matter. Service implies unselfishness, and willingness. This year Mortar Board has made it a point to recognize not only those things which place students in the eyes of the campus, but also those things which require hard work but which are never thought of by the campus. There are numerous duties on campus which must be done by people who are unselfish and who do not expect publicity for their work.

Perhaps there are several students who expected Mortar Board who were not tapped. In a way of consolation, it may be said that the item of scholarship kept out several who would otherwise have been tapped. Mortar Board has tried to emphasize scholarship this year and, in order to encourage the raising of grades, has offered a prize to the sophomore woman making the highest average. This will, in all probability, be an annual prize from now on.

The Flat Hat congratulates those students selected by Mortar Board, and compliments Mortar Board on its high standards of leadership, scholarship and service.

The Inquiring Reporter

(He asks ten people every week some question on college life. If you have any problems which you would like to have him discuss, send them to "The Inquiring Reporter," care of the Flat Hat.)

"Would you favor bi-weekly convocations featuring a series of interesting speakers?"

Jack Tuthill '32: "Of course—but with an emphasis on the 'interesting'."

Helen Stamper '32: "Yes, if the speakers are really interesting."

George Stewart '32: "I would prefer not to have all speakers, but instead I would suggest that we have varied convocations, featuring programs put on by the different departments, such as Dramatics, Music, Chemistry, etc."

Frog deBordenave '32: "Interesting speakers are rare. I like to listen to them but not Mexican athletes. Savvy?"

Micky O'Neill '33: "Yes, if they were good ones."

Joe Cohron '33: "Yes, I think it would be a good idea."

Micky Ross '34: "Yes, provided the talks were really interesting and by well-known speakers."

Sterling Chambers '34: "An excellent idea."

Peggy Yeamans '35: "Sure, then I'd get out of some classes."

Amelia Fisher '35: "I certainly would. That's just what this college needs."

OPEN FORUM

Student opinion on current campus affairs is welcomed in this column. The editor reserves the right to shorten when necessary. Address: The Flat Hat, or put in Ewell Hall box.

Editor of the Flat Hat

Dear Sir:

For some time I've wanted to write an Open Forum letter about this particular subject, and I'm at last getting around to it.

I absolutely think that a candidate for a student government office should have definitely good scholarship. Such a requirement for an office like this is extremely desirable, and more than that, should be required for eligibility. Nothing is worse than to know that student body has for mouthpieces fellow students who can't get along themselves, let alone shoulder responsibilities for anyone else. In order to be a candidate for membership in any other society that really means anything, there is a definite scholarship requirement, and it seems disgraceful and negligent that our joint student government association has no such requirement. Naturally there will be plenty of people who will disagree with my viewpoint, but that's how I stand on the situation, anyhow.

William and Mary

The WINGS of William and Mary hovered over another campus during the past week, when pilots of the Department of Aeronautics flew the William and Mary fencing team to Chapel Hill, N. C., for an intercollegiate meet. This is one of the first cross country formation flights that the college planes have made, and it is the forerunner of a number of others.

Cross country flying is a part of the training of advanced flight students and it affords them practical experience in aerial navigation, as well as a departure from the routine of fledgling work about the home port. A number of trips are planned for this month and the month following. The flyers will plan and follow their own courses to various destinations.

The first cross country hop is somewhat analogous to the advanced student with the first solo flight of the dual instruction fledgling. It affords an opportunity to experience the uncertainties of map flying and to use the airplane compass as a practical instrument. There is an excitement that attends the student pilot's first opportunity to prove his ability at map reading and course plotting.

Student acrobatics will continue with the long awaited arrival of good flying weather. It is difficult for the outsider to comprehend the purpose of what seems to him to be a reckless defiance of the laws of safety. Stunt flying, however, is an important, nay, an essential part of all air learning. The novice must become accustomed to strange sudden reversals of his plane's speed and position. He must learn to maintain calm clearheadedness in the rapid, dizzy whirling of the spin. He must know how to reverse controls in an up-side-down position, and how to restore the aircraft to a normal keel with a minimum loss of altitude.

Acrobatic flying is one of the most effective methods of training the individual to match the speed of thought with action—a thing essential to all flying. There is no exhibitionism connected with student stunting, and the work requires too much concentration to allow a fledgling to think of "showing off" until he has thoroughly acquired the art of flying in abnormal positions. By that time it is no longer necessary for him to stunt and his aerial education moves into more advanced stages.

Dear Sir:

I am interested to know if there is an Appointment Bureau in connection with the College.

When one comes to the second half of his Senior year in College it is time for him to have some idea of what the next year holds in store for him. I wonder how many of the present Seniors know what they will be doing next September. I wonder how many of the present Seniors have thought of fellowships in graduate work at other institutions, or how many have gotten the consent of their professors to use their names for reference.

The Education students are provided for by the Bureau of Recommendations, but what about those who are not students in Education,

It seems that there should be a Bureau for the guidance of students who are about to graduate. Is there one? If so, why isn't it functioning?

A SENIOR.

CAMPUSED

Ninety per cent of the men at the University of Oregon said they would marry a 60-year-old woman if she had a million dollars.

4,013 co-eds at the University of Southern California spent the tidy little sum of $2,429,310 for finery and odds and ends.

Why certainly!

A fraternity at the University of Missouri pledged forty men at the beginning of the semester but lost the list of the prospective brothers and is still on a hunt for the pledges. Probably one of the leading frats.

Fraternity pledges in Vienna must learn to duel before they can be initiated.

At the end of each semester at Coe College of Iowa, a "Flunkers' Frolic" is given for those students who have busted out of school. The dance is given as a good-will send-off and is one of the most popular dances of the entire year.

An election at Purdue was declared invalid when 130 freshmen cast 182 votes.

A fraternity at the University of Denver received a cleaning bill of $44.50 after they had broken up a sorority dance through the somewhat convincing medium of stink bombs.

According to the records in the Boston Police Dept., co-eds at Boston cause twice as much trouble as the males. Remember the Hotel Bellevue dance, Charlie?

Seventy-five bad checks are passed every day according to a survey conducted at the University of Missouri.

The direction of the College Players at the University of Dayton is a man who hails to the handle of Frankenstein.

At the University of Alabama, a student received thirteen B's and one F, the latter being received in the course, "How to Study."

Just a couple of opposites.

A senior co-ed at Iowa State Teachers College is earning her way thru college as a bus-driver while a masculine member of Montana State college gets through college by selling cakes he has baked himself, his angel food having won a prize in local competition.

Two co-eds at Allegheny College were punished because of walking to and from church with male escorts.

According to an instructor of psychology at Detroit College: "College students might as well be given hot dogs as diplomas when they graduate from college, for at least they could eat the hot dogs, but they can do nothing with diplomas."

At Indiana U., students are publicly corrected for the use of slang in the classroom and at social gatherings in an effort to induce correct English speech.

Jean Harlow of the movies likes to have college students interview her because they always seem to get a "kick" out of meeting her.

Twenty-five dollars was recently offered by the senior class at Notre Dame in a contest to determine the ugliest man in the institution.

Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, admitted that as a youth, his highest ambition was to be a poker player.

In order to determine whether or not athletics are necessary in a college, St. Francis College is not going to have any for a year.

Says the dean of Lehigh to Brown University students: "College spirit and loyalty stuff are pure and unadulterated hokum. Athletes go out for teams primarily for publicity and personal ambition."

The Y. M. C. A. of the University of Oregon recently sponsored a drive headed by the slogan of "Buy a Donut" in order to raise money for the Senior Ball. 575 dozen "donuts" were sold on the campus.

Somebody almost slipped over a fast one at the University of Utah.

The president of the student body issued a decree that the wearing of corsages would not be permitted at social functions at that institution. The co-eds of the school protested and obtained an injunction against the action of the president and finally defeated his motion.

The William and Mary President of the Student Body wouldn't be in sympathy with the Utah head either, it would seem.

(NSFA)—The St. John's Torch prints the sad news that at the University of Omaha, the registrar's office ran out of failure notices at the mid-semester exams.

Swarthmore, Pa. (NFSA)—Curtalement of sorority activities among the women students of Swarthmore College for a period of one year was announced recently by the advisory committee considering the situation. The committee reported that the proposal had been enthusiastically accepted by both sorority and non-sorority women in the college.

Long-standing complaints that social activities among the women students were limited almost entirely to sorority members has resulted in the decision, it was said. During a trial period of one year, starting next September, no new members will be admitted to the sororities. Social activities will be limited during the year to one dance for each of the seven sororities instead of two each as had been the custom heretofore.

The committee explained that the provision not to admit new members was based on the sentiment of the women in a poll taken just last month, in which a majority seemed to favor exclusion of sorority membership. In addition, it was said that a period of "rushing" new members, followed by a series of initiations, would defeat the purpose of the new social plan.

ALUMNI OFFICE PREPARES SKETCH OF WREN'S LIFE

1932 Marks the Tercentennial of the Birth of Sir Christopher Wren, Designer of the Early College Buildings.

So many of our readers and alumni are interested in Sir Christopher Wren on account of his connection with "The College" of William and Mary. Since this is his tercentennial year the alumni office has prepared the following sketch:

Sir Christopher Wren (1632-1723) English architect, son of a clergyman, was born at East Knoyle, Wiltshire, October 20, 1632; he entered Wadham College, Oxford, in 1646, took his degree in 1650 and in 1653 was made a fellow of All Souls. While at Oxford, Wren distinguished himself in geometry and applied mathematics, and Newton in his Principia speaks very highly of his work as a geometer. In 1657 he became professor of astronomy at Gresham College and in 1660 was elected Savilian professor of astronomy at Gresham College, at Oxford. It was as an architect that Wren is best known. King Charles II asked Wren to prepare a plan for the restoration of old St. Paul's. In September, 1666, the year of the great fire in London, St. Paul's was completely gutted. From 1668 to 1670 attempts were made to restore the main building. Dean Sancroft who was anxious to have it wholly rebuilt asked Wren to prepare a design for an entirely new church.

Wren's earlier designs have the exterior of the church arranged with one order of columns; the division of the whole height into two columns an immense gain in increasing the apparent scale of the whole, and makes the exterior of St. Paul's very superior to that of St. Peter's in Rome, which is utterly dwarfed by the colossal size of the columns and pilasters of its single order. The present dome and the drum on which it stands, masterpieces of graceful lines and harmonious proportions were very important alterations from the earlier scheme. As a scientific engineer and practical architect Wren was the most renowned of his age. The first stone of the new St. Paul's was laid June 21, 1675 and the last stone of the cathedral was set in 1710.

Wren also designed a colonnade to enclose a large piazza forming a clear space around the church, similar to Bernini's colonnade in front of St. Peter's, but space in the city was too valuable to do this.

After the destruction of the city of London Wren was employed to make designs for rebuilding its fifty burnt churches and he also prepared a scheme for laying out the whole city on a new plan, with a series of wide streets radiating from a central space. The ownership of surrounding property, however, prevented this.

Among Wren's churches are St. Michael's, Cornhill; St. Bride's, Fleet Street; and St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheap-side, the latter remarkable for its graceful spire. He also built the Custom House, the Royal Exchange, Marlborough House, Buckingham House and the Hall of the College of Physicians, the Sheldonian Theatre, the Ashmolean Museum, the Tom Tower of Christ Church and Queen's College Chapel and the hospitals of Abney are usually attributed to Wren, Greenwich and Chelsea, the last of which is very similar to that of the College of William and Mary.

The western towers of Westminster Abbey are usually attributed to Wren. but they were not carried out until 1735-45, many years after Wren's death. He was in parliament for many years, representing Plympton from 1685, Windsor 1689 and Weymouth from 1700. He was knighted in 1673 and was elected president of the Royal Society in 1688. He was the Surveyor General for fifty years but by a shameful cabal was dismissed from this office a few years before his death. He died at Hampton Court, Berkshire, February 26, 1723, and is buried under the choir of St. Paul's; on a tablet over the inner north doorway is the well-known epitaph—

TO THE PARENTS AND FRIENDS OF THE SENIOR CLASS:

This is the time when parents and members of your family are planning to present as suitable graduation gift to those receiving their degrees from the ancient College of William and Mary.

May I suggest a very appropriate gift that will be greatly appreciated and one that will enhance in value as the years go by—

A LIFE MEMBERSHIP IN THE WILLIAM AND MARY COLLEGE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

This is a beautifully engraved certificate with the three oldest college buildings in America thereon, with the new seal and colors of William and Mary. The graduates no doubt will want to have this framed and hung on the walls of their home with their very attractive, worthwhile gift and diploma. The Life Certificate makes will be presented by Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of the College, with their degree in June. This, with the diploma, constitutes a double tie to Alma Mater and brings back the pleasant memories of colleg days that linger throughout the years.

The Life Memberships are $25 payable between now and June 13th or may be received on the partial payment plan of $5 a month. We are very anxious for every family of the graduates to avail itself of this opportunity of presenting this beautiful token of the College which serves as a fitting memorial to four years of faithful and conscientious service.

We are making a special effort to enlist the entire Senior Class in our Life Membership Roll Call and won't you help us make it 100 per cent? With best wishes and heartiest congratulations, I remain Very cordially,
 Executive Secretary

SPIDERS PRESENT A STRONG TEAM IN HOPE OF VICTORY

Vermont, 7-6. Although no line-up or battery has as yet been released, it is probable that Lefty White will pitch against the Spiders; Lefty pitched against the Richmond team both games last season and had little difficulty in overcoming them. This time, Lefty claims that he shan't have much more trouble.

The Bridgewater team, which, after being beaten by the Redskins 2-1, turned around and administered a 7-0 shutout to us last year, will present a strong squad despite the fact that they have lost to the University of Vermont.

The second Bridgewater game is the first of a series of games which shall constitute the first long trip of the Tricolor squad.

The smoke you like... is the smoke she likes for you!

"I like to see a man smoke a pipe!"
 You've heard your own girl say it, perhaps. You're sure to hear it wherever girls get together.

There is something satisfying about a pipe. It's a slow, reflective, hard-thinking smoke—or a calm, relaxing, restful smoke. The hunter's smoke, the fisherman's smoke, the engineer's smoke—a man's smoke, through and through.

And pipe smokers who know their fine tobaccos tell you there's no blend quite like the fine selected burleys of Edgeworth—the favorite tobacco in 42 out of 50 leading colleges.

Do try Edgeworth. Perhaps you will like it as well as most men seem to. Edgeworth is at your dealer's. Or send for free sample if you wish. Address Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d Street, Richmond, Va.

Chalkley and Evelyn Kohlmorgan are the members of the cast of this play. With the exception of Miss Chalkley, all of the cast have been seen in previous plays on the campus.

Frost Takes Another Role "Pierrot's Mother" will be the third play of the group. This play is being directed by Virginia Bruce Haughwout, and has in its cast Charles Frost, Marion Banks and Margaret Herndon. Misses Banks and Herndon are making their first appearance with the Players.

The evening will be completed with the presentation of "Society Notes" by Diffy West. Garland Oliver is the director of this play. Gladys Monroe, Jack Hillier, Ruth Cobbett, Ann Price, Douglas Hubbard and Arthur Kelley are the members of the cast.

The group of plays that was shown on last evening was evidently greatly enjoyed by the large audience that attended. The three plays given were all well done, and reflected great credit upon their directors. The acting was fairly good, the chief fault being weakness on the lines. Due credit goes to the stage crew, under the direction of Garland Oliver, stage manager, for well planned sets and quick changes between plays.
