Late News Flashes

Green Refuses Ouster

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—William Green's refusal to accept expulsion from the United Mine Workers brought his battle with John L. Lewis over methods of organizing labor to a new peak today. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, called the action of the union policy committee "rightism." It had voted to oust him on the grounds he betrayed labor in declaring the General Motors strike settlement was surrendered by Lewis, mine union head.

Japanese Storm Toll 132

Tokyo, Feb. 16.—(AP)—A blinding snowstorm raging across the north of Japan was believed today to have killed at least 132 persons and injured countless others.

Another Island "Incident"

Honolulu, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Police Captain Don Hayes said today he "expected to have a statement soon" concerning the report by a U. S. Navy officer's wife that she was dragged 70 feet across an open yard into a garage and criminally assaulted. A physician's statement that two examinations indicated she had not been attacked added a baffling angle to the story told by Mrs. Bennett S. Copping, 24—an account in some respects resembling Honolulu's Island-rocking Massie case.

Would Bar Marriages Under 16

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 16.—(AP)—A bill to prevent child marriages was before the Maryland Legislature today. A measure, introduced by Delegate Arthur G. Culler, would not permit the marriage of a girl under 16 "under any circumstances."

Mussolini Starts Construction

Rome, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini swung a pick high over his head today and buried its point deep into the pavement of Piazza Bocca Verita to inaugurate construction of Italy's first subway. Streamline trains are expected to start service four years from now, serving the thousands of visitors Rome hopes to attract at that time for its World Exposition.

Spanish Defenses Stronger

Madrid, Spain, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The centralized defense command claimed fresh advances today in the struggle with insurgent forces in the Guadarrama Mountain sector, about 45 miles north of the capital. Relative tranquility settled over the city's battle fronts as the government claimed a general offensive had been nipped.

Glacier Menaces Home

Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 16.—(AP)—All the bombs and dynamite in America, if dropped on the house-menacing Black Rapids Glacier, would be "as an attack by fireflies," a scientist said today. That's how big and irresistible is the 3000 foot thick mass nearing the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Revel—who have packed their things ready to move out.

Democrats Honor Farley

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Praise from President Roosevelt, a turnout of 1,700 admirers and an unexpected kiss brought momentary blushes to James A. Farley's round face, but left him today with memories of an unusual testimonial. Democrats at odds over the Administration Court problem, all sat together at the Mayflower Hotel for dinner last night in tribute to "Jim." To cheers Mr. Roosevelt listed as attributes of Farley public service, loyalty, honor, decency, good temper, courage and a sense of humor.

Felons Free Hostages

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 16.—(AP)—Seven long-term felons, who broke out of the Carolina Prison Farm, drove more than 200 miles in three stolen automobiles and last night freed three hostages unharmed in mid-Carolina, continued today to elude capture in a race of humming motors. Covies of the State Highway Patrolmen, augmented by airplanes from Raleigh and Newbern apparently lost trace of the seven.

FINE ARTS BUILDING OPENING DATE SET FOR FEBRUARY 26

Reception, Surrealist Ball, and Movie Will be Featured for the Opening of New Building.

Invitations for the opening of the new building of the Fine Arts Department of the College of William and Mary have been sent out, and work is being rushed to completion for the reception on the night of February 26. The Department is busy planning a week-end of events, which will include a Surrealist Ball, an exhibition of modern sculpture and a motion picture program, in addition to the reception which will mark the formal opening of the building.

Completely rebuilt and one of the most unusual buildings in the State, the structure, erected in 1933,—used first as a dormitory and then as the Administration headquarters for the College, the recent renovations have rendered the edifice completely modern, offering unusual facilities for the study of the Arts. One of the most unusual features is a library, functional in its design, located on the second floor, where books on Fine Arts may be read in an atmosphere unlike the usual library and more like that of a home.

A two-story fountain, backed by modeled reliefs, runs up the stairwell, enclosed in glass, indirectly lighted, and ornamented with growing plants on various levels, is another of the unusual features of the building. All lighting is indirect, ceiling panels of white rayon being used in the library, while the lighting of the stairways is by lights concealed beneath the hand rails.

Motion pictures and slides will be utilized to a maximum in the work of the Department, a specially-built projection booth and theatre being on the (Continued on page 5)

U. of Toledo Has Surrealist Ball

Toledo, O., Feb. 16.—(A.C.P.)—Students at the University of Toledo are in a huddle trying to dope out the answers to the strange costumes members of the Fine Arts club were wearing at their novel surrealist ball. The garbs represented thoughts of their subconscious minds.

One young lady who wore a bird cage over her head and a green tennis net around her body and who held a stuffed fish in her hand had the fellows wondering for a while. The man who carried a bottle from which flowed a blooming carrot was tagged "the spirit of poetry."

And the coed who carried a full bag of shoes on her head was interpreted as "the social climber" or "the elevation of a heel." But the woman who had everybody guessing wore an isinglass headdress, upon which was balanced a vase and some clothespins.

The puzzlers didn't arrive at any definite conclusions, but they knew it didn't signify Monday morning.

OPERETTA MUSIC BY W-M SYMPHONY

The William and Mary Symphony Orchestra has been reorganized this year. Twelve members including outstanding players from the various sections have been selected to play for the performances of the "Gondoliers", by Gilbert and Sullivan on March 4th and 5th.

The orchestra under the direction of Elliot Macklowitz, a student here, will open the performances with the "Overture to the Gondoliers." It will accompany the cast throughout the performance.

The orchestra has been working on the music for several weeks and has been rehearsing with the cast in Phi Beta Kappa Hall for over a week. Macklowitz first took each player individually, then rehearsed the strings and the woodwinds and brasses separately.

The personnel of the orchestra includes: violins, Seymour Waxman, concert master, Edith Polk, Howard Calish; violincellos, Marietta Butler, Helen Beard; flute, Elliot Macklowitz; clarinet, Dinges; trumpets, John Tinsley, Robert Fricke; trombone, Robert Marks; percussion, Horace Miller; accompanists, Barbara Sweet and Helen Wallace. Robert Fricke, a transfer from Purdue University, has recently joined the orchestra.

Frederick Eidsness who is assisting Mr. Small in directing the cast conducts the orchestra during rehearsals with the cast.

Malvina Hoffman Movie Slated For March Showing at Theatre

By LOUISE MOORE

Richmond again claims an artistic scoop of supreme importance with its announcement of the most comprehensive exhibit ever held of the work of America's greatest sculptor, Malvina Hoffman. And Williamsburg has the good fortune to look into the pre-natal period of several of these brain children, through the medium of the motion picture. Miss Hoffman has had the foresight to film many of her rich and varied experiences as an artist, and these are to be presented in the Williamsburg theatre early in March.

The glamour of Malvina Hoffman's life begins with her parents. Her mother tossed hide-bound conventions to the winds and eloped with her piano teacher, Richard Hoffman, an English prodigy who, at the age of eighteen, had accompanied Jenny Lind on her first concert tour in this country. Young Malvina adored her father and took more delight in his companionship and in his music than she did in playing with children of her own age. Occasionally he took her to the opera

SPRING PLAY CAST INCLUDES MEYER, FIELDER, BILLET

"Trip to Scarborough" Features Cast of Twenty, Introduces New Actors in Production.

Miss Althea Hunt has announced the cast for A Trip to Scarborough, the next production of the William and Mary Players, which will be given on March 18 and 19. This cast, which is unusually large, includes twenty speaking roles.

The women's parts will be taken by: Margileth Meyer as Amanda; May Fielder as Berinthia; Janet Billet as Miss Hoyden; Dorothy Evans as Mrs. Coupler; Mary King Lee as the nurse; Dorothy Evans as the sempstress, and Frances Garrett as Amanda's maid.

The men in the cast are Carl Buffington as Lord Foppington; Nick Woodbridge as Young Fashion; Stuart Hall as Lovelace; Lester Wilson as Colonel Townley; Hiram Davis as Probe; John Sturges as Sir Tunbely Clumsy; Merritt Foster as Lory; John Sumner as La Varole; Tim Hansen as Postillon; Frank Damrosch as the Tailor; Philip Guibord as the Hosier; Bernard Rang as the Jeweller; and Herbert Cobb as the Shoemaker.

Of this number, only five have appeared in former eighteenth century productions of the Players. May Fielder and Carl Buffington were in The Jealous Wife in 1935 and The Lying Valet in 1936. Hiram Davis appeared in The Jealous Wife, and Nick Woodbridge in The Lying Valet. Janet Murray and Stuart Hall will be the assistants to the director. Cornelia Hoge is in charge of plans for the elaborate and authentic costumes demanded by this play.

and later played the famous arias so she might learn the words and music by heart. Thus she grew to depend upon music as a vital life-force.

As her father's health failed she felt she must do his portrait. Day and night she attended classes in oil-painting and in pastels, but the technique which she sought evaded her. Finally, after many lessons, she felt the need of working in three dimensions. Thus the desire for executing his portrait drove her to sculpture, and when it was finished both she and her father felt that sculpture was the medium through which she should find expression. Two weeks from the day on which his daughter completed his portrait Richard Hoffman died.

Three years later Miss Hoffman and her mother were on their way to Europe. After traveling for several months they arrived in Paris. Paris and Rodin! It was only after five fruitless efforts to see the great French sculptor that the American girl was admitted to his studio and accepted as his pupil. A great friendship grew up between the French master (Continued on page 5)

PROFESSOR RAND OF HARVARD TO LECTURE FRIDAY

Talk Will Be on Horace; Will Be Held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 O'clock.

Professor Edward Kennard Rand of Harvard University will lecture on Friday night of this week at eight o'clock in Phi Beta Kappa auditorium. His subject is "Horace's Sabine Farm." To this lecture all students of the college, members of the faculty and the administration, and holders of patrons' tickets are invited. The lecture will be illustrated with slides.

Any lecture upon the poet Horace is inevitably of the deepest interest to lovers of literature and to all who pretend to literary knowledge and understanding. The poetry of Horace has been the treasured possession of every age. The millennium of his birth, like that of Vergil, was celebrated not only in his native land of Italy, but in every country of Europe and in America as well. He is loved because of the charm of his polished yet delightfully human verse, his genial personality, and his sound yet appealing philosophy of life. Closely entwined with the poet's life and with the experiences and emotions that are given expression in his poetry was his farm in the Sabine mountains, "the weary bard's delight," as Byron calls it. In hearing of this, the poet's personality will become more real, being placed as it were in its most appropriate setting.

Professor Rand is peculiarly suited to talk upon Horace. He is one of the most entertaining lecturers in the scholarly world. His students agree that his classroom lectures are works of art. Whenever he gives a public lecture in Emerson Hall on Vergil or Horace or Ovid, one has to go early in order to get even standing room. The great distinction of Professor Rand's speaking is due to his rare combination of learning, humor, and urbanity. Though he is unsurpassed in classical and medieval Latin scholarship, his knowledge and talents are field. He is an ardent lover of music, by no means limited to his special trained theologian, a skillful amateur photographer, a genial humorist, an adventurous traveller. He is not a gardener; but he sometimes astonishes garden enthusiasts with his canny observations about plants and seasons. If you press him, he will admit that he is filching information from Vergil.

The learned world owes to Professor Rand several monumental works on the manuscripts of Tours. The general (Continued on page 6)

Uninvited Guests Overrun U. M. House

Ann Arbor, Mich. Feb. 16.—(A.C.P.)—"That letter ought to get them," is the attitude of a "Bewildered Greek" at the University of Michigan.

When rival fraternity men attempted to appropriate the house of his brethren, he wrote an open letter of protest in the Michigan Daily. This is a nutshell of it: "Members of a rival fraternity have overrun our chapter house. You can't go downstairs in the evening without tripping over several of them. They constantly invite themselves over for meals in spite of a frigid reception. In answer to our earnest queries they blandly state that they enjoy our meals. What can we do in the face of such compliments? It seems as if those fellows just can't take a hint.

"Tonight was the last straw. Several of these rival Greeks asked me if I would leave my room so they could study in privacy!"

Tickets Will Be Sold in College Shop From 6:30 Until 8 Each Night and Friday Afternoon.

DECORATIONS TO BE WHITE

False Ceiling, Pillars, Balcony, Bandstand, Decorations to Carry Out White Motif.

Tickets for the formal dance Friday night will be on sale in the College Shop Tuesday through Thursday nights, 6.30 to 8 p. m. and on Friday afternoon, 4 to 6. They will be available at the door after 10 p. m. Prices are $2.00 for stags, $2.50 for couples.

The decorations of Blow Gymnasium will carry out a motif of white, announced James Keillor, president's aide in charge of decorations, to contrast with the black and white scheme of men's formal wear and the women's colorful gowns. Eight pillars of white will support a false ceiling, also of white, through which will be diffused the light of overhead floods. The first balcony will be extensively decorated in a scheme of white. According to custom, the "13" Club will provide a booth on the lower floor for its members. The same organization is planning a figure, as in previous formal dances, according to Blake T. Newton.

Music will be provided by Johnny Long's Duke Collegians, as formerly announced, from 10 until 2:30. Long's orchestra has played extensively at Southern college dances, and at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, before beginning its present protracted engagement at the Hotel John Marshall in Richmond. It features a "Goodman swing trio" and music according to the style of Hal Kemp. The bandstand will be located at the end of the floor and amplifiers will assure good sound distribution.

The dance program includes an intermission from 12 midnight until 12:45, during which time a dinner will be served in the College Refectory for those attending. In the event of bad weather, Mr. Charles Duke has announced that transportation will be provided by the college to and from the Refectory.

This dance, the year's first formal one, inaugurates a projected series under the sponsorship of the president's aides, according to Blake T. Newton, chief aide. If it proves successful, the aides plan to sponsor one formal dance each month. The low price has been set in order to encourage as large an attendance as possible, and the dinner at midnight has been included in the price as an added attraction. When tried before, it proved highly successful, Newton said.

Stoehr Appointed Dramatics Manager

Konrad Stoehr has been appointed the new business manager of the William and Mary Players and the campus events of the theatre. This appointment was made necessary by the departure of Robert McClure, who has gone to Buffalo, New York, for the remainder of the semester. Arthur Hanson, as the new publicity manager of the campus productions, will work with Stoehr.

The business staff wishes to announce that, because the operetta will be given on Thursday and Friday, instead of on Wednesday and Thursday, it will be necessary for the patrons who have reserved seats to make another choice of night on which the seat is to be reserved. No change of seat will be necessary.

Season tickets for the second semester are now available. These tickets will include the operetta, two plays, and the five Sunday movies, which will be given this semester. The prices for these tickets are as follows: for college members, $1.50 for reserved seats and $1.00 for general admission; for residents of Williamsburg, $3.00 for town tickets.

"Gone With the Wind" Reviewed By Clark for Literary Group

By MOLLY WATERS

Mr. Glenwood Clark reviewed Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind" at the regular meeting of the J. Lessie Hall Literary Society on Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

In speaking of the tremendous popularity of the current best seller, Mr. Clark stressed the timeliness of the novel as one of the chief causes of its success. The years of the Civil War and the Reconstruction have a great similarity to the crisis of the years 1929-1937. In both periods old forms of society have given way to new social and political orders.

The novelty of the book in its relatively unbiased points of view is another factor in its popularity. According to Mr. Clark hundreds of books concerning the same period have been written, but "Gone With the Wind" is the first to recognize and present the weaknesses and deficiencies of a previously idealized social order. Neither does this book present any actual scenes of battle; rather, the presentation is a subjective one and is seen through the feelings of the characters.

Mr. Clark greatly stressed the excellent character drawing accomplished by Miss Mitchell. He briefly sketched the natures of the four main characters; Scarlett, Melanie, Ashley Wilkes, and Rhett Butler. In minor characters as well as in the principal ones, Miss Mitchell has done a faithful and consistent piece of work.

"The whole novel," said Mr. Clark, "is a lesson in idealism." However, the idealism as seen in each of the main characters is a disastrous and erroneous one. Scarlett O'Hara, heroine of the novel, was a daughter of a fiery-tempered, resolute Irish father and a gentle, aristocratic mother, whose disappointment in an earlier love affair molded her whole character. Scarlett's nature may be seen as a combination of those of her parents. The key to her character is unqualified selfishness, which enables her to stoop to the lowest methods to accomplish her purpose. Such a means of facing a crisis, said Mr. Clark, is an unfruitful and useless method. The fate of Scarlett O'Hara demonstrates the need of a higher type of idealism.

Melanie Wilkes comes nearest to achieving perfect happiness. Her unswerving loyalty and unselfishness make her an attractive and lovable person. But her loyalty to the past and her tenacious hold on vanishing ideals make her type of idealism less perfect.

Ashley Wilkes, the weakest character of the four, has so steeped himself in the culture and life of the pre-war period that he finds himself unable to cope with changing situations. His life was swept from him by the war and Reconstruction Period, and he found it impossible to develop for himself a new code of living.

Rhett Butler, the most romantic and magnetic of the four, illustrates the following of an ideal contrary to his intrinsic nature. In reality he loved the culture and standards of the old South; but because its society erroneously condemned him for a sin of which he was not guilty, he determined to turn his back on all he had previously cherished. Throughout the book he is wearing a mask of pretense until, in the end when his real nature might have brought happiness to himself and Scarlett, he finds that his assumed character has become fixed.

Each of these persons is a lesson to modern readers in idealism. In a period when an idealism must be developed and adhered to, the book has a tremendous appeal. The selfish, egotistical nature of Scarlett will not work in a changing world; the loyalty to things past seen in Melanie is detrimental to progress; the inability to create for oneself a nature to meet critical situations and new orders will be as fatal to modern civilization as it was to Ashley Wilkes; and the pretension and assumption of a false idealism will bring no more happiness to us than it did to Rhett Butler. Miss Mitchell, said Mr. Clark, has given to her readers a marvelous lesson to be applied in a time similar to the period which she portrays, a lesson in idealism to meet changing times.

KKG FELLOWSHIPS OPEN TO CO-EDS

Applications are in order for the $1500 in graduate fellowships annually awarded by Kappa Kappa Gamma women's fraternity.

Divided into three $500 fellowships, awards are open to any woman, irrespective of fraternity or non-fraternity membership, who has or will have a degree by July 1 from any one of the 72 American and Canadian colleges and universities in which Kappa chapters are located.

Selection is made upon scholarship, leadership, and a definitely planned purpose in graduate study. It is designated customarily to the fields of science, art, and human relations.

A non-fraternity winner for 1936, working for a degree in medicine, is Dorothy Horstman, student at the University of California, Berkeley, from which she graduated last year.

The two other 1936 fellows are Ruth Stauffer, student at Radcliffe college, Cambridge, Massachusetts and Agnes Darrow, attending Columbia University in New York City. Both are working toward Ph. D. degrees in English.

Fellowship winners will be announced shortly after July 1.

Application blanks should be obtained at once from the office of the Dean of Women. They should be mailed before March 25 to Mrs. Robert George, Box 957, Minot, North Dakota.

Theta Chi Delta To Hold Contest

Announcement of the First Annual Chemistry Contest for students of Virginia high schools has been made by the Department of Chemistry of the College of William and Mary.

Sponsored by the Alpha Theta Chapter of Theta Chi Delta, national chemical fraternity, the contest will offer both scholarships and prizes to winners of a competitive examination on chemistry as taught in high schools of the state.

By April 15th each school desiring to enter the contest must send the names of those students desiring to take the examination, together with the registration fees, to the contest chairman, Mr. J. E. Hocutt, Box 381, Williamsburg, Virginia, from whom further information concerning the contest may also be obtained.

On the Disks

Tops in swing music! . . . that's what we'd give Tommy Dorsey on his recording of our old friend Rubinstein's "Melody in F" . . . now, there's some music! . . . it's got practically everything. . . . arranged by a Mr. Carmen Mastren, who picks on the Dorsey aggregation's guitar, it's something which would cause the old maestro of our piano practicing days to turn over in his grave,—but it will make you forget to turn the vic off, we'll bet! . . . on the opposite side is another one of these old timers, "Who'll Buy My Violins" . . . arrangement by the Dorsey himself. . . . on Victor 25519, this is a record to head anyone's collection. . . . words fail. . . .

Have you heard "This Year's Kisses"? . . . Benny Goodman and his chubby songster Margaret McCrae do it for Victor on 25505 (and Shep Fields makes a nice Bluebird out of it too!) . . . it's one of those tunes from the Fox film "On the Avenue", and perhaps nothing more need be said than that Irving Berlin wrote the music. . . . it's headed for something. . . . on the other side James Rushing s'pping in a new one on us, eh, gives the vocal to "He Ain't Got Rhythm".

Ray Noble picks up another song from "On the Avenue" . . . "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm" . . . it's nice sweet music with that touch of Noble heat and a vocal by Howard Barrie. . . . now although many a Park Avenue deb hasn't much else to keep her warm, this kind of love would do it. . . . backed up by "Slamming on Park Avenue", it's on Victor 25507. . . . Now that Ray is back on the Victor payroll for good, we hope, this is gonna look like a nice year.

PAPOOSE NATATORS LOSE TO VIRGINIA

Cavalier Yearlings Sweep All Firsts in 64-11 Rout.

University of Virginia's yearling swimmers swept first place in every event last Friday and swamped William and Mary's freshmen natators, 62-11.

Rosemond, Messerole, Purtil and Brockett scored single-pointers for William and Mary in the individual events.

John Tinsley, freshman diver, was unable to take part in the meet and the baby Chandlermen had no entries in the diving. The freshmen meet Fort Monroe there tomorrow afternoon.

Methodist Vesper Offers M-W Chorus

The second five o'clock Vesper Service in a series of six during Lent will be held at the Methodist Church next Sunday and will present the Matthew Whaley Chorus of one hundred voices in sacred selections as the special music of the day.

Miss Harriett Bozarth, director of the chorus, announced today that the group would offer special arrangements of music by the famous English composers Joseph Barnby and John B. Dykes, and of Dvorak's "Humoresque". The visiting chorus will occupy the balcony and contribute their part to the newly inaugurated Five O'clock Service from that position. Lloyd Williams will play a violin solo during the musical portion of the second twilight song and prayer service. Rev. Thomas Hawkins will continue his series of ten minute talks on "The Cross."

Speakers Included In Lenten Program

The program of Lenten Services now being followed by Bruton Parish will include a service of meditation every Friday afternoon at five o'clock and a guest speaker every Tuesday evening at eight o'clock for the duration of Lent. Among the speakers will be the Rt. Rev. Warren L. Rogers, D. D., Bishop of Ohio, who will speak this evening; Rev. Henry Sloan Coffin, D. D., of the Union Theological Seminary in New York, who will speak on February 23; Rev. W. Russell Bowie, D. D., rector of Grace Church, New York, who will speak on March 2; Rev. Ernest A. deBordenave, (W. & M. '32) assistant at St. Paul's in Richmond, speaker on March 9; and Rev. Beverley M. Boyd, of Grace and Holy Trinity Church in Richmond, who will speak on March 16.

Barbara Stanwyck says: "Luckies make a hit with my throat"

"When talking pictures arrived, my stage experience on Broadway gave me my chance on the screen. Taking care of my throat became serious business with me, so I changed to Luckies—a light smoke. Of course I smoke other cigarettes now and then but sooner or later I come back to Luckies. They make a hit with my throat and also with my taste."

"THE PLOUGH AND THE STARS"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Stanwyck verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

LUSARDI IS STAR AS FRESHMEN QUINTET UPSETS BENEDICTINE

Papoose Cagers Also Win Over South Norfolk High; Lose To Norfolk Division.

PLAY SPIDERS TOMORROW

William and Mary's freshmen cagers showed a sudden spurt this week when they defeated South Norfolk high school, 35-20 and then upset Benedictine, of Richmond, 37-34, but apparently prosperity was too much for them. Norfolk Division stopped their "streak" Saturday night, 35-29.

The South Norfolk game was a dull affair in which the Papooses were never in danger. The Indians built up a substantial lead in the first half, and substitutes played most of the second period. Lusardi led the field in scoring with eight points as the Frosh won their first victory of the season.

In the Benedictine game the young Indians played for the first time this year the brand of basketball of which they are capable. The game was a tense one for spectators as the Papooses changed what was supposed to be a one-sided affair into a close battle. Having better cooperation, and the ability to act as a unit, the Indians checked every Benedictine threat with an ever strengthening defense.

Frank Cuseo, with a brilliant show of defensive play, and Vince Lusardi, with an eagle eye for finding the basket, were the potent factors in the Indian victory. Lusardi scored 12 points, while Cuseo, who had seen only part time service before, was a constant threat with his ball snatching. Brosnan led the Benedictine scoring with 13 points, while Kleim and Goldstein rang up six each.

Saturday night, however, the Division team proved too much for the Frosh, and they gave way 35-29. The Indians stayed within striking distance throughout the game but could not overcome the Division lead. The score at the half stood Norfolk Division 19, William and Mary 12.

Heinz led the Frosh with 15 points while Barnes Edmonds, and Bevins each chalked up seven for the Division.

SOUTH NORFOLK GAME WILLIAM AND MARY: Lusardi 8, Heinz 7, Cuseo 4, Fowler 4, Legg 4, Willoughby 2, Major 2, Barry 3, Altenburg 2.

SOUTH NORFOLK: Flora 1, Barnes 6, Mays 6, Boyce 2, Harrell 4, Wallace 1.

BENEDICTINE GAME WILLIAM AND MARY: Lusardi 12, Fowler 11, Cuseo 4, Heinz 5, Altenberg 3, Geddes 2.

BENEDICTINE: Brosnan 13, Keim 6, Goldstein 6, Duffy 2, Pruett 3, Stumph 4.

FOWLER IS LEADING FRESHMAN SCORING

Norfolk Boy Has 47 Points In Seven Games; Heinz Next.

Vance Fowler, the former Maury high flash, is leading all William and Mary freshmen basketball scorers with 47 points, according to figures compiled through last Saturday's game.

Taken on a basis of games played, however, Vince Lusardi, eagle-eyed forward from Cranford, N. J., tops Fowler in average points per game. Lusardi has amassed 34 points in four games, he having missed three of the seven games played.

Howard Heinz, the Chicago boy who led all scorers in the inter-fraternity basketball, is close on Fowler's heels with 42 points.

Table with columns: PLAYER, G, FG, TP. Lists scores for Fowler, Heinz, Lusardi, Geddes, Altenburg, Cuseo, Willoughby, Hall, Legg, Barry, Major, and Totals.

INDIAN POW-WOW

By SPIKE MOORE

I DON'T KNOW WHETHER to feel flattered or go ride a bicycle. I think I'll just feel flattered; it's much nicer than engaging in such prosaic pastimes as riding bicycles. You see, word was passed on to me last week that the Women's Athletic Department became just a little indignant when it read what I said about their freshman basketball team.

Didn't I tell you that hell hath no fury like a woman scorned? They tell me that Jefferson Gymnasium shook from top to bottom when the Athletic Department learned of my disparaging piece on girl's basketball. Yessir, that's what they say. Me, I don't know. I make it a point to avoid such places until at least four days after the current issue is released.

But I'm flattered. They read this stuff. Maybe they were just slumming the day they read about how a Class C high school could whip the socks off their freshman basketball team, but they read it. And, what's more, they almost convinced me that I didn't know what I was talking about.

It seems that what little of the freshman game I saw was played by third string players—a point which still has me groping around for the proper come-back. But I still find solace in the fact that I'm positive that one of the freshmen women I saw play that afternoon was playing with the varsity last Saturday against Notre Dame.

Still, though, that third string stuff has me momentarily cornered. I reserve the right to reserve final judgment until after the next freshman game. Nothing yet retracted, you understand. Just hoisting the white flag for the time being.

BORROWING A FEW OF EDDIE BREITZ'S dots and dashes: Stan Kamen, who is a better varsity basketball man than he has shown this season, has a brother playing first-string guard for Fordham. . . . Bruce Oliver, Randolph-Macon's crack center, is a brother of Larry Oliver, who will be out there throwing 'em and ducking 'em for the Indian nine this spring. . . . Ruth Ann Holzmueller, forward on the girl's varsity basketball team, has a brother playing center for Milford high, in Delaware. . . . Al Hicks, who would have made a fine second-baseman for the freshman ball club this year, did not return to school this semester because of an appendicitis operation. . . . Bill Chalko, who quarterbacked William and Mary's football team several years ago, is back in school this semester. . . . as is Stumpy Bryant, whose kicking two years ago was acclaimed among the South's best. . . . Wilder Tasker, an ex-William and Mary football coach, has had his contract renewed as Rutgers coach. . . . Tommy Dowler recently received a postal card from Baltimore addressed to the coach of the "Men's" Basketball Team. . . . The anonymous writer invited William and Mary's team up for a tiff with the Old Ladies Society. . . . Harry Paxson, South Norfolk high school coach, and Les Parsons, Hopewell high school coach, both are William and Mary men and both brought teams here recently to play our freshmen. . . . Bud Metheny was telling the other day how he had gone up to Culpeper and brought back Rosy Waugh, freshman pitching sensation who did not return to school this year. . . . But where's Waugh? . . . Lou Plummer, ex-Indian track man now teaching at Hampton, plans to start dancing classes with himself as the instructor. . . . Louis Tobias, sports editor of the Richmond University "Collegian", should be able to back up any nasty cracks he may make in his weekly sports column—he's a heavyweight boxer on the Richmond ring team. . . . It is reported that Limpy White, a star Hampden-Sydney athlete and the boy who raced 50 yards for a touchdown against us this past season, has quit school. . . . Unless we have our names mixed, T. Jefferson Stubbs, William and Mary history professor, did a bit of baseballing for the Indians back in the gay nineties. . . . Members of William and Mary's swimming team will do well to stay away from the big dance this week. . . . they'll need everything they've got against Washington and Lee, whom they swim against the following afternoon. . . .

PREDICTIONS FOR WILLIAM AND MARY sports events throughout the next week:

Richmond will whip our varsity as much under 50 points as they care to. Richmond's freshmen will take our frosh by 15 points. TOMORROW: Our freshman swimmers will barely beat Fort Monroe.

THURSDAY: Virginia will shade our indoor track team. FRIDAY: Our freshman basketball team will get revenge on Norfolk Division. Either our freshman girls will beat St. Catherine's or St. Catherine's will beat our freshman girls.

SATURDAY: Washington and Lee will end William and Mary's five-meet winning streak. Our varsity girls will take Sweet Briar.

MONDAY: V. M. I. will repeat it's early season victory over our varsity cagers.

TUESDAY: N. C. State will do with our varsity just what Richmond may care to do tonight.

Swimming Meet Features Heavy Athletic Calendar

Washington and Lee to Battle Unbeaten Indian Natators Here; Nine Other Athletic Events Slated During Coming Week.

William and Mary athletic teams have ten contests of various sorts scheduled for the next week, opening tomorrow with basketball games in Richmond between Richmond's varsity and freshmen and the Indians' varsity and freshmen.

Featuring the week of athletic activities will be the swimming meet this Saturday between two unbeaten teams—William and Mary and Washington and Lee. The Generals, with a more impressive record, will be favored to win.

Another highlight of the week will be a dual indoor track meet which will be held in Charlottesville this Thursday with William and Mary and University of Virginia as the opposing teams.

Besides the swimming meet Saturday afternoon, there will be a varsity girl's basketball game in Jefferson gym where William and Mary's undefeated Indianettes entertain Sweet Briar.

The schedule through next Tuesday: Varsity and frosh basketball at Richmond.

TOMORROW: Frosh swimming at Fort Monroe.

THURSDAY: Varsity track at Virginia.

FRIDAY: Frosh basketball here. Norfolk Division. Girl's Frosh here vs. St. Catherine's.

SATURDAY: Varsity swimming here vs. W. & L.

Girl's varsity basketball here. Sweet Briar.

MONDAY: Varsity basketball vs. V. M. I. here.

TUESDAY: Varsity basketball vs. N. C. State here.

VICTORYLESS TRIBE DROPS THREE MORE FOR 14TH STRAIGHT

Indian Basketeers Swamped by Maryland, Randolph-Macon, And by Naval Academy.

FIVE MORE GAMES TO GO

William and Mary's hapless basketeers extended their losing streak to 14 consecutive games during the past week, taking one-sided beatings from Maryland, Navy and Randolph-Macon. Tuesday night at College Park, Maryland broke a five-game losing streak of its own with a 41-29 victory. Losing 25-15 at the half, the Indians played their foes on practically even terms for the remainder of the game.

George Bunch, now one of the leading scorers in the State, was high man for the night with 14 points. Wheeler, Terp forward, second with 12 markers for Maryland.

Moving on to Annapolis for Wednesday night's encounter, the Dowlermen bowed to Navy, 42-21, in a slow game. The Midshipmen, playing without regulars Frank (Tiny) Lynch, center, and Bill Ingram, used three whole teams in their triumph. With a 17-9 advantage at mid-time, Navy kept the 2-1 ratio throughout a somewhat faster second period.

The Indian scoring was evenly distributed, Metheny leading with five points. Shamer topped Navy with 10.

Home again, W. & M. lost Friday night's tilt to a smooth-working Randolph-Macon quint, 58-27. Led by Captain Bruce Oliver, towering center, the Yellow Jackets got off to an early lead which they held throughout the game.

Paliscak, elusive forward, scored 13 counters, and Oliver and McFall 12 apiece for Randolph-Macon. George Bunch, at center, increased his point total by nine in the first half, but was held scoreless in the second.

Interdorm Basketball Tournament Underway

Interdormitory basketball play started last Thursday with Brown Hall winning out over Barrett, 26-13. Jefferson Hall opposed Barrett on the following night and also won, 20-7.

All games will be played off by next Tuesday, and, on the following Wednesday, intersorority basketball games will begin.

TO HOLD PING-PONG CONTESTS FOR BOYS

Otis Douglas, freshman coach, intramural director, varsity trainer, and general handy man around the athletic office, has the following important announcements to make:

An open ping-pong tournament for men will be held, starting tomorrow (Wednesday) night. All would-be entries should sign up at once in Blow gym. Playing schedules will be posted in the gym.

A Red Cross First Aid course will be offered every Monday and Friday night at 7 p. m. in Washington 200. Both standard and advanced courses are offered, and the course is open to both men and women.

The Apparatus and Tumbling Club will meet on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 9 p. m. in Blow gym. All students are invited to attend, regardless of previous experience.

A Red Cross Senior Life Saving course for men will be held in Blow Pool on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights from 7 to 9.

President Bryan Host To Grid Squad

1936 Indian Football Players Are Dinner Guests At President's Home

President John Stewart Bryan entertained William and Mary's 1936 varsity football squad at his home last Monday night and paid tribute to the dogged courage shown by the Indian team in the face of many defeats.

All members of the varsity football team were invited to the informal get-together by President Bryan. A delightful dinner was served and all lettermen were presented with gold cuff links by the host.

Following the festivities at the President's home, the Indian grid huskies were treated to a Shirley Temple movie.

FEMININE CAGERS BEAT NOTRE DAME

Jane Hutcheson Leads W-M To An Easy 26-16 Triumph.

William and Mary's varsity girl's basketball team scored its first victory of the season here last Saturday, turning back Notre Dame College, of Baltimore, 26-16.

The local sextet, although obviously not up to its best form, had little trouble with the visitors and were in the lead from start to finish. The game itself was unusually slow and lacking in enthusiasm.

Frequent substitutions marred the smoothness of the William and Mary attack, as did the mixing of varsity and freshman players in the game. Only when all varsity players were in the game did the local offense show to best advantage.

Jane Hutcheson, high-scoring forward, contributed most of William and Mary's first-half points as she frequently found the basket for two-pointers. Largely through her shooting, the Indians sported an 18-6 lead at half-time.

Both teams substituted their entire squad during the final quarter. Notre Dame showed a fair passing attack throughout the game, but their forwards were woefully deficient in shooting, almost to the point of being ludicrous.

Saturday's game was the first of a tough schedule that William and Mary faces in the next two weeks. Farmville S. T. C. plays here Friday; Sweet Briar here Saturday; and later in the month games will be played with Notre Dame and Manhattanville.

A freshman game is scheduled here Saturday with St. Catherine's of Richmond.

Last Saturday's line-ups: WILLIAM AND MARY: Hutcheson 13, Layton 6, Holzmueller 3, Smoot 2, Cox 2, Murphy, Hoddick, Cecil, Vosburg, Carl, Allen, Sale, Nelson, Lengnick, Torrance, Waddell, Searle, Elliott.

NOTRE DAME: Horsington 13, A. Kunkel 3, Ogier, I. Kunkel, Facer, Crawford, Moore, Coyne, Shanahan.

Intramural Sports Program Agreed On

An intramural meeting was held last Tuesday night in Jefferson gym for the purpose of voting on which sports will be played for the remainder of the year.

Sports agreed upon were bowling, bridge, swimming, horseshoe pitching, archery, shuffle board, canoeing and baseball.

CHANDLERMEN TAKE SIX FIRST PLACES IN WIN OVER VIRGINIA

Cavaliers Go Down, 48-36 As Indian Swimmers Win 5th Straight of Season.

W. & L. HERE SATURDAY

William and Mary's varsity swimmers advanced a step further in their drive towards the Southern Conference championship last Saturday with a fairly easy 48-36 triumph over University of Virginia.

The victory was the fifth straight for the unbeaten Indians this season. Scrap Chandler's tankers took first place in five of the seven individual events and split the two relays with the Cavaliers. DuPont scored both of Virginia's firsts.

First places for William and Mary went to Goldberg in the breast stroke; Brown in the back stroke; Brill in the 50-yard dash; Shuler in the 100 yard free style; and Adams in the diving.

This Saturday the Indian swimmers entertain unbeaten Washington and Lee in Blow pool. The Generals crushed Duke last week by some fifteen odd points and are heavy favorites to stop William and Mary's victory march.

The Virginia summaries: 400-yard relay—William and Mary, (Ward, Hadtke, Helfrich and Schuler), 4:15.

200-yard breast stroke—Goldberg, W. & M., first; Goodman, Va., second; Preston, Va., third. 2:51.5.

150-yard back-stroke—Brown, W. & M., first; Cox, Va., second; Daniel, W. & M., third. 2:01.9.

50-yard free style—Brill, W. & M., first; Walker, W. & M., second; Armistead, Va., third. 26.3.

440-yard free style—du Pont, Va., first; Parker, Va., second; Moore, Va., third. 5:44.

100-yard free style—Schuler, W. & M., first; Wright, Va., second; Armistead, Va., third. 59.

Diving—Adams, W. & M., first; Flickinger, W. & M., second; Weeks, Va., third.

220-yard free style—duPont, Va., first; Schuler, W. & M., second; Moore, W. & M., third. 2:34.6.

300-yard medley—Va. (Coxe, Goodman and Bride.)

GEORGE BUNCH'S 110 POINTS STILL HIGH

Indian Center Up Among State Leaders in Basket Scoring.

George Bunch, William and Mary's contribution to high-scoring leaders in state basketball, has increased his point total to 110 in fourteen games, figures compiled to date reveal.

These figures, while as yet unofficial also show that the Indian ace has amassed 90 points against Southern Conference opposition alone. Roanoke, Randolph-Macon, and Navy were the only non-conference teams played.

Besides being well up in state and conference scoring, Bunch lacks only a single point to have doubled the number of points scored by any of his team-mates. Wayne Harper, big Indian guard, trails Bunch in team scoring with 56 points.

The William and Mary scoring to date:

Table with columns: PLAYER, G, F, T. Lists scores for Bunch, Harper, O. Bunch, Zable, Kamen, Metheny, Hall, Baltimore, Dozier, Kleinknecht, Sherrill, Duncan, and Totals.

And We Did

Says the editor: "Write me an editorial, not too hot, not too short."

Says we: "But we don't know how to write editorials, and besides, what would we write on?"

Replies the editor: "What's wrong with athletics?"
Replies us: "Everybody knows, or think they know, what's wrong with athletics. Anyhow, what's that got to do with what to write about?"

Explains the editor: "That ain't what I meant. I mean what's wrong with writing an editorial on athletics?"

"Well, say what you mean next time. How about stirring up a little devilment over those numerals they hand out to freshman athletes?"

"Numerals? What are they? Never saw 'em around here."

"I don't guess you have ever seen 'em around here. Nobody will wear 'em. They look like something the cat got hold of and wouldn't let go. Oh, some of the boys put 'em on white sweaters and dress 'em up a bit, but there are plenty who don't even bother to go over after the things."

Breaks in the editor: "But who cares whether they get good numerals? We've got to have an editorial on something that students are interested in."

"Students ain't interested in anything except trying to tell the athletic department how to govern itself. And that's what we're for. It doesn't make any difference if we're right or wrong—our yelping constituents just ask that we write something hot."

The editor: "Well, let 'em holler. This editorial that I'm asking you to write must be constructive and non-offensive."

"All right, I'll see if I can get in the proper mood for writing nice, constructive editorials. But what about them numerals? The things are really a joke as they are now. You should hear how the freshman athletes talk about 'em."

"Oh, very well. Next week you may do a little piece on why freshman athletes should get better numerals. After all, if they are going to get numerals, I suppose they should get ones from which they can derive pride in wearing. And now you go ahead and write me a nice editorial on the desirability of students raising their scholastic standing to the standard of a Phi Beta Kappa."

The Collegiate Review

THE COLLEGIATE REVIEW
(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Bo McMillin, coach of Indiana University's gridmen, celebrated his birthday by presenting two suggestions for a suitable name for Hoosier athletic teams: "Pioneers" and "Crimson Crusaders."

Upperclassmen at the University of Buffalo are not required to take any courses but those they desire.

Love and music combine to help coed tennis students at Westminster College develop rhythm. Miss Nandeen Love, director of the course, explains that waltz music is the best accompaniment for service strokes.

The junior girl at Miami University who fell into a deep stupor every time she attended one of her lectures finally found that the reflection of four lights on the professor's glasses was hypnotizing her.

Students danced so hard during the Charleston rage some 10 years ago that Indiana University officials were forced to prohibit dancing in the Student building for fear the hoofers would shake down the structure.

From the Doric column of the Grinnel Scarlet and Black: "Tis rumored that one poor gal ate a pound of raw hamburger on returning to school to inure her stomach to the change. What people won't do to break into this column!"

Flu can't stop University of Minnesota students from wooing. Men in the isolation ward sent the girls across the hall ice cream cones in appreciative acknowledgement of a set of paper dolls.

Freshmen at the University of Michigan have been granted the permission to live in fraternity houses during the second semester.

Campus Hall of Fame

The "Harvard man" and "Yale grad" have taken their positions as academic abstractions beside the famed "Rugby man" and "Oxonian." If William and Mary were to evolve a "type," certainly she could wish for no better than William Patrick Lyons, Jr., of Portsmouth—a student of unqualified excellence, a leader in numerous and diversified campus activities, a man whose every acquaintance becomes a friend.

At St. Joseph's, Portsmouth parochial school, he led in basketball," he smiles, "and I was a member of the St. Joseph minstrel troupe for three years."

In 1932, Pat registered at the Norfolk Division and continued in all his activities. He still played basketball and led his classes scholastically. He was president of the Imps 'club, a social organization, and vice-president of Sigma Epsilon Phi, honorary chemical fraternity. He was elected, during his second year, to the student senate.

Coming to Williamsburg in thirty-four, Pat pledged S. A. E. He has been a member of the Cotillion club, and has been elected president of the Gibbons Club. He is president of the "13" Club, social organization, and chancellor (a position corresponding to the presidency) of the Wythe Law Club. His activities in these diverse fields led last semester to O. D. K's coveted tap.

Recognition as a finer type of William and Mary man was given Pat in his selection as one of the original President's aides two years ago. His name has appeared regularly on the Dean's List of distinguished students, and he has been placed among the ten best students of his class as a result of last year's excellence. "This year," says Pat, "I'm really working hard." He is getting both of his degrees in June, an A. B. and a LL. B.

To wish success to a man of Pat's poise and personality, intelligence and ability, is merely a gesture. Salute!—we make the gesture.

Student Opinion

A NEW IDEA

Lately there have been some very slighting remarks made on the campus pertaining to the athletics at William and Mary. They are due, no doubt, to the unenviable record of the past football team and the current basketball team.

Why not leave a bad enough situation alone without heaping fuel on the fire? Surely the coaches and players have their hands full now. Also, they are the logical ones to find the solution to the problem. It would be a good idea for we students to try to correct faults we know something about and can solve among ourselves satisfactorily.

While the "knock alls" are devoting their time to criticism and sarcastic remarks, why don't the rest of us get behind a movement to better the whole student body? For instance, a movement to make ourselves a more friendly, sociable, and cooperative group. There is certainly not enough friendliness and "school spirit" prevalent among students at William and Mary as compared to other colleges and universities.

I am sure this would have more lasting results and help more toward the advancement of the college than trying to govern the athletic association.

A Student.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"The best which instructors at school can do is give you the best information you can obtain, but you have to picture for yourself what you will do in life, and with the use of this information given, struggle along these lines towards acquisition of specific knowledge." Mr. Charles Kettering, president of the General Motors Research Laboratories, suggests a specific line to struggle along.

"One may sympathize with struggling youth," says President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford University in urging higher medical school standards, "but one should sympathize more with future patients."

"Democracy must unquestionably give educational opportunity to all. But it must then protect itself by rational and courageous methods of selection against the needless exploitation of its generosity by the unfit." Yale University's President, James R. Angell asks democracy to be wise.

"You may want to improve your mind by reading the paper, but I object to your accomplishing that worthy purpose in the middle of my lecture." New York University's Prof. Olinger protests mildly against printed competition.

You May Laugh

With Edith Harris

Her Astronomic Beau
He took me out to see the stars,
The astronomic bore;
He said there were two moons near Mars
Whiest Jupiter had four.

Of course I thought he'd whisper then
What four-fold bliss 'twould be
To walk beneath a four-fold moon
On Jupiter with me.

And when he talked of Saturn's rings
Of course I thought he'd say
That was the very kind of thing
To give to me some day.

But on a tangent off he flew
To double stars—now that
Was quite suggestive
So absorbed and quite content I sat.

But no—he talked a dreary mass
Of which the only fraction
That caught my fancy, I confess
Was mutual attraction.

I said it seemed quite queer to me
And stupid, altogether
That stars should be so very near
And yet not come together.

He turned his head at that and smiled;
I think he caught the notion.
He merely bowed "Good-night" and said
Their safety lay in motion.

The Intelligent Audience

(Or How to Behave in Public)

1. Do not cough, sneeze, gurgle, whoop or indulge in spasmodic eruptions of any kind. There is always a remote possibility that your unfortunate neighbors may wish to hear what is going on.

2. Wear hats with plumes not more than two feet high and bent at no more than a forty degree angle. Those occupying seats behind you may now and then wish to take a look at the stage, without having their eyes jabbed out.

3. Do not chew tobacco in public gatherings. Emily Post is very particular about this point. Cuspidors are no longer in evidence and the young lady three aisles down may not wish to bear the brunt of your stale tobacco juice. That is, of course, assuming that she is not a tobacco enthusiast herself. Otherwise there is a possibility that she may enjoy the odor of your cud.

4. When you are finished with your chewing gum swallow it. Otherwise complications may arise at a future date.

A. The trouble with you is you can't take it!
B. Sure, I can take it, but I don't want to be a hog!

UNDER THE TOMAHAWK

What a dull week-end without the usual Saturday night dance. It must have been because the Theta Deltas up and tossed a brawl at the club. The movie was the only retreat that was found by the lovers, but we shan't forget all those benches. There is now a bill before the administration restricting the time allowed for parking. They have already hired a checker to mark the soles of all the parkers. Better make it snappy now or you will be caught.

The other day while looking around a furniture store the following conversation was overheard:

Doris Campbell, (Pres. of the Thetas) to a store clerk: "I can't decide between the divan and the armchair."

Store Clerk: "Lady you can't make a mistake in a chair like that."

Doris: "O. K. I'll take the divan."

The other day in English class Miss Hall announced that she does not mind people looking at their watches but she can't stand having them put the watch to their ears to see if it is running.

Some one must teach these hyar frosh coeds right from wrong. Swell Squinty, you teach them right, and maybe the rest of us won't have so much trouble.

There were plenty of dances at the button school and we are going to give you the list of members in the Brass Button Club. The Naval members include: Rosann Abbott, Jane Weygandt, Helen Baird, Ann Iredell, Phyllis Farley, Joyce Gleason, Ann Sherman, Dot Herbst, and the Tech members include: Evelyn Everwine, Letty Jones, Lanet Robinson, Margaret Vass, and Lucia Hawley. We detect something fishy.

Before we forget we wish to thank the students for all the swell valentines that were received, especially the ones from the spring chickens and hens of the Coop, the Nuns from the Convent, gigolettes from the Ritz and the debutantes of the Country Club.

MOST IN LOVE OF THE WEEK

Theodore Temple and Connie Crabtree

Since Letty Jones moved over to Pi Phi house Lad Harrington is trying to secure first mortgage on the love seat but is finding the competition tough. . . . Our little red headed Janet Appleby has been doing the rounds quite thoroughly with Tommy White and it looks like they are becoming tied down.

In case you don't know the following engagements are to be or have been announced: On Thursday Bruce Mattson pinned his Pi K. A. jewel onto Mary Mackey, and let us not forget the pinning of Helen Strange with a Theta Delta pearl by Wyatt Carneal. Aileen Barkley has us stumped. She acquired a new diamond and will announce the name of the lucky boy in the near future. Good luck and a pleasant future.

SCOOP OF THE WEEK

The Big Chief Goelnicht is again haunting the door of the Big Indian and is wearing an ever present smile. Their first public appearance was at the game Friday evening.

What has Frenchy contributed to the social life at Barrett recently. In case you want to know you will have to ask him or Jean George. It is very interesting and helpful. . . . Phil Guibord has finally assented to taking a minor part in the coming production after resenting it very much because he could not secure a lead.

CUTEST COUPLE OF THE WEEK

Seymour Waxman and Judy Polk

Pat Kelly is very interested in Oscar of the S. A. E. house and so we gather Oscar happens to be a pet alligator. . . . Eric Oppenheimer is practicing his ukelele and singing every evening in Monroe to give the boys pointers on how to win in love by song. . . . Ed Shifman is again sporting around with his queen after a few quibbles and slaps. They always seem to make up after a court. . . . Freeman has at last purchased a new pair of shoes for his pet dogs, and taking more strolls than usual. . . . Ask Tiger Mason about the little girl he had perch on his lap during the show the other day. He seems to care for little children from the looks of things. Art Brenneson is on the out with Little Fats Griffin and is the reason for his current foggiens.

Reading the mail of other people we ran across this note: Dear Mr. Holmes, I have went to the movies as ordered by my professors. Please forgive.

Love and kisses,

Shirley.

Now you know that the mid-winters are to be held on Friday and we hope that all you coeds have secured your dates for the party. There have been a few boys who have written in asking us to get them dates, but we can't seem to get ourselves anyone so how can we get a date for someone else. If anyone would be so kind as to give us a few leads we may be able to get there yet. The reason for the midnight lunch seems to be for those people who are not so settled while for the oldtimers it is but an intermission to catch up on (Oh you know). And for the present all we can think of saying is on with the Dance.

What is life on this campus coming to when you can't even get sleep in the wee hours of the morning is the complaint from the Ritz. The story is about those fire crackers that the sandman dropped to disturb the restful slumber of the gals from the second floor. Who was the man? . . . Well, well, Dick Crane finally broke down and gave his signet ring to Estelle (Blacky) Rvkin. She claims that she is holding it as security until the pin arrives. . . .

Who is that good looking gal, Micky for we may want to give you some competition. . . . Egg Head Owen asks us not to print his name again or else? . . . Well we will do you that favor Len.

The Inquiring Reporter

This week's Question:
What event in your college career did you enjoy most?

The following are the answers gathered by your Inquiring Reporter from the various students here and there on campus:

I never was thrilled so much as I was when I saw the little William and Mary basketball team of last year trim Washington and Lee, the state champions, to the tune of 53-56.
Ruth Ann Holzmueller, '39.

My first date with Gus Twiddy.
Frances Garrett, '40.

The most enjoyable event thus far in my college career was the 6-6 tie with the University of Richmond on Thanksgiving Day 1935. The satisfaction gained by all the men who participated cannot be easily forgotten.
Pete Bunch, '38.

The most memorable event of my college career, short as it is, was being pledged finally after weeks of hectic rushing.
Willette Chambers, '40.

Dancing to the melodious strains of Kendall Beaver's College Swing Band.
Hobie Gibson, '40.

The event which is outstanding in my mind is when I was sent in to oppose the Navy football team this past season. I was scared to death but otherwise felt great.
Tommy Della Torre, '39.

President Bryan's Christmas party.
Carol McCoy, '38.

The event that I enjoyed most was the medley race which took place against Duke in which our team came out victorious. The superb swimming of Bunch and Goldberg bettered that of the opposing team on which were two all-southern conference natators.
Frank Cuseo, '40.

Without a doubt it was when I stepped onto the campus upon arriving in Williamsburg with Ed. Harris.
Evelyn Jane Semler, '39.

The event in my college career that I enjoyed the most was the baseball victory over Hash and Richmond in 1936, giving William and Mary a tie with Richmond for the State Championship.
Dan H. Edmonson, '37.

Leaving for the Christmas holidays.
Judith Birdseye, '40.

The event I enjoyed most since I have been in school was the President's Christmas Ball. The color and splendor of the affair left a lasting impression on my mind.
Bob Witson, '40.

FINE ARTS BUILDING WILL BE OPENED FEB. 26

second floor. The theatre is finished entirely in black with vermillion chairs and has a special ventilating system which insures darkness with fresh air. New projection machinery, first in the South, will allow the use of full color illustrations in courses.

At the opening, students of the Department will show visitors through the structure and explain the various classrooms and their uses. The reception, from 8 to 11, will be formal. Music will be provided by a string quartette and refreshments will be served visitors in the Sculpture studio.

The general plan of the building, used entirely by the Fine Arts Department, gives the first floor to the classes in Sculpture and Stage Design, with specially planned rooms for their use; the second floor, to the library, print room, offices and the theatre; and the third floor, to classes in painting. Exceptional lighting facilities, with almost the entire roof forming a skylight, features the painting studio.

Leslie Cheek, Jr., chairman of the Department, was architect for the building, construction of which was begun early last summer.

The Surrealist Ball, to be given the following night from 9 to 12 in the basement of the Sir Christopher Wren Building, will mark Surrealism's debut in the Old Dominion. The exhibition of modern sculpture will be opened on the afternoon of the 27th; and the movie, one of a series being given under the sponsorship of the Department, will be shown at 4 o'clock Sunday at the Williamsburg theatre.

Malvina Hoffman Movie Here in March

ter and his young student, and there followed exciting years of hard work, occasionally relieved by winter evenings spent in the company of such great spirits as Nijinsky, Pavlova, and Gertrude Stein. One of Miss Hoffman's finest sculptures done in Paris was a group of Russian dancers.

Pavlova and her partner posed for the group and complete moving pictures were taken. These are numbered among the ones to be shown in Williamsburg. In thirty exhausting lessons Miss Hoffman learned the entire dance herself, and after this "heroic treatment" executed a series of panels which are to be shown publicly for the first time in Richmond.

Miss Hoffman's interest in moving pictures and the excellent use she makes of them in her own art are typical of her vibrant enthusiasms. By combining an active intelligence with the strength of her convictions, and with years of mental and physical labor she has made of herself one of the great artists of our age, and has proved by her success the truth of her father's admonition, "Above all, you must be an artist; after that you may create art."

It requires foresight and daring courage to produce such works of art as a fifty-two ton group for a London building or the fine memorial in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City. Her latest achievement is the Hall of Man for the Field Museum in Chicago. This is a collection of one hundred and ten life-sized statues and busts of the races of man, produced after a life-time of experience as a sculptor, and after a six-year trip around the world in search of types and models.

Television ink supply

It Lets You SEE When to Refill
—hence won't run dry in classes or exams

Yes, thousands of students start to rate higher when they replace their old "blind-barrel" pens with this new Parker Vacumatic. This is because it is people who are capable of rating high who go for this Pen in a big way, and because it is this kind of Pen—and only this kind—that can bring out the best that is in them.

Its Scratch-Proof Point of Platinum and Solid Gold writes like a zephyr. Unlike pens that bite the ink within the barrel, this laminated Pearl Beauty lets you SEE Days Ahead when it's running low. When held to the light it shows the ENTIRE Ink Supply—holds 102% More Ink than old-style.

It's the pen that received more votes than any other TWO makes of Pens COMBINED when 30 College Papers asked 4,699 students "Which pen do you own?" It was awarded by the All-America Board of Football to 90 nominees for the All-America Team of 1936.

Go at once to any good store selling pens and try this revolutionary invention. Identify the genuine Parker Vacumatic by this smart ARROW Clip—this holds this Pen low and SAFE in the pocket. The Parker Pen Co., Janesville, Wis.

The Parrot

By Dot Spence

After the storm, the air is clear and in this beautiful weather—'tis Spring, 'tis Spring the poet cries, but somehow we can't get beyond the fact that the best thing about it all is that exams are all over—we can relax now until grades are published.

Speaking of grades we don't wish to appear pessimistic, but the Los Angeles Junior Collegian offers this significant analysis of the word "flunk"—

- F—Forgotten facts.
- L—Lack of study.
- U—Unexpected questions.
- N—Nothing right.
- K—Kicked out.

Our interpretation would be:

- B—Boobie.
- U—Unconscious.
- S—Socializing.
- T—Too bad.

BEST VERSE OF THE WEEK:

I hope you don't go out tonight
But if you do I hope it doesn't rain;
But if it does I hope you don't get wet;
But if you do I hope you don't get sick;
But if you do I hope you don't die;
But if you do I hope you go to heaven;
But if you don't—well, I'll be seeing you.

—The Washington Elm.

Cheer up girls, it seems that we're not the only ones who must have a definite destination in order to leave campus. The Lafayette Journal and Courier recently ran this ad:

"Lost, strayed and bewildered—15 Indiana coeds want places to park their hats and stay overnight near the campus."

It seems that these Indiana sorority girls were seeking lodging for the week-end of the Purdue-Indiana game . . . and university rules require that girls have some definite place in mind (and probably on record) before leaving campus.

So we named the baby Weather-strip because he kept his father out of the draft during the war.

Good news for the tall, dark, and handsome one. That type is the most desired by the coeds patronizing the Escort Bureau managed by University of Chicago fraternities. To be a real "dowager thriller," the young man must also have personality and an easy manner, be a gentleman of the "Lord Chesterfield" type (now there's a feature), possess knowledge of at least one social activity—opera, dancing, bridge, and he must be well-known on the campus. Seems as though all this would make a good "field of concentration" in Williamsburg.

The editor of the Augustana Observer suggests that church organists try "Pennies For Heaven" as the offertory.

PROFESSOR RAND TO LECTURE FRIDAY

eral student and reader is more likely to know him for his Ovid and His Influence, A Walk to Horace's Sabine Farm, The Magical Art of Virgil, and The Founders of the Middle Ages. He has probably done more than any other living scholar to make the Latin poets come alive for persons who are not specialists in classical literature. It is not inappropriate to borrow a phrase from the title of his own book on Virgil, and to say that he has a "magical art" in penetrating to the heart of Latin poetry and in making his listeners aware of its eternal humanity. His lecture will undoubtedly be one of the high lights in the series for the year.

This Collegiate World

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

And beer flowed from the water pump on the Harvard University campus, so the story goes.

An undergraduate Aladdin who never even rubbed on a Harvard Lampoon to transform an old-fashioned pump into a beer-spouter had his plan—to keep the tank filled with enough beer to last 24 hours—spoiled by the alarm of a passing student.

Innocently the discoverer jerked the handle up and down and stepped back in amazement when amber liquid gushed from the mouth and foamed in the trough. "Beer," he yelled, and 30 quickly gathered around, plying the handle and guzzling until they had exhausted the tank.

"I figured it would last a whole day," wailed the perpetrator when he heard of the waste. "Well," he added, after having taken an inventory of his liquor closet, "I'm going to fill it with champagne tomorrow so that people won't take exams so seriously."

Release Schedule For Frosh Debates

A tentative schedule for the freshman of the Woman's Debate Council has been released, and Betty Moore and Ann Cross will represent William and Mary in debates with Mary Baldwin College and Stuart Hall. A campus debate with Westhampton is expected soon, although no definite date has been set.

On February 24 in Barret Hall, Edna Howell and Betty Bertel will debate the University of South Carolina on the question; Resolved: That Congress should be empowered to regulate minimum wage and maximum hours in industry.

Ann Price, who was announced in last week's Flat Hat as going on the vascity Southern trip, has been replaced by Betty Bertel.

Cheatham and Steele are room-mates at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Alabama.

TEACHERS RAISED

Richmond, Va., Feb. 16—(UP)—The average annual salary of all teachers in the Virginia public school system increased $10 to $740 during the 1935-36 term, according to the annual report of Dr. Sidney B. Hall, state superintendent of public instruction.
