Festivities Take Place on Front Campus; Unusual Dances Presented by College Students.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS

Clare Hargrove, of Montclair, New Jersey, was crowned queen of the annual May Festival by Virginia Turman, her immediate predecessor, yesterday afternoon. Miss Hargrove, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, was selected from nominees from the Senior class, following a precedent established many years back. Surrounding her in the court were the eight attendants with escorts: Hazel Storch, Ellen Ticer, Carie Lucas, Agnes Winn, Lois Roberts, Virginia Mullen, Martha Barrow, Elizabeth Amblan, and Herbert Lorentzen, James B. Lucy, William L. Scott, Harry Nelson, William F. Rountree, Clarence Rives, Earl Swem, and Conklin Mann.

The celebration was strictly modern in its motifs, embodying the idea of entertainers coming from larger cities to pay homage to the newly-crowned queen. The plans were designed and executed under the supervision of a committee from the Women's Student Government Association, under whose sponsorship the festival was arranged.

Other individual members of the festival party were Marjorie Harper, Margaret Baughman, and Honoe Wickam as jesters, Robert Hoke the page, Elizabeth Loughlin the flower

Baggett and Clarke as Campus Players Make Last Appearance in Coming Senior Production

ALSO TO BE GIVEN AT FINALS

Rehearsals for the senior production, "Enter Madame," have been in progress for the past two weeks for presentation the evening of May 22, and again during the final week, in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. Patricia Clarke and Marshall Baggett, prominent campus players, will be seen for the last time on the local stage in this production in the leading roles of this comparatively new play.

Miss Gilda Varesi, who with Mrs. Dolly Byrne collaborated in the writing of this play, carried the lead, Madame Lisa Della Robbia, in the original production with which Brock Pemberton made his debut as a producer in New York, August 1920. This Madame Della Robbia is a character similar to the first lady of Italian opera, Elean Varesi, the mother of Miss Varesi. Miss Clarke in the role will recreate "the Madame who enters (and exists) like a dazzling and somewhat disturbing comet, a world famous prima donna, a spoiled, petted, whimsical, stormy

Student Bodies Combine To Organize Joint Association

Constitution of Men and Women's Student Association Adopted at Meeting Monday

TO COLLECT ACTIVITIES FEES

The Combined Men's and Women's Student Government Association was formally created following the approval of a proposed constitution for this organization in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium May 4.

The constitution, the product of Richard D. Mulowney and Earl Swem, was formed to create a plan to provide for the finance of the student publications for the coming year. This plan was necessitated by the recent abolishment of the collection of the activities fee by the administration. The organization of this combined association came as the result of movements recently started, following resolutions introduced by Katherine Lam, retiring president of the W. S. G. A., at a previous meeting.

Membership in this new association, as determined by the recently approved constitution, is awarded upon the payment of the student activities fee. A Board of Control, composed of one representative of each of the organizations affected and a member at large from the Men's Student Body, and one from the Women's Student Body, will col-

That the election of the editors and business managers of the various publications shall be subject to the approval of this board, and that the treasurer of the board shall handle all funds and accounts, in turn to be audited by the joint committee of the two student bodies, were further provisions. Six articles compose this constitution, which is subject to amendment by two thirds quorum at any meeting officially called.

Following this meeting, there was a meeting of the men's student body to discuss problems for the coming election. It was decided to allow the men who will be absent from the college on athletic trips may vote by proxy. Nominations for the various student body offices were officially received by the secretary of the student body. After much discussion about the Athletic Council nominations the meeting was adjourned.

SMOKING TOBACCO

THE men who go to the universities of Virginia and Kentucky know tobacco ... they see how it grows and what makes it good.

So when Virginia students, and the men who stroll down old South Limestone Street in Lexington, pack their pipes with Edgeworth, their choice tells volumes about the cool, slow-burning quality of this favorite smoking tobacco.

It's the same story everywhere—North, South, East and West. In 42 out of 54 leading colleges and universities, college men prefer the smooth, fragrant burley blend of Edgeworth. Try Edgeworth yourself. You'll find more pleasure in a pipe than you ever knew before. Every tobacco store has Edgeworth, 15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural flavor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

Newton, '16, head of the Public School system in Hampton, Phoebus, and Elizabeth City County was recently voted a leave of absence from September 15, 1931, to June 16, 1932, by the joint school boards so that he can spend a year at Columbia University in New York and take a special course in school administration.

Mr. Newton was recently awarded a scholarship to Columbia University by the United States Education Board through the Rockefeller Foundation which will pay all his expenses while at Columbia. This is the third such scholarship to be awarded by the education board and it is regarded as a recognition of the ability shown by Mr. Newton in school work in Virginia. Mr. Newton was warmly felicitated upon the honor by the members of the boards. All the members of the Hampton, Phoebus and county school boards attended the meeting.

Mr. Newton is a graduate of the College of William and Mary and went to Hampton ten years ago to become head of the schools on the lower end of the peninsula. ATTEND ELECTIONS

We hear so much about elections at this time that it seems worth while for us to mention something about the comment on the results. Often the general consensus of opinion seems to point out that the members of certain groups have chosen their leaders very unwisely. In some cases, no doubt, the comment is justified. If so, there is nothing to be done and we must make the best of it. However, in the majority of cases the persons who complain loudest are the ones who have not shown enough interest to be present when the choice is made. It seems to us that the first step in correcting the results of elections should be an increase in the interest shown by the members of the various groups.

At this time of the year there is always a large amount of work to be done in both lectures and activities. Everyone realizes this, but there must be some sacrifices made in order to get work in shape for the next year. We urge, then that instead of criticizing election results, students attend the elections in person and look out for the interests of the society themselves.

A HINT FOR THE SUMMER

We hear so much about elections at this time that it seems worthwhile campus are wondering how they will spend the summer months. To some students we realize that this is not a problem. To others a suggestion along this line might be of value. Perhaps you have never considered the possibility of attending summer school at William and Mary. This institution has played an important role in the last few years toward aiding the students and advertising the winter school.

The name of William and Mary is mentioned in many classrooms by bringing professors here from other colleges where it might otherwise be unmentioned. Elementary and night school teachers after attending summer school often suggest William and Mary to students who are considering coming to college. Often these suggestions bring students from other parts of the country and sometimes even from foreign countries to William and Mary. In this way better feelings are created between this school and other American and foreign colleges.

Many students find it impossible to finish their work for a degree at the end of a semester year. Summer school enables them to obtain the few extra credits needed to graduate. Some students wish to obtain a degree in less than four years. Through attending summer school they are able to do this easily.

And summer school is not all work by any means. Tennis courts swimming pools, nearby golf courses and beaches make it possible for everyone to enjoy himself.

The Flat Hat does not urge every student to attend summer school, but it does hope that those persons who are planning to go to school somewhere this year will place William and Mary first in the list of schools to be considered. If you do come to school here you will find that the town does not curl up and sleep, but rather puts on a new coat over the old and becomes new and interesting to its summer visitors.

PRODUCTION CLASS GIVES LAST GROUP OF ONE-ACT PLAYS

Four One - Act Plays Pronounced Most Satisfactory Presentation of Entire Season

The last, and altogether the most satisfactory group of the series of one-act plays was presented Saturday night, May 2, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The opening play was "A Fool of a Man," written by Edward Finnegan and directed by Estelle Foreman, assisted by Carie Lucas. What this play lacked in entertainment because of a rather weak plot was made up for by the fine work of its characters. Martin Jurow as the meek Mr. Bundy, and Idella Horsey as his overbearing but loving wife, teamed up to make this play truly entertaining. Both of these characters were easily understood, and the lines went along smoothly and easily. Robert Ash, a newcomer to the William and Mary stage, shows promise. His characterization is to be commended.

Outstanding in "Trifles," a tragedy by Susan Glaspell, and directed by Jean Rogers and Mary Thurman Pyle, was LeBaron Coleman, as Mrs. Hale. She and Mary Pyle, as Mrs. Peters, carried along the main story in a capable manner. Harry Stinnett as Mr. Hale, James Hable as Sheriff Peters, and Donald Gordon in the role of County Attorney Henderson were well cast. "Trifles" was a good story, full of suspense, and the dismal atmosphere of the play was helped along by an appropriately dreary setting.

"A Marriage Has Been Arranged," a play with only two characters, was directed by Caroline DeWitt, assisted by Elizabeth Lawder. Any play with only two characters must, of a necessity, have some outstanding feature for it to be sufficiently entertaining, but this play lacked anything unusual. Carleen Loeffler as Lady Aline De Vaux, did a good piece of characterization, but she was quite unfamiliar with her English accent. Evans Shaw as Mr. Harrison Crockstead was well cast in his role. Both the characters were a little uncertain of their lines, but were convincing enough.

The last play, Hubert Osborne's "Mary's Lamb," directed by Mary Douglas Sibold, was decidedly the best of the evening in every way. Appropriate casting, good setting, delightful story, and an experienced cast made this play well worth seeing. Estelle Foreman and Harry Stinnett carried off top honors with their exceedingly natural handling of the roles of Minnie and Paul, two young art students from Greenwich Village, and Ernest deBordenave was amusing as the excitable French waiter. Edgar Wiegand did well with his part as the old man and his make-up was one of the best.

THIS DEPARTMENT

Strange as it may seem, we read as how writing a column in a paper is very much like sleeping in church—so here goes. It must be done and we being very conscientious people, hate not to do what we are supposed to do. You see, it's this way, or rather it's that way, either way this is the next to the last issue of the FLAT HAT. And we can't disappoint people so close to the end of the year. The annual will be out in just another week or so, but really that's not going to disappoint anybody. You really shouldn't wait till you see your mug therein. One good thing there aren't many pictures of the freshmen, but we heard a good joke on one of them. Some freshman girl asked her fellow where he lived and he said O. D. and she said, "Oh, I didn't know you were an O. D. K." Imagine that! Her picture ain't going to be in the annual and fool everybody. Naw, we took it out. We did.

Ask Dunker when the annual will be out. He'll appreciate it.

Everyone knows who the May Queen is now. And she doesn't wear a K. A. pin either. She ain't that lucky. Whoa, there Hargrove! Didn't mean it. Take it all back. I know, yes, I know that you could have had as many and as many different kinds as you would want.

So many of the co-eds are taking up riding (for those who don't know, riding means horse back riding; motoring, means automobile riding). Well, these co-eds are taking up riding so as to increase their social standing. But are they so sure it's social? I'll agree—well—I better not go any further.

And now we have a joint men's and women's student body—and there can't be any kick coming there—the goils will have just as much say as any one else now. They've always been kicking about not having as many pictures or as many this, that or the other as the men and now there won't be any trouble at all. I always did think this crowd ought to mix, but then there are so many things that can't be said in mixed crowds. Well, we'll see.

Putting out a paper is fun—you ought to have been at the Flat Hat office last Monday night. Whew! Just look at what's happened as a result. People wouldn't have known who was running for president of the student body—or who was elected May Queen—or any of those things.

Two weeks from the day after election day exams start. Have you written your term paper yet? No, neither have I. See you in the library one of these nights and don't you dare speak to anyone. One month from today we will all be getting ready for the final ball that night. Starts late and ends early.

Time's up—

JIM.

OPEN FORUM LETTERS

Visitors Disturb Study Says "X. Y. Z."

Editor of the Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:

I know that some very foolish things are brought up in your Open Forum column and this may be just as bad and receive just as little attention and comment, but just the same it has made me lose my temper several times. Therefore something should be said about it, and since no one else has bothered and I'm going to waste a two-cent stamp and tell the public about it.

It's this way: when I'm in the library and want to study there are always a lot of visitors coming in, talking, and annoying the students and nothing is said about it; but, when I, or some other student speaks to another, or asks a question about a book, why one of the assistants dashes up and gives a mighty reprimand and threatens not to permit you to enter the library again without permission or something just as asinine. I truly, from the heart, think something should be done about this.

Biological Club Elects Heads for Coming Year

The Clayton-Grimes Biological Club met in Washington 100, Monday, April 27. The members were first entertained by Dr. R. C. Young of the Physics Department, who lectured on X-ray and its uses, especially those pertaining to biology. Refreshments were served, then the club proceeded to the election of officers. The names of candidates proposed for offices by the council of the club were announced, and nominations from the floor were received.

Succeeding Marjorie Moon as president is Alice Wiegand, who has long been active in the affairs of the club. James Stone, former treasurer, is now vice-president, filling that office left vacant by William R. Tyson. Virginia Swadley is new treasurer and Annis Wilkerson succeeds Betty Pratt as secretary. Edgar Wiegand and Oliver Emerson are assistant secretary and treasurer respectively. The faculty adviser is Miss Blank. The chairmen of the three standing committees are: Allwin Moore, Membership Committee, Ida Reilly, Program Committee, and Virginia Showalter, Refreshment Committee. Helen Stamper and Beth Dudley are representatives from the assembly of the club to the council, which is the governing body of the club.

The proposed trip through the Great Dismal Swamp has been abandoned because of inadequate facilities, but there will be a clam bake May 9, plans for which were discussed at the meeting Monday.

Frosh Co-Ed Debate Team Meets Hollins College

The Freshman Women's Debate Team made a trip Monday, April 27, to debate with the Freshman Women's Team at Hollins. The William and Mary debaters were represented by Eleanor Buchanan and Louise Lang. The question discussed was Resolved; That women receive better preparation for life in a school for women than in a co-educational school. Miss Buchanan and Miss Lang upheld the negative side and the Hollins debaters the affirmative side. The decision was in favor of the affirmative side by a vote of two to one. The decision was rendered by three prominent judges of Roanoke. Each speaker was limited to ten minutes and five minutes for rebuttal by one representative from each team.

This is the first intercollegiate debate in which Hollins College Freshman Women Debaters have participated and also the first for the William and Mary representatives. There was a large audience in attendance and much interest has been shown there on the art of debating. This debate brings the women's debate season to a close until the coming year.

GREEN SOX PLAY
NORTHERN TRIP

W&M Tracksters Engage In Last Dual Meet Of Year At Maryland U.

INDIANS LEAVE TODAY ON FIVE DAY NORTHERN TRIP

CLUB OPENS CAMPAIGN WITH DREXEL IN PHIL. AND ENDS WITH NAVY

Green Sox Engages Boston College On Monday and Harvard On Tuesday

Captain Bill Scott and his teammates have played their game in Williamsburg for this season and will leave tonight with the track team on the boat for their annual northern trip, during the course of which they are scheduled to encounter four tough clubs.

Tomorrow the Indians are due to meet the Drexel club in Philadelphia the second of the two games scheduled between the two teams this year. Drexel came down to Williamsburg in late March and returned to Philly on the short end of a 10-1 score, but judging from the frays the outfit has been engaging in up North, the Indians are in for a lot tougher opposition from the Quaker team. Last year, the Indians gained a similar decision over the Drexel aggregation in the first game of the year by a similar score of 10-1 only to go to Philly for the return game and lose by 4-1.

Monday finds the Braves meeting Boston College at Boston, the first and sole game of the year between the two teams. It is likely that Scott will be on the mound against the Eagles. The following day, the second day, the second game with Harvard will be played and Corky Sundin will probably be elected to do the hurdling for the Indian outfit. Wednesday finds the club engaging in the final game of the year with the Navy, Lefty White doing mound duty. The Middies slaughtered the Indians last year, 14-0, but if White is in his usual form, the Redskins are due to wipe out that defeat with plenty to spare. As the club hits the road, they have won twelve out of fourteen games, four frays having been postponed, all of which is a swell record. If the club comes through in these northern games, one of the best baseball records in W&M baseball is due for the books.

TRACK NUMERALS ARE AWARDED TO 25 FROSH

Freshmen Concluded Season Last Week With Apprentice Team

According to an announcement made by Coach Scrap Chandler, a total of twenty-five freshmen have been awarded numerals for performances during the past freshmen track season.

To be awarded numerals, the frosh must win a certain number of points throughout the season to win the numerals. One or two exceptions have been made in order to recognize those freshmen who have done enough work throughout the season to deserve the award.

The following freshmen will receive numerals: Henderson, Doane, Rice, Shaw, Heningway, Kibbe, Hart, Harrison, Martyn, Sparrow, MacDonald, Steffey, Rodman, Litwin, Quirk, Lawson, Johnson, Kritzman, Kuhs, Walker, Boeur, Palese, Upson, Perzekow and Hillman.

Corky Sundin Pitches Nice Game For Green Sox; Demarest, With Pair Of Hits, Leading Hitter

Coach Kellison's Green Sox took another Conference ball game last Monday, defeating the Hampden-Sydney Tigers by an impressive count of 6-1.

Despite the fact that the Tigers jumped off to a one run lead on a break in the opening frame, the Indians came back in the second and third innings to more than put the ball game on ice.

Demarest, with a pair of singles, led the Indian attack while Pat Harkins, relieving Corky Sundin on the mound in the eighth, held the opposition hitless for the remainder of the fray.

With Lefty White pitching another nice ball game, the Green Sox hammered out a second win over the Virginia Military Cadets by a score of 11-3.

The Cadets swung into a two run lead but the Indians came back in their half of the initial frame to score four runs, sewing up the ball game in the second inning by counting three times.

Buck Lacroix played one of the best games of his career, getting four hits. White struck out fourteen Cadets.

OUTFIT FAVORED TO WIN SIXTH VICTORY IN OLD LINER MEET

Maryland Has Been Beaten By Pair Of Virginia Teams; Indians Favored to Win

Scrap Chandler's trackmen engage in their last dual meet of the year when they engage the University of Maryland track aggregation in a meet to be held on the latter's field tomorrow afternoon. The Indians have won five out of six meets thus far and if paper strength means anything, the tricolor seems due to hand another defeat to the opposition.

The Maryland club has been beaten in two meets in Virginia, losing to Virginia Military Institute and Washington and Lee by convincing scores. Nevertheless she has several performers who are capable of pushing the tricolor to a good extent.

William and Mary will have the services of Moch Smithers, sprinter, in the meet tomorrow. The Indian flash was unable to compete in the Haverford meet due to a pulled muscle, an injury sustained in the recent meet with Richmond.

Whether or not Bill Scott will compete tomorrow is unknown. The club is due to meet Drexel in Philadelphia tomorrow and Scott will probably play for his club. With Smithers back in the fold, the Old Liners will not offer a great problem for Scrap Chandler and his sprinters.

The meet tomorrow is the last one before the Virginia Conference meet, which will be held here in Williamsburg on May 15 and 16.

W&M TENNIS PLAYERS SPLIT PAIR ON TRIP

William and Mary split a pair of games on the recent northern trip, losing a match to the Johns Hopkins outfit by a score of 6-1 only to come back and defeat the Maryland team on the following day by a count of 7-2.

Today the team meets Bridgewater on the local courts and tomorrow encounter stiffer opposition in the Washington and Lee team, both matches being played on the local courts.

The summaries of the Johns Hopkins and Maryland matches are as follows:

W&M-Johns Hopkins

Singles:
Goldberg, JH, defeated Lebow, 6-3, 7-5
Joslyn, W&M, defeated Farber, 6-4, 6-2.

GLEE CLUB TO PRESENT FARCE

The Men's Glee Club will present "Cleopatra," a musical farce in the Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium Wednesday evening, May 13, at 8:15. The comedy is a travesty on college life which has been produced successfully at other colleges.

Cleopatra, played by John Eggleston, is a college vamp who breaks the hearts of all the college heroes, including Anthony, Pompey and Caesar. The leading male role, William, is taken by Arthur McLawhon, who is also acting as student director. Preceding the presentation of the farce there will be a varied program of light Glee Club and instrumental numbers. The admission will be 25 cents.

RICHMOND DEFEATED 12-3 AS 19 SPIDERS WHIFF BEFORE WHITE

First Two Innings Big Ones As Indians Count Four In Each Frame; Scott Gets A Homer

The University of Richmond came, saw, and went, sorely defeated. "Lefty" White continued his marvelous pitching, this time striking out 19 of the visitors. The final score was 12 for the Indians and 3 for the Spiders.

A first inning run by the visitors when Sherman banded out a triple and was sacrificed home, made things appear as if they would be somewhat tense. But no sooner than William and Mary took its initial turn at bat when this apparition was severely shattered. It quickly faded away when the Braves added four more runs to their score in the following inning, and was beyond recall when, in the third, the number of tallies was increased to ten.

"Bill" Scott again gave way to a temptation to smack a straight fast ball into the football field, though when it hit a hurdle there and rebounded toward the chasing fielder, he barely beat it out at home plate despite his unusually fast sprinting. Scott and Sherman (of the visitors) both had a perfect day at bat, each netting three hits out of three times at bat.

"COLUMN BY BUD"

Guess that this Wesley Ferrell of the Cleveland Indians is looking pretty tough. As this copy goes to press, Wes has just won a 7-4 verdict for his club over Detroit, the fifth out of six games thus far. And one of those was a no-hit, no-run affair.

You very probably never even noticed that the United States is winning, or rather, has won a first round contest in the North American zone of Davis Cup play. Allison, Shields and Wood represented the U. S. It's funny, but one seldom ever hears of the U. S. outfit in its elimination contests, it being taken for granted that the U. S. and France will meet in the finals.

And for the third and last time, we still think that Brooklyn will win the National League bunting, but we won't give even money any more.

Johnny Weissmuller, one of the greatest swimmers the world has ever known, remarked of the new Harvard pool, "It is the best pool I ever had the privilege of swimming in." He ought to think so for he negotiated 100 yards world mark for the 100 in 51 seconds. Weissmuller's And speaking of fast times, the time of the quarter in the recent University of Southern California-Stanford meet of 48.2 compares pretty well with the world mark of 47.4, made way back in 1916 by J. E. "Ted" Meredith.

They tried to get Helen Wills to turn pro for $125,000 but the dean of women tennis players refused. This writer would almost turn violet for 125 grand.

Did you know that Bill Tilden never went beyond the second round of an intercollegiate tennis tournament while he was a member of the University of Pennsylvania.

In spite of the fact that this writer is from Boston, he feels sorry for the baseball fans who follow two certain clubs in the major loops, namely Cincinnati and the St. Louis Browns. The former, as this copy goes to press, has won two out of fourteen frays while the Browns have dropped ten out of a similar number. It looks like a miracle year for the Boston fans, for the Sox are due to leave the cellar for the less-fortunate (at this time) St. Louis outfit.

Brooklyn fans are the most loyal fans in the world. Despite the fact that their team lost about eight out of ten games in the first part of the season, they have stuck with their club which is beginning to hit its stride. A crowd of 35,316, the largest crowd to ever witness a game at Ebbets' Field, Brooklyn, saw the Robins take a close one from the Giants last Sunday.

Most of us will remember old George Godfrey, the Black Shadow of Leipersville, who, at one time, was a serious contender for the world heavyweight title. Old George has turned his talents to the gentle art of wrestling and seems to be providing the fans with plenty of amusement. Godfrey, unfortunately or fortunately as you may wish to call it has a tendency to forget that he is wrestling and starts to fight as he did in the days of old.

Vinnie Richards, tennis pro and outstanding contender for the world tennis pro title, had a tough one way back in '26.

It seems that Richards was selling life insurance as a side line to his regular business. He finally signed up D. P. Davis, owner and developer of Davis Island, for a $1,000,000 policy.

After getting Davis' signature, Vin departed for N. Y. to get the policy signed by the insurance company he was working for. This company refused to take the policy as did every other insurance company that Richards approached, each claiming that it was "a bad moral risk."

Says Vincent of the experience, "Boy, how I hated to miss that commission. It would have meant $7,500 a year to me for nine years, that policy. If that had gone through, I don't believe that I'd have been tempted to turn pro and tour with Lenglen and Mary Browne."

They may not believe that doughnuts are good food for athletes in training but here's an "athlete" that does. Elizabeth Bolla, a blooded race horse, delights in eating dunked doughnuts, bottled soda water, spaghetti, steak and all kinds of fruits.

The horse used to romp in a field in back of the Charles Holland home in New Orleans. The family was accustomed to eat on a balcony overlooking the field and it was here that Liz got the coffee habit, the "dunking habit" coming later.

And Liz Bolla is one athlete who breaks training and gets away with it. She won the inaugural handicap at Jefferson Park, the Pontchartrain handicap at the fair grounds in New Orleans and won four starts in a row before being brought to the Bowie, Maryland track for the Eastern campaign.

Take a look at the results on Maryland tracks and see if Elizabeth Bolla crashes through once in awhile.
