GAME, DINNER AND PARADE ON PROGRAM FOR HOMECOMING DAY: CAMPUS TO ASSUME GALA AIR

Williamsburg Will Decorate In Honor of Return of Alumni

FOUR PLAYS FRIDAY NIGHT

Alumni Urged to Notify Guy If They Can Return to Join In Day's Program

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Attention of all alumni is called to the blank form printed on Page 3, which they are asked to fill out and return as soon as possible if they plan on attending the Homecoming. This is to make it possible for the Alumni Office to estimate the number who will be in Williamsburg.

A larger crowd of alumni is coming back to Williamsburg for Homecoming day, November 2, than has returned at one time to William and Mary in the history of the College, according to officials of the Alumni Association who have completed the most comprehensive plans ever undertaken for a similar affair. According to present indications, Williamsburg will be thronged all day Saturday, and special preparations are being made to entertain and accommodate the returning students.

A parade and dinner Saturday have been added to the Homecoming program, which already included the George Washington football game and the production of four one-act plays in Phi Beta Kappa hall, according to George W. Guy, Alumni secretary. An informal reception in Phi Beta Kappa hall following girl's varsity hockey game with Sweet Briar college also is on the program.

The Homecoming Day program will open formally with a parade at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when it is expected former students of the college will group themselves beneath the banners of their respective classes and fall in line. Dr. Chandler and members of the Board of Visitors will lead the parade, which will include also floats representing the various phases of college life in Williamsburg.

Vanguard to Arrive Friday

For those alumni who are expected to arrive Friday and remain for the week-end, a program of four one-act plays will be given in Phi Beta Kappa

Williamsburg Slated to Hear Extraordinary Vocal Quartet Next Friday

William and Mary students next Friday night will have an opportunity to hear the famous Kedroff quartet, acclaimed by critics one of the "most wonderful phenomenon of the vocal world today". The distinguished singers, who have filled 150 American concert engagements, will sing in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 8 P. M., and their appearance at William and Mary is made possible through the generosity of Mr. Charles R. Crane.

The Kedroff quartet sang at William and Mary in 1927 and were enthusiastically received. On March 4, 1928, appearing by special invitation of Walter Damrosch with the New York Symphony Orchestra at Mecca Temple, they were recalled eight times before the curtain and created what the New York World termed "nothing less than a furore".

Edward Moore, reviewing their Chicago debut for the Chicago Tribune, wrote, "They call themselves the Kedroff Quartet, only that and nothing more, but they are the most extraordinary four men who ever blended voices in the direction of an audience."

Opera Star Who Sings in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium Next Monday Night

Frances Peralta, noted for the fine quality of her soprano voice, will sing in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 8 o'clock Monday night, under the auspices of William and Mary chapter of the American Association of University Women. Miss Peralta is considered one of the finest sopranos in Opera today, and has achieved recognition both here and abroad. Tickets, which are on sale at the College Shop and College Pharmacy, are fifty cents, general, and seventy-five cents, reserved.

BUSINESS BOARD TRYOUTS

The business manager of The Flat Hat wishes to see all men trying out for the business board tonight at 7:30 o'clock in his office in Citizenship Building.

Duties of these men consist mainly in the advertising side of The Flat Hat. Men successful in this work earn two college credits for two years.

NEW GREEK WOMEN TO RECEIVE BIDS - NEXT WEDNESDAY

Rushing Ends Monday Night At 8:30 o'clock; Large Number to Be Bid

PLEDGE SERVICES AT 5 O'CLOCK

Women's fraternity rushing will end Monday night at 8:30 o'clock. Tuesday will be silence day, during which time no conversations are to be allowed with fraternity women and rushees. Formal bids will be delivered the rushees at their rooms on Wednesday morning, and the pledges are to report to their respective chapters at 5 o'clock that afternoon. Indications are that this rushing season will exceed in numbers any of the past.

Rushing by dormitories ended last night, and fraternities parties will end Monday afternoon. Rushing on the campus is governed by the Pan

YEAR OF PROMISE AHEAD OF LIT. SAYS OCTOBER REVIEWER

Welling Likes Wide Variety of Material In First Issue Out Today

NEW SEAL ON COVER

By Truman C. Welling

The October issue of the William and Mary Literary Magazine gives the readers a chance to really see what literary ability there is among the students this year. There is a sea story, there are poems, essays, short stories, and a rather satirical introduction, which all reflect the trends of thought among the literary group that that has been so admirably re-born in the last two years.

A decided change in the cover of the magazine is the use of the original college seal, which in the opinion of the reviewer, is a marked improvement over last year's.

To continue the plan newly inaugurated last fall, a front piece by Richard Arden, to illustrate Fales' short story, "Here to Hesperides", is fairly adequate in that it has feeling for its subject.

Fales' contribution, "Here to Hesperides", is the story of the unusual adventures of an old freight ship which, after being deserted by all of its crew but two, is safely piloted to port. The story is rich in adventure and contains some splendid characterizations such as an old ship captain, a conservative stock holder, and two desperate seamen.

Much satire and irony is mixed into Robert Moses' "Strength", an interlude dealing with a woman who worshipped strength, and labored under a delusion that she could handle and rule all men. This is an odd piece of work and no doubt grew out of some personal affair.

Cleverly written and expressed are the "Essays of Marcameron", by Peter Craven, who sets forth in an entirely original style some of his own philosophies which are common to most everyone with the nature of Shelley whom the author desires to impersonate.

Julia Verner in "Shelley and the Wind" justifies the noted poet's physical weakness by showing the strength of his mind, and she goes on to tell how much use the author makes of wind in all his poetry to bring out the different sides of his nature. The essay shows a profound study of Shelley and his works.

Most important in the poetry contributions are Brown's "Dark Dawn", and Elizabeth Lawder's "On Observ-

C. L. EASON FILLS VACANCY IN MEN'S STUDENT BODY

Student Body Elects Mallowney and Douglas to Fill Honor Council Positions

Charles L. Eason, of Hickory, non-fraternity nominee for Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Body was chosen at the election which took place in Monroe Hall, Monday, October 14. Mr. Eason was elected to fill the vacancy left by Frank B. Graven who automatically succeeded Gordon Campbell, vice-president elect of last spring, who failed to return to school.

Out of 767 men students, 305 cast votes. Mr. Eason polled 129, while Robert Price received 105 votes and John V. Bauserman 66 votes.

Richard D. Mallowney, Brookline, Mass., was elected Junior Representative to the Honor Council, defeating Howard Roche of Newport News.

Otis Douglas, Reedville, was elected Sophomore Representative to the Honor Council, defeating Garnett Smither of Suffolk.

FRESHMEN SHINE TONIGHT IN PHI BETA

All freshmen and transfers are required to attend the 236th session of Supreme Court tonight in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 7:15 o'clock. New men are advised to bring twenty-five cents for the court entrance fee.

The court functionaries are: Judge. Paul A. Ryan, assisted by F. Samuel Wilcox, Jr.

Sheriffs. William Fields, Granville Gresham, and James Wallace. Prosecuting attorneys. John H. Waters, Jr., Harry Light, E. C. Shortt, and Moses Schwetz.

Defending attorneys. John V. Bauserman, Yelverton O. Kent, and Lawrence N. Morscher.

Clerk of Courts. Leon P. Lewis. Electrocutoner. Simon Fox.

Jury. Eason, Graven, Lorentzen, Bradford, Fales, Trice, Covington, White, Silverman, Welling, Cushman, and Cook.

No freshmen must under any circumstances leave college before Supreme Court is ended. Each freshman is checked at Supreme Court and any one who is not present at that time will be dealt with accordingly.

WOMEN'S DEBATE TRYOUTS

The Women's Debate Council will hold its second tryout for the varsity debating team Tuesday afternoon, October 22, at 5 o'clock in Washington hall.

This tryout is being held to give the girls who were unable to attend the last tryout a chance to make the squad.

All girls who are interested in trying out are asked to report to either Louise James or Helen Maffett as soon as possible. The schedule for this year is quite extensive and will necessitate several teams. This tryout will give every girl in college an opportunity to show her debating qualities.

SCHEDULE GROUP FORMED

William and Mary has established a schedule committee for the purpose of rearranging and arranging schedules for students, according to Dr. E. M. Gwathmey, chairman of the committee.

All students wishing to arrange or change schedules must see Dr. Gwathmey in Washington 208, on Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock. Organizations desiring rooms for its meetings should also see Dr. Gwathmey, it was stated.

FULL HOLIDAY TOMORROW

No classes tomorrow, the day of the V. P. I.-William and Mary game, according to a report issued from the president's office.

The special train will leave Williamsburg at 9:30 A. M. for Richmond, and returning will leave Richmond at 11:30 P. M. The round trip fare will be $1.50. For students who wish to remain in Richmond until Sunday, round trip tickets will be sold for $2.00, which will permit them to return on any of the Sunday trains.

The A. A. U. W. Brings Frances Peralta

Monday night William and Mary will have the opportunity to hear Frances Peralta, soprano, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, in Phi Beta Kappa hall. This is to be the first of a number of concerts by outstanding artists this year. Miss Peralta is known throughout the world for the quality of her voice.

Artists of calibre in any field find their way down the Peninsula all too infrequently; hence it is somewhat of an undertaking to bring high talent to Williamsburg. The William and Mary chapter of the American Association of University Women is to be complimented on its efforts to give the College an opportunity to hear good music at this and later occasions. A large, appreciative audience should hear Miss Peralta.

Concerning the Open Forum Column

The Flat Hat wishes to call the attention of its readers to the Open Forum column which is set aside each week for the expression of opinions of its readers. It is the belief of the editors that this is one of the most important features of the paper. All readers, whether students or alumni, are invited to contribute.

A student walked out of The Flat Hat office the other day, highly incensed at what he termed discriminatory action by the staff in refusing to publish a letter he had addressed to the Open Forum column two weeks before. He was informed that the letter was not suitable for publication, but that if it were rewritten and certain extreme statements modified, it would be acceptable. As might have been expected, the letter was never rewritten, nor was it ever published.

The problem of what should and what should not be considered matter suitable for publication occurs in the office of The Flat Hat frequently. The letter submitted by the student in question was of an over-critical nature, filled with what seemed unjustified condemnation of a feature of college life in Williamsburg. The writer was informed that the students and alumni readers of The Flat Hat are anxious to hear worthy criticism, but have no time nor money to waste on unreasonable letters.

The Open Forum ought to be a valuable column. In the past its privilege frequently has been abused. It is to be hoped material offered for publication in this section henceforth will be of such sound, progressive and at the same time intelligently conservative nature that the Open Forum really will become a mirror of what William and Mary men and women are thinking about.

The O. D. K. Resolution

Omicron Delta Kappa has passed a resolution in which each of its members has pledged himself to refrain from using shortcuts across the lawns of the campus. To the outsider interested in the appearance of the College grounds, it would seem that O. D. K., whose chief purpose is to work for the good of William and Mary, has taken a highly important step.

This, members of O. D. K. explain, does not mean they have pledged themselves never to walk on the grass. Their action concerns merely those abused sections of the College lawns, trodden down daily beneath hundreds of feet going and coming from classes or various campus buildings, with the result that unsightly paths are formed. It would be well if all students were to emulate the example O. D. K. has set and avoid the use of paths or stretches of grass that appear badly worn.

It would not seem unreasonable, if the student body is to cooperate with the administration in maintaining the good appearance of the campus, to expect the College landscapists to place shrubbery or well-designed, suitable barriers where they would be liable to check path-forming tendencies. The good intentions of the student body will thus be bolstered up to the mutual advantage of all.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon has called a halt to "hip-slapping" by Niagara customs officials, according to a letter to Samuel G. Houghton, of Buffalo, except when "reasonable suspicion" exists that an effort is being made to smuggle contraband into the country.

New York—Office workers of New York City may have to wield the sponge and squeegee on their own windows this week. A strike of the city's 2,000 window cleaners was ordered by the Window Cleaners' Protective Association to take effect Wednesday.

London—Seated in an invalid chair, the blind and partly paralyzed composer, Frederick Delius bowed his head before the ten-minute ovation of a huge audience at Queen's Hall, centre of London's musical activities, at the opening of the "Delius festival".

New York.—An 80-year-old spinster, Miss Pauline Poppitz, was found dead of natural causes in her $12-a-month tenement in Brooklyn which upon police examination was found to contain bonds, mortgages, and bank books representing a wealth of half a million dollars. Among the valuables were 340 bonds worth $100 each, of the state of Virginia.

Charlottesville, Va.—Thousands of volumes consisting of subjects ranging from economic works to biographies, from theological works to medical studies and a number of almost priceless manuscripts such as autograph letters and works by the American patriots were contributed to the University of Virginia during the past year according to the report of Harry Clemens, librarian. There were 385 donors listed from all over the world.

Simla, India—The fall of Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, into the hands of Shah Wali, brother of Nadir Khan, was confirmed by dispatches.

Mexico City—After heated debate, the Chamber of Deputies rejected an article of the national labor project, which would have compelled every able citizen to learn a trade, art or profession and exercise it in the republic for at least a year.

Chicago—A warrant was sworn out by Alphonse Volchaert charging Walter Knippenberg with stealing a haystack. Volchaert said the haystack was given him by Knippenberg in payment of a debt and he removed it to his farm. Later it disappeared.

Cardington, England—Great Britain's hundred-passenger dirigible R-101, which has been subjected to cross winds of criticism almost since the time it was decided to build her five years ago, was finally launched in perfect calm and moored at her mast expeditiously.

Sydney — Permission has been sought from the Government for admittance to Australia of a troupe of Negro entertainers from the United States. Last year there was a public outcry against some American Negro musicians.

Washington—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald interrupted his conferences with President Hoover to tell Congress of the the United States that there could be no war between the two great English-speaking nations if each did its duty in making effective the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war.

In Which We Are in a Very Bad Humor

Somebody has been playing us practical jokes. Each day for the week someone has sneaked into the castle after hours and deliberately played a Scotch joke on our desk. Not only that. We have a Spike on our desk which we ruthlessly impinge worthy thoughts, valued contributions (such as last week's Elogy) and whatnots of only the very best sort. It was on a Spike that the gross intruder left his jokes. Feature our wrath at find each day some old Scotch jokes polluting the atmosphere, and not even ones at that. For instance there was the one about the Scotch author of the typewriter ribbons. You know that one, of course; he wanted all his children to be daughters so he could use all his old, worn-out typewriter ribbons for their hair . . .

They left us that joke twice; once on a Monday morning, and once on a Wednesday.

As if it was funny.

There was another one Tuesday about Sandy McPherson. Sandy was on his way to Glasgow (Why Glasgow?), and on the way he got thirsty, so he took out a bottle and drew the cork. Just as he was about to take a taste his fellow-traveller in clerical garb addressed him.

"Excuse me, sir, but I am 65 years old, and have never tasted a drop of whiskey."

"Dinna worry yersel," said Sandy; "you're not going to start now."

On Thursday we found a clipping to inform us that the height of rigid economy is a Scotchman gone to heaven. And to add insult to injury, on Friday we learned the reason Scotchmen wear kilts is so they won't have to get them pressed.

On Sunday our half-wit intruder, no doubt feeling a religious urge, got biblical. Look at this:

"When a Scotchman casts his bread upon the waters he wears a oastie suit."

Rotten.

There was one, though about the Scotchman and the clutch. Once there was a Scotchman who bought an automobile because the clutch was thrown in.

Not so bad.

On the whole, though, there's no excuse for it. All the Scotch in us rises to protest. Why Scotch jokes, anyhow? How does it happen they don't write jokes about Icelanders or Mexicans. That is a good thought. Some day we shall write a joke about an Icelander, or a Mexican. For thousands of years, so far as we know, Scotchmen have borne all the brunt of the world's worst humor. It's about time for a change, and we might as well change it as anybody. From now on we're off Scotch jokes. And we don't like people who tell them.

We told our private poet all about it, and it at once obligingly responded with an Original Old English Ballad, which we present here with:

Ballad of Ye Downhearted Scots
We know a man who tells Scotch jokes
We hope he
Croaks.

Pratty Preen.

Thank you, Preen; that makes us feel better. We're going to return the compliment, with an original poem entitled "Blokcs":

People Who Tell Scotch jokes
Are blokcs.

Entirely Original.

That's pretty good. As we read it over we know how the proud hen feels when it looks at the egg it has just laid.

We'll modify our previous statement. There's one thing we know besides Scotchmen that shares the brunt of the world's cheap humor: the city of Toano.

But we'd not be guilty of making jokes at the expense of noble Toano.

Pratty Preen, who you probably know is our personal poet (and if you don't know it you ought to be ashamed of yourself), showed us a telegram

OPEN FORUM LETTERS

Readers of The Flat Hat are invited to express their thoughts on current campus affairs in the Open Forum.

"RHB" Answers "IPQ's" Letter In Regard to "Ducs"

Who is this lowly freshman that Mr. I. P. Q. so harshly attacks? "Yeaverily, if he were but better understood! How much misery might be saved him and how much might be made out of him if the upper classmen adequately appreciated his problems, perplexities and dilemmas.

Usually, it is his first break with home ties. Yesterday he was a nabob under the parental wing; today he is a man, left with unsubstantial spiritual props. He feels giddy perched at this height without support.

He is emerging from his adolescence. He is unreasonably sensitive and shy. By way of compensation—as a cloak to conceal the timidity of his cuticle—he assumes a cockiness that is wholly artificial.

He has had little of harsh criticism and rebuffs. He is ill prepared to yet receive them. It is folly to claim that some hard usage is the best thing that can happen to him.

He can best be handled by older men taking him in their charge and putting forth the effort to assist him in finding himself. A close and intimate friendship is the first essential.

Out of it the freshman will absorb something of the attitudes, the temper, the technique of adjustment of the older man. He'll lean upon his protector at first but that will diminish. Out of the relationship he will in due time emerge, a more complete being, with a degree of adjustment to his environment proportionate to the limitations of himself and his companion.

"SCY" Urges Students to Be Quiet Around Library

While studying in the library evenings it is very disturbing to have noises from the outside come drifting in. I am sure that students talking loudly or whistling in the vicinity of the library would refrain from creating this disturbance if they were reminded of the fact that silence is one of the first requirements of good study conditions.

"SSS" Praises "Fighting Virginians" For Its Football Team

I think it is time for students of William and Mary to show their appreciation of the wonderful football team we have this year. We should show them we are proud of them, because there is no reason in the world why we can't have another state championship this year.

and Henry games we should realize that we have a team that deserves the name "Fighting Virginians". Students of this college should give the team their whole-hearted support.

"OPT" Wants Holiday for Game With V. P. I. Tomorrow

As all of us know, we have a game with V. P. I. in Richmond tomorrow. I read in a Richmond paper a few days ago that the entire corps of cadets is coming to help their team win that game.

Usually, it is his first break with home ties. Yesterday he was a nabob under the parental wing; today he is a man, left with unsubstantial spiritual props. He feels giddy perched at this height without support.

He has had little of harsh criticism and rebuffs. He is ill prepared to yet receive them. It is folly to claim that some hard usage is the best thing that can happen to him.

"Blackbeard" Was Never In Williamsburg, Says Kibler

I was surprised to see the "exploded" story that "Blackbeard" was once a prisoner in the Old Colonial prison in the October 11 issue of The Flat Hat. His piratical crew only were confined here in 1718.

It is of far greater importance and more significant to say that Governor Henry Hamilton, of Fort Detroit, captured at Vincennes, Indiana, by George Rogers Clark in 1779, was confined in irons in this old "public gaol", while Jefferson was governor of Virginia, along with other British officers, sent here under heavy guard, from the northwest.

"CTJ" Takes-Up for "Scrubs" Have to Pay for V. P. I. Game

It has been pointed out to me that the members of the football team who are not going to be on the field in uniform have had to purchase tickets to see the game. It does not seem possible that the "scrubs" who have been out on the field all week working hard against the varsity team in all kinds of weather in order to help the varsity to get into shape to be able to beat V. P. I. must pay a dollar for a seat.

HODGES TALKS TO TRANSFERS

In an address to the men transfers of William and Mary last Tuesday, Dr. W. T. Hodges, Dean of Men, traced the history of the college from early colonial days to the present time.

NEW MEMBERS CHOSEN TO H2E

At the last meeting of the H2E Club, the Physical Education society, five members were elected. The new girls include Sue Cornick, of Yorktown, Lois Robert of Bristol, Hazel Storch of New York City, Edith Stevens of Roanoke, and Steve Kirk of Norfolk.

Weddings

A recent marriage of interest was that of Miss Mary Yancey Cabaniss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cabaniss, of Petersburg, to James Malcolm Bridges, of Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bridges, of Williamsburg.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin and duchess lace with a veil of illusion caught with orange blossoms. Her flowers were Easter lilies.

The bride had as her maid-of-honor Miss Margaret Mann, of Petersburg. The groom had as best man his brother, Lee Bridges, of Staunton, James Parson, Billy Person, and Nick Carter acted as ushers.

Miss Cabaniss, '29, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Mr. Bridges, '25, Kappa Sigma are popular alumni of William and Mary.

Mrs. W. C. Lam of Norfolk, was the guest of her daughter Katherine at Jefferson Hall.

Elizabeth Rogers of Newport News, visited her sister, Mary Rogers, at Jefferson Hall.

PRACTICE HOUSE

Mary Thierry of Roanoke, visited her sister, Iris Thierry, at the Practice House.

Twenty Eight States Represented On Campus

According to a report from H. L. Bridges, Registrar there are twenty-eight state and six foreign countries represented by men and women this session.

Every section of the United States is represented. There are students coming as far away as California, Texas and Florida.

The number of registration has increased several points since last announced. At this date there are 786 men students and 632 women students making a total of 1418.

Mr. Bridges, announced that class rolls for the session are now being made up. He states that according to the rules of classifications a student who has not completed his entrance requirements will be classified as a Sophomore regardless of the time they expect to graduate.

EDITH BAER CLUB TO PRESENT SHOW

Home Economics Students Planning to Give Colossal Fashion Show Soon

The first meeting of the Edith Baer Club, honorary organization for students majoring or minoring in Home Economics, was held last week. The objective of this organization is the promotion of scholarship, and a more complete knowledge along home economical lines.

Every year a party is given in the practice house for the new Freshman girls who are just beginning the subject, in order that they may know of the existence of such a club, and the requirements for membership, which are based entirely on grades, personality, and initiative. It is impossible with such a small department to cover completely all the material necessary for the mastery of the course, and the meetings of the Edith Baer Club are indispensable as a means of obtaining outside information, for besides being sociable they have a distinctly educational value.

One of the latest projects recently launched by the members is a fashion show to be given some time in the near future. The models and gowns are to be obtained from Greentree's store in Richmond, and the feature is to be staged in the Phi Beta Kappa Hall. No definite announcements have yet been made, but the Home Economics Department promises that the show will be one of the most attractive ever staged at William and Mary.

WILLIAM AND MARY STUDENTS ATTEND MANY CHURCHES

Present Student Body Composed of Students Representing Sixteen Different Denominations

Among the number of students at William and Mary there are sixteen religious denominations represented, according to a report from the registrar's office.

The Methodist students head the list with 325. Following are: Episcopalians with 294, Baptist with 248, and Presbyterian with 170. Other denominations represented to a considerable degree are: Catholic, 97; Hebrew, 95; Disciples, 39; Lutheran, 18; Congregationalist, 16.

Services for these students are held at the various churches in the town of Williamsburg which provide religious and social entertainment.

GIRL SCOUT LEADER GIVES COURSE HERE

Miss Werner Gives Course In Leadership Here Last Week; Investure Held Friday Night

Under the supervision of Miss Werner, the regional director of the Girl Scout Leader's Training Course, a short course for girls who are interested in leadership work has been given. The course ran from September 30th to October 5th. During this time they covered the aims and ideals of the Girl Scouts, also how to organize and conduct the troops.

Meetings were held each night in the Jefferson Gymnasium. Each of these was a complete Scout meeting in itself. All literature which would aid a leader in her work was discussed. Games and songs were features of the meetings.

Miss Werner said, "the object of these Leadership Courses in the Colleges is to promote the work of the Scouts and to arouse the interest of the people in all sections of the country."

Courses were started seven years ago when a grant was received from the Lauris Spellman-Rockefeller Memorial. This expired two years ago, but due to other large sums of money the work has been able to continue.

Friday night Investure was held in the gymnasium. The Williamsburg Troop was invited to attend this gathering. Among those who were invested are: Anna Sollenberger, Marie Fries, Louise Hogan, Annie Laurie Rives, Annis Wilkerson, Virginia Romm.

"THE MOLLUSC"

since the opening of the fall term, marks the earliest fall major production the William and Mary players yet have presented. The production also is notable for the short, intense period of rehearsal which has necessarily replaced the usual thirty day period of preparation.

The cast includes only four actors, all of whom have appeared frequently on the William and Mary stage. The cast is: Patruchia Clarke, as Mrs. Baxter, "molluscular" wife of an English business man; Dimi Wallack as Tom Kemp, young Englishman, returning from Colorado with an enterprising American air; DeEtte Jones as Miss Roberts, young and interesting governess, victim of Mrs. Baxter's tendency to induce others to get things done and then "by some mental process—to think she has done them herself"; and Edward D. Fales, Jr., as Mr. Baxter, who has succumbed to his wife's "humberging" for so many years that he find himself powerless to act against her deadening influence.

Tickets to "The Mollusc" may be purchased from any member of Theta Alpha Phi or the Dramatic Club, and will be on sale at Phi Beta Kappa hall tonight. Prices are fifty cents for general admission and seventy-five cents for reserved seats.

TICKETS FOR V. P. I. GAME ON SALE NOW

Tickets for the William and Mary-V. P. I. game will be on sale at the College Shop today and tomorrow from four to six. Students are urged to get their tickets at this time. Tickets for the game are one dollar for students and two dollars to others.

GAME, DINNER AND PARADE ON PROGRAM FOR HOMECOMING DAY: CAMPUS TO ASSUME GALA AIR

Williamsburg Will Decorate In Honor of Return of Alumni

FOUR PLAYS FRIDAY NIGHT

Alumni Urged to Notify Guy If They Can Return to Join In Day's Program

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Attention of all alumni is called to the blank form printed on Page 3, which they are asked to fill out and return as soon as possible if they plan on attending the Homecoming. This is to make it possible for the Alumni Office to estimate the number who will be in Williamsburg.

A larger crowd of alumni is coming back to Williamsburg for Homecoming day, November 2, than has returned at one time to William and Mary in the history of the College, according to officials of the Alumni Association who have completed the most comprehensive plans ever undertaken for a similar affair. According to present indications, Williamsburg will be thronged all day Saturday, and special preparations are being made to entertain and accommodate the returning students.

A parade and dinner Saturday have been added to the Homecoming program, which already included the George Washington football game and the production of four one-act plays in Phi Beta Kappa hall, according to George W. Guy, Alumni secretary. An informal reception in Phi Beta Kappa hall following girl's varsity hockey game with Sweet Briar college also is on the program.

The Homecoming Day program will open formally with a parade at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when it is expected former students of the college will group themselves beneath the banners of their respective classes and fall in line. Dr. Chandler and members of the Board of Visitors will lead the parade, which will include also floats representing the various phases of college life in Williamsburg.

Vanguard to Arrive Friday

For those alumni who are expected to arrive Friday and remain for the week-end, a program of four one-act plays will be given in Phi Beta Kappa

SCHEDULE GROUP FORMED

William and Mary has established a schedule committee for the purpose of rearranging and arranging schedules for students, according to Dr. E. M. Gwathmey, chairman of the committee.

All students wishing to arrange or change schedules must see Dr. Gwathmey in Washington 208, on Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock. Organizations desiring rooms for its meetings should also see Dr. Gwathmey, it was stated.

Williamsburg Slated to Hear Extraordinary Vocal Quartet Next Friday

William and Mary students next Friday night will have an opportunity to hear the famous Kedroff quartet, acclaimed by critics one of the "most wonderful phenomenon of the vocal world today". The distinguished singers, who have given the American concert engagements, will sing in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 8 P. M., and their appearance at William and Mary is made possible through the generosity of Mr. Charles R. Crane.

The Kedroff quartet sang at William and Mary in 1927 and were enthusiastically received. On March 4, 1928, appearing by special invitation of Walter Damrosch with the New York Symphony Orchestra at Mecca Temple, they were recalled eight times before the curtain and created what the New York World termed "nothing less than a furore".

Edward Moore, reviewing their Chicago debut for the Chicago Tribune, wrote, "They call themselves the Kedroff Quartet, only that and nothing more, but they are the most extraordinary four men who ever blended voices in the direction of an audience."

Opera Star Who Sings in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium Next Monday Night

Frances Peralta, noted for the fine quality of her soprano voice, will sing in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 8 o'clock Monday night, under the auspices of William and Mary chapter of the American Association of University Women. Miss Peralta is considered one of the finest sopranos in Opera today, and has achieved recognition both here and abroad. Tickets, which are on sale at the College Shop and College Pharmacy, are fifty cents, general, and seventy-five cents, reserved.

BUSINESS BOARD TRYOUTS

The business manager of The Flat Hat wishes to see all men trying out for the business board tonight at 7:30 o'clock in his office in Citizenship Building.

Duties of these men consist mainly in the advertising side of The Flat Hat. Men successful in this work earn two college credits for two years.

Women's fraternity rushing will end Monday night at 8:30 o'clock. Tuesday will be silence day, during which time no conversations are to be allowed with fraternity women and rushees. Formal bids will be delivered the rushees at their rooms on Wednesday morning, and the pledges are to report to their respective chapters at 5 o'clock that afternoon. Indications are that this rushing season will exceed in numbers any of the past.

Rushing by dormitories ended last night, and fraternities parties will end Monday afternoon. Rushing on the campus is governed by the Pan

YEAR OF PROMISE AHEAD OF LIT, SAYS OCTOBER REVIEWER

Welling Likes Wide Variety of Material In First Issue Out Today

NEW SEAL ON COVER

By Truman C. Welling

The October issue of the William and Mary Literary Magazine gives the readers a chance to really see what literary ability there is among the students this year. There is a sea story, there are poems, essays, short stories, and a rather satirical "judé", which all reflect the trends of thought among the literary group that that has been so admirably re-born in the last two years.

A decided change in the cover of the magazine is the use of the original college seal, which in the opinion of the reviewer, is a marked improvement over last years'.

To continue the plan newly inaugurated last fall, a front piece by Richard Arden, to illustrate Fales' short story, "Here to Hesperides", is fairly adequate in that it has feeling for its subject.

Fales' contribution, "Here to Hesperides", is the story of the unusual adventures of an old freight ship which, after being deserted by all of its crew but two, is safely piloted to port. The story is rich in adventure and contains some splendid characterizations such as an old ship captain, a conservative stock holder, and two desperate seamen.

Much satire and irony is mixed into Robert Moses' "Strength", an interlude dealing with a woman who worshipped strength, and labored under a delusion that she could handle and rule all men. This is an odd piece of work and no doubt grew out of some personal affair.

Cleverly written and expressed are the "Essays of Marcameron", by Peter Craven, who sets forth in an entirely original style some of his own philosophies which are common to most everyone with the nature of Shelley whom the author desires to impersonate.

Julia Verner in "Shelley and the Wind" justifies the noted poet's physical weakness by showing the strength of his mind, and she goes on to tell how much use the author makes of wind in all his poetry to bring out the different sides of his nature. The essay shows a profound study of Shelley and his works.

Most important in the poetry contributions are Brown's "Dark Dawn", and Elizabeth Lawder's "On Observ-

C. L. EASON FILLS VACANCY IN MEN'S STUDENT BODY

Student Body Elects Mallowney and Douglas to Fill Honor Council Positions

Charles L. Eason, of Hickory, non-fraternity nominee for Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Body was chosen at the election which took place in Monroe Hall, Monday, October 14. Mr. Eason was elected to fill the vacancy left by Frank B. Graven

Campbell, vice-president elect of last spring, who failed to return to school.

Out of 767 men students, 305 cast votes. Mr. Eason polled 129, while Robert Price received 105 votes and John V. Bauserman 66 votes.

Richard D. Mallowney, Brookline, Mass., was elected Junior Representative to the Honor Council, defeating Howard Roche of Newport News.

Otis Douglas, Reedville, was elected Sophomore Representative to the Honor Council, defeating Garnett Smither of Suffolk.

FRESHMEN SHINE TONIGHT IN PHI BETA

All freshmen and transfers are required to attend the 236th session of Supreme Court tonight in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 7:15 o'clock. New men are advised to bring twenty-five cents for the court entrance fee.

The court functionaries are: Judge. Paul A. Ryan, assisted by F. Samuel Wilcox, Jr.

Sheriffs, William Fields, Granville Gresham, and James Wallace.

Prosecuting attorneys, John H. Waters, Jr., Harry Light, E. C. Shortt, and Moses Schwetz.

Defending attorneys, John V. Bauserman, Yelverton O. Kent, and Lawrence N. Morscher.

Clerk of Courts, Leon P. Lewis. Electrocuter, Simon Fox.

Jury, Eason, Graven, Lorentzen, Bradford, Fales, Trice, Covington, White, Silverman, Welling, Cushman, and Cook.

No freshmen must under any circumstances leave college before Supreme Court is ended. Each freshman is checked at Supreme Court and any one who is not present at that time will be dealt with accordingly.

WOMEN'S DEBATE TRYOUTS

The Women's Debate Council will hold its second tryout for the varsity debating team Tuesday afternoon, October 22, at 5 o'clock in Washington hall.

This tryout is being held to give the girls who were unable to attend the last tryout a chance to make the squad.

All girls who are interested in trying out are asked to report to either Louise James or Helen Maffett as soon as possible. The schedule for this year is quite extensive and will necessitate several teams. This tryout will give every girl in college an opportunity to show her debating qualities.

FULL HOLIDAY TOMORROW

No classes tomorrow, the day of the V. P. L.-William and Mary game, according to a report issued from the president's office.

The special train will leave Williamsburg at 9:30 A. M. for Richmond, and returning will leave Richmond at 11:30 P. M. The round trip fare will be $1.50. For students who wish to remain in Richmond until Sunday, round trip tickets will be sold for $2.00, which will permit them to return on any of the Sunday trains.

ELABORATE PLANS UNDER WAY FOR HOMECOMING NOV. 2; GEORGE WASHINGTON NIGHT GAME, PARADE, PLAYS, DINNER AND RECEPTIONS FEATURE PROGRAM

hall Friday night at 8:15. Specially reduced rates for alumni have been announced by the William and Mary Players, who are presenting the plays.

Saturday, fraternity and sorority houses will hold open house all afternoon, and Saturday night at 7 o'clock visiting alumni will attend a dinner in the College Refectory, at which time they will be welcomed by President Chandler. Robert M. Newton, president of the board of managers of the Alumni Association, will make a response.

After dinner alumni will go to Cary Field for the night football game at which William and Mary's varsity, which so far has been beaten only by Navy, will clash with George Washington University. A special rate of one dollar has been put in effect by the Athletic Association for alumni.

Alumni are urged to take advantage of this and send their ticket orders with cash to the Alumni Office, Williamsburg.

Urged to Notify Association

It is important, according to Mr. Guy, that all alumni who can return for Homecoming Day fill in the blank which appears elsewhere in The Flat Hat and mail it to the Alumni Office as soon as possible. This is important so the Association may know how many returning students it must prepare to accommodate it was explained.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements believe that November 2 will be one of the most colorful days in the recent history of the College. Williamsburg will be decorated for the occasion and every effort will be made to make the stay of returning students enjoyable, according to Mr. Guy. Visits are being arranged to various new buildings on the campus, including the new dormitories, Washington and Rodgers Hall, the Main building, which now is in the process of being restored at a cost of $400,000, and similar points of interest to students who have not returned for several years.

The Wooing of Mr. Winn by the Editor, Fay P. LeCompte, deals with a man whose poetic temperament requires someone else to make up his mind. There may be men who wait for the young lady to propose, but they are not usually heard of.

Judging from the first issue of the Magazine the staff should have a most successful year.

MOSES' REBELLION TO BE PRESENTED

Little Theatre League to Produce Play Written by Robert Moses, Student Here

G. E. BROOKS TO DIRECT PLAY

To be in keeping with the Williamsburg restoration, the Little Theatre League is planning to produce during the latter part of November, Robert Moses' "Rebellion", a play which won the fifty dollar prize offered last year by the League for the best piece of historical drama with at least one scene in Williamsburg.

The theme of the play is the rebellion of Bacon against Governor Berkeley, which took place the latter part of the seventeenth century. The first scene is laid in James City (Jamestown) at the meeting of Governor's council. The inhabitants are in a state of panic over the Indian Massacres which young Bacon is trying to subdue. The second scene is laid in Berkeley's Palace at Green Springs, about four miles west of Williamsburg, and the last scene takes place in the old House of Burgesses which was situated here in town.

According to Mr. Brooks, who is to direct the play, Moses' prize work is an excellent piece of dramatic literature and should be an overwhelming success.

The cast which is to be chosen from faculty and town people is composed of about forty persons including of course the minor roles. Such a group dressed in cavalier and Indian costumes will undoubtedly present a colorful scene.

Since Williamsburg was the home of the first theatre in America it is most appropriate and encouraging to see the Little Theatre League really amounting to something and producing a historical play. Both Mr. Moses and the League are to be congratulated.

BOOKS PRESENTED TO LIBRARY

A valuable collection of books has been presented to the library of William and Mary by Mrs. Babbie Myers Bull, widow of the late William E. Bull, according to Dr. E. G. Swem, librarian. Mr. Bull was an alumnus of William and Mary, having taken the Bachelor of Arts degree in 1925 and Bachelor of Law degree in 1927. Mrs. Bull was awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree in 1926.

A book plate has been prepared for the books in his memory.

"MOLLUSC" DECLARED SUCCESS BY CRITIC

Patruchia Clark, As Mrs. Baxter, and Bernard Wallack, As Tom Kemp, At Their Best

DIRECTOR HUNT PRAISED

By Truman C. Welling

Under the direction of Miss Althea Hunt the William and Mary Dramatic season opened Friday night when H. H. Davies' famous English comedy, "The Mollusc", was admirably presented by Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic fraternity.

Chiefly are the director and cast to be highly commended for whipping into shape, within the unusually brief space of sixteen days, a comedy which in itself is difficult to put over, and which required a decided English accent. The producing staff also deserves much credit for their stage settings which were in keeping with the English atmosphere of the play.

"The Mollusc", a three act comedy, laid in an English home, deals with one of the most common human diseases, laziness or mulluscry, as it is called in the play. What little action there is, for it is a play of characterizations, centers around Mrs. Baxter, played by Patruchia Clark, an extreme mollusc, who has her henpecked husband and the children's governess waiting on her all the time. Bernard Wallack as Tom Kemp advances the plot by setting out to cure his sister of her malady. His task is no easy one, but after many unsuccessful attempts, he advises his sister that through her molluscry she has lost her husband's affections. This little affair between Mr. Baxter, played by Edward D. Fales, Jr., and Miss Roberts, the governess, played by De Ette Jones, adds much to the suspense of the audience and completely cures Mrs. Baxter.

Miss Clarke and Mr. Wallack showed much ease and former experience in carrying out their part. Their natural use of the English accent, their self confidence, and their clear speaking voices made them stand out. Miss Clarke seemed to be the favorite of the audience and anyone deserves first honors it is. It is the general consensus of opinion that Wallack did the best role he ever done here.

Upon Fales' shoulders rested a difficult and tedious part which required the first act for him to get adjusted, but after that he did some acting that deserves much credit.

Miss Jones made her first appearance in a three act play, and considering that she was playing with experienced actors, she is to be congratulated, for some of her scenes were the most difficult in the play.

The play as a whole was well finished in every regard except probably in a few minor details which were hardly noticeable to the large audience.

FIRST ISSUE OF LIT DUE LATE THIS WEEK

The initial issue of the Literary Magazine is due from the press some time this week, according to Fay P. LeCompte, editor. Announcement concerning the distribution will be made within the next day or so, it is expected.

The Magazine now is accepting material for the second issue, which is nearly ready to go to press, according to LeCompte, and also for the third issue. Eight numbers are planned this year.

The Magazine has changed slightly in appearance, the most notable difference being the substitution of the original college seal for that recently discarded.

PAUSE AND REFRESH YOURSELF

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW. AND THE PAUSE THAT'S COMING MAY NOT BE SO REFRESHING AS SOME OTHERS WE KNOW OF.

The moral is to avoid situations where it is impossible to pause and refresh yourself—because whenever you can't is when you most wish you could. Fortunately, in normal affairs there's always a soda fountain or refreshment stand around the corner from anywhere with plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola ready. And every day in the year 8 million people stop a minute, refresh themselves with this pure drink of natural flavors and are off again with the zest of a fresh start.

Who's Who Among Williamsburg Alumni

William and Mary boasts many outstanding alumni who are noted in various fields in this and other countries. Through cooperation with The Alumni Office, The Flat Hat will offer from time to time brief sketches of the lives of prominent graduates.

ALUMNI CLUBS NOW FORMING

Work of Branch Groups of Former Students of Great Value to College, Guy Explains

Plans for organizing William and Mary alumni at all points in the country, where former students may gather with common interest in their Alma Mater, are being carried out by the Alumni Office at Williamsburg, according to George W. Guy, executive secretary. The Alumni Association already is working with a large number of former students at various cities in Virginia and the east where alumni clubs do not now exist with an eye to getting these groups organized.

William and Mary now has a number of active alumni groups at large cities, and these are performing an important work for the College in maintaining interest of former students and in creating interest and sending students of high calibre to the College, Mr. Guy explained. The work of such branches of the Alumni Organization is considered one of the most valuable kinds of service alumni can offer their college.

Former students interested in organizing alumni clubs where now exist are invited to communicate with the Alumni Office.

INDUSTRIAL MICROSCOPY

Dr. L. C. Lindsley has just published "Industrial Microscopy" which will be a great aid to industrial chemists and students. Besides presenting systematic procedures for the identification of most of the elements, the text includes the procedures as applied to common starches, alkaloids, industrial woods and pulps, papers and textiles, minerals and rocks.

Dr. Lindsley's clear and concise treatment of the subject based upon varied experience in the classroom and in the industrial field makes the work invaluable as a textbook and laboratory manual for schools and colleges. The price is $4.00 and is sent on ten days approval. Copies may be obtained from the author at Williamsburg, Virginia.

ITALIAN COURSE POPULAR

Dr. E. C. Branchi began his Italian classes at Maury High School, Norfolk, Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. A large number of students has registered for this course.

Dr. Branchi is a graduate of the University of Genoa, Doctor of Nautical Science; Lieutenant in Italian Navy; Research Student at University of Santiago de Chili; Instructor in Modern Languages in South America; Professor of Italian Literature, Royal Italian University of Perugia. He is now Associate Professor of Modern Languages at the College of William and Mary.

WILLIAM AND MARY HAS MADE NOTABLE PROGRESS WITH CHANDLER AS PRESIDENT

A new Photograph of Dr. J. A. C. Chandler at His Desk in Williamsburg

Man Under Whose Leadership College Has Had Phenomenal Growth. Chosen by The Flat Hat and Alumni Office As Subject of First Sketch

Outstanding among graduates of William and Mary in point of his contributions to the welfare is President J. A. C. Chandler, '91, under whose administration the College has grown in prestige and proportion far beyond the hopes of its well-wishers of even a few years ago. Last June the Alumni extended their congratulations to Dr. Chandler and their appreciation for the work he had accomplished in the first decade of his administration.

Since Dr. Chandler became president of William and Mary more than $3,000,000 has been spent for capital outlay, and operating expenses, an indication of the proportions of the College, have risen from $84,000 to $804,000. The campus enrollment has grown from a few score to close to fifteen hundred, and the total enrollment, including summer session and extension the past session was approximately 4,000.

Dr. Chandler has achieved prominence as an educator, legislator and author. Here is what "Who's Who" has to say concerning his life:

Dr. Julian Alvin Carroll Chandler, College President, born at Guinea, Caroline County, Virginia, October 29, 1872; son of Dr. Joseph A. and Emuella Chandler; A. B. William and Mary College, 1891, A. M. 1892; Ph. D. Johns Hopkins, 1896; LL. D., Richmond College, 1904; married Lenore Burton Duke of Churchland, Virginia, July 10, 1897. Instructor of History and English, William and Mary College, 1891-92; principal public schools, Houston, Virginia, 1892-93; instructor Morgan College, Baltimore, 1894-96; dean faculty, 1896-99; acting president 1899-1900 Woman's College, Richmond; acting professor history and literature, Richmond College, 1897-1900; professor English, same, 1900-04; dean Richmond Academy, 1902-04; editor for Silver, Burdett & Co., publishers, 1904-07; editor Virginia Journal of Education, Richmond, 1907-09, professor history, Richmond College, 1908-09; superintendent of schools, Richmond, July 1909-July 1919; Chief of Rehabilitation Division for Disabled Soldiers Federal Board for Vocational Education, October 1918-April 1919; President of College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va., July 1, 1919-. Lecturer in Virginia Summer School of Methods; director of history and education, Jamestown Exposition, 1907. Member of Virginia Historical Society, American Historical Association, Society for Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, National Educational Association, Kappa Alpha, Phi Beta Kappa. Club: Westmoreland. Author: Representative in Virginia, 1896; History of Suffrage in Virginia, 1899; Geography of Virginia (Joint author), 1902; Makers of Virginia History, 1904; Makers of American History (Joint author), 1904; Our Republic (Joint author), 1910. The A. A. U. W. Brings Frances Peralta

Monday night William and Mary will have the opportunity to hear Frances Peralta, soprano, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, in Phi Beta Kappa hall. This is to be the first of a number of concerts by outstanding artists this year. Miss Peralta is known throughout the world for the quality of her voice.

Artists of calibre in any field find their way down the Peninsula all to infrequently; hence it is somewhat of an undertaking to bring high talent to Williamsburg. The William and Mary chapter of the American Association of University Women is to be complimented on its efforts to give the College an opportunity to hear good music at this and later occasions. A large, appreciative audience should hear Miss Peralta.

Concerning the Open Forum Column

The Flat Hat wishes to call the attention of its readers to the Open Forum column which is set aside each week for the expression of opinions of its readers. It is the belief of the editors that this is one of the most important features of the paper. All readers, whether students or alumni, are invited to contribute.

A student walked out of The Flat Hat office the other day, highly incensed at what he termed discriminatory action by the staff in refusing to publish a letter he had addressed to the Open Forum column two weeks before. He was informed that the letter was not suitable for publication, but that if it were rewritten and certain extreme statements modified, it would be acceptable. As might have been expected, the letter was never rewritten, nor was it ever published.

The problem of what should and what should not be considered matter suitable for publication occurs in the office of The Flat Hat frequently. The letter submitted by the student in question was of an over-critical nature, filled with what seemed unjustified condemnation of a feature of college life in Williamsburg. The writer was informed that the students and alumni readers of The Flat Hat are anxious to hear worthy criticism, but have no time nor money to waste on unreasonable letters.

The Open Forum ought to be a valuable column. In the past its privilege frequently has been abused. It is to be hoped material offered for publication in this section henceforth will be of such sound, progressive and at the same time intelligently conservative nature that the Open Forum really will become a mirror of what William and Mary men and women are thinking about.

The O. D. K. Resolution

Omicron Delta Kappa has passed a resolution in which each of its members has pledged himself to refrain from using shortcuts across the lawns of the campus. To the outsider interested in the appearance of the College grounds, it would seem that O. D. K., whose chief purpose is to work for the good of William and Mary, has taken a highly important step.

This, members of O. D. K. explain, does not mean they have pledged themselves never to walk on the grass. Their action concerns merely those abused sections of the College lawns, trodden down daily beneath hundreds of feet going and coming from classes or various campus buildings, with the result that unsightly paths are formed. It would be well if all students were to emulate the example O. D. K. has set and avoid the use of paths or stretches of grass that appear badly worn.

It would not seem unreasonable, if the student body is to cooperate with the administration in maintaining the good appearance of the campus, to expect the College landscapists to place shrubbery or well-designed, suitable barriers where they would be liable to check path-forming tendencies. The good intentions of the student body will thus be bolstered up to the mutual advantage of all.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon has called a halt to "hip-slapping" by Niagara customs officials, according to a letter to Samuel G. Houghton, of Buffalo, except when "reasonable suspicion" exists that an effort is being made to smuggle contraband into the country.

New York—Office workers of New York City may have to wield the sponge and squeegee on their own windows this week. A strike of the city's 2,000 window cleaners was ordered by the Window Cleaners' Protective Association to take effect Wednesday.

London—Seated in an invalid chair, the blind and partly paralyzed composer, Frederick Delius bowed his head before the ten-minute ovation of a huge audience at Queen's Hall, centre of London's musical activities, at the opening of the "Delius festival".

New York.—An 80-year-old spinster, Miss Pauline Poppitz, was found dead of natural causes in her $12-a-month tenement in Brooklyn which upon police examination was found to contain bonds, mortgages, and bank books representing a wealth of half a million dollars. Among the valuables were 340 bonds worth $100 each, of the state of Virginia.

Charlottesville, Va.—Thousands of volumes consisting of subjects ranging from economic works to biographies, from theological works to medical studies and a number of almost priceless manuscripts such as autograph letters and works by the American patriots were contributed to the University of Virginia during the past year according to the report of Harry Clemens, librarian. There were 385 donors listed from all over the world.

Simla, India—The fall of Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, into the hands of Shah Wali, brother of Nadir Khan, was confirmed by dispatches.

Mexico City—After heated debate, the Chamber of Deputies rejected an article of the national labor project which would have compelled every able citizen to learn a trade, art or profession and exercise it in the republic for at least a year.

Chicago—A warrant was sworn out by Alphonse Volchaert charging Walter Knippenberg with stealing a haystack. Volchaert said the haystack was given him by Knippenberg in payment of a debt and he removed it to his farm. Later it disappeared.

Cardington, England—Great Britain's hundred-passenger dirigible R-101, which has been subjected to cross winds of criticism almost since the time it was decided to build her five years ago, was finally launched in perfect calm and moored at her mast expeditiously.

Sydney — Permission has been sought from the Government for admittance to Australia of a troupe of Negro entertainers from the United States. Last year there was a public outcry against some American Negro musicians.

Washington—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald interrupted his conferences with President Hoover to tell Congress of the the United States that there could be no war between the two great English-speaking nations if each did its duty in making effective the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war.

THIS DEPARTMENT

In Which We Are in a Very Bad Humor

Somebody has been playing us practical jokes. Each day for the week someone has sneaked into the castle after hours and deliberately played a Scotch joke on our desk. Not only that. We have a Spike on our desk which we ruthlessly impinge worthy thoughts, valued contributions (such as last week's Elogy) and whatnots of only the very best sort. It was on Spike that the gross intruder left his jokes. Feature our wrath at him each day some old Scotch jokes polluting the atmosphere, and not even ones at that. For instance there was the one about the Scotch author who wanted all children to be daughters so he could use all his old, worn-out typewriter ribbons for their hair . . .

They left us that joke twice; once on a Monday morning, and once a Wednesday.

As if it was funny.

There was another one Tuesday about Sandy McPherson. Sandy was his way to Glasgow (Why Glasgow?), and on the way he got thirsty, so took out a bottle and drew the cork. Just as he was about to take a taste fellow-traveller in clerical garb addressed him.

"Excuse me, sir, but I am 65 years old, and have never tasted a drop of whiskey."

"Dinna worry yersel," said Sandy; "you're not going to start now."

That's terrible.

On Thursday we found a clipping to inform us that the height of right economy is a Scotchman gone to heaven. And to add insult to injury, on Friday we learned the reason Scotchmen wear kilts is so they won't have to get them pressed.

On Sunday our half-wit intruder, no doubt feeling a religious urge, got biblical. Look at this:

"When a Scotchman casts his bread upon the waters he wears a bathing suit."

Rotten.

There was one, though about the Scotchman and the clutch. Once there was a Scotchman who bought an automobile because the clutch was thrown in.

Not so bad.

On the whole, though, there's no excuse for it. All the Scotch in us rises to protest. Why Scotch jokes, anyhow? How does it happen they don't write jokes about Icelanders or Mexicans. That is a good thought. Some day we shall write a joke about an Icelander, or a Mexican. For thousands of years, so far as we know, Scotchmen have borne all the brunt of the world's worst humor. It's about time for a change, and we might as well change it as anybody. From now on we're off Scotch jokes. And we don't like people who tell them.

We told our private poet all about it, and it at once obligingly responded with an Original Old English Ballad, which we present here with:

Ballad of Ye Downhearted Scots

We know a man who tells Scotch jokes
We hope he
Croaks.

Pratty Preen.

Thank you, Preen; that makes us feel better. We're going to return the compliment, with an original poem entitled "Blokcs":

People Who Tell Scotch jokes
Are blokcs.

Entirely Original.

That's pretty good. As we read it over we know how the proud hen feels when it looks at the egg it has just laid.

We'll modify our previous statement. There's one thing we know besides Scotchmen that shares the brunt of the world's cheap humor: the city of Toano.

But we'd not be guilty of making jokes at the expense of noble Toano.

Pratty Preen, who you probably know is our personal poet (and if you don't know it you ought to be ashamed of yourself), showed us a telegram

"RHB" Answers "IPQ's" Letter In Regard to "Ducs"

Editor of The Flat Hat,

Sir:

Who is this lowly freshman that Mr. I. P. Q. so harshly attacks? "Yeaverily, if he were but better understood! How much misery might be saved him and how much might be made out of him if the upper classmen adequately appreciated his problems, perplexities and dilemmas.

Usually, it is his first break with home ties. Yesterday he was a nabob under the parental wing; today he is a man, left with unsubstantial spiritual props. He feels giddy perched at this height without support. And he does giddy things by way of testing out his powers.

He is emerging from his adolescence. He is unreasonably sensitive and shy. By way of compensation—as a cloak to conceal the timidity of his cuticle—he assumes a cockiness that is wholly artificial. He is not at all hard boiled as he would lead you to think—not once in scores of instances. It is a defense mechanism to protect an inner sensitiveness painful in its intensity.

He has had little of harsh criticism and rebuffs. He is ill prepared to yet receive them. It is folly to claim that some hard usage is the best thing that can happen to him. He can survive it, but it will smirch something fine within him. He can use sympathetic approaches to better advantage than rough-shod exhortation. It is all so new. He is in such a different environment. He should have time to naturally effect his adjustment to the new life.

He can best be handled by older men taking him in their charge and putting forth the effort to assist him in finding himself. A close and intimate friendship is the first essential. Out of it the freshman will absorb something of the attitudes, the temper, the technique of adjustment of the older man. He'll lean upon his protector at first but that will diminish. Out of the relationship he will in due time emerge, a more complete being, with a degree of adjustment to his environment proportionate to the limitations of himself and his companion. What is needed above all else is—it is easy to state but is apparently rarely appreciated fully—tact and sympathy. They are a sine qua non in handling freshmen." Now I. P. Q. don't you think we could get together? Let's try!

"SCY" Urges Students to Be Quiet Around Library

Editor of The Flat Hat,

Sir:

While studying in the library evenings it is very disturbing to have noises from the outside come drifting in. I am sure that students talking loudly or whistling in the vicinity of the library would refrain from creating this disturbance if they were reminded of the fact that silence is one of the first requirements of good study conditions.

"SSS" Praises "Fighting Virginians" For Its Football Team

Editor of The Flat Hat,

Sir:

I think it is time for students of William and Mary to show their appreciation of the wonderful football team we have this year. We should show them we are proud of them, because there is no reason in the world why we can't have another state championship this year.

From the way our team showed up in the St. John's, Navy, and Emory and Henry games we should realize that we have a team that deserves the name "Fighting Virginians".

Students of this college should give the team their whole-hearted support. SSS.

"OPT" Wants Holiday for Game With V. P. I. Tomorrow

Editor of The Flat Hat,

Sir:

As all of us know, we have a game with V. P. I. in Richmond tomorrow. I read in a Richmond paper a few days ago that the entire corps of cadets is coming to help their team win that game. Now it looks like this particular game should be more important to us than to V. P. I. Surely if they have a holiday, we should have one. Besides, most of us students begging for permission to go to Richmond on that eventful day. So why not turn the whole students are looking forward to seeing that game, and judging from the talk that is going on around the campus, the Deans' offices will be "swamped" with body loose, and let them go up there and help win that game. We will probably have a big rally the night before so that we will all be pepped up to go to Richmond and hand V. P. I. the "cold egg".

Yours,

OPT.

"Blackbeard" Was Never in Williamsburg, Says Kibler

Editor of The Flat Hat,

Sir:

I was surprised to see the "exploded" story that "Blackbeard" was once a prisoner in the Old Colonial prison in the October 11 issue of The Flat Hat. His piratical crew only were confined here in 1718. "Blackbeard" was captured dead on board his ship, dying fighting to the end, and was never in Williamsburg.

It is of far greater importance and more significant to say that Governor Henry Hamilton, of Fort Detroit, captured at Vincennes, Indiana, by George Rogers Clark in 1779, was confined in irons in this old "public gaol", while Jefferson was governor of Virginia, along with other British officers, sent here under heavy guard, from the northwest.

Respectfully,

J. L. Kibler.

"CTJ" Takes-Up for "Scrubs" Have to Pay for V. P. I. Game

Editor of The Flat Hat,

Sir:

It has been pointed out to me that the members of the football team who are not going to be on the field in uniform have had to purchase tickets to see the game. It does not seem possible that the "scrubs" who have been out on the field all week working hard against the varsity team in all kinds of weather in order to help the varsity to get into shape to be able to beat V. P. I. must pay a dollar for a seat. Don't they at least deserve a free pass to the game? Are there not twenty odd seats in the new Richmond Stadium which could be given to these men?

HODGES TALKS TO TRANSFERS

In an address to the men transfers of William and Mary last Tuesday, Dr. W. T. Hodges, Dean of Men, traced the history of the college from early colonial days to the present time. In this speech which was the first of its kind to be made before a meeting of transfers at William and Mary, Dr. Hodges predicted a future for the college as great as its past.

F. Samuel Wilcox, Men's Student Body President, spoke briefly on the policies of student government which are of concern to the transfer students.

Weddings

A recent marriage of interest was that of Miss Mary Yancey Cabaniss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cabaniss, of Petersburg, to James Malcolm Bridges, of Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bridges, of Williamsburg. The ceremony took place at Christ Church in Petersburg.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin and duchess lace with a veil of illusion caught with orange blossoms. Her flowers were Easter lilies.

The bride had as her maid-of-honor Miss Margaret Mann, of Petersburg. The groom had as best man his brother, Lee Bridges, of Staunton, James Parson, Billy Person, and Nick Carter acted as ushers.

Miss Cabaniss, '29, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Mr. Bridges, '25, Kappa Sigma are popular alumni of William and Mary.

Twenty Eight States Represented On Campus

According to a report from H. L. Bridges, Registrar there are twenty-eight state and six foreign countries represented by men and women this session. Of the total number of students enrolled Virginia contributes 961; New York comes next with 101; Massachusetts, third with 68; New Jersey, fourth with 48.

Every section of the United States is represented. There are students coming as far away as California, Texas and Florida. The six foreign countries represented are: China, Cuba, Porto Rico, Switzerland, Canada, Newfoundland.

The number of registration has increased several points since last announced. At this date there are 786 men students and 632 women students making a total of 1418.

Mr. Bridges, announced that class rolls for the session are now being made up. He states that according to the rules of classifications a student who has not completed his entrance requirements will be classified as a Sophomore regardless of the time they expect to graduate.

NEW MEMBERS CHOSEN TO H2E

At the last meeting of the H2E Club, the Physical Education society, five members were elected. The new girls include Sue Cornick, of Yorktown, Lois Robert of Bristol, Hazel Storch of New York City, Edith Stevens of Roanoke, and Steve Kirk of Norfolk. Besides these active members, Alice McKay of Richmond was elected as an associate member. The Club is planning to hold a circus later on in the year.

Paris—From Manchuria came added details of the definite assurance that the two French aviators are in possession of the world's long-distance flight record they sought. The French hopped off for Tokio after their release by Chinese soldiers who mistook them for Soviet airmen. When the Question Mark's fuel gave out after 52 hours of continuous flight, Sept. 29, in Manchuria it established a new record of 5,900 miles of sustained flight.

"This will make prohibition complete", observed the Texan, a sponsor of the eighteenth amendment.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Natural gas, so long wasted, will soon be piped into every city and town in California. It should reach much farther. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company has constructed already over 300 miles of high pressure transmission gas lines to meet the situation.

Berlin—Amid the pomp of peace, Gustav Stressemann was borne to his final resting place. His was the first state funeral to be conducted under the eagle of Germany in which military show and ceremony was entirely absent. EDITH BAER CLUB TO PRESENT SHOW

The first meeting of the Edith Baer Club, honorary organization for students majoring or minoring in Home Economics, was held last week. The objective of this organization is the promotion of scholarship, and a more complete knowledge along home economical lines.

Every year a party is given in the practice house for the new Freshman girls who are just beginning the subject, in order that they may know of the existence of such a club, and the requirements for membership, which are based entirely on grades, personality, and initiative. It is impossible with such a small department to cover completely all the material necessary for the mastery of the course, and the meetings of the Edith Baer Club are indispensable as a means of obtaining outside information, for besides being sociable they have a distinctly educational value.

One of the latest projects recently launched by the members is a fashion show to be given some time in the near future. The models and gowns are to be obtained from Greentree's store in Richmond, and the feature is to be staged in the Phi Beta Kappa Hall. No definite announcements have yet been made, but the Home Economics Department promises that the show will be one of the most attractive ever staged at William and Mary.

WILLIAM AND MARY STUDENTS ATTEND MANY CHURCHES

Present Student Body Composed of Students Representing Sixteen Different Denominations

Among the number of students at William and Mary there are sixteen religious denominations represented, according to a report from the registrar's office.

The Methodist students head the list with 325. Following are: Episcopalians with 294, Baptist with 248, and Presbyterian with 170. Other denominations represented to a considerable degree are: Catholic, 97; Hebrew, 95; Disciples, 39; Lutheran, 18; Congregationalist, 16.

Services for these students are held at the various churches in the town of Williamsburg which provide religious and social entertainment.

DOWN THE LINE

By CURLY

We have heard of superstitions in black jack, poker, smoking, etc., but it has not been until recently that superstitions have become prominent in athletics.

Though we live in an age when a spade is called a spade and we pride ourselves on our candor and sophistication, we actually do find superstitions cropping out among our athletes. Football probably has a larger number of superstitious players than any other game. In fact many of the great stars of the game today are more or less believers in the supernatural. They would probably deny any such charge, but their actions speak for themselves.

In practically every football squad one will find a player who would as soon jump off the Woolworth building as go into the game wearing a jersey with the number 13 on his back. There is also at least one fellow on every team who believes that the number 13 brings him good luck and will scheme every way possible to get that number.

Red Grange, the former Illinois star, refused to wear any number except 77. He wore it through his high school days and through college. During the past two or three years when performing in the professional ranks, Grange still wears number 77.

Lots of football players prefer to play without a jersey but with a Marsters. Dartmouth star, it is a matter of superstition. Marsters' jersey was the only one he wore for an injury suffered in his early high school days, and ever since that he has played without them. He was the last man of the first team to leave the gym in the first varsity game in which he participated. From then on throughout the rest of the season he was the eleventh man to go out on the field.

Everything went well for the first three games of the 1928 season and Marsters was leading the scorers of the country. Then he cracked one of the bones in his ankle and all his luck left him.

Many boxers insist on trunks of a certain color, and there are some who cross themselves before every fight. Young Rudy of Pittsburgh crosses himself after the bell rings for the start of every round.

Baseball players are superstitious too. Some believe that a disarrangement of the bats in front of the dugout is an omen of bad luck. The bats must be placed in a neat row with the handles laying the same way. There are others who mix up the bats to bring a change of luck.

When we spoke of brothers playing on the same team last week we forgot to mention that William and Mary has two pairs of brothers on this year's varsity eleven—one of these pairs are twins too.

Captain "Teddy" Bauserman and his brother "Brownie" have the same birthday sometime early in December. Teddy holds down a regular birth in the backfield and "Brownie" is a regular end.

Mitchell and Frank Moseleski are the other brothers. "Big Mose" plays regularly at either end or quarter and "Little Mose" is fighting for a position in the backfield.

Small colleges, usually located in small towns, possess spirit in abundance. Self-centered and ambitious, these pigmies watch for opportunities and take advantage of any break that fortune gives to them. In most cases the players on small college squads are better acquainted with each other and believe in lending a helping hand.

The saying "a good big one can defeat a good little one" applies more closely to the prize ring than to the gridiron. Skillful use of the forward pass and dropkick, plus a display of fighting qualities, can produce surprising results in modern times in any football encounter.

Clipped from the Roanoke College BRACKETYACK: The big game for the season is booked for Roanoke on Armistice Day when the powerful William and Mary Braves engage the Maroons. The Indians have a strong eleven this season and have their eyes on the Virginia Conference title. Although Coach Spruhan and his boys realize that they are up against a tough outfit, they are not willing to concede the Williamsburgers much of an edge and promise the football fans of Roanoke and Southwest Virginia a real game on November 11.

A lot of nice radio announcers in the middle west are going to spend their evenings unsnarling their tongues when the Big Ten really gets started, for the list of players include some baroque monickers.

Ohio State leads off with Bueschsenschuss, Ujhelyi, Mazmerchak, Wiragos and Ekl. Indiana counters with Magnabosco, Antonini and Hojnacki. Wisconsin's threats to easy football conversation are Lubratovitch and Katalaar, which don't seem bad when Minnesota presents Pulkrabek, Kakela, and Oja. Illinois has Nusspickel and Yanuskus; Perdue has Yunevick and Michigan has Captain Joe Truskowski.

William and Mary has been getting quite a lot of nice writeups for their stand against Navy two weeks ago. Bill Roper says of the Fighting Virginians, "I was surprised that William and Mary was able to hold the Navy to a 15-0 score. The Southerners played a scrappy game."

Emory and Henry's WHITE TOPPER says, "Last Saturday they held the high famed Seamen to a 15-0 score and even then reported that they were saving their men for future games."

The University of Pennsylvania is adopting a scheme this year that strikes us as a good thing. The Penn gridgers will wear numerals on both

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR GAME TOMORROW

The William and Mary Athletic Association by cooperating with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Co., have chartered a train for the William and Mary-V. P. I. fray. This train will leave Williamsburg for Richmond at 10:33 A. M. and leave Richmond for Williamsburg at 11:30 P. M. Student rates for the game will be a dollar and a half.

Students are urged to patronize this train, in order that the college may secure the same service for the William and Mary-Richmond game Thanksgiving and the William and Mary-Hampden-Sydney fray, December 7.

The new Richmond Stadium, the scene of the fray, is located in the Byrd Park district and may be reached by the Belmont car line.

INDIAN-GOBBLER FRAY LEADING GRID CLASSIC OF STATE; GAME TO BE PLAYED IN NEW RICHMOND BOULEVARD STADIUM

MANAGER

W. S. (Billy) GOOCH, JR. Graduate Manager of Athletics at the College of William and Mary. Since his arrival here last fall the college has had considerable growth in athletic prestige.

LEWIS, PANNILL IN CHARGE OF TENNIS

John Lewis Elected Captain; Pannill, Manager; Prospects Bright for Good Season

At a meeting of the members of last year's varsity tennis team John Lewis was elected captain and Robert Pannill, manager for the coming year. Mr. Lewis succeeds E. U. Wiggins and Pannill was elected to fill the vacancy caused by Jack Early's failure to return to school.

Plans for several matches this fall are being arranged. It is possible that a match will be held with the Richmond Medical College some time in the near future. Manager Pannill has been working on the schedule for the coming season, and it is hoped that it will include all the leading colleges of this district as well as some of the stronger colleges outside of Virginia.

Prospects for the coming season are very promising. Lewis, Joslyn, Wiggins, and Shaffer, all varsity men from last year, are back in college. There are also many promising racketeers among the freshmen. With these recruits and with the experience gained in last season's frays the team feels justified in looking forward to a successful season.

FIRST MEETING OF TWO INSTITUTIONS IN SEVEN YEARS

Tech Team Presents Scrappy Out Fighting Virginians In Good Shape For Game

Tomorrow afternoon the William and Mary Indians and the V. P. I. Gobblers meet in the outstanding Dominion grid classic of the week. This fray will mark the return of gridiron relations between the two institutions after a lapse of seven years.

GAME AT NEW STADIUM The game will be played in Richmond's new stadium. This was constructed last year at a cost of $1,000,000 and is the largest and most modern in the state. It is located in the Byrd Park section of the Capitol City and is reached by the Belmont car line.

The University of Richmond opened the stadium early in the season and have been playing in it since. It has not been dedicated yet, however. Dedication ceremonies will be held in the near future.

TECH SCRAPPY This boiler outfit is one of the best that the institution has had for years. Although prospects for their 1928 team looked glum at the beginning of the season, a well rounded, scrappy team has been developed in Blacksburg.

Early in the season the Tech team defeated the Roanoke Maroons in a fast, well played game. The following week they romped to an easy victory over Hampden-Sydney. Last week they threw a scare into the University of Pennsylvania gridgers by holding them to a 14-8 score. During the greater part of the game the Virginians out-played the Quakers and led them 8-7.

GOBBLER LINE STRONG At the beginning of the season, the Techmen were left with only one reliable back, Phil Spear. For the past few seasons Spear has been doing sensational work for the Blacksburg team and has been adding on to his reputation as one of the best backs in the state so far this season.

With him as a nucleus, a powerful, but unexperienced backfield has been developed, with Hooper, Tompko and Owens in the major roles.

The Gobbler line presented no difficulty for the coaches. Centered around Nutter and Pattie, a veritable stone wall has been developed. A proof of their ability can be found in the 14-8 score at Philadelphia last Saturday. The Gobbler front wall averages over 180 pounds to the man.

PAPOOSES TRIM NINE APPRENTICES, 20-0

Little Indians Show Strength In Fast Game and Trim Ship Builders 20-0

Last Friday night, playing heads-up football and taking advantage of practically all of the breaks offered them, the Little Indians won their second game in as many starts by defeating the Newport News Apprentice outfit by a score of 20-0. The score is indicative of the type of game played, the frosh showing up well in all departments. Coach Young was again pleased with the effects of his tutoring and pre-season indications are beginning to bear fruit.

The Papooses started off in whirlwind style, Marks reeling off a 30 yard run on the second play of the game. From the 22 yard line the duces carried the ball to the 3 yard line, where on fourth down they failed to make the distance. However in the second period William and Mary began a concentrated drive from mid-field, a drive which soon resulted in a touchdown by Le Croix. The point after touchdown was missed. Late in the period the locals made their only serious opposition of the evening, rushing the ball to the visitors' 15 yard line. The Frosh line stiffened up and Newport was held.

In the second half the Little Indians ran rough-shod over their opponents and scored a couple of touchdowns. The first was made possible by means of a fumble by Apprentice on their 20 yard line. After several rushes Marks carried the pill over for W. and M. Halligan kicked the point.

The final points of the struggle were scored by means of a blocked pass by Halligan. The pigskin fell into his arms and he ran 35 yards for an easy touchdown. Halligan again kicked the point, finishing the scoring for the night.

The line-ups:

Freshmen	Apprentice
Bealer	Fraser
Gill	Johnson
Walker	Bergman
Moffett	Eubanks
Hines	Howard
Harrell	Walker
Halligan	Dunn
Semenski	Whitesell
Le Coix	Edwards
Rebon	Fox
Marks	Marshall

Score by periods:

Freshmen	0	6	7	7-20
Apprentice	0	0	0	0-0

REDMEN TO PLAY ALL SOUTH'N CONFERENCE TEAMS IN VIRGINIA

Only Four Games Scheduled for Home Court; Trip Before Christmas Holidays

William S. Gooch, Athletic Manager, has announced the basket ball schedule for the coming 1930 season. This year's schedule is perhaps the hardest that a William and Mary court team has ever attempted.

Games with Virginia's "Big Four"—Washington and Lee, University of Virginia, V. P. I. and V. M. I.—and with Navy, Princeton, Maryland, and University of Delaware are the high lights of the Indian's campaign for state and national honors.

The season gets under way early as a northern trip, in which Maryland, Navy, Delaware, and Princeton are to be met in order, will be taken by the Green, Gold and Silver quintet before the Christmas holidays. The first game; with the University of Maryland, is booked for December 13, one week after William and Mary's post-season game with Hampden-Sydney, on December 7.

The schedule is as follows:

- Dec. 13—University of Maryland, College Park.
- Dec. 14—Navy, Navy.
- Dec. 16—University of Delaware, Newark.
- Dec. 17—Princeton, Princeton.
- Jan. 11—Hampden-Sydney, Hampden-Sydney.
- Jan. 14—Randolph-Macon, Williamsburg.
- Jan. 18—University of Virginia, Virginia.
- Jan. 18—University of Richmond, Williamsburg.
- Feb. 7—Washington-Lee, Lexington.
- Feb. 8—V. M. I., Lexington.
- Feb. 10—V. P. I., Blacksburg.
- Feb. 11—Roanoke, Roanoke.
- Feb. 18—Bridgewater, Williamsburg.
- Feb. 20—Savage Normal, Williamsburg.
- Feb. 22—University of Richmond, Richmond.
- Feb. 25—Randolph-Macon, Ashland.
- Mar. 1—Hampden-Sydney, Williamsburg.

DRAMATIC COMMITTEE MEETS; MAKES PLANS FOR SEASON

According to a report of the executive committee of the William and Mary Dramatic Club an ambitious campaign is planned for the year. The club expects to produce a three act play before Christmas, a Shakespearean play in March and numerous one act productions throughout the year. These plans were discussed at the first meeting of the year, which was held last Monday.

After the ordinary run of business was disposed with, programs for the coming meetings were planned. The next meeting will be held at the Chi Omega rooms, where Mr. Counsell will speak on the productions at Oxford. Throughout the year the drama of the different European countries will be discussed either by members or by outside guests.

The members of the executive committee are Truman Welling, president; Wallace Hicks, vice-president; William Wellons, secretary; Geraldine Foster, treasurer; Edward Fales, Patruchia Clarke and Lewis Brown, with Miss Althea Hunt as its advisor.

NEW SECRETARY FOR DEAN

Catherine Carter, '28, assumed the duties as Secretary to Dr. Grace Warren Landrum, Dean of Women, last Monday on the resignation of Mrs. Alice Woolfolk, who has endeavored herself to women students here during the past two years. Mrs. Woolfolk has accepted a position at St. Catherine's School in Richmond.

MEN VIEING FOR COLLEGE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

SEMI-FINALS TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Thirty-Six Entrants Display Fine Bread of Tennis As Tourney Progresses

Thirty-six entrants have played their first round in the quest for two positions on the varsity tennis team. Everyone was eligible to play in this tournament except Captain Lewis, Joslyn, Wiggins and Shaffer who were on the varsity team last year.

It is felt that if the brand of tennis that was displayed in the first round matches can be taken as a criterion of the ability of the new men, the team of 1930 should be one of the best that has ever represented William and Mary. The second round matches begin this afternoon and must be completed by Monday evening. The semi-finals will be played during the middle part of the week and if weather permits it is hoped that the finals will be played on Saturday afternoon, October 25. The results of each match are posted on the score board in Blow Gym. Considerable interest has been shown by the contestants and their supporters and it is expected that a large crowd will witness the finals.

Mr. Lewis wishes to express his appreciation to Edward Dailey who has given considerable time to the organization and management of the tournament.

Wallack Named President Of Dramatic Fraternity

Bernard Wallack, of Hartford, Conn., was recently elected president of Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic fraternity. The failure of William A. J. Bowen, Jr., to return to school this fall necessitated the election.

The other members of the fraternity are: Edward D. Fales, Jr., Patruchia Clark, Wallace Hick, DeEtte Jones, and Truman C. Welling.

"DUCCESS" DON GREEN CAPS

Freshmen women donned the "duccess" caps Monday night in Phi Beta Kappa hall at the formal "cap service" sponsored by women's student government association.

Addresses were made by Mrs. W. T. Hodges, Dr. Frank H. McLean, Eleanor Williamson, and Alice Harwood, president of women's student government. The sophomore tribunal collected the fees for the caps, and gave the freshmen women the requirements for wearing them.

LITTLE INDIAN TEAM PREPARES FOR V. P. I.

Paposes Rest Up After First Two Victories; Team In Good Shape

Fresh from a clear-cut victory over the Newport News Apprentice team the Little Indians are preparing daily in preparation for the V. P. I. game which is to be played at Blacksburg a week from tomorrow. The squad is in good shape for the game, no injuries being sustained from the Apprentice conflict, and Coach Cy Young will have every man available for duty for the Gobblerrites.

Several scrimmages with the Varsity and the scrubs comprise the work of the first year men for the most part. The team may possibly play a game with some outside team the early part of the coming week. Several men on the squad who have not been used very much hereto showed up well in the Newport News struggle and those men who have been playing regular will have to work quite a bit harder if they expect to receive the starting assignment. Coach Young used practically every man on the squad in the last game and everyone was given a chance to make good. There are plenty of men for all positions and it is quite likely that next week may be a repetition of the famous Harvard "Hell Day". It is quite an incentive for the dues, this trip to Blacksburg and competition will be keen, for those 24 places.

Of the three games left to be played this game with the little Gobblers is considered the hardest and if this big obstacle can be overcome it might be safe to predict another undefeated season for the Frosh.

"BILL" FIELDS

Indian center. Bill has been playing a great brand of football throughout the whole of his college career here. Last season he was picked as all state center.

DUC GYM CLASSES TO HOLD TRACK CONTEST

Detailed Schedule Arranged for Yearling Physical Education Classes

A track meet, in which all four sections of the Freshmen Physical Education Classes will participate, is scheduled for this afternoon at 2:30 on Cary Field. Wallace, Sauerbrun, and Baldacci, student Physical Education instructors are conducting this meet in order to get a line on prospective freshmen for the indoor track team.

Professor Tucker Jones and Coach Cy Young have arranged a program that will give novices, as well as those who have run before, a chance to "shine". The events are divided into two classes. One class for those

FRESHMEN WOMEN ORGANIZE TEAMS

Sixteen Hockey Teams Formed and Captains Chosen; Tournament to Begin In Few Days

With the advancement of hockey at William and Mary, we find the "duccess" organizing teams. Selection of the teams has been made and captains nominated. The women are ready to stage a big tournament. The names of the teams are varied and in some cases quite appropriate revised for publication and are captained by Evelyn Booth and Dorothy Freeman.

The teams with their captains are: Peppers—Doris Beal. Angels—Evelyn Booth. Cosmopolitans—Virginia Haugh-wort.

- Imps—Ruth Slempe.
- Paposes—Vadore Holland.
- Shin-Busters—Helen Xanthaky.
- Black Jacks—Page Johnson.

The program is:

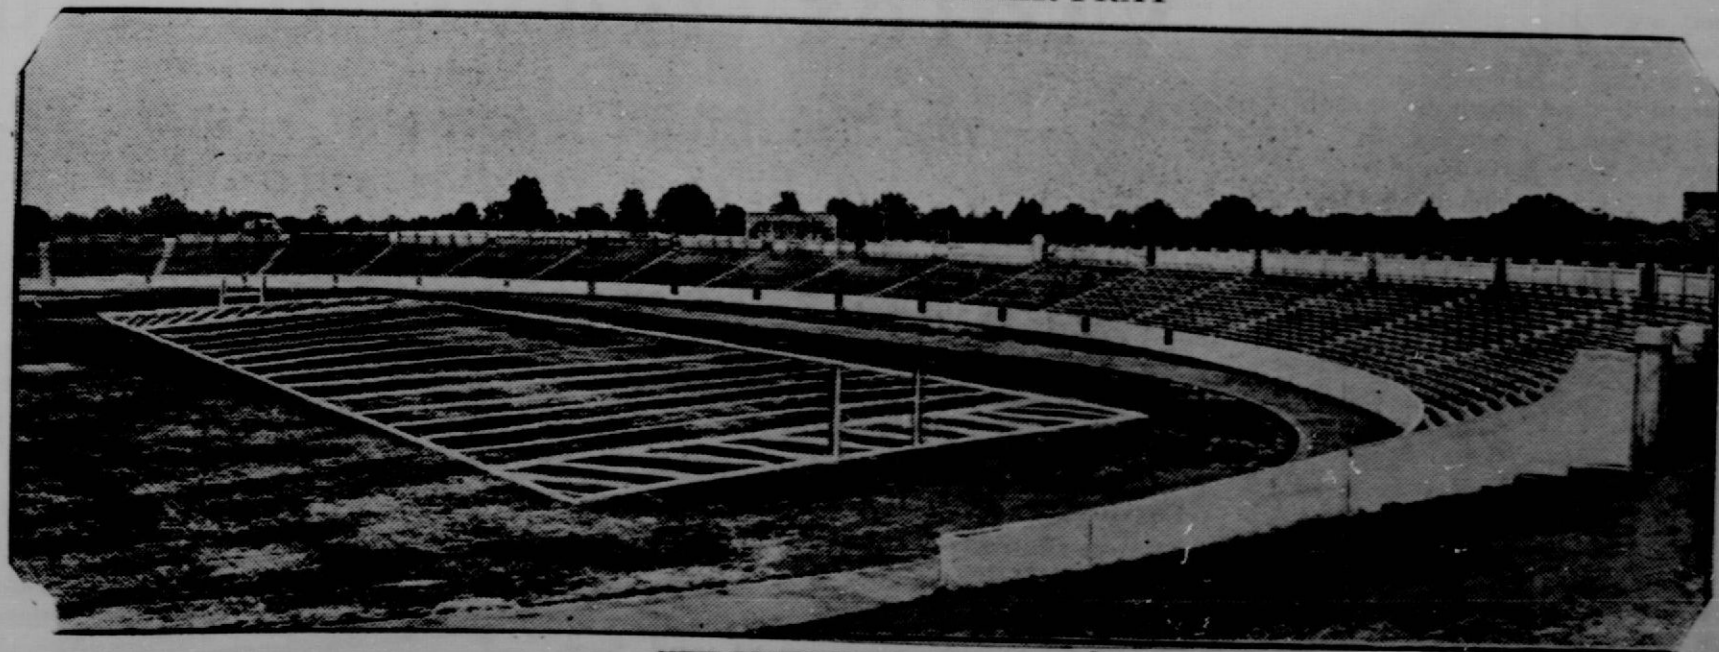

Novice Events

- 75-yard Dash.
- Half-mile Run.
- High Jump.
- Broad Jump.
- Shot Put (12 lbs.)
- Relay between sections.

Non-Novice Events

- 100-yard Dash.
- 440-yard Dash.
- High Jump.
- Broad Jump.

SCENE OF INDIAN-GOBLER FRAY

NEW RICHMOND STADIUM

This stadium was constructed last year by the city of Richmond at a cost of $150,000. It is the largest and most modern in the state and has a seating capacity of over 10,000. The University of Richmond opened the stadium three weeks ago when they played Wake Forest, and last week they met the Johns Hopkins Blue Jays in the municipal bowl. The William and Marmy-V. P. I. game will be the third contest to be staged on the field. A formal dedication ceremony will be held some time in the near future.

W. & M.-V. P. I. Fray Assumes State-Wide Importance As Day Nears

BOTH SCHOOLS SEND STUDENT BODIES TO CHEER FOR VICTORY

Many Interesting Features About Game Tomorrow; Bocock Former Tech Coach

All Virginia is looking with interest to the football classic that William and Mary and Virginia Polytechnic Institute are to stage tomorrow afternoon in Richmond's new stadium. With both teams bringing their entire student bodies—the uniformed cadet corps eight-hundred strong, and the thirteen-hundred Green, Gold and Silver followers—the contest will not be lacking in that color and setting which goes to make football the thrilling, spectacular game that it is.

Chief interest in tomorrow's battle centers around the resumption of athletic relations of these two Virginia institutions after a seven-year lapse. It is interesting also that Branch Bocock, who tutors the eleven which upholds the tri-colors of America's second oldest college, was at one time coach at V. P. I. He was at the helm of Gobbler athletics in 1909, '10, and '11.

Virginia Poly knew what it was to ride the crest of the wave under Branch Bocock. Knowing that he will be on the other side of the field tomorrow at Richmond is more than enough to add a touch of fear to the already wholesome respect they have for William and Mary.

This will be the sixth renewal of an old rivalry which dates back to the early days of Virginia football. The Gobblers and the Indians first met on October 24, 1904, a quarter century ago. William and Mary lost that first game 30-0. The four other times that the two teams met, during the quarter century that followed, have all resulted in victories for V. P. I. The Indians have been able to cross the Tech goal line but once, in 1922, when they lost by a 20-6 count.

But past records will count for naught when the Indians take to the warpath tomorrow afternoon. Both teams will throw their full strength into the fray, with the Indians seeking nothing less than a Gobbler scalp, and the Techmen nothing more than another victory over the Redmen.

KEENIE HANCOCK TO HEAD TENNIS

At a meeting held last Friday night in Jefferson Gymnasium under the direction of Miss Barksdale, Keenie Hancock was elected Head of Tennis for the coming year. Arrangements were made to post a freshman ladder which now has thirty signers. At present Margaret Rutherford is at the top, but it remains to be seen how long she will stay there.

There are eighteen girls signed up on the Upperclassmen Ladder with Charlotte King in the lead. All girls are urged to come in and see either Miss Barksdale or Keenie Hancock.

Some of the important things to observe are: play as high as possible on the ladder because this position will determine the points for the monogram; it is possible to challenge as high as three above your name; all challenges must be met promptly within forty-eight hours or they will be forfeited; and the loser must come in and change the places on the ladder.

To determine the position only one set need be played. The chief object of the ladder is to see who can stay on the top the longest.

For those who are working for their point monogram Miss Barksdale has set the minimum of three hours a week on the tennis courts. Courts can be signed for after five o'clock on the day before the time to play.

Mettrey Wins Flat Hat Contest Another List Given

Topping a list of almost a hundred contestants, William Mettrey won the third of a series of Flat Hat football guessing contests. Mr. Mettrey guessed correctly the outcome of nine of the ten games, missing only the Yale-Georgia fray. He will be rewarded with a necktie donated by "Chunky" Rodger's College Men's Shop, local dealer in men's furnishings. Ted Berkman and L. H. Beale were the only contestants to guess as many as eight right, but quite a few scored seven correct guesses.

The losing team seemed to be favored by many of the William and Mary students last week, consequently the guessing was somewhat off. The Yale-Georgia game proved to be the biggest sticker, most men favoring Old Eli. The Brown-Princeton game was another of the hardest ones, and only three entrants picked Brown to top Princeton. Several members of the varsity football squad turned in scores, but each missed as many as three.

This week's list offers a choice selection of games. The winning contestants in the ten games listed below should be regarded as the champion football guesser of the season. Certainly this lineup will be a worthy challenge to every student. Let's go! List the winning team on the right with the probable scores for each team. Seal in an envelope, address to Paul W. Norton, Sports Editor, and place in the Flat Hat box near the side door in Citizenship before Saturday noon.

This week's list follows:

- Washington and Lee at West Virginia.
- V. M. I. at U. of Virginia.
- Duke at Navy.
- Army at Harvard.
- Ohio State at Michigan.
- U. of Pittsburgh at Nebraska.
- California at U. of Pennsylvania.
- Wisconsin at Notre Dame.
- Georgia at North Carolina.
- V. P. I. at William and Mary.

PICTURE GIVEN COLLEGE

The educational department of William and Mary has been presented a picture "Sforza Reading Cicero" by Alpha Xi chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national educational fraternity.

Dr. K. J. Hoke, Dean of the college, upon receiving this painting, congratulated the fraternity for its aims and said "in the act of giving this picture you are making a painting of the William and Mary students going into one of the greatest professions, that of teaching our youth."

the front and back of their jerseys. This, it is thought, will give fans and officials a better chance to follow plays and players.

The Indian-Gobbler fray will be the sixth renewal of an old rivalry. The two elevens first met a quarter of a century ago this week. On October 22, 1904, Hunter Carptener, one of the greatest half-backs of history, led V. P. I. to a 30-0 victory over the Indians.

The next encounter was in 1906 and resulted in a second shut-out victory for the Gobblers. The two institutions again faced each other across the chalk marks in 1920. Harry Sutton proved too much for the Indians in this fray. Two years later a strong Indian eleven fought one of the strongest V. P. I. elevens in their history and succeeded in pushing a single touchdown across the Gobbler goal, but lost 20-6. The Indians again trailed, 14-0 in 1921. History sometimes repeats itself, but not in this case. How about it Fighting Virginians!

"Rockne's Ramblers" are more than ever just that this year. The Notre Dame football team plays all its games this season on foreign gridirons, as their new stadium is under the course of construction.

I was talking to an old German the other day, a mighty fine gentleman if there ever was one, and he spilled a bit of philosophy that is very applicable to any football team. This old gentleman said, "We are always on top of the world, but we must be careful that we do not fall off".

Well, we kind of knocked Emory and Henry off the top of the World. Now we have got to watch out that we don't fall off ourselves.

The game tomorrow will be played in the new Richmond Municipal Stadium. It starts promptly at 2:30.

COME ON V. P. I!!!!

Indian Eleven Puts End to Wasps Victory March in Fast Game

REDMEN GET BREAKS TO COP CLOSE NIGHT FRAY LAST SATURDAY

Bauserman's Toe Margin of Victory As Braves Triumph
7-6

William and Mary's Indians put an end to Emory and Henry's long string of twenty-three consecutive victories by handing a fighting Wasp team the shorter end of a 7-6 count in a thrilling night game at Emory last Saturday.

Taking advantage of a fumble by Peters on his own thirty-yard line, the Bocockmen scored early in the third quarter after runs by Maxey and Scott, Maxey circling right end for William and Mary's only touchdown. Captain Bauserman gave the Indians what proved to be their slender margin of victory by booting the oval squarely between the uprights in the try-for-point kick.

Emory and Henry came back strong, and led by its brilliant backs, Littlejohn and Cathers, who reeled off gain after gain through the heavier Indian line, marched sixty-five yards down the field to score before the third quarter had ended. Henritze failed in his attempt to kick goal. Broderick, substituting for B. Bauserman, played a great defensive game as did Willis, "Bill" Scott and Captain Bauserman lead the William and Mary attack.

Score by quarters:
Wm. and Mary 0 0 7 0—7
Emory and Henry 0 0 6 0—6
Substitutions: Wm. & Mary—Broderick, Roche, Baldacci, Syer, M. Moseleski. Emory and Henry—Mason, Widener. Officials: Referee—Parrish (V. P. I.). Umpire—Nebinger (W. Va.). Head Linesman—Bucher (V. P. I.).

Intramural Basketball For Freshmen Planned

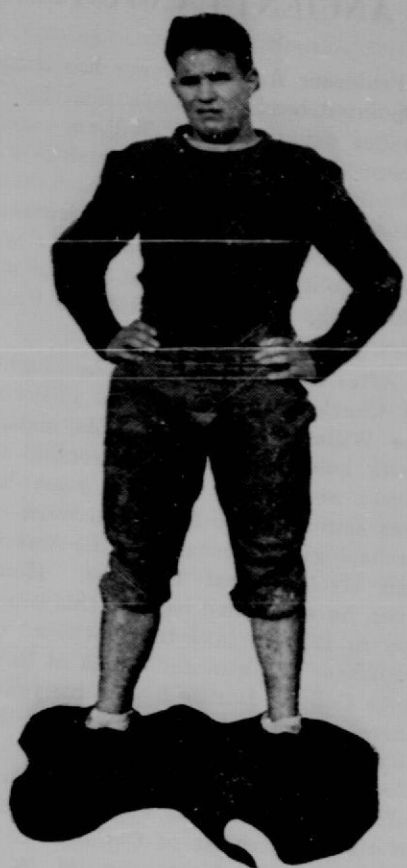

The four Freshmen Physical Education Classes, under the leadership of Coach Young, are now busy practicing for the coming selection of basketball teams. Each man desiring to play will be placed on a team. The most outstanding quintet will then be chosen to play rival teams of the other classes in a series of scheduled games. Coach Young says that a trophy may be awarded the winner of the league.

New Instructor Added To Music Department

Professor G. M. Small, Director of Music, recently announced that Margaret E. James has been engaged to teach piano at William and Mary this semester.

Miss James studied three years with Earnest Hutcheson, a pianist of note in New York City and studied theory at the David Mannes School also in New York. She was formerly the head of the music department of Limestone College in South Carolina.

At present Miss James is organist and musical director of the Grace Baptist Church in Richmond.

INDIANS IN TRIM

Fresh from their victory over Emory and Henry last week and with no serious injuries to members of the squad, the Big Gold team are in fine shape to put up a good fight against this ancient rival. The two schools have not met in the past seven years and in the former games the Green, Gold and Silver has always been on the short end of the score.

Constant drill and experience has developed the once green Indian line. A smooth working stone wall has resulted. Benton, Redskin tackle, is the only casualty in the line and his place will probably be filled by Diggs, Roche or Pennington.

Several changes will be seen in the Indian lineup next week. Moseleski has been called in from his position on the wing to his old place among the ball toters. Willis has been moved back to end where he played a fine game against the Wasps last week. Captain Bauserman will either be behind the line or on one of the ends. Constantino and Diggs are well on their way to recovery and will probably get into the fray tomorrow. No definite line up can be given for the Indian team.

With both teams having every thing to loose by losing the game and every thing to gain by winning it, a close fought contest is bound to result. No prediction as to the outcome can be given.

ART CLUB TO GIVE EXHIBITION SOON

Members Will Present Indian Silk Prints in Art Studio Last of October

An exhibition of Indian Silk Prints will be given by the Art Club at the Art Studio in Washington Hall some time during the last of October. The exhibition is comprised of original designs prepared by the art department of a New York concern. These designs are distinctly American in inspiration, in conception, and in execution.

The first group is almost exclusively scenic in character. The masterpieces of nature as found in our Great National Parks have been transcribed to silk, retaining the unusual colorings which never fail to arouse admiration and enthusiasm. Several designs such as the border of the grand canyon, the curious rock formation of the Bryce Canyon, the unusual Bridal Veil Falls, and the renowned Niagara have been transferred to beautiful pieces of silk.

The series includes the first American, the Indian, and the Hopi in scope and includes large effective all-over patterns such as the Sioux War bonnet and the crow which shows the shields, medicine sticks, and other paraphernalia with which the Indian arrayed himself for the war path. Smaller, neater and more concise effects which are more useful for women's apparel are bead work, basketry designs as shown in the symbols of the Hopi Indians. The stripe idea is developed in the design suggested by the Sun Dance of the Black Foot Indians and the corn husk and eagle feather decorations of Arapaho Tribe. The diversity of these designs makes them adaptable to all types of costumes from sports togs to frilly evening gowns which is an important item in creating designs for clothes today.

In the Playgrounds of the World Group the scenic motif and the floral design are featured.

Scenes of the Catalina Island, the playground of the Pacific, Newport, with its stately old homes, and the casino, renowned for the international sports events, Palm Beach, Havana, and the coral gardens of Bermuda are included.

Aside from the originality of these designs, their adaptability to the fashions of today will surprise many, and will show the great progress Art has made in the last few years.

DR. SOUTHWICK TO READ SELECTIONS

President of Emerson School of Oratory to Speak Tuesday Night in PBK Hall

Dr. Henry Lawrence Southwick, president of Emerson School of Oratory, of Boston, Mass., will read several selections from Julius Caesar, Tuesday night, in Phi Beta Kappa hall.

Last spring Dr. Southwick spoke at a convocation, as the guest of Professor George E. Brooks, who is a graduate of Emerson School of Oratory.

Dr. Southwick comes to William and Mary this year as the guest of the Public Speaking department. According to Mr. Brooks, he is unexcelled in speech, humor, and expression, and assures the students of an enjoyable and profitable evening.

NEW BOOKS WILL ARRIVE SOON FOR COLLEGE LIBRARY

Books Which Dr. J. Leslie Hall Had Selected Will Be Placed in the Stacks

LITERARY SOCIETY DONOR

Some of the books which the J. Leslie Hall Literary Society gives to the library each year have been ordered by Dr. E. G. Swem, the librarian, and will be in the stacks soon. The presentation of books to the library by the society originated five years ago when the society gave a birthday party to Dr. J. Leslie Hall with a present of one hundred dollars to buy books for the library. Up until the time of his death Dr. Hall selected these books himself, which were general English books.

Year before last the society did not donate any money for this purpose, but last year they gave Miss Emily Hall, Dr. Hall's daughter, two hundred dollars with instructions for her to act as custodian of this fund and to purchase books with the assistance of the other English professors. Recently Miss Hall has found a catalogue which was marked in Dr. Hall's handwriting "Keep for March 1928". Books which he had considered for the library were marked, and so they were accordingly ordered. The remainder of the money will be expended by a committee of the English faculty soon.

At William & Mary Sheaffer is leader*

Sheaffer's Lifetime^o pens were discovered by the old alumni of most American schools, and as these writing instruments are guaranteed against everything except loss for the owner's whole lifetime, they're probably still in use. The swifter, easier writing brought by Balance in Sheaffer's Lifetime^o pens and pencils is a very real help in class and makes quick work of long themes. Just try the smartly designed, smooth-writing Sheaffers at your dealer's. You'll know why Sheaffers outsell all others at 73 of the 119 leading American colleges, and you'll go unsatisfied until you own yours!

At better stores everywhere

All fountain pens are guaranteed against defects, but Sheaffer's Lifetime^o is guaranteed unconditionally for your life, and other Sheaffer products are forever guaranteed against defect in materials and workmanship. Green and black Lifetime^o pens, $8.75; Ladies', $7.50 and $8.25. Black and pearl De Luxe, $10.00; Ladies', $8.50 and $9.50. Pencils, $5.00. Golf and Handbag Pencil, $3.00. Others lower.

SCULLY HEADS DE MOLAY

At a meeting of the Delta Mu Chi, honorary De Molay fraternity, in Citizenship building last week, new officers for this year were elected and many plans were made for the various programs that are held throughout the year.

Due to the graduation of last year's officers it became necessary to reorganize and elect new officers. The following men were elected: President, J. D. Sculley, Jr.; Vice President, R. D. Price and Secretary-Treasurer, J. T. Campbell.

The initiates will number about ten for this semester and after being passed upon will be initiated in about a week. However this does not mean that if a brother De Molay is not taken at the beginning of the year he does not have another chance to be a Delta Mu Chi for there will be two initiations during the year.

Elaborate plans for programs that will be held from time to time have been talked over and it is planned to have a large number of delegates at the state conclave this year.

PEP CLUB GIVEN DEAN'S APPROVAL

E. C. Shortt, Morscher and Johnson Elected to Offices in First Meeting

Aiming at the maintenance and betterment of school spirit, the Green, Gold and Silver Club is prepared today for activity following the approval of its inception by Dr. William T. Hodges, Dean of Men.

The first meeting of the club was held last week subsequent to the submission of the preamble and constitution for the approval of President J. A. C. Chandler, who referred it to the dean of men. In a letter to Dr. Chandler, the organization was given full recommendation by Dr. Hodges.

Officers elected for the tri-color club are as follows: E. C. Shortt, president; Lawrence Morscher, vice-president, and Garland Johnson, secretary-treasurer. A cheer leader for the group will be elected later.

According to Mr. Shortt an appeal will be made to the alumni and to the business interests of Williamsburg to raise funds to purchase green, gold and silver uniforms and megaphones for members of the club. A resolution has been adopted that will name the club in honor of the person making the most liberal contribution.

This will take place at a later date following a subscription campaign. The activities of the club are expected to continue through future years, it being pointed out that something can always be done for the promotion of school spirit.

Especial desire to affiliate freshmen with the club is expressed by its president. He points out that they will return for three more years and therefore be in a better position to lend aid to a more ideal school spirit.

Election of officers will take place at the last meeting in the second semester for the succeeding term. Any student in good standing is eligible to the club's membership.

The attitude of the club is not only one of cooperation with the regular cheering squad, but, in addition, it will have a cheerleader of its own.

DR. WAGONER HEADS DEPARTMENT OF ANCIENT LANGUAGES

Professor A. P. Wagoner has been appointed head of the Classical Languages department of William and Mary. He has held professorships in schools of both the North and the South, and has obtained the degrees of Bachelor of Arts from Charlestown College in 1906 and Doctor of Philosophy from Johns Hopkins University in 1910.

After obtaining his A. B., he taught at Charlestown leaving that position for Williams College in Massachusetts, holding there a professorship of Greek and Latin. After a year, he was sent to Rome for actual work in archeological discovery for the American Archeological Institute. However, he was called back to this country in 1914 to take the position of professor of Latin and Greek at Roanoke College. During his twelve years there, besides the regular work, he founded a Summer and Extension Course, whose director he became until 1926 when he was appointed head of the Department of Classical Languages of the University of West Virginia and where he worked 'till 1928. He teaches at the University of Virginia in the summer.

He has contributed numerous articles to classical publications and is now completing a Latin text book of Cicero to be published by Sibley and Burt.

However, his interests are not wholly centered on the Classics. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and Scabard and Blade and is acting national president of the social fraternity, of Pi Kappa Phi.

Professor Wagoner states that he is greatly pleased with the support the school has given the Classics. The enrollment for the first year Greek, the largest in the state, has made it necessary to obtain the services of Mr. Bengston in addition to the regular staff.

ANNOUNCEMENT CLASS RING SALE

The Indian Sales Agency will allow a special sale price on class rings on a rock-bottom basis, and at the same time continue its policy of guaranteeing rings against defects in material and workmanship. Our rings will hereafter be made up with the seal recently declared the only official seal of the college, and will be shipped within two weeks. We reserve the right to discontinue sale prices below at any time we see fit, and would suggest, therefore, that you enter your order immediately to be sure of getting these special prices. The sale prices are: for the miniature style $8.75 (sold previously at $13.50) and up; for the medium style $14 (sold previously at $21.50) and up; and for the extra large style $16.10 (sold previously at $26.50) and up. These are unheard-of low prices for W. and M. rings, as you will no doubt realize, and are made possible only by our manufacturer's cooperation in making this sale possible. Take advantage of this sale price before it goes back to normal. See E. C. Shortt, Manager of Indian Sales Agency, Room 1 College Shop Building, between 4 and 6, week days, except Saturday, or make appointment with any doo keeper at dining hall.

CAMPUS ROLL

A list of all students in the college, showing their classification, campus address and home address, has been prepared by the Registrar's office. The Flat Hat will publish the list beginning this week, in the belief it will be of value to all students and organizations if preserved. Fraternities particularly should find the list valuable during rushing season.

SABRE CLUB INITIATES THREE

Three new members were initiated at a meeting of the Sabre Club held in Citizenship Building last Monday night. The names of the new members are H. B. Daniels of Springfield, Mass., H. R. Cross of Swathmore, Pa. and J. Martin Van Buren of Maryland. On account of the recent formation of this organization no definite initiation ceremony has been set forth so the initiation was held in the form of a smoker.
In a speech to the new members, J. T. Campbell, President, pointed out that the purpose of the Sabre Club was to promote an interest in the present military doings of the United States Army and to provide an organization for both the present officers of the reserve army and also for men in this vicinity who hold certificates of eligibility for commissions. The matter of a large banquet to be held out of town was also brought up but no definite decision was made.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO SENIORS

All seniors must turn in their full names, fraternities, and list of activities for the Colonial Echo by next Wednesday evening if they desire write-ups to appear beneath their pictures in the yearbook, it was announced last night. The slips may be deposited in the ballot-boxes outside the dining hall.

Senior women may give their slips to Eleanor Williamson or Dorothy Reese, while senior men may turn in theirs to either Alan Graff, Senior editor, Charles Dunner, or David Einstein.

William R. Savage, editor-in-chief of the year book, has expressed the wish that every senior comply with the above request, in order to facilitate the work on the publication.

PLANS NOW BEING DRAWN FOR LARGE COLONIAL BUILDING

Rockefeller Representative Here States Plans Are Now Being Worked Over

WILL BE BUSINESS HOUSE

A single, long, colonial building will house many of Williamsburg's now variously domiciled stores, if detailed plans at present being worked on by Restoration architects are made use of. While the decision to build this structure has not definitely been made, it probably will be, according to Walter Macomber, resident architect for the Rockefeller interests here.

This building, an answer to the problem of combining modern business with ancient appearances, will probably be placed on the north side of Duke of Gloucester between Boundary and Henry streets. This falls within the projected business district of restored Williamsburg, which district will extend from the college corner to Henry street and eventually include more stores to be built.

The building will be 134 feet in length and consist of a large central part with long wings east and west. It will be designed to give the appearance of a proud Colonial dwelling made over, added to, and reluctantly introduced to mere business.

The front elevation on Duke of Gloucester street will reveal a three storied main part with chimneys at each end, and to the right and left rambling story-and-a-half extensions, each provided with an end chimney. Dormer windows are to be found on all three sections of the building. The wings and the ground floor of the central part will contain stores, probably five in number, while the upper two stories of the latter will be devoted to offices.

The estimated cost of the project has not been announced.

Mexico City—Alvaro Moreno Iribien, Yucatan explorer, declared recently that Mayan ruins explored by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on a recent flight over Yucatan, Quintana Rou and British Honduras were first discovered by a party that he participated in a few years ago.

Tokyo—Recently the Chinese that have imposed upon the Russians have been sentenced to prison terms ranging from two to nine years.

DEGREE APPLICANTS

All students who intend to take their degree in June or August, 1930 must have their degree applications filed by November 1. Proper application blanks may be secured at the Registrar's office in Washington Hall.

SOCIETIES DISCUSS DEBATING RULES

The regular meeting of the Phoenix literary society has been postponed to Monday night at seven-thirty, at which time several proposed revisions to the Constitution will be brought to the attention of the members of the society. Since the proposed revisions relate mostly to articles governing intercollegiate debate, the Philomathian literary society is requested to meet with them, for both societies have to concur upon the changes.

Under the present ruling the Debate Council has authority to attend to all matters relative to intercollegiate debating without any conference with the societies. The proposed change will still give the Debate Council this power so long as such management is not inconsistent with the policies of the societies. It is not the purpose of the societies to exercise this direct control continually but rather to guard themselves against any policies which the Debate Council might pursue which conflict with the policies adopted from time to time by the societies. The other proposed revisions are only slight changes from the present Constitution.

250 INSTALLED IN Y. W.

About 250 new members were installed in the Y. W. C. A. at the service held recently in Phi Beta Kappa hall, as a result of the membership campaign last week. At the time of the campaign both old and new members indicated the interest-groups with which they wish to affiliate during the coming year. These groups are representative of the various departments of the Y. W. C. A.

Officers of the association expressed satisfaction at the outcome of the membership campaign which is said to have been the most successful in point of numbers since the establishment of the Y. W. C. A. here.

SUMMER SCHOOL BULLETIN TO BE OUT IN FEW DAYS

Professor A. G. Williams announces the revision of the catalogue of the summer school in Europe for the year 1930 which will contain many changes in studies and places visited from last year. The catalogue is in the hands of the printer and will be out by the first of November.

DR. FLEMMING SPEAKS TO YW

"Sic semper tyrannis" is an invaluable motto for an individual's actions in order to achieve personality" said Dr. E. G. Flemming Wednesday night as the speaker of the Y. W. C. A. "Each year students have to make an adjustment to their new environment and the intellectual ideas with which they come in contact.

"First the student must wean away from the old ideas and formulate his own ideas without too much dependence on his home environment. There must be a fight for freedom. In this fight he will become aware of the tyranny of social custom of past life and that with which he is working in contact now. For full development of personality he must seek freedom from that tyranny. To gain that freedom your life must be purposeful in a way that will bring satisfaction to yourself and to the social group to which you belong.

"As a guiding principle to help gain freedom I suggest pursuit of truth and a just principle supported by adequate facts and evidence. In this process personality will be developed as personality is born out of conflict."

A MESSAGE

To the Former Students of William and Mary:

Whether you have or have not been back to Williamsburg since your College days, you will be interested to know the remarkable changes going on at your Alma Mater. If you are one of many alumni in some distant part of the country, too remote to make possible frequent visits to the old campus, you will want to know about the finer William and Mary.

P. O. PLANS PROGRESS

The establishment of a United States post office, replacing the system maintained by the college, is expected at an early date according to plans announced today.

According to Herbert L. Bridges, registrar, a survey was made recently by a United States postal inspector. Officials in the postmaster-general's department at Washington, D. C. have approved of a college sub-station of the Williamsburg post office. Oct. 1 was set as the opening date but the time has been delayed indefinitely.

The post office will be located in the present quarters in the Citizenship building. It is expected to give added convenience to the students who may use either call boxes furnished on a rental basis or the general delivery. Mail will come direct to the sub-station from the railway depot. Transactions in money orders, mailing parcel post packages, insured mail, registered and special delivery matter, hitherto handled only at the main post office, can be made at the new branch.

INFIRMARY EXCUSES

No infirmity excuses will be given in the infirmary for at least twelve hours. granted this year except by Dr. D. J. King, college physician, and lege nurses, as announced by the administration. Excuses will only be granted when the student has Miss Alice and Eunice Ross, col-

EDITOR ISSUES CALL

William R. Savage, editor of the Colonial Echo, desires to have freshmen typists get in touch with him immediately, in his office in Citizenship Building.

A number of typists are used each year in the work of the year book. This work carries with it a college credit besides admission to the staff.

PLAY PRODUCTION CLASS TO PRESENT PROGRAM OF PLAYS

Four One-Act Plays Will Be Given November 1, In Phi Beta Kappa Hall

PART OF HOMECOMING WEEK

As a feature of Homecoming week, the members of Miss Althea Hunt's Play Production class will present, under her direction, four one-act plays on the night of November 1, in Phi Beta Kappa hall. The plays chosen compose a wide variety of types.

The Twelve Pound Look, by Barrie, is a short comedy drama regarding a man's mistake in believing that he understands woman. Truman Welling, a favorite in dramatic presentations here, will take the part of the indomitable Sir Harry, and his shrinking wife, Lady Sims, will be played by Betty Hugo. Mrs. Mary Pyle gives promise of an excellent portrayal of Kate, the erstwhile wife of Sir Harry. The butler will be Ryland Nuckols.

Similar in tone, yet of entirely different texture, is Poor Aubrey, a comedy by George Kelly. This too, is about a conceited husband, but he is young and of the middle class. Hugh Clements is cast as Poor Aubrey and Catherine Hasseltine as Amy, his wife. Mildred Matier, another player familiar in local dramatics, will play Mrs. Fisher, the mother-in-law who takes the wind out of Aubrey's sails. Mrs. Cole, the guest, will be played by Julia Verner. Assisting in direction will be Viola Barrett.

George Bernard Shaw's travesty, Dark Lady of the Sonnets, will be the most elaborate of the four performances. It is Elizabethan, and consequently the sets will be unusual and picturesque. Harriet Smith will be Queen Elizabeth, and Shakespeare will be played by Robert Moses. Jean Upsall is the dark lady in the moonlight, and Ryland Nuckols will take the part of the Beefeater. The assistant director is Mary Parry.

Completing the program and in distinct contrast with the other plays, is The Travellers, by Booth Tarkington. This is a farce about Americans travelling in Italy and mysterious incidents that befell them at an old inn. The blustering Mr. Roberts is portrayed by Marshall Baggett, and his wife by Laura Colvin. Virginia Turman is cast as their lovely daughter, Jessica. Mrs. Slidell, the nervous in-

All picture proofs which are not turned in by today at 4 o'clock for the Colonial Echo, will not be accepted for the book, according to F. Samuel Wilcox, Jr., business manager.

Mr. Wilcox stated that there was urgent need for the photos, as this section of the year book had to go to press in a few days.

Call for Musicians Made By Director George Small

An appeal is made today by Professor George M. Small of the music department for more interest in the college band which is being developed in anticipation of an appearance Nov. 2 at the homecoming game with George Washington University at Cary Field.

The band now practicing consists of 25 pieces and it is the hope of Professor Small to increase this to 50 or 60 pieces. The call for more players is intended particularly to the freshmen who are planning to stay four years. For these men, instruments may be procured in the music department, said Professor Small, who is working on the plan of establishing a permanent concert and marching band in which the college may manifest pride. The band should be regarded just as much an institution as any sport and it is a matter of school spirit to maintain one, Professor Small pointed out.

The success of the band this year depends entirely on the response of those who desire to play musical instruments and aid in its development. It is with an eye to the future that Professor Small is working.

Individual will be played by Ann McNulty and her son, Fred, by Lee Rice. Others in the cast are Lloyd Johnson as La Sera; Florence Cleve as Maria; the chauffeur by Harry B. Van Seiver; Salvatore by Ryland Nuckols; Luigi, the pallid man, by J. T. Campbell; and the man in the doorway, Guy Hall. Nancy Johnson will assist Miss Hunt in direction.
