Five Varsity Forensic Artists Return Undeclared From First Northern Trip

SEVEN DEBATES ARGUED ON TRIP

Murray, Brown, Berry, Johnson and Brown Present Arguments; Two More Home Debates

SPLIT TEAM STYLE EMPLOYED

The Men's Varsity Debate Teams, on their first Northern trip, have participated in seven debates, and are yet undeclared. For the first time in the history of Varsity Debating have William and Mary's forensic representatives met with such great success.

Opening the Northern debate schedule, Calvin Berry and Merrill Brown defeated debaters of Gettysburg College, at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, February 23, arguing the negative side of the question of Resolved: "That unemployment insurance should be compulsory in the United States". Again on the following day, they argued the same side of the same question successfully with Penn State.

In a split team debate, Dwight C. Brown, representing the negative from William and Mary, with his colleague from Rutgers College, defeated the affirmative, composed of A. D. Johnson, from this campus and his fellow artist from Rutgers, on that campus on the subject, Resolved: "That this meeting affirms the principles and practices of Democracy". The same style and question were employed in this debate as was used in the recent Scotch debate here.

Ralph Murray and Dwight C. Brown defeated representatives from New York University, February 25, on the unemployment insurance question. The following evening this same question was debated with the College of the City of New York. This debate was so well argued by both teams that in an audience decision, the result was a tie.

February 27, A. D. Johnson and Dwight C. Brown argued the Democracy question with Columbia University, in the split team style. (Continued on Page Two)

Students who upon dismissal from the infirmary fail to indicate to the nurse in charge that are due excuses for certain classes are warned that the Offices of the Deans cannot undertake to secure these for them. The responsibility rests entirely with the student, who should leave with the nurse in charge a complete statement of the classes missed.

It is imperative that the student give the initials of certain professors whose names are otherwise indeterminate for records, e. g.

D. W. Davis, Z. A. Davis; C. D. Gregory, G. C. Gregory; L. T. Jones, W. M. Jones; A. G. Taylor, L. A. Taylor.

Signed: Grace Warren Landrum, Dean of Women.

Mary Butterfield, Margaret Chamberlin, and Marianna Thomas for Secretary of the Executive Council; Vinna Ferrall, Winifred Cory, Eleanor Buchanan, Betty Sargeant, Catherine Crane and Helen Chase, for Sophomore member of the Honor Committee.

Dr. Helen F. Weeks, of the Education Department and one of the Faculty Advisors to the Women's Student Government, delivered an interesting speech on the "College Level of Work". ## MANLESS DANCE TO TAKE PLACE MONDAY NIGHT

Jefferson Gymnasium To Be Scene of Annual Festivities; College Orchestra Furnishes Music

ADMISSION FIFTY CENTS

Helen Chase Heads Decoration Committee; Helen Bell and Mary Jean Sell Tickets

Monday, March ninth, at eight P. M. the annual Y. W. C. A. Manless Program Dance will take place in Jefferson Gymnasium. The college orchestra will furnish the music for the dance, which will be formal. According to the members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, this dance will be more elaborate than any held previously. A March Hare motif will be carried out in the decorations, which are expected to entirely transform the gymnasium and possibly in the costume of the orchestra. Those who attend are invited to wear costumes in accord with the motif.

The decoration committee, of which Helen Chase is chairman, has decided upon a color scheme of green and lavender, and the entire gymnasium will be arranged to present as festive an air as possible. A refreshment booth will be provided, which will be open throughout the dance.

Admission to the dance will be fifty cents each. Tickets have been on sale since Wednesday and are available from members of the Senior Cabinet.

Frances Harvie has been placed in charge of publicity. The decoration committee, in addition to Helen Chase, Chairman consists of Grace Leach, Sophia Croxton, and Vinna Ferrell. The members of the refreshment committee are Eleanor Buchanan, Betty Sargeant, Martie Cutherell, and Harriet Pittard. Helen Bell and Mary Jean are in charge of the ticket sale.

Last year the dance was a great success and preparations for this year indicate the wish of the sponsors "to make it better than ever". The directors hope that the costumes of those attending this year will even surpass those of last year. All types were represented from boys in knickers to admirals in gold braid, but dark blue suits predominated.

Mid-Winter Dances Declared Most Successful Ever Presented Here

MANY ALUMNI RETURN FOR MID-WINTERS

Widemeyer and His Band Royally Received; Officers Express Satisfaction

UNIQUE DECORATIONS FEATURE

The mid-winter dances, which were given by the Cotillion Club on last Friday and Saturday were declared to be the most successful ever presented here. Over 200 couples attended, among these being many alumni and out-of-town guests, as well as students and members of the faculty.

Widemeyer and His Band were featured. This orchestra appeared here after a successful run near Cincinnati, this being the first engagement in the Southland in 1931. Widemeyer and His Band are recognized as outstanding and their music was unusually well received.

The program was composed of a formal ball Friday night from 10 to 2 o'clock, followed with the dansant Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, and the final dance, which was semi-formal, Saturday evening from 9 to 12 o'clock.

A scheme of red and white was used in decorating. Much credit is due William Wellons, of Portsmouth, chairman of the decorating committee, for the arrangements. Streamers were used, running from corner to corner, with booths in the corners and the windows covered with red and white paper cut in modernistic designs. Besides Mr. Wellons, as chairman, the committee on decorations consisted of Y. O. Kent, John Lewis, Roy Charles, Kenneth Umlah, Jack Tuthill, Wally Lynn, Binford Sykes, E. G. Outten, and Dick Allen.

The present officers of the Cotillion Club are: Ted Berkman, president; Allan Charles, vice-president; Nash Lindsey, secretary-treasurer. Officers and members express themselves as being very satisfied with the success of the dances, especially from a financial standpoint.

SEVEN DEBATES ARGUED ON TRIP

A. D. Johnson, representing the affirmative for William and Mary, with his colleague, defeated their opponents, who argued the negative.

Sunday afternoon, March 1, Ralph Murray and Dwight C. Brown climaxed the trip with a win over Fordham University on the Unemployment Insurance question.

Each of these debates were presented before a large, appreciative audience, who fully realize the excellence of the arguments.

Returning from this most successful debate trip, the Varsity forensic artists will have two home debates; one with Penn State, March 31, and the other with New York University, the date of which has not been definitely set. Varsity debates away from home are at present scheduled with Temple University, Gettysburg College, Middleberg College, and Pittsburgh University.

Merrill Brown, a newcomer to this field, was selected to captain his team in his first inter-collegiate debate. He is a member of the Wrangler's Club, Phi Delta Gamma, National Forensic Fraternity, and represents the Phoenix Literary Society on the Debate Council.

The captain of the other team, Dwight C. Brown, who debated in High school, represented William and Mary in the National Oratorical Contest for two years. He debated the University of Florida, and Emory University last year and the International Scotch Team this year. He is the manager of the Debate team, Vice-president of Tau Kappa Alpha,

Secretary of Phi Delta Gamma, Forensic Fraternities, and President of the Wrangler's Club.

A. D. Johnson who debated for Carrsville High school before coming here, made the Southern debate trip for two years. He represented William and Mary in the State-wide Oratorical contest and debated in the International Scotch Debate. He has been President of the Phoenix Literary Society, and is a member of the Wranglers Club.

Calvin Berry who won the State-wide debate contest for Hargrave Military Institute took the Southern Debate tour for two years, debating Emory University, and Davidson College. He is a member of Phi Delta Gamma and the Wranglers Club.

SUMMER CATALOG INCLUDES LIBRARY SCIENCE COURSES

Courses Offered to Meet New State Requirements For Librarians

The College of William and Mary again offers in its 1931 Summer Session new courses in Library Practice in order to aid the State Schools to meet their new requirements which specify that all accredited high schools in Virginia must employ either teacher librarians or full-time librarians. Credits offered in these courses count toward any degree or on State certificate and are offered only in the first term of the Summer Session, June 15-July 25. The pre-requisite for any of the courses is that the student shall have had at least two years of college work.

Dr. Earl G. Swem, Librarian of the college, will be director of the courses offered. Joan Chaffee Miller, Supervisor of English at Matthew Whaley High School, Williamsburg, will teach "Literature for Primary Grades" and "Literature for Upper Elementary Grades". These two courses familiarize future teachers in the choice of literature suitable for the above grades and suggest methods of presentation to the elementary student.

Mary Robert Lloyd, Catalog Librarian, Public Library at Richmond will offer three courses in library practice. "Classification and Cataloging" is a lecture course on the principles of these subjects and instructs the student in economical and sensible methods for use in a small library. "Administration of School Library" offers instruction in book selection, lists, purchasing, the general care of books, and the library laws of Virginia. The third of Miss Lloyd's courses, "Reference and Bibliography," familiarizes the student with the study and use of the important reference books and their card catalogs. An explanation of the printed cards of the Library of Congress is also included in this course.

Charles W. Dickinson, Jr., Supervisor of School Libraries, Virginia Department of Education, will teach a subject entitled "Methods of State Aid to School Libraries," and will discuss ways in which the State is helpful to its public schools in forwarding interest in libraries.

All books used in connection with these courses offered this summer will be supplied by the College Library, now grown to 75,000 volumes, and the library of the Matthew Whaley High School.

According to Dr. Swem, this work will be highly interesting as well as beneficial to the student expecting to do advanced library work, and anyone interested may see him concerning complete details.

At present he is the Latin-American Librarian at the University of Texas.

A feature of the volume is the complete biographical and bibliographical notes by Early Martin Jr. and Mr. Castaneda. This beautiful volume was printed in Austin, Texas in 1930, following a typographical design by Charles G. Ranes. The college now owns the forty-third copy of the limited edition of fifty-five copies.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS ARE FITTING GIFTS FOR NEW GRADUATES

Mr. Guy, Alumni Secretary, Recommends Memberships To Parents Of Coming Graduates

ATTRACTIVE CERTIFICATES

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OF THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY, Williamsburg, Virginia.

To Parents and Friends of the Class of 1931:

As commencement season approaches a problem arises in the minds of parents and friends of the graduates as to what kind of a gift should be presented as a graduation present. No gift would be so appropriate or more appreciated than a Life Membership in the William and Mary Alumni Association. Unlike most commencement gifts it enhances as the years go by.

The Life Memberships consist of handsomely engraved certificates with the seal and colors of the college, and most of the alumni have them framed and hung apposite their diplomas. We are making reservations for the senior class now and will be glad to reserve one for you. The entire cost of the Life Membership is $25.

Very sincerely yours,

Geo. W. Guy,

Executive Sec'y. Alumni Association.

DEBATE COUNCIL GETS AWARD

The Phoenix Literary Society awarded one hundred and fifty dollars to the debate council, at a meeting on February 20 at 7 o'clock. The debate council is entirely supported by the literary societies of the campus, and were it not for their generosity, the council could not conduct its activities.

The question of formal initiations was discussed at the meeting, but no decisions were reached, and the question was referred to a committee for consideration. The remainder of the program of the meeting was devoted to a debate, Resolved: "That Sports Between Nations Promote Peace". The affirmative side, composed of Arent and Warren, was given the decision. The negative side was upheld by Holland and Bosely.

DR. WARREN ELECTED ADVISER

Dr. Warren was elected faculty adviser of the Clayton-Grimes Biological Club, at a meeting conducted Monday evening, February 23, in Washington Hall. He is taking the position of Dr. Dolloff, who is leaving Williamsburg. The members also elected B. J. Painter, assistant secretary. ## Mildred Layne Writes to Alumni Office From China

The following interesting letter was received recently from Mildred Layne who left on December 28th last for Hongkong, China. We are very glad to hear of the delightful trip she is having and wish her much success in her new home.

S. S. Empress of Asia,
 January 25

Dear Mr. Guy:

I have intended writing you especially since we left Honolulu to tell you about the wonderful time we had there, but the days have been too full for correspondence somehow.

Captain and Mrs. Walsh met us at the dock in Honolulu and they were lovely to us. They took us out to lunch and showed us the island as much as possible. We only had a few hours there but we enjoyed it thoroughly. It is a most delightful place.

This entire trip has been delightful. Except for the first few days of rough weather it has been as smooth as could be. We had a few hours each in Yokohama, Kobe and Nagasaki and we had a fine time shopping and sight-seeing and eating Japanese food. Then we had a day and a half in Shanghai, that was our gayest stop! Tomorrow we arrive in Hongkong.

SUCCESSFUL DANCES

Mid-winter dances this year were in every way successful. Officers of the Cotillion Club have declared that these dances were the most successful ever staged at William and Mary.

Students seemed to be more interested this year than ever before. Every man and woman at the dances seemed pleased with the orchestra, with the decorations, and with the way the dances were conducted.

The orchestra was by far the best that William and Mary has seen in years, and certainly lived up to the national reputation that it has attained. The decorations were unique in every respect, and the committee on decorations should be congratulated for their successful and untiring efforts.

THE FLAT HAT goes on record as having called these dances absolutely successful, and congratulates the students, alumni, and friends of the college who attended and supported the dances. The officers of the club should also be congratulated for the splendid way in which they conducted the dances, and it is hoped that finals will be just as good, and maybe better.

ATTEND CONVOCATION!

A familiar question asked by students either before or after a Convocation here is, "Why don't they bring some big men and interesting speakers to the campus?", yet when we do have important speakers the students do not go to find out whether he is an interesting speaker or not. Their failure to attend Convocation prevents, in a large measure, the administration bringing many speakers here whom it might consider inviting.

The men invited here are leaders in their professions. They come to inform us about the important questions of the day. Not only do they come without personal gain, but they also devote a large amount of time and energy when they appear in Convocation. Seeing a very few students present at their lectures, they must necessarily conclude that the student body is not interested.

To mention a specific example of non-attendance, we cite the last Convocation. Approximately one hundred and fifty persons, of whom a number were professors, were present. An important speaker would certainly have been greatly insulted and a man of lesser importance would assuredly not be anxious to speak to us again.

And then we have those students who attend convocation and leave before it is over. Even the coolest of speakers must be somewhat rattled not to say terribly annoyed to have whispering going on in the audience. But the crowning insult occurs when these same persons, having become tired of amusing themselves in this manner, get up and walk out of the Hall.

We believe that William and Mary is the greatest college in the country and we want the world to know it. It is certainly not a good policy to allow speakers to carry away a low opinion of the intelligence of the student body as obtained from the small number who attend Convocation.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

He asks ten people every week some question on college life. If you have any problems you would like to see discussed in this column, send them to "The Inquiring Reporter," in care of THE FLAT HAT.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What changes would you suggest making in women's social rules?

Elizabeth Moore, '31: "I would suggest more big rules with better enforcement and fewer petty rules, so hard to remember."

Mary Solliday, '32: "Allow girls and boys to play bridge on dates."

Vivian Dreyer, '32: "Poor little high school girls coming to a big city like Williamsburg should be under stricter rules. It has been suggested that there should not be any holding of hands—it is so unsanitary."

Corinne Troupe, '32: "I'd suggest having not so many petty rules."

Marie Keiley, '33: "I think girls should not be treated as if they were in a convent. Why not let us smoke in peace."

Margaret Kolb, '33: "Girls should be allowed to go to the stores on the first block with dates on Sunday afternoon."

Margaret Neal, '33: "I think it is ridiculous that we have to have permission for every little thing we do."

Gladys Monroe, '33: "Now that spring is approaching perhaps it would facilitate matters for Miss Taylor to have the house chaperons give permission to walk to the lake."

Jean Upsall, '32: "Girls should be permitted to play bridge when and with whom they please. As for the old excuse that it would lead to gambling, that's quite impossible since none of us have any money."

Caroline deWitt, '31: "I think we should be allowed to play bridge in the houses with men."

African cannibals still stew missionaries in a pot of boiling water. This is the statement of H. B. Garlock, United Brethren missionary, here on furlough.

His post is located in Liberia, in Western Africa, at a place known as "What Man's Grave". He tells of one occurrence when he arrived with a rescue party just in time to save a woman missionary.

The girl was bound and held under guard near a pot of boiling water and the savages were waiting for it to get hot enough to stew her.

Italy and Great Britain reached an agreement in principle for the settlement of naval problems left over by the London conference last year, and although the accord is subject to French approval, in official circles there was a general feeling that it is all but signed.

Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary who headed his nation's naval delegation at Paris and here, said before he started back for the French capital, "We'll get an agreement in Paris if we do as well there as we did here." He added that the prospects were bright for such a result.

This tentative accord which, when it is ratified, will obviate the danger of a Franco-Italian naval race is regarded by many as even more important politically than it is in a military sense.

Behind the scenes Premier Benito Mussolini has been active during negotiations and at a dinner in the British Embassy he virtually concluded the accord with Mr. Henderson.

Okie-T-oke oke, oke oke! Said to the tune of, "Shave and a hair cut, two bits". Bum—Bum. And how about those dances? Go on, ask me. Dog gone right they were good. What music! Whew! Bet everyone knows the words to "Fraternity Blues" now. If not—

Now every ole frat has a SWEETHEART song, And mine is among the list—
Bye Bye Blues!

And then that other little specialty that we all liked—
She'll be coming around the mountain.
Imagine it?

The dances were really a success and I forgot to ask somebody how to spell the name of the orchestra. I have seen it three different ways already. Weede-meyer and Weidemeyer and then last week the Flat Hat spelt it Widemeyer.

And wouldn't it rain! The dance wouldn't have been successful if it hadn't, so I am glad it rained.

There was a man from Scotland, there was so. Was he a Scotchman? I'll let you finish reading about it and then let you guess. Well, there was a man from Scotland and he wanted to smoke monogrammed cigarettes, so he changed his name to Chesterfield. He was a Scotchman, he was so.

Walking home from the dance Saturday night. Remember I said Saturday night for it was raining, raining, raining. And somebody came running up to us (See, I took someone). Well, someone came running up and said:

"Come quick! There's a fellow up to his knees in mud."

Some guy walking in front of us yelled this out:

"That's all right. Tell him to walk out of it."

"He can't. He's upside down."

And that's not half as bad as the guy who was anaemic. Well the doctor told him to raise both of the windows in his room every night when he went to bed and that he wouldn't be so anaemic. He didn't get any better so he went to see his pal, the doctor.

"Did you raise both windows in your room as I told you?"

"No, sir, there is only one window, so I opened it twice."

Can't think just now who that sounds like, but somebody once said it.

Did you hear the fellow yapping after the dance the other night that he hoped the guy who stole his hat got fleas.

Mentioning that word yapping—I had better quit yapping now. That is a new word recently recreated by Miss William and Mary. By the way did you happen to see the Virginia Gazette photographers running around the gym last Friday night when the best looking arrived? I saw several flashes made, once as the pair were alighting from their Rolls and again as they entered on the dance floor. Funny how they got together for the dances, eh? Well, Abyssinia, next week!

"Keep Off the Grass" Is Plea of "Interested"

Editor of the Flat Hat,

Dear Sir:

As I was standing in the Upper Hall of Rogers a few days ago looking out over the campus the first thing that caught my eye was the numerous paths. I realized how much they mar the beauty of the campus.

There seems to be a certain lure about those paths. Maybe it is because they are time-savers, more likely because they save energy. Spring is almost here and with it will come spring fever. Those little paths will seem more tempting than ever. But we should think of something besides what they save us. Now that the frost has gone, the grass will soon be coming up. It will need a good start and it won't get it if those paths are used incessantly. We don't want bare places on the campus when there could be grass.

We should all feel a certain pride in William and Mary, not in just the name, but all that is connected with the college. Our campus we should be especially proud of since that is what outsiders notice first. Therefore let's strengthen that pride before the spring fever sets in so that those paths will be covered with grass, like the rest of the campus.

Interested.

Women's Debate Council Take Two New Members

Lucy Grossman and Sue Brittle were admitted into the Women's Debate Team, at the semi-annual try-outs, which took place in Washington 213, Wednesday afternoon, February 18, at 5 o'clock. The judges were: George E. Brooks, coach of debate, and the members of the Women's Debate Team. The subject assigned to the candidates was, Resolved: "That the Honor System Should not Require Students to Report Their Classmates' Delinquencies".

The six candidates left the room to return only when their turn to speak arrived. The talks were limited to five minutes, to be on either side of the question the speaker desired. The candidates were judged on delivery, subject matter, and logical presentation of arguments. The Women's Debate Team now numbers twelve members.

WRANGLERS HONOR PRUETT

Milton E. Pruett, of Eastville, was elected an honorary member of the Wranglers Club at its regular meeting, February 25. Pruett who is President of the Debate Council has been very active in promoting debate on the campus. This singular honor, never before conferred on a student, was given him because it was felt that much of the unusual success the William and Mary Debate Team has had this year was due to his work. He is Vice-president of the Philomathean Literary Society, and a member of the Wythe Law Club.

From the
W. A. J. B.

THE WILLIAM AND MARY PLAYERS journey to Hampton to play a matinee performance of "Just Suppose" under the auspices of the Hampton Woman's Club this afternoon. An invitation to play it at Greensboro, North Carolina has been received.

THE CAST of "The Merchant of Venice" was tentatively selected last week, but public announcement of cast is being withheld until next week. The performance will take place here three weeks from tonight.

ALL HONORS should go to Dr. Frank McLean and his Little Theater League troupe for their production of "The Streets of New York". We say "oodles" about the play itself, but we shall not. Simply this: it utilizes every trick that the old melodramatic bag contained; the "asides", "You heartless girl", etc., all fine; the murders, fires, bank robbers, wicked villains, sugar-coated heroines, bald plots—all was typical of even the most extravagant accounts of the melodramas of 1850. The nearest approach to modernism, realism, individualism, humanism, and funnyism in the play is the character of "BADGER, a dissolute clerk" played by Dr. Guy. The part had some character study in it; it contained a mixture of human virtues and faults; it was witty and genuinely clever. And Dr. Guy took full advantage of these opportunities in acting the part.

THE LITTLE THEATER Leagues ought to be encouraged. America is in particular need of them just at present, considering the inactivity, failure, and poor standards of our legitimate stage of today and abominably low level in moving picture entertainments. Aside from the actor's point of view, the Little Theater movement accomplishes chiefly the raising of the artistic level of the theater, even if it may at times be lacking in skill. Thus is the Williamsburg Little Theater League to be commended as an exponent of a worthy movement. Many amateur organizations and some professional theaters of the last few years have produced revivals of mid-Victorian melodramas dressed in all their old glory, and Dr. McLean's achievement is as worthy as the best of them. It is another artistic and interesting step in the growing popular Little Theater movement.

Phi Sigma Issues Fifteen New Bids for Coming Year

Phi Sigma Society has issued bids for the ensuing year to the following students: Lawrence Slabion, Ruby Adams, Anne Croxton, Doyle Seeman, Idella Horsey, Ben Painter, Beth Dudley, Margaret Baughman, Floyd Armstrong, Miss Aurelia Gill, Herman Hoffman, Helen Stamper, Ida Reilly, William Koffman, Dr. J. R. Tucker. Initiation and banquet will be held for the initiates Saturday, March 14th, at the White Heron Tea Room.

Phi Sigma is a national honorary Biological fraternity. It was founded at Ohio State University and has been on this campus for two years. There are twenty-nine active chapters in the leading universities in the United States. Dr. Warren of the Biological Department of William and Mary, was elected national vice-president of this society at its national convention held in Cleveland Ohio, last December. The officers of this chapter are: President, Wallace Hicks; Vice-President, Jane Satterfield; Treasurer, James Stone.

OUTSTANDING STUDENT

MARSHALL BAGGETT

Again the head of the alphabet takes preference in the selection of an outstanding student, for the Flat Hat's "Interesting Collegian" (indebtedness to College Humor) this week is Marshall Baggett, of Alexandria.

The Colonial Echo will carry the following account of his activities: Omicron Delta Kappa; Captain Track '30—Track, '27, '29, '30, '31; President Dramatic Club, '30-'31; President Athletic Council, '29-'30; Assistant Sports Editor, Flat Hat, '29-'30; Sports Editor, Colonial Echo, '31; Theta Alpha Phi, Senior Tribunal, '30-'31; Cross Country, '26; Monogram Club, '27, '29, '30, '31; Freshman Basketball, '27; Freshman Relay, '27; Varsity Relay, '29, '30.

In the list stated above, there are several places in which the dates jump from '27 to '29, to which an explanation is offered that Mr. Baggett did not attend the session of '28. In addition to his previous athletic accomplishments, he was a member of the squad of William and Mary trackmen who participated in the Milrose A. A. Games in New York, February 7.

His most recent dramatic appearance on this campus was in the role of Kingsley Stafford in the Player's production of "Just Suppose". In his interpretation of the part, he justified his selection as a member of the second troupe to go on tour. He is chairman of the Senior Committee for the selection of the play, and will probably culminate his dramatic successes in this work, which date back to his first appearance on the local stage in "The Romancers", "The Travelers", "The House of the Dead", "Twelfth Night", "Vergilian Pageant", "Minnick", "Bargains in Cathay", and "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil", and "Just Suppose" are among the numerous plays in which he has participated, besides being the stage director of "Anna Christie", which had the most interesting and difficult settings of any production yet staged here. "Baldheaded Row" (issue of February 6) reads "Mr. Baggett offers no particular preference of roles which he might like to play—a state of mind easy to satisfy. However, he has shown himself to qualify for the Oberammergau 'Passion Play' since in three successive Christmas pageants he has played the part of 'Joseph'."

He is an applicant for the Bachelor of Arts Degree, majoring in English and specializing in speech work.

Baseball And Track Men Start Preparing For Spring Campaign

CALL ISSUED BY COACH KELLISON FOR CANDIDATES

Graduation of Scammon, Silverman and Ryan Leaves Big Gaps In Infield

The William and Mary balltossers have begun to limber up the old soup-bones in preparation for a tough spring campaign, a real campaign which consists of no less than twenty-two ball games with some of the best clubs in the East. During the past week, practice has been slowed up due to a slight touch of winter weather, but Coach Kellison plans to start work in earnest from now on.

To use a rather trite and worn-out phrase, prospects for a good season are good. There are a good number of last year's veterans on hand, to say nothing of several men from last year's freshmen outfit who have excellent opportunities to crash through with a regular job on the first club.

Kellison will have an experienced pitching staff in Captain Bill Scott, and Bill Ferrill, Corky Sundin, Griffith, Rux and Lefty White, the latter one of the froshes last year, round out the hurling staff unless some one else turns up. Ferrill will have to battle with Suttle and Goldblatt for the catching job.

With the graduation of Scammon, Silverman, and Ryan, there are three important gaps in the infield to be plugged up. McBride and Christenson will have a nice little battle for the first corner, Maxey seems a logical man for second and Pat Harkins and Parker will fight it out for short unless some third man is developed for the job. Johnny Sauerbrun, at third, is the only regular from last year's aggregation to return to school and it will take a good man to keep him on the bench.

Outfielders include Eagle Engleburt, one of last year's sluggers, Bradley, Moore, Demorest, Lecroix and Marks, the last two named being members of last year's frosh club.

This collection ought to give Kellison a pretty good nucleus with which to start the season. Bill Scott will again alternate between the outfield and the mound and with Engleburt and one of the utility men filling in, the outfield will be well-taken care of.

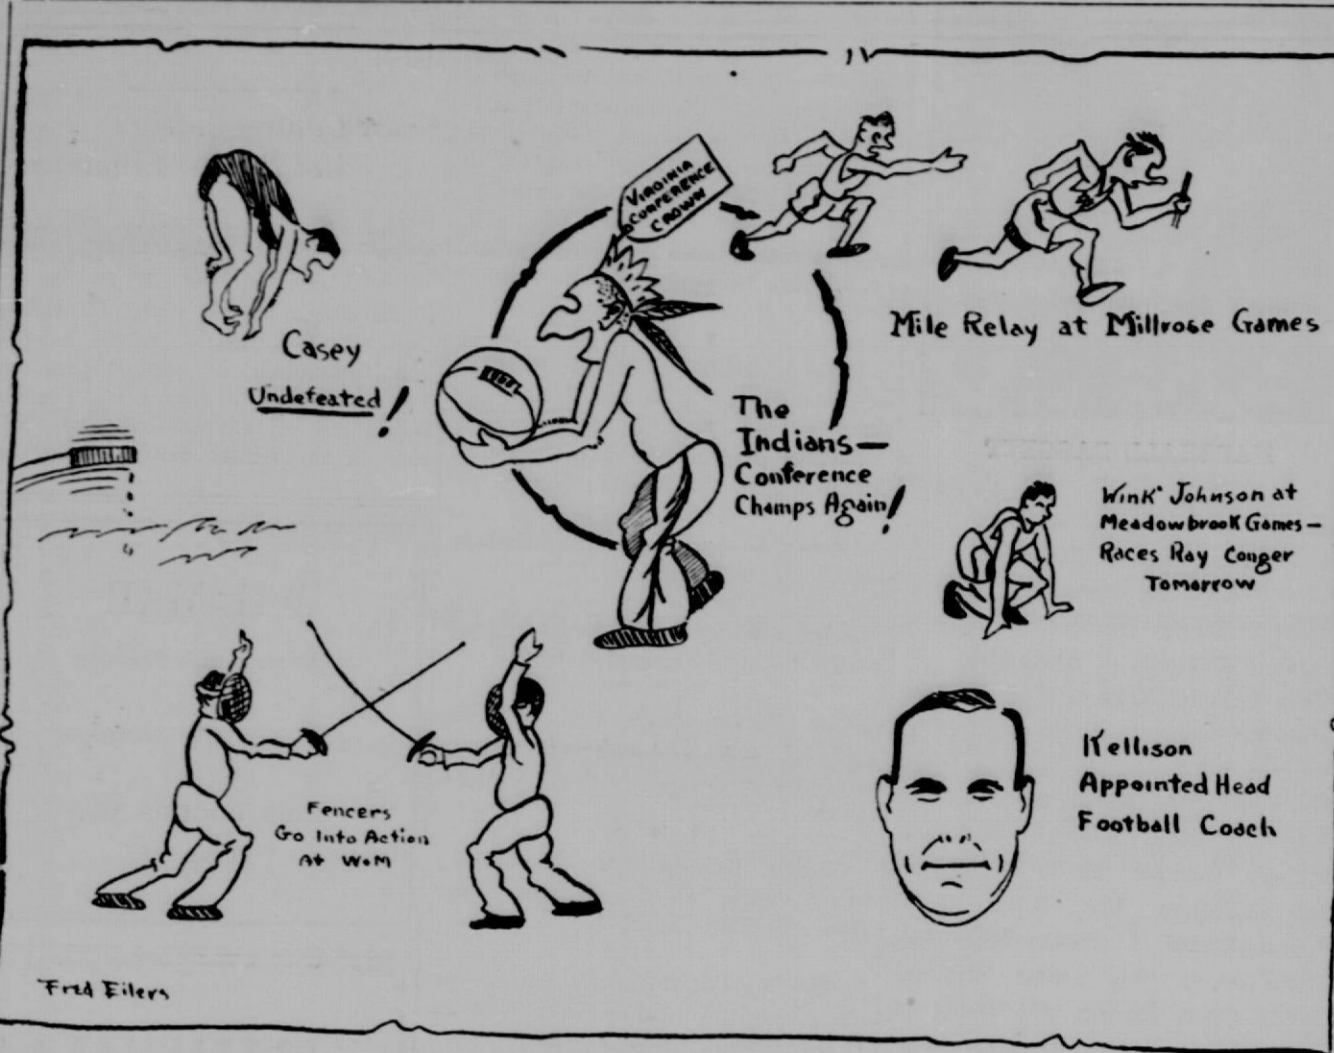

A northern trip is to be taken this year, the outfit playing Drexel, Boston.

HIGH SCHOOLS HOLD TOURNEY

Fredericksburg H. S. Beats Alexandria In Final Fray, 32-16; Four Teams Compete

Last Monday the Fredericksburg quintet team emerged victorious as the champions of the tournament sponsored by the University of Va. Literary and Athletic Society, by defeating the Alexandria basketballers 32-16 after having disposed of Howell in the afternoon playoffs by the score of 38-14.

Alexandria qualified for the final round by defeating the Highland Springs team in the afternoon 24-15. The final game was featured by the fine passing attack of the winning team, they scoring fourteen successive points in the first half to gain their unrelinquished lead.

LIGHTCLADS WILL BEGIN WORKOUTS ON MONDAY P. M.

Coach Scrap Chandler Issues Uniforms to Many Veterans; Dues Also Report

Coach Scrap Chandler's trackmen will begin training in earnest next Monday in preparation for one of the toughest cinder campaigns ever undertaken by a W&M squad. The opening meet is but four weeks off and a strenuous schedule has been set by Scrap in order to round his men into shape.

There is a fair enough amount of good material for a good club although the failure of several men to return to school doesn't help the cause to any extent. Last year's veterans include Zabel and Johnson in the distance runs, Bill Scott, Baggett, Clark and Smithers in the dashes, Levin, Baldacci, M. Mozeleski, Willis, Swentzel and Syer in the field events. Then there are several of last year's frosh who may have a chance to make the grade. Joe Beech in the dashes, Meade Webb, Alexander and Reid in the field events all have a good chance of coming through with a number of points for the tri-color this season.

Zabel has been running for W&M for several years, and at one time held the college record for the mile until his teammate Wink Johnson came along to break both the mile and half mile records here at school. Renn and Doane are both twomilers. Scott and Smithers both run the 100 and 220, the former holding the college record in the 100 and Smithers the 220 record. The return of Quessenberry to school helps out matters a good deal as he can run dashes, hurdles or the 440. Clark is a 440 man and Baggett, last year's captain, runs both the 440 and the hurdles. Levin is a high jumper, a broad jumper and javelin man; Mozeleski is a shot putter and throws the discus as does Swede Swentzel. Willis is a pole vaulter and Syer throws the javelin.

For the first week or ten days, track workouts will consist mainly of loosening up. Scrap plans to have several cross country runs to build up stamina, following which a regular routine will be in effect.

Freshmen practice is to begin with the varsity and at the time of this writing little is known of the quality of material available. All men who plan to come out for track should report at once.

WINK JOHNSON MEETS CONGER

Enters Special 1000 Yds. Invitation Run In Catholic U. Games Held Tomorrow Night

For the third time this winter, Wink Johnson will engage in an indoor track meet, this time the meet being the Catholic U. games which will be held tomorrow in Washington, D. C. This race, scheduled at 1000 yards, will be perhaps the toughest one Wink has ever run in as he is due to meet Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C.

This is not the first time that Wink has met the famed Conger as a year or so ago he raced Conger in a special mile in Philadelphia. As might be expected, Johnson didn't conquer Ray

DUCS CLOSE SEASON WITH TWO VICTORIES OVER RIORDON CLUB

Have Little Difficulty In Defeating New York Outfit By Respective Scores of 28-15; 42-24

The Little Indians ended their season last week by defeating the Raymond Riordon School of New York in a pair of games by respective scores of 28-15 and 42-24. The ducs didn't have much trouble in taking the visitors into camp, Coach Meb Davis being able to use his entire squad in the frays.

In the beginning of the first half in the initial game, the New Yorker's took a small lead but in the latter part of the session, the frosh came back to lead the opposition by an 18-9 count. The second half was a continuation of the first canto, with the W&M substitutes receiving most of the action.

The second fray found the freshmen playing better ball and R-R at no time was able to obtain the lead. Whitehead led the scorers as in the first game with four baskets and a couple of fouls.

G. W. IS BEATEN BY INDIANS IN FINAL MEET OF SEASON

Visitors Able To Obtain But One First Place In 49-17 Defeat; Casey High Scorer

The Indian mermen, after a series of three defeats, took the George Washington swim squad into camp with the decisive score of 49-17. Taking all but one first, the W. & M. squad absolutely outclassed the visitors. Because of the requests of the visitors several of the events were shortened.—The back stroke from 150 yds. to 100, and the 200 yard breast-stroke to 100 yards.

After W. & M. won the relay Casey again took first place in the dive and Meade took second. In the 40, Brodney came thru for a first with Cuddihy second.

"Osbey" Christensen easily won first place in the backstroke, his nearest rival, Pagan of George Washington, was a length and a half behind. In the 100 yard breast-stroke, Alexander beat Casey by a margin of inches for the first and second for W. & M.

In the 440 yard free-style Brodney lost a heartbreaker when Burnside of G. W., who was swimming in the Indian's wake for 19 laps staged a comeback and slid in first with Broadney and Christensen second and third respectively.

The last event of the afternoon was the 100 yard dash which was won by Cuddihy of W. & M. with Flickenger of W. & M. and Redmand of George Washington were second and third respectively.

160 yd relay: 1st W&M (Brodney, Casey, Flickenger, Cuddihy), G. W. 2nd (Strauss, Kennedy, Burnside, Redmand) time: 1 min. 22.3 seconds.

100 yard back-stroke: Christensen, W&M, 1st; Pagan, GW, 2nd; Amos, GW, 3rd. Time: 1 min. 21 seconds.

Diving: Casey, W&M, 1st; Meade, W&M, 2nd; Strauss, GW, 3rd.

440 yard dash: Brodney, W&M, 1st; Cuddihy, W&M, 2nd; Redmand, GW, 3rd. Time: 21.1 seconds.

Freshmen Basketball Club Defeated Ten Out Of Eleven Opponents

FORK UNION ONLY CLUB TO DEFEAT PAPOOSE QUINTET

Outstanding Game Of The Season Was Virginia's Defeat, 45-15; Litwin and Whitehead Star

With the two Riordan games easily brushed aside by the Yearling Five, the basketball season has come to a successful close. The Papooses won all but one game, and in that they gave the Fork Union boys a battle for their victory.

The Freshmen started the season by easily defeating Langley Field by a 40-20 score, and in the next week took the Newport News Apprentice School and the William and Mary Norfolk Extension with equal facility, the scores being 46-35 and 36-25, respectively.

The Maury High School came up next and gave the boys a tougher battle, allowing them only a three point margin, the final score at 19-16. But the Little Indians came back to form by defeating the Medico Freshmen, 46-23. They continued to stampe, trampling the Woodrow Wilson High School to a 27-17 score, and, dashing up to Charlottesville, ran rings (three, to be exact) around a bewildered Virginia Club squad, defeating them by a 45-15 score.

The boys came home and took the Benedictine lads into camp, 48-26, and at that point their winning streak ended. It is not doubted that the absence of Frank Whitehead had something to do with the result, but nevertheless, the boys surrendered a heart-breaker to the Fork Union Military Academy, 38-33, after leading at half time by an 18-15 score.

Ired over the result of this game, the Yearlings came back and easily vanquished the Riordan School in the two final games of the season, 28-14 and 42-24.

The boys won ten out of eleven games played, for an average of .909, which, if we must say, is not so bad.

In Whitehead and Litwin as aggressors, and Chalko and Palese in defense, the varsity should find good material for the next season. Gallinant, a new-comer, and Lemback are also expected to show up well next year.

PRODUCTION OF STREETS OF NEW YORK IS SUCCESS

Melodrama of 1857 Enacted in Matthew Whaley High School Under Direction of Dr. Frank McLean

The Williamsburg Little Theater League under the direction of its president, Dr. Frank McLean, presented a most delightful performance of the Dion Boucicault melodrama of 1857, "The Streets of New York" at the Matthew Whaley High School last Thursday night and again at the William and Mary Extension School in Norfolk last Saturday.

The play, without a star, was nevertheless very well acted and beautifully staged all the way through. To hinder an otherwise excellent entertainment was a certain lack of vitality in the portrayals, a rather slow tempo, and the inaudibility of several of the characters. What Director McLean may have failed to accomplish along these technical lines, he amply made up for in a careful adherence to the styles of producing a play of seventy-five years ago. Attention to detail resulted in a superbly rounded and satisfying realism as it once was supposed to be. At rather frequent intervals the drabness of the play was lifted to the heights of heart rending (a la 1857), ludicrous (a la 1931) melodramatic pitches.

No better play than "The Streets of New York" could have been chosen to harken backward to the old days of frightful melodrama. A man dies without warning of apoplexy in the first five minutes, three suicides are contemplated and prevented in the nick of time, there is one near death by asphyxiation, and a dead villain comes to life as a policeman, thoroughly reformed.

Director McLean played the part of Gideon Bloodgood, the arch villain and did the part up brown. His every gesture and movement reflected his keen knowledge of the acting arts of old. However, his voice might have been more blustering to advantage and a hesitation, evidently for effect in his speech tended to retard the movement.

Mrs. McLean as Alida, "a heartless girl", looked and played the part very nicely, as she pranced and strutted haughtily about the stage dolled up like an expensive lamp shade.

Mr. Flickenger, the glorified hero, seemed to thoroughly enjoy his part and his fine poise and well adapted nasal voice carried off the part nobly. Mr. Flickenger delivered the finest exhibition of diction of the evening.

Miss Matier, the chaste heroine wept bitterly and beautifully through her long yellow curls. The outward manifestation of her inward struggle between her happiness and her love's, culminating in one of the most touching scenes of self-sacrifice that could be imagined, was one of the highlights of the performance.

Dr. Guy, the sarcastic, reformed villain who exposes the great bank swindler, gave a less stereotyped interpretation than any of the others of the cast. His stage stride, waddle or whatever it is, coupled with a sneering, contemptuous villainy kept the audience in constant laughter.

One of the most surprisingly well executed parts of the performance was that of Mr. Clark, whose naturalness and melo voice, dampened by tears, proved splendid. To Mr. Clark goes the honor of doing more to lift the faulty tempo of the play than any of the characters. His opening of a door into a room filled with gas, his ejaculation and retirement therefrom was an excellent touch. At times however, Mr. Clark seemed a little fidgetty and nervous.

Dr. Southworth, rather uneasy about his lines, saved a mediocre performance by a superb death struggle and a great appearance as an old salt.

Mrs. Macomber, a newcomer to Williamsburg audiences, seriously interpreted her role in a skilful manner that makes us look forward to further Tescpian achievements by her; had melo contralto voice, good poise; tripped up on lines which Mildred Matier saved by quick thinking; had hair striped black and white like a zebra.

Mr. Stinnett, the only student taking part; Mr. McClland, a little conscious of the weight of his hat; Mr. Carter, the handsome, moustache policeman; and Miss Lucy Ann Taylor, creating a real character—all were very well cast in their respective parts.

The audience received the play very well but was slow to fall into the spirit of it; some were even foolish enough to take the whole thing seriously! Hissing the villain at first the audience took as rowdyism and not until the final scene did they all join into the hissing of the arch villain.

Worst features: Slow tempo; inaudibility of many; cheating the audience by failure to wait for laughter to subside before continuing.

Best Episodes: Miss Matier's great sacrifice; the accidental family reunion on the streets of New York; Fire scene; Director McLean's well staged "stage pictures" in the curtain calls; the "asides" of Drs. McLean and Guy, and Mr. Flickenger.

All in all, a great show well done, entertaining and informing.

MRS. DeMILLE LECTURED FRI.

Mrs. DeMille, daughter of Henry George, lectured to the Classes taught by Dr. Taylor and Professor Marsh on the single tax doctrine last Friday, February 27.

Mrs. DeMille in her lecture explained the doctrines of her father Henry George, the great exponent of the single tax theory. Under the single tax system all of the taxes are placed on land and all other property goes tax free. This system, according to Mrs. DeMille would promote industry, lessen unemployment, and do away with land speculation.

Among the positions he has held are: Student Work Secretary at the University of Indiana; State Secretary for student work in Michigan; Student Work Secretary for the International Committee in the West; Secretary of the entire Y. M. C. A. work in South America; Executive Secretary of the Student Department of the Y. M. C. A. of North America; General Secretary of the Committee on Friendly Relations among Foreign Students.

Stephen Austin" by Eugene C. Barker. The next and most important feature is Manuscript maps by Mr. Austin a history of their origin and organization. There are also essays on the Map of 1822, the Mexican Map of 1862, the Map of 1829, and the Spanish Draft of 1829. The volume is completed by the entire list of the Manuscript Maps of Texas from 1822 to 1835. It is illustrated by facsimile reproductions of the various maps.

In the preface Mr. Early and Mr. Castaneda state that the purpose of the book is "to make available, to at least a few, facsimile reproductions of the first great commonwealth, and the first lithographed maps printed in Mexico in 1826, with the hope that by this means interest may be aroused concerning the early cartography of the State". They further state that they have endeavored "to bring together such information as we thought pertinent to explain how the maps were compiled, what their possible sources were and the attendant circumstances upon their elaboration.

Stephen A. Austin was born in Wythe County, Virginia on November 3rd, 1793, and died on December 27th, 1836. His varied youth was a fine preparation for the position he was to hold, Secretary of the Texas Commonwealth. He was in turn a student at Transylvania College, storekeeper, manager of lead mines, director of a bank adjutant of the militia, member of the legislature and judge. He was the strength of the Texan government during its hardest times. It was from 1822 until his death that Austin made his wonderfully accurate manuscript maps.
