LUCY AND MULLOWNEY TO HEAD FLAT HAT FOR '30-'31

JAMES B. LUCY NAMED EDITOR OF FLAT HAT

Richard D. Mulowney, of Brookline, Mass., Re-elected Business Manager for Next Year

LUCY SUCCEEDS CAMPBELL

Rountree and Beard Named Assistants to Editor; Business Staff Not Announced

James B. Lucy, '31, of Guinea, was elected editor-in-chief of The Flat Hat recently at a meeting of the entire staff. Mr. Lucy succeeds James T. Campbell, of Oak Ridge, N. J., who has edited the paper since February. At the same time, Richard D. Mulowney, of Brookline, Mass., was re-elected business manager.

Mr. Lucy has been working on The Flat Hat for the past two years, having been a reporter, managing editor, and assistant editor. Besides Flat Hat work, he is assistant editor of the Indian Handbook for 1930-'31; was secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for the past year, and is now publicity director for that organization; and was secretary of the Phoenix Literary Society during 1928-'29. He is a member of Phi Delta Gamma, named (Continued on Page Five)

"ROYAL FAMILY" SCORES BIG HIT

Extraordinary Sets Outstanding Feature of Senior Play Presented Last Wednesday

CAST WELL REPRESENTED

Continuing a precedent started three years ago, the class of 1930, under the direction of Miss Althea Hunt, presented the "The Royal Family" in Phi Beta Kappa hall last Wednesday night. The production, a very difficult one for any amateur group to attempt, was unique from every standpoint, considering the limitations with which the seniors met.

Undoubtedly the outstanding features of the play were, first of all, the set, consisting of a stairway and balcony in the rear of the stage, with (Continued on page Eleven)

GLIDER CLUB MAKES TRIP TO KITTY HAWK IN NORTH CAROLINA

Members of Glider Club Will Attempt to Pass First, Second, or Third License Tests

A trip to Kill Devil Hill, Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, where the Wright brothers made their first successful flight, is being planned by the William and Mary Glider Club for today and Sunday.

Primarily, this will be an attempt by some of the students to pass either first-, second- or third-class glider license tests. Mr. McAvoy chief test pilot of the N. A. C. A., and Mr. Golf, assistant test pilot, will both take first-class tests during the Sunday (Continued on Page Eleven)

REVIEW OF 1930 GIVES AUDIENCE NOVEL FEATURE

Dance Number of Diggs and Storch Received With Much Applause by Audience

GIVEN BY KING'S DAUGHTERS

Faculty Quartet Makes Big Hit With Old Songs in Minstrel Circle

With song, dance and novelties, the review of 1930 brought applause from full houses for the two nights of May 9th and 10th. Under the auspices of the Kate Custis circle of the King's Daughters of Williamsburg, and directed by Kathleen Hipp, the show was highly satisfactory and gave the audience the opportunity of seeing the talent of both city and college.

The review was divided into two principle parts, with the girls giving five scenes before intermission and the men having a minstrel show following it.

Dr. T. J. Stubbs acted as master of ceremonies of the first part. The curtain opened with a costumed (Continued on Page Five)

Richard D. Mulowney, of Brookline, Mass., re-elected as Business Manager of the Flat Hat for 1930-'31. Mr. Mulowney has been business manager since February 1, 1930.

JEFFERSONIANS AMASS VOTES FOR CLOSE WIN

Largest Election Ever Held by Student Body; Six Hundred and Fifty-seven Votes Cast

MOZELESKI, SWEM WIN

Sundin, Willis, Baldacci Get Athletic Council Offices; Grover Clay Landslides 443 Votes

In the closest student body election ever held at this college the non-fraternity clique, known as the Jefferson party, put in, with a scant margin of thirteen votes, M. N. ("Monk") Aebitt, of Newport News, as president of the student body. A concentration of votes, in certain quarters, enabled the Jeffersonians to defeat Richard Mulowney, of Brookline, Mass., by a vote of 335 to 322.

Nine of the remaining thirteen offices were filled by Mr. Mulowney's ticket, only four going to the Jefferson party.

Mitchell Mozeleski, of Camden, N. J., had a huge majority (368-288) over Russell Collins, and polled one of the largest votes to carry the position of vice-president. Mr. Mozeleski seemed to have the support of (Continued on Page Twelve)

PRESIDENT'S NOTICE

Dr. Chandler wishes to meet the members of the Board of Control Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Apollo room of Phi Beta Kappa hall. Any organizations that have not appointed a representative to the Board is requested to do so before Tuesday. Representatives will be only from organizations affected by the Student Activity Fee.

VIRGINIA ROMM NAMED BEST ALL 'ROUND FRESHIE

Has Received Many Honors During Freshman Year; Participant of All Sports.

WILL GO TO BLUE RIDGE

Virginia Romm, of Norfolk, was elected the best all-round Freshman girl at the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, Tuesday, May 13. Each year the older members of the cabinet choose a girl from the Freshman class on the basis of participation in college activities, scholastic standing, and in short everything that goes to make up a good Freshman.

Miss Romm during her freshman year was a member of the Freshman Y. W. C. A. Cabinet. She was recently elected sophomore representative to the Women's Honor council and was also the freshman representative to the Judicial council. She went out for every woman's sport offered at the college (Continued on Page Eight)

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR COMMENCEMENT

237th Finals to Include Reunions of Many Classes in Addition to Unusual Program

GIVEN IN DETAIL

The following is the 237th Commencement Program for the College of William and Mary. President Chandler is very anxious that every alumnus of the old college return for the finals. The classes of 1910, 1915, 1920 and 1925 have scheduled very interesting programs and other classes divisible by five are laying their plans for special reunions. Extensive preparations are being made and it is expected that at least 1500 loyal men and women of William and Mary will return to Alma Mater at that time.

Friday, June 6, 1930
6:00 P. M.—Annual Athletic Dinner, College Refectory.

THIS IS LAST ISSUE

With this issue, The Flat Hat brings its year's work to a close. Twenty-eight issues have been printed the past winter and, with increased interest being shown by the student body in its publications, a larger and better Flat Hat is promised for the future.

NEW PRESIDENT STATEMENT

"I wish to take this means of thanking those men who supported me in the student body election. I feel very grateful to them, and shall fulfill my duties to the best of my ability."

Literary Magazine Staff Announce Publication of A Special Issue This Semester

May Issue Highly Praised
As An Outstanding Number

FAY LECOMPTE'S
WORK LAUDED
BY REVIEWER

Craven, Smith and Brown
Also Do Outstanding Work

FRONTSPIECE BY PIGNIUOLO

Inslce B. Greene, Jr.

With the appearance of the May issue of the Literary Magazine, once more the many interested readers of this William and Mary publication have before them a collection of most highly developed literary efforts. Each contribution may be considered an encouraging acclaim of the true worth of the writer; while the frequent appearance of such familiar names as Fay LeCompte, Lewis F. Brown, Willoughby Patton, and Peter Craven is ever adding to the laurels of these deserving individuals. Furthermore the editors have again compiled a number pleasingly balanced in the choice of literary forms, one representative of nearly all phases of written endeavor. All in all, the magazine may be and is judged as one of the foremost of its type in America.

"Sonnets From the Ancients" by Fay P. LeCompte marks the writer as one of unusual ken and with great promise in the field of literature. The flowing lines of distinctive beauty suggests a wanderer in a reflective mood seeking to define his God. Suddenly, he rejects the idols of the past with the words: "Heaven is not safe! These Gods shall lie but all to soon within dull memories' dross— Why weep for Pan when Jupiter will die?"

but later, on being told, "Your God is false and dumb and deaf"; he shrugs, "There was an ancient God who died—"

In "The Exquisite Mistreated," Harriet D. Smith presents a light story so appealing to the younger groups. A gist of humor runs throughout as Mr. Ansell plays the role of lover to both Jacqueline and "the exquisite mistreated."

Peter Craven this month, in another of his remarkable "Essays of Marcameron," discusses "Laziness," which trait, he admits, is the make-up of his very being. Then, to support himself, he analyzes the favorable points of laziness and attempts to bring out what might be called a really constructive argument: "Idle?—I am happy too. It is nice and nothing ever disturbs me—the lazy man is the world's greatest optimist."

The two poems of Lewis F. Brown contain such a richness of expression, such a heart-rending appeal to the sympathies, that one cannot help but be stirred as the words break forth:

"I've torn the gods down from their thrones, and drained
The music of the stars till they've turned black.
The solitudes of pain have stabbed the sky,
Too much of golden blood lies dried upon the sands."

"Cayenne," a one-act play by Patruchia Clarke, depicts the domestic scene of a couple employed and living in the rooms of a New York night club. While cleverly written, action is quite lacking, and the reader's interest is liable to lag. However, as a stage production, no doubt the play would be enjoyable.

The story of "Stara Zagora," supposedly revealed by the discovery of an ancient document, relates the gruesome deed of an unsuccessful crusader to the Holy Land. Regardless of its truth, the author, Ves'al Thomas Grigg, shows a mastery of narrative style and is to be commended on this work.

In "Prisoners of the Past," Bernard J. Garber presents a carefully drawn study of the possible solutions of the fate of Sir Walter Raleigh's "Lost Colony." Accurate in details and written in an interesting style, the author has completed an analysis worthy of permanent record.

"Luck," by William W. Hodges is a fitting example of the present day short story so prominent in weekly periodicals. Complete coherence, a parallel type of action, and clearness of character, stamp this work as deserving of praise.

"In "The Curse of Vilna," P. S. Williams has adeptly handled the broken narrative of a man emotionally excited by memories of a drastic spectacle. The grim realism of the situation lingers in the mind of the reader, the objective sought by the writer.

Poetical contributions of merit by Willoughby Patton, Rose V. Trueheart, and Elizabeth V. Hope would be mentioned in detail if space permitted. It suffices to say these selections fully measured to the standards set by the other authors.

Contrary to a previous understanding, a special number of the Literary Magazine will appear early in June. Unlike previous issues, this will feature poetry.

GEORGE WALTER MAPP REPRESENTS HIGH TYPE OF WILLIAM AND MARY STUDENT Activities While Student at College Lead to Greater Achievements in Life Work.

POLITICAL LEADER

George Walter Mapp was born in Accomac County, May 25, 1873. After attending the public schools of that county he entered the College of William and Mary on October 3, 1888, the fourth student to matriculate under the new regime.

While at college he was prominent in athletics, being captain of a first football team, and a member of the baseball, tennis, and wrestling teams.

Leaving William and Mary, he went to Hogsett Military Academy in the fall of 1894 as professor of English and history and business manager. He remained there for three years, during which he studied law at Center College.

Returning to Virginia, he took a post-graduate course at the University, and in the summer formed a partnership with Otto F. Mears, under the style of Mears and Mapp.

In 1905 he was made chairman of the Democratic Party of Accomac County. This position he held for four years, voluntarily retiring. In 1911 he was elected State Senator from the 37th District, comprising the counties of Princess Anne, Accomac, and Northampton, this position he held for twelve years, again retiring voluntarily.

Twice defeated for the position of Governor, and once for Congressman, Mr. Mapp has been prominent in state political circles for a number of years. His record in the State Senate has been noted for its leadership in the struggles for women suffrage, education, probations, and child welfare laws.

He has been married twice, the first time to Miss Georgia Richardson Quinby in 1900, and the second after her death to Miss Mildred Townsend Aydelotte, of Snow Hill, November 9, 1910, from which latter marriage there are two sons, John Aydelotte Mapp, aged seventeen, and George Walter Mapp, Jr., aged fourteen, both of whom are heading

LOWE AND MAPP OFFICIATE

George W. Guy, executive secretary of the William and Mary Alumni Association, has just returned from Northampton and Accomac counties, where he assisted in the organization of two William and Mary clubs. Otto Lowe, '23, presided over the Northampton meeting, and Hon. Walter Mapp, '94, called the Accomac group together. Both Mr. Lowe and Mr. Mapp spoke in glowing terms of the progress of the old college and what it had meant to the state and nation. The following officers were elected:

Northampton County—President, Otto Lowe, Cape Charles, Va.; first vice-president, George R. Mapp, Machipongo, Va.; second vice-president, Ernest James, Jamesville, Va.; secretary-treasurer, Miss Alice W. Dunton, Cape Charles, Va.

Accomac County—President, G. Walter Mapp, Accomac, Va.; first vice-president, Mrs. Elizabeth Tilghman, Chincoteague, Va.; second vice-president, Miss Joyce Dix, Mears, Va.; third vice-president, Hayden Russell, Greenbush, Va.; fourth vice-president, Miss Agnes Brittingham, Wachapreague, Va.; fifth vice-president, Miss Sarah Wessells, Greenbush, Va.

ANNUAL TRIBUTE TO COLONEL B. S. EWELL TO BE HELD JUNE 7

Dr. E. M. Gwathmey to Make Address at Ceremony Honoring Reconstruction College President

SPECIAL INVITATIONS SENT

Annually on Alumni Day, the William and Mary Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa pays tribute to the memory of Col. Benjamin S. Ewell, President of the College during the dark days following the War Between the States. Colonel Ewell was one of those instrumental in the revival of the Mother Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at the college.

Under the auspices of the chapter a procession is formed headed by pupils of Colonel Ewell and including members of the chapter, alumni and the graduating class. The procession having reached the walled enclosure on the campus where Colonel Ewell was buried at his special request, a short address is made by a representative of the chapter who then lays a wreath on the grave. The orator of the occasion this year is Dr. E. M. Gwathmey, of the Department of English. The procession will form in front of the Phi Beta Kappa Hall at the close of the class exercises Saturday, June 7th, 1930.

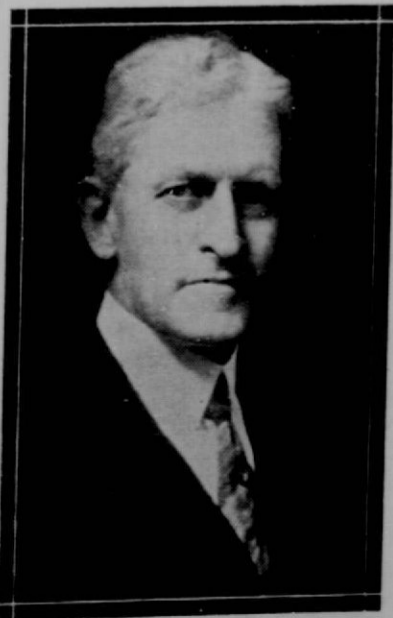

Dr. Donald W. Davis gives us the following information as to the others buried in this enclosure—Elizabeth Stoddard Ewell, mother; Rebecca Lowndes Ewell, sister; Elizabeth Stoddard Ewell Scott, daughter (Continued on page nine)

JOHN S. CHARLES, PROMINENT ALUMNUS AND STATE OFFICIAL, SUCUMBS TO ILLNESS

Was Active in Church, Educational and Political Life for Major Part of Life

FUNERAL HELD HERE

Mr. John S. Charles, '71, a prominent alumnus of the College of William and Mary, died at his home, Minor Terrace, in Williamsburg last week. Mr. Charles was seventy-eight years of age and was buried in Williamsburg. He had been in failing health for a number of years. Mr. Charles had for many years been active in the church, educational and political circles here. He was a president of the Pulaski Club, which organization attended the funeral in a body.

Mr. Charles is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Wall Charles, and one son, Henry Ewell Charles, of Paterson, New Jersey and five daughters—Mrs. Hodges M. Christian and Mrs. Clyde Barnes, of Williamsburg; Mrs. R. L. Gilliam and Mrs. A. G. Broughton, of Smithfield, and Mrs. Julia Comins, of Paterson, N. J.

Mr. Charles attended William and Mary College during the sessions of 1865-66, '67-68, '68-69, and '70-71. He served with credit the high school of Williamsburg for a number of years, later becoming internal revenue collector for this district with offices in Newport News. He also served as postmaster at Williamsburg.

He was born in James City county, August 14, 1851, the son of John S. and Julia Woodward Charles.

Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

Fellowships Offered in Study of Social Welfare

The Baltimore Family Welfare Association, the Children's Home Society of Virginia, and a number of social, public health and community agencies in the city of Richmond are offering fellowships at the William and Mary School of Social Work and Public Health in Richmond, according to an announcement made by Dr. W. T. Hodges, Director of Extension.

Fellowships vary in amount from $150 to $450, and the scholarships from $75 to $125 per session. Students who hold the fellowships devote two days per week to practical social work, children's welfare, psychiatric or some other form of community work, and three days per week to study in the School of Social Work and Public Health.

The fellowships are open to college graduates and are intended to meet the need for a larger number of social workers in the South.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS

Reservations for Life Memberships in the Alumni Association are still coming in and the Alumni office and the Senior Class are working hard to make it 100%. They are establishing a precedent that other senior classes will undoubtedly follow. If you have not already made a reservation for a life membership get in touch with the Alumni office today.

SECRETARY G. W. GUY WRITES LETTER TO COMING GRADUATES

Campus Secretary Urges Alumni to Affiliate With the Nearest William and Mary Club.

WANTS ORGANIZED HELP

To the Class of 1930: Within a few weeks you will be alumni of the old College of William and Mary, the oldest institution of learning in the South and the first A college in America. You have learned within these sacred walls lessons not found in books that have been handed down through the ages by the seers of this day. You have lighted your torch from the living altars of freedom, service and consecration and it is yours to carry on the ideals and traditions that have been implanted in you by the new William and Mary.

While you are life members of the Alumni Association do not lose the opportunity to affiliate with your nearest William and Mary Club. So much more can be accomplished through organization than through individuals.

I take this opportunity of congratulating each of you on your signal success and hope this will be the commencement of even greater achievements in the future than in the past. The alumni association greets you and welcomes you into the fold of the 5000 alumni who are pulling for a greater William and Mary.

Yours in the service, Geo. W. Guy, Executive Secretary.

Appreciation

The Editor of THE FLAT HAT wishes to take this opportunity to thank all members of the 1929 staff for their whole-hearted cooperation. Without this, it would not have been possible for the paper to appear on schedule week after week. The outgoing Editor also wishes to congratulate the Editor for next year, and hopes that he will receive the support of the entire staff and the student body.

Political Reform

Now that the clouds of the recent student body elections have cleared away for another season, let's think in terms of political reform. All of us are quite willing to admit that the political situation, as it now exists on the campus, is hardly above mention. Smoothly operating cliques completely control about 90 per cent of the students' votes. To elect their associates, various groups consolidate to support a ticket which will bring "spoils" to the victors. Regardless of the candidates agreed upon by the majority, support of these men is assured by every group that its own members may obtain one or more of the coveted positions.

While THE FLAT HAT offers no remedy or possible solution for this situation at the present time, it does suggest united action of the student body next fall to combat this highly specialized evil. Perhaps a committee could be appointed to carefully investigate political conditions in other colleges, to seek advice, and if possible devise a plan for vastly improved methods of electioneering.

PROFESSOR BROOKS PRESENTED CLASSES IN FORMAL RECITAL

Selections Chiefly from Shakespeare and Browning With Few Poems from Tennyson

TEN INTERPRETATIONS GIVEN

Professor George E. Brooks presented the members of his class in interpretation reading in a recital on Thursday evening, May 1, in the Y. M. C. A. room in Blow Gymnasium to the Shakespeare and Browning classes and other invited guests. The selections were from Shakespeare and Browning, with a few poems of Tennyson. Mr. Brooks, presiding, introduced the first speaker, Duer McNair, who gave Act I, Scene 2 of "The Merchant of Venice." Her voice was so flexible that the audience had no difficulty in determining the change of character taking place in the scene. Her interpretation of Shylock was especially good, and quite dramatically rendered.

Mr. Entwistle, next, gave three of Browning's poems—"Soliloquy of the Spanish Cloister," "Evelyn Hope" and "How They Brought the Good News from Ghent to Aix." The latter was given in a galloping tone, very appropriate to the rhythmical effect of the poem.

Miss Ethel Nunn read "Dora," by Tennyson, which was a more subdued, dramatic poem. The character of Dora was well portrayed by Miss Nunn, who is quite talented.

Two selections from "Macbeth" were given by Merrill Brown and Sara Ann Everett, the former choosing the dagger scene in Act II, while the latter took the sleep walking scene from Act V. Miss Everett sustained the emotion of her hearers well, keeping them always at a high peak of intensity.

Miss Margaret Greenburg, who took part in one of the French plays, presented here last week, chose Act I, Scene 3, of "As You Like It," doing very nice work in this. The other selections from Shakespeare were Act III, Scene 1 of "Hamlet," given by Marshall Baggett, and Act V of "Julius Caesar," by Emmett Frizzell. These were excellently done, with subtle interpretation of Shakespeare's words.

Two other poems were read, "My Last Duchess," by Miss Dorothy Hale, "Crossing the Bar," by Charles M. Snow. This concluded the program for the evening.

The committee arranging this program consisted of Carrie Lucas, Evelyn Kohlmore and Albert Johnson. The ushers were John Swanson, James Lucy, Robert Price and Lawrence Morscher.

CAMPUS CUTS

By SID.

Not lack of honor, but lack of interest—

Howard College has discarded the Honor System by a recent vote of the student body of the college. The system, which has been maintained for years, was abolished because it had degraded until it was no longer possible to work it.

The Virginia Tech.

What do they want with a license?—

A co-ed at the University of South Carolina issued petting licenses to several of her friends. The results were very poor because she claims that her friends were too timid and bashful.

What if we had a few more girls here like that? We suggest that as one way of building up a Bigger and Better Wake Forest.

And while on the subject, and since this is a liberal arts school, where else can one get as many new ideas in a given length of time as when having a tropical date with a woman like this one seems to be?

Old Gold and Black.

Why not do away with the classrooms?—

Dr. Frederick Rand Rogers of New York City, declared scholastic grades to be merely a substitute for the dunce cap and whip, in addressing 5,000 Utah educators recently.

"Colleges," he said, "worship marks. Grades make a battlefield of the classroom and are a disgrace to scientific education and must be done away with."

Exchange.

Don't think Cap Farmer is a college man—

Spring fever has hit at least one official of this illustrious Commonwealth. Glancing through one of the leading State dailies, we see that Captain Farmer of the highway patrol is favoring legislative measures to curb "bumming" (the solicitation of free rides), along our renovated highways. Since this sensible mode of travel is used chiefly by college men of the State, we rally to their cause. We do not know what moment Captain Farmer's suggestions have with the law-making body, but we go on record as being against the possible abolition of the custom. We take this attitude partly because we have meandered around considerably by way of thumb and because we believe that bummering is another inalienable individual right. The former reason grows less significant daily, but the latter will always interest us.

Exchange.

So ours might be worse—

The comprehensive examination, required of sophomores at Haverford, will contain 2725 questions, and will take almost twelve hours to complete. Almost every department of collegiate instruction is covered by this examination.

Wesleyan Argus.

We'd go bugs if we COULDN'T forget 'em!—

Glenn Frank proposes an interesting, if not practical educational reform for Wisconsin. In the belief that many students are more socially than intellectually inclined, he would eliminate the drones, grant a wider field to able students and make actual intellectual attainment rather than credit routine the forms for advancement. Besides general examinations will be required of all graduating to break down the present idea that knowledge is divided into courses, which if taken, may be forgotten.

The Tomahawk.

"LORD BOTETOURT SAYS"

By BILL'S LITTLE NEPHEW

His Lordship is grieved most profoundly to realize that this is the opportunity he will have to converse with his honorable public. Many the nights that the degraded, the dejected, the ignorant, and the unwelcome little Nephew has seemingly striven in vain to make the utterances of Lordship pleasing to the above mentioned public. But now it is at an Instead the unfortunate one will burn the proverbial mid-night oil over some volumes of forgotten lore in an attempt to please some boiled heartless Professor who has designs of bursting the little tel (English professors please note, "Bursting.")

In the past we have tried to exclude all personal mention from column. But since there is no more OPEN FORUM we are going to be a little matter before you which is of vital importance to the good name of the Men's Student Body. It, of course, has always had the reputation of being a thoroughly democratic organization, but we feel that this cherished quality has been sadly trampled upon. One of the members, none other than the Famous H. Jackson Darden has been wronged. He is not represented in Taxation without representation generally calls for a revolution or something so it is of greatest importance that we remedy this situation at once. The whole trouble is this it seems. When a vote is taken at the meetings, it is impossible to tell whether our friend is standing up or sitting down, therefore, we should amend the Constitution of the Men's Student Body so that all members of abbreviated stature may be represented. We are all for you H. Jackson, alias Underslung, Front Wheel Drive, Sport Model, Darden.

You know ever since our Esteemed Friend Miss Lily White assigned some awful words to the Greek letters of Omicron Delta Kappa—translated O. D. K., we have been thinking. Now in return we wish to offer a little suggestion for the Running Board or we beg your pardon Mortar Board. We have all seen these mortar boards around the campus. In fact we see the every day up on those lofty towers and pinnacles of the Main Building. No of course, it may be decidedly out of place for us to suggest such a thing, but it might be a good idea for the girls to get busy and pledge a few of the workmen who would as they have in the past raised the Mortar Board to the loftiest heights of the campus. It is only a suggestion, of course.

As we have previously stated this is the last time, the words of His Lordship will appear before you. In consequence there should be a holiday declared and there should be great feasts of rejoicing and hilarity. However we hope that you will agree to the fact that this column has not in any way made any suggestions that might be considered improper. On the other hand at one time we did say something disrespectful of the wonderful food that is served in the dining hall, for which we hereby wish to officially apologize to the garbage man. And there was something said about Hell refusing to accept night watchmen, for which we make further apologies, since we have learned that the entrance requirements have been revised so as to admit them Only once or twice have we tried to incite a riot or revolution, but it seems we have been very unsuccessful at that. Even the SOPHOMORE freshman rush was as tranquil as a Sunday School Picnic. Word has come to us, however, that a few of the class of '33 spent an enjoyable afternoon locked up in clothes closets.

In the event that the readers have anything to say about this column, we hope that you will send in your letters to the OPEN FORUM. If you don't like it we want to hear from you so just send your letters to the FLAT HAT and Bill's Little Nephew will have the janitor open up the office in a week or two—go through the waste baskets and give your epistles the kindest and most appreciative consideration. In conclusion, we wish you all "A" credits and a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"Sox" Expresses the Feelings of Our Healthy Co-Eds"

Editor of the Flat Hat:
Dear Sir:

Legs are no longer a mere matter of conjecture whether they have stockings on them or not, so what is the use of being mid Victorian about them? What harm is there in going bare legged. It certainly is much pleasanter in this hot weather and much less expensive too when stockings start to run.

If the professor who objected to socks would keep his mind more on his lectures and less on the question of socks, he would be much more interesting and instructive. A chifon stocking hardly disguises the fact that legs are legs and not "limbs" as our grandmothers thought.

Does the administration have any right to say what the students should or should not wear? As there is no constitutional law against bare legs, a college president hardly has the authority to dictate in such a manner. All those who wear socks, assert yourselves. Don't let the college try to discourage you!
Sox.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

He asks ten people every week some question on college life. If you have any problems you would like to see discussed in this column, send them to "The Inquiring Reporter," care of The Flat Hat.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What do you think of men on campus attending classes without coats?

Marian Porter, '30: "I don't like to see boys go without coats."

Mary Warwick Dunlap, '31: "It doesn't make any difference to me."

Evelyn Kohlman, '33: "I can sympathize with their discomfort, but for the sake of appearances I think they should wear them."

Peggy Parker, '31: "It's immaterial to me whether they wear them or not."

Betty Nostrand, '33: "It depends upon whom the boy is."

Alice Miller, '32: "It's O. K. by me."

Anna Sollenberger, '32: "I think it is all right provided they wear clean shirts."

Gladys Monroe, '33: "Make them wear coats."

Tillie Young, '32: "It's all right in real hot weather."

Avery Bibee, '32: "When we are allowed to go without stockings, they can go without coats."

chorus led by Mrs. Grace Peachy singing "Romance." This beautiful selection prepared the audience for the treat to come. Scene two was a short, but artistically done, Hungarian dance by Mary Quick, assisted by a group of sixteen girls. The dancers mounted the stage from the audience as the curtain opened, giving an intimate and pleasing effect. The third scene held a treat for those who love the old selections, from which Miss Millicent Jeffy rendered Aria from Mignon. One of the features of the evening consisted of a duet of singing and dancing by Miss Hazel Storch and Mr. George Diggs, which brought a demand for an encore from the audience. A pleasing repetition of the Uncle Sam Quartet from the May Festival of 1930 was then given by Misses Mullins, Sterns, Young and Wooden. The first division was concluded with "A Glimpse of the Orient," sung by Mrs. Margery Mahone and chorus. This selection is believed by many to be the best of the evening because of its uniqueness.

During the intermission, the orchestra gave some selections and Dr. Stubbs presented flowers to Mrs. Hipp from the cast.

Mr. Tucker Jones acted as interlocuter of the minstrel circle after the intermission. After an opening selection by the entire ensemble, "Piggy" Diggs, taking the part of the "parson," sung the appropriate selection, "Sing, You Sinners." Following this, extraordinary selections were given, interposed by novelties. The program was concluded to the refrain of our Alma Mater. Of special note were the solos of Mr. G. Gregory and Mr. T. Jones and the selection given by the faculty quartet.

tional honorary forensic fraternity, and Sigma Nu, national social fraternity.

Mr. Mullowney has served on the Honor Council this year, president of Philomathean Literary Society last year, captain of the golf team last year, and is now serving in the capacity of manager. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, and was recently elected president of that fraternity for the year 1930-'31. He is also a member of Sigma Nu, national social fraternity.

William F. Rountree, of Portsmouth, and Frank Beard, of Newport News, will serve as assistants to the editor for the year 1930-'31. George G. Williams, of Birmingham, Mich., will remain as sports editor.

The remainder of the staff will be appointed at the beginning of the fall term, with the exception of the society editor. Caroline deWitt has been recently appointed to this position, having as her assistant Christine Thompson.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHOIR WILL PRESENT MUSIC RECITAL

A sacred music recital, given by the William and Mary choir, assisted by Howard Scammon as organist, will be presented Sunday evening, May 18, at 8 o'clock, at the Methodist Episcopal church. The recital, which is being sponsored by the "Y" associations of the campus, will include three organ selections: "Meditation de Thais" by J. Massenet; "Largo" (Xerxes) by G. F. Handel, and "Scherzoso" by James H. Rogers.

Advice to the Lovelorn, Woebegone, and Forlorn

Conducted Weekly by Lily White

Dear Lily White, friend and salvation of the Forlorn: In the Spring a young girl's fancy turns not to books but to other things. Exam time is now approaching. Coming events cast their shadows before them. I not only have the beginnings of a double chin but a fear psychosis as well, and for a girl in the clutches of an exam psychosis there is no such thing as a break. I am not prepared to meet this macabre situation and I am writing to you who understands all. I have Library Science and Music Appreciation on the same day and am writing for advice on how to study. Please excuse the tear blots on this paper (the printer says, dear readers, that he knows of no typographical or topographical art whereby he can reproduce tear blots on the Flat Hat, for we know very little as to whether or not the Flat Hat is non-shrinkable) but I can't help crying.

There must be a psychology to exams. Everything and everybody has a psychology. Just how should we take exams?

MOANIN LOWE.

Dear Moanin Lowe: There is a psychology to exams. It is the psychology of salesmanship, consisting in selling your goods and putting yourself over, as well. Answering your last question, the best way to take exams is with blue books. There is, moreover, a distinct philosophy to everything. The most graceful way to get out of a difficult situation is to go Russian and become a fatalist. Do not let the well known Viennese psychologist, Dr. Adler, who says that chronic card players are suffering from acute inferiority complexes, take the wind out of your sales. That is how the gentleman makes his living. You've simply got to play your cards. There is an art, you know, in anything that is well done, including a beefsteak.

Exams are a farce. Everybody knows that. Since the success of a farce depends on the seriousness with which the actors take it, exams thereby constitute a very sickly farce. Professors don't enjoy giving exams, nor students taking them, but as long as they are a part of our contemporary educational regime, we might as well accept them fatalistically and go on singing in the bathtub. Plenty of people have gotten along famously (or infamously, as the case may be) without ever taking an exam. Take Cleopatra, for instance. She never took an exam, yet she got a mark.

Now, as to how to study. The best way is not to study at all, but to be nonchalant. Little Bill says he can think of no better way to pass an exam in Music Appreciation than to listen to Saint James Infirmary played on the mouth organ. Yea, verily, and so forth. He says if you don't have any appreciation after this that you ought to be majoring in Public Utilities. Your problem in the other course is the problem of making an art out of a science. Do you know how to dive? This is a science. To make it an art you purchase one of those nice abbreviated swimming suits displayed in Garner's window. Remember what was said about there being an art in anything that was well done. We now include baked backs.

Going back to our friend the beefsteak: If an exam is hard, that's tough; if it's easy, that's rare.

Anyway, what difference will it make ten years from now? It all comes out in the wash: that is, if you don't send it to the Williamsburg Steam Laundry.

LILY WHITE.

TRACKSTERS DOPED FOR HONORS IN CONFERENCE MEET

COMPETE TODAY ON SPIDER TRACK FOR SAT. FINALS

Indians, Winner for Past Three Years, Favored Over Eight Teams

RUNNER-UP FIGHT EXPECTED

By Rudolph Zabel

The conference championship will be at stake tomorrow when eight Virginia Conference track teams will hold the annual meet at Westhampton in the Richmond College stadium.

William and Mary, who has won the meet easily in the past three years, enters the field as heavy favorites, with Richmond College and Lynchburg expected to fight it out for second honors.

The meet will be a two-day affair with elimination heats being held today to decide the finalists for the races tomorrow.

In the half-mile the Indians appear to be the strongest and ought to be able to match strides with the best in the conference, with Johnson an almost sure winner, and Trice and Zabel looking to be sure point winners.

In the weight events the Indians appear slated for a little more competition with both Lynchburg and Richmond having outstanding stars.

SCAMMON MAKES GREAT PLAY

William and Mary advanced a step closer to the conference title by defeating Randolph-Macon at Ashland Saturday by a 5-to-1 score.

Maxey, first batter, opened the game with a clean single to left field and scored when Engleburt and Ryan also drove out one-base knocks.

Randolph-Macon threatened once in the third frame when the home team pushed over one run.

With Wallace hurling unhittable ball, the Indians went out and sewed up the game with three runs in the last two innings.

Charley Scammon, brilliant first sacker, turned in the best play of the game. Charley has been playing wonderful ball all year and yesterday his ability to stretch far, wide and handsome saved Ryan from an error and pulled Wallace out of a hole.

BALDACCI HEAVES JAVELIN FOR NEW MARYLAND RECORD

Kinnamon, Hurdle Winner; Johnson and Baldacci High Scorers

SCOTT, SMITHERS WIN DASHES

Taking nine out of thirteen first places and tying for the fourteenth, William and Mary Green, Gold and Silver trackmen amassed 75 1-4 points to the University of Maryland's 50 3-4 to defeat the Old Liners in their dual track meet last Saturday at College Park.

Kinnamon, the Old Liner's star hurler, was the only Maryland man to win a track event, taking both hurdle events in fast time.

Scott, Quinn of Maryland, and Smithers ran a dead heat for 60 yards of the hundred, with Scott spurting at the finish to win by a yard, and the other two finishing in order.

The summaries: 100-Yard Dash—Won by Scott (W. and M.); second, Quinn (Md.); third, Smithers (W. and M.). Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Smithers (W. and M.); second, Havel (Md.); third, tie between Quinn (Md.) and Shipp (W. and M.). Time, 23 seconds.

120-Yard Hurdles—Won by Kinnamon (Md.); second, Baggett (W. and M.); third, Fellows (Md.). Time, 16 1-5 seconds.

220-Yard Hurdles—Won by Kinnamon (Md.); second, Potterfield (W. and M.); third, Horton (W. and M.). Time, 25 3-5 seconds.

440-Yard Dash—Won by Clark (W. and M.); second, Linzey (Md.); third, White (Md.). Time, 51 3-5 seconds.

880-Yard Dash—Won by Johnson (W. and M.); second, Trice (W. and M.); third, Baggett (W. and M.). Time, 2 minutes 1-5 seconds.

One-Mile Run—Won by Johnson (W. and M.); second, Cabel (W. and M.); third, Shure (Md.). Time, 4 minutes 41 3-5 seconds.

Two-Mile Run—Won by Renn (W. and M.); second, Cooper (Md.); third, Time, 10 minutes 25 2-5 seconds.

Shot Put—Won by Krajcovic (Md.); second, Mozeleski (W. and M.); third, H. McDonald (Md.). Distance, 41 feet 6 1-2 inches.

Javelin—Won by Baldacci (W. and M.); second, Syer (W. and M.); third, Swentzel (W. and M.). Distance, 181 feet 1 1-4 inches.

Discus—Won by Swentzel (W. and M.); second, Krajcovic (Md.); third, J. McDonald (Md.). Distance, 126 feet 8 1-2 inches.

RECORDS BROKEN AS FROSH SWEEP TO GOOD FINISH

Take Nine Firsts to Beat Spider Frosh While Meade and Williams Star

McKEOWN, BEACH TIE MARKS

Amassing nine firsts and a tie, while two records were being broken and two others tied, the freshman track team lowered the curtain on its season by sweeping to a victory over the University of Richmond frosh Tuesday at Richmond by a score of 72-45.

With few exceptions, all events were run in fast freshman time. Meade was outstanding as high scorer with three firsts—the shot put, javelin and discus.

Williams was the other Papoose to achieve a new record, his leap of 5 feet 10 1-4 inches in the high jump raising the record, shared with Reid and White, 1929, by one and a quarter inches.

In stepping the 440-yard dash in 52.8 seconds Uldrich lacked one second of matching the record.

Richmond's first places came in the half-mile and in the high and low hurdles, where Lynn was scratched following injuries in the pole vault.

Summary: 100-Yard Dash—Won by McKeown, W. M.; second, Beach, W. M.; third, Lee, R. Time, :10.2. Ties record.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Beach, W. M.; second, McKeown, W. M.; third, Hopkins, R. Time, :22.8. Ties record.

440-Yard Dash—Won by Uldrich, W. M.; second, Sandige, R.; third, Schumate, R. Time, :52.8.

880-Yard Dash—Won by Phaupp, R.; second, Falls, R.; third, Sullivan, W. M. Time, 2:07.7.

CHALK UP EIGHTH SUCCESSIVE WIN IN VIRGINIA BE...

Bill Scott Breaks Out of Battl Slump With Three Safeties

SCAMMON HITS THREE

Hitting the ball to all corners the lot, William and Mary chalk up its eighth straight conference victory by defeating Hampden-Sydney 6 to 3, Monday afternoon on Cary Field.

This victory clinches the conference title. Even if Richmond can win from the locals, next Monday the Green Sox will sport a better average than the Spiders.

William and Mary greeted J. Crawley, Tiger pitcher, warmly in the first inning and pushed over three runs. Sauerbrun opened with a single to right field and was advanced to second on Engleburt's sacrifice.

Hampden-Sydney squeezed over a run in the second on a walk, double, and a sacrifice. They also pushed over runs in the fourth and fifth innings, but after that Sundin was able to keep the visitors away from the scoring station.

Bill Scott pulled out of his batting slump that had carried him below the .300 class to pole out three hits in four trips to the platter.

The Indians scored their last runs in the eighth inning when Scott singled and was driven home when Bill Ferrel drove to deep center for second home run of the game.

Carley Scammon, besides playing his usual fine game at the initial sack, turned into a hitter, collecting three hard singles in four trips to the platter to tie Scott for the leading hitter.

"Carky" Sundin was on the mound for the Indians, and though he allowed nine hits he kept them well scattered. The lanky right-hander sent seven Tigers back via the strike-out route and only handed out one free ticket.

Table with 5 columns: Player Name, Position, Ab, R, H, E. Rows include William and Mary, Sauerbrun, Engleburt, Scott.

Racketmen Take Last Conference Match From Bridgewater, 6-3

LAST GAME MONDAY

The Green Sox, after playing in Philadelphia today against Drexel Institute, close the 1930 season Monday in the second meeting with the University of Richmond, the final game to be played at Cary Field. Both teams have been defeated earlier in the season. Seniors who will participate in their last game against the Spiders include Captain Wallace, Ferrell, Scammon, Silverman, and Ryan.

JOHNSON CLOSES SMITHERS LEAD

Garnett "Mooch" Smither continues to lead Indian trackmen in individual scoring following the Maryland meet. His six points enabled him to keep ahead of Wink Johnson, who scored ten against the Old Liners to give him a total of 47 points, while Smither has 48.

Baldacci, with two first places in the Maryland meet, jumped to third place. Scott continues to hold fourth place, and Swentzel retains his sixth place berth.

In total scores William and Mary jumped ahead of her opponents and is leading now by 390 3/4 to 365 1/2.

CAVALIERS JOLT W. M.'s UNDISPUTED GOLF TITLE CLAIM

William and Mary's golf team saw its chance for an undisputed claim to the state championship slip away last Saturday in the final rounds of the foursome matches with the University of Virginia's golfers, when the Cavaliers came from behind to win the last foursome and tie the Indian niblick artists at 9-9.

Wilcox, of William and Mary, shot a 73 over the difficult Farmington course to win 3 and 2 from Captain Loftus, of Virginia, in the No. 1 match. Graven, captain of the Indians, led Miller, his university opponent, up to the last few holes, but the Cavalier rang up these last in two under par to tie the Indian leader. Burkett, of Virginia, took all three points from Mallowney, but Haspel put William and Mary ahead for the single matches by defeating Kern, one up.

Captain Loftus and Miller, Virginia, played an even round with Captain Graver and Wilcox in the first foursome; but Burkett and Kern, of the Cavalier team, put Virginia in a tie for the match by winning one up from Haspel and Mallowney in the final foursome of the matches.

WIGGINS ABSENT

Winning six out of nine matches, the William and Mary racketmen had little trouble downing Bridgewater College in their last conference match of the season Saturday on the William and Mary courts.

Even though handicapped by the absence of Wiggins, the Indian netmen disposed of their opponents in the first four matches in straight sets. Most of these were easily captured either 6-1 or 6-2. Only one set was carried to six games to three.

In the next match the Redskins suffered their first setback when Renbush defeated Shaeffer in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1. In the final singles match Carr, playing his first match of the season on the team, won his event handily, 6-3, 6-2.

The Eagles came back in the doubles matches, after losing the first contest, 6-0, 6-2, to the team of Joslyn and Sheehan, to take the last two doubles matches in hard battles, both of which went to three sets.

LITTLE INDIANS BREAK EVEN IN WEEK-END GAMES

The Little Indians broke even over the week-end by losing to the John Marshall High School and winning from the Crew High School outfit. Marshall took a close ball game, 7-4, while Crew was easily defeated, 12-2.

John Marshall presented a well-balanced outfit and showed plenty of hitting power against the Papooses. However, Dizenzo pitched a nice ball game and, with some semblance of backing on the part of his teammates, would have pulled out with a victory. Loose work in the infield during the eighth inning allowed the visitors to tie up the score at four-all and go ahead by counting three markers in the ninth to make the final score.

Crew High offered little opposition for the yearlings, being outclassed in all departments. "Lefty" White held the schoolboys to three hits, all of which came in the fourth frame. White struck out 16 of his opponents, making a total of 34 whiffs in his favor for the last two games he has pitched.

SQUAW RACKETEERS LEAVE TODAY FOR WASHINGTON TILT

The Indianettes' tennis team will leave this afternoon for George Washington University, where they will play their last match this season. They will go to Old Point Comfort by bus and will then proceed to the capital city by boat. Approximately five people, together with the coach, Miss Martha Barksdale, and the manager, Corinne Hancock, will make the trip. Helen Maffett, Frances Booth, Lelia Chewning, Pat Beale and Emily Dunleavy or Blanche Walthall are expected to be included in the quintet.

Last year marked the first time that William and Mary women succeeded in defeating the George Washington co-eds, and it is hoped that they will continue their record in tomorrow's match.

The match will consist of two doubles and three singles. Maffett, Chewning and Beale will participate in the singles, and Maffett and Booth will play one of the doubles. The players in the other doubles will depend on the previous matches.

DR. JACKSON TO MAKE RESEARCH IN EUROPE

St. Olaf's, the patron saint of Norway, death.

From Norway Dr. Jackson goes to Sweden, from Sweden to Finland, to Russia and back to Copenhagen, Denmark, where the winter is to be spent in gathering information for a book on the Teutonic influence on Old Norse and later Icelandic documents. This book will be completed before June of the following summer and will be written during his stay in Copenhagen, Denmark, and Munich, Germany.

Besides this book, Dr. Jackson will also complete his edition of "Saga af Ernesto Hertuga og Griefa Vet-zelo," a translation on which he has already done considerable work. He is at the present time doing his second Peter Egge novel translation, the first of which was so well received by the English-speaking public. June, 1931, terminates his stay in Denmark and will find him on the way to Italy, from there to Austria, Switzerland, France, England, Scotland, and from Scotland home. His wife and son will accompany him on the entire voyage.

Charlotte King, captain of hockey and basketball star, was selected as the second leader in athletic achievement, while Lois Roberts and Nancy Johnson share the third place of honor.

Three women are elected annually by the committee for their merits in sports. The above were all active in hockey, basketball, baseball, tennis and track. Each has distinguished herself in some particular field. Miss Winn was re-elected captain of basketball for 1931. Miss King was hockey captain last season, while Miss Roberts was chosen for the captaincy next season. Miss Johnson served as president of the Women's Athletic Association this year.

stories, poetry, one act plays, and essays. The latter are particularly charming and unusual. The short stories are written in a vast number of styles and should appeal to almost every type of reader. The poetry is also written in many different forms among them being ballades, villanelles, and other more unusual but none the less delightful forms. The one act plays are modern, romantic and altogether human as may be expected from their authors.

The entire book has been written by students of the college and represents the best work among the literati on the campus.

Good tobacco in a pipe

That's what you want!

WHY do you hunt high and low and everywhere, when all the time here is good tobacco waiting to be smoked in your pipe? Why not discover Edgeworth and be done with your hunting?

Light a pipeful of Edgeworth. Roll on your tongue the full-bodied smoke that never bites and is always cool. Taste the Edgeworth flavor—the flavor that never changes. Learn for yourself why Edgeworth is the choice of so many critical smokers all around the world.

You simply must meet Edgeworth somehow. Buy a can of it, or borrow some, or let us send you several pipefuls, free, just to taste. Use first the coupon and then restraint until the postman comes with the Edgeworth. You'll bless the day, for good tobacco in a pipe is what you want.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package to pound humidifier tin.

Mrs. W. T. Wyatt of Hampton recently visited her daughter Barbara at the Phi Mu house.

Survey of Salaries in Social Work Rendered

Beginning salaries in social work are larger than in teaching, is the result of a survey recently made by Dr. W. T. Hodges, Director of Extension, based on an examination of the occupational records of twenty college graduates who have attended the School of Social Work and Public Health, maintained by the College of William and Mary in Richmond.

The records of the school, said Dr. Hodges, do not show a single instance of a college graduate trained in the School of Social Work and Public Health receiving an initial salary of less than $1,200 per year. Of the twenty graduates, ten received from $1,300 to $1,800 per year in their initial positions. Opportunities for advancement are also good, the study showed. One of the graduates of the school who have been out over eight years, one is now receiving a salary of $3,000 per year; another $2,700; and ten from $2,000 to $2,500.

All of the graduates were asked if they had ever had difficulty in securing positions, and each one answered the question emphatically in the negative. Several said they had been offered more than one position after completing their course of training. Of the class of ten college graduates now enrolled in the school, one has already received a position at a salary of $1,500 and complete maintenance; three at $1,350 to begin; three at $1,200; and one at $1,500.

elaborate furniture and color schemes to carry out the atmosphere surrounding the Cavendish family; secondly, the swift movement of the action of the play, and, thirdly, the characterizations.

The story of the play centers around the Cavendishes, "The Royal Family," who have all been actors for generations in the past, and the plot is concerned with the decision of Fanny Cavendish's son and daughter and granddaughter to give up the stage for a domestic career, in which they find themselves lost, and in the end are pulled back to the theatrical game by some inexplicable force.

No one actor can be the star, for the parts were unusually well distributed. Harriet Smith, as Fanny Cavendish, gave the best characterization in the role of an actress of the old school who, throughout the play, is planning to go on the road again. Virginia Turman, Julie Cavendish, carried a difficult role well, and her brother, Tony, played by Harry Light, was the source of much amusement to the audience, for his interpretation was splendid. The other characters were: Teddy Bauserman, who made his first appearance on the stage, was cast as Oscar Wolfe, the producer, and showed marked ability; Mary Stearns played the part of Gwen; Milton White, Perry Stewart; Truman Welling, Herbert Dean; Mary Quick, Kitty Dean; DeEtte Jones, the maid; Leon Lewis, Joe the butler. The majority of these people were making their first appearance on this stage, and for this reason all of them deserve much credit.

GLIDER CLUB MAKES TRIP TO KITTY HAWK IN NORTH CAROLINA

Officials of the National Glider Association will be on hand to furnish official timing of the flights, and Mr. Hawley Bowlus, holder of the national gliding record of nine hours and six minutes, has been invited to attend and fly the William and Mary glider.

The glider is in perfect shape, having been repaired since the accident last week, and will be carried to Kitty Hawk on a specially constructed trailer, which will be towed by one of the several cars making the trip. To date about 125 successful flights have been made in the glider by either students or Langley Field army fliers. The flying hours of the machine are expected to be increased considerably on Sunday. The club intends to be active throughout the summer.

Besides the above named prominent aeronautical men, Mr. Edward Sharp, commander of the Virginia division of the National Aeronautical Association, is expected to be present at the coming tests. He is intensely interested in the activities of the Glider Club here, and wishes to attend the Kill Devil Hill flights.

ANNUAL ART EXHIBIT WILL BE PRESENTED MAY 19-21

The public is cordially invited to attend the annual Fine Arts Exhibition of the College of William and Mary Art Department to be held on the second floor of the library, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 19, 20 and 21. The hours arranged for are two on Monday and 9-5 on the following two days. An interesting variety of work by college students will be shown in design, applied arts, sculpture, pottery and lettering.

At the same time, a representative collection of art work by elementary and high school students of the Williamsburg High School will be shown. The high school art class has recently completed a painting, size 2'6"x7', depicting the arrival of a Colonial Governor at the Raleigh Tavern. This painted panel will be presented as a gift to be placed in the new Williamsburg school.

AVIATION PRIZES OFFERED STUDENTS BY W. E. BOEING

(Continued from Page One) ing Scholarship—is a nine months' course covering 203 hours of flying and 1,224 hours of ground school instruction. Second award is the Boeing Master Mechanic course, consisting of nine months of instruction. The third award is the Boeing Master Pilot Ground School course, with nine months of instruction; and the fourth award is the Boeing Private Pilot course, requiring from two to four months of ground and flight instruction. Any undergraduate student, including the 1930 graduating class, is eligible as a candidate.

Candidates must have maintained a scholastic standing to classify them in the upper one-third of their class for the entire period of their enrollment. The candidates must write an essay on one of the following subjects: "Aviation's Contribution to Internationalism," "The Development of Air Transportation and Its Possibilities," or "The Development of Safety Features on Established Air Transport Lines."

The essays, which must reach the Boeing School by June 9, will be judged by a national committee of award, composed of prominent educators and leaders in the aeronautical industry.

The Boeing School of Aeronautics is associated with the Boeing aeronautical companies, including the Boeing Airplane Company of Seattle and the Boeing System, operators of the Seattle-Los Angeles and San Francisco-Chicago air mail, express and passenger routes.

Full details of the Boeing scholar-ships competition may be obtained from the administrative offices or from the Boeing School of Aeronautics, Oakland Airport, Oakland, California.

Literary Magazine Holds Elections for Next Year

Elliott D. Healey Named to Edit "Lit" Magazine For 1930-31

PANNILL BUSINESS MANAGER

Elliott D. Healey of Revis was recently chosen editor-in-chief of the William and Mary Literary Magazine for the coming year, succeeding Fay P. LeCompte of Urbana. Mr. Healey has held the office of associate editor during the past season and in addition has been prominent in many other activities on the campus, including: president of the Y. M. C. A., president of the Philomathean literary society, manager of debate, a member of Sigma Upsilon, literary fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa, and Theta Delta Chi, social fraternity.

Robert Pannill of Martinsville was at the time chosen business manager for the coming season. During the past term, Mr. Pannill has held the position of associate business manager besides being manager of tennis, a member of Theta Chi Delta, chemistry fraternity, a member of the college orchestra and band, and a member of Kappa Alpha, social fraternity.

Under the leadership of Fay P. LeCompte, the present staff consisting of Lewis F. Brown of Suffolk; Robert C. Moses of Motley; Thos. G. McCaskey of Norfolk; Elliott Healey of Revis; Patruchia Clarke of New York City; and Elizabeth Lawder of Richmond, has made a number of changes in the makeup and policy of the magazine. To quote the editors, "None of these have been radical changes, but rather difference in arrangement and a few innovations designed to make it a more interesting and readable publication. More emphasis has been laid upon prose in order to stimulate the kind of writing which would interest the greatest number of student readers. Among the innovations the use of the serial—attempted somewhat in the nature of an experiment, it has proved successful enough to warrant its use in later issues.—Illustrations have been used in every issue this year. Book reviews have also been introduced for the first time with the aim of calling attention to outstanding releases of the press.

The newly elected editors will choose their respective staffs on the beginning of the fall session.

JEFFERSONIANS AMASS VOTES FOR CLOSE WIN

a good many Jeffersonians as well as his own party. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and is also Omicron Delta Kappa.

Earl G. Swem, Jr., of Williamsburg, was elected secretary-treasurer, defeating Lester Phillips, of Brookline, Mass. Mr. Swem is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity and Omicron Delta Kappa honorary society.

The election was the closest and largest that the student body has ever witnessed. Six hundred and fifty-seven votes were cast. The election officials spent twenty full hours at the polls—from the time they opened on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock until the last vote was tallied and counted and the final results were announced at five o'clock the following morning. Groups of students sifted in and out of Monroe Hall throughout the night, expecting that the results would be ready at any moment, but the pile of ballots seemed inexhaustible and only a sparse handful of men were present when the officials rose and announced the final results. All through the night the majority shifted from one candidate to the other, till it was impossible to tell who was leading.

The greatest number of votes polled by a single candidate were polled by Grover Clay, who amassed a total of 443 of the possible 657, fully 60 votes above the next highest man, Andrew Christensen. Both of these men were running for the Honor Council, and both were on the fraternity ticket. Mr. Clay is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha and Mr. Christensen Alpha Psi.

Frances Thompson and Rudolph Zabel, both members of Theta Delta Chi, were elected senior members of the Honor Council, with 331 and 352 votes, respectively, as against 311 and 307 for William Parker and Walter Smith.

Grover Clay and "Swede" Swentzel were made junior members of the Honor Council by receiving 443 and 321 votes to the 299 and 246 polled by Crawford Syer and D. C. Brown.

Andrew Christensen and Howard Scammon carried 373 and 307 votes to be elected to the sophomore membership on the Honor Council, while Berry and Dobkins received 305 and 299 votes, respectively. The closest vote of the election was between Scammon and Berry, Scammon finally winning by two votes.

For the Auditing Committee Peter Rux and Kermit C. Land got 340 and 330 votes, while Edward Robertson and Edward Curry took 318 and 310.

"Corky" Sundin, popular baseball and basketball player and member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity, defeated Binford Sykes for the office of president of the Athletic Council. The voting: 339 to 315. Weston Willis defeated Macey Goldblatt, 372 to 281, for the vice-presidency of the same body, and Paul Baldacci, Alpha Psi, was made secretary-treasurer over Piggy Diggs, K. A., by a vote of 341 to 316.

"Froggy" Dixon was almost unanimously elected cheer leader, being opposed by only a very few votes, which were written in long hand on the ballots. These votes did not affect Mr. Dixon's election.

NOTICE

The Flat Hat wishes to take this medium of expressing its regrets for not running the photograph of Mr. Abbitt, newly elected president of the student body for 1930-31. On account of being unable to obtain a photograph, we are unable to release it in this, the last issue of The Flat Hat.

NOTICE TO JUNIOR WOMEN

All junior women are asked to see Dean Landrum in the afternoons of the week beginning May 19, to arrange the programs for their Senior year. Appointments for afternoon conferences may be made at any time from 8:30 to 5 o'clock.

CASEY'S, Incorporated Meshettes

In Spring, young women's fancies turn to flairs, and new combinations of color, and new kinds of underthings—usually bandeaux and panties. The lighter the better, tho of course they must wear well and wash easily and be inexpensive because in the Spring young women want to buy oodles of them.

And that's why Van Raalte has made these entrancing new yoke-topped buttonholed and gaily colored panties at
