Fraternities

REDUCED RATES TO ALUMNI

Final arrangements for William and Mary's biggest Homecoming were being made this week with the date for the return of alumni barely seven days off.

Officials of the Alumni Association, college administrators and student organizations were putting finishing touches on elaborate plans for receiving a throng of returning former students next Saturday. A number of additions have been made to the program, which already included the George Washington football game, four plays, a parade and dinner.

Mortar Board, women's honorary society, has announced a reception in Barrett hall, Saturday afternoon, to be followed by the initiation Sunday morning of Miss Helen Weeks, supervising education teacher and all other members of the original Alpha Club who return.

Pi K. A. to Convene

Pi Kappa Alpha alumni will return for a fraternity convention as well as the Homecoming program, and other fraternities, both men and women, will receive their former members at that time.

George W. Guy, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, reports that a large number of alumni have signified their intention of returning. Arrangements are being made for buses to bring former students from

PHENOMENAL RUSSIAN SINGERS AT WILLIAM AND MARY TONIGHT

The famous Kedroff quartet, which has startled American critics by the unique quality of its concert work, is to sing for William and Mary tonight through the generosity of Charles R. Crane. The noted singers, who in two seasons have taken American concert audiences by storm, are to appear in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 8 o'clock.

This is the second time the Kedroff quartet has sung at Williamsburg. Nearly two years ago, when the singers had just arrived in America to begin the tour that has brought forth superlative praise from critics, they came to the College and were enthusiastically received.

Since that time they have sung for more than 130 audiences. Chaliapin called their performance "a miracle", and Koussevitzky has judged the quartet the "most wonderful phenomenon of the vocal world today." Singing by special invitation with the New York Symphony Orchestra at Mecca Temple, New York, March 4, 1928, they were recalled eight times before the curtain. Other critics have accorded the quartet the utmost in praise for its unique effect, which is attributed to a desire of the singers to keep any one voice from gaining ascendancy over the others. A critic for the New York Telegraph found that at times "the most minute observation, right at the stage, could not disclose which voice belonged to any one of the singers."

Annual Fall Ceremonies In
Phi Beta Kappa

HONORED LIST HELD SECRET

The annual fall tap service of Omicron Delta Kappa, national college honorary society, will take place at William and Mary, Wednesday, November 13, it was announced this week by Eta Circle. At that time students will assemble in Phi Beta Kappa hall to witness the tapping of new members to the fraternity, chosen for conspicuous service to the College.

The number of men to be tapped this year has not yet been announced, and their names will remain secret until the tapping service. At that time members of O. D. K. will move among the audience and pick out the men who have been honored.

Omicron Delta Kappa taps twice a year, and the new men selected include those who have achieved prominence in various campus activities. A prominent graduate member of O. D. K. will make a short address following the tap service, and F. Samuel Wilcox, Jr., president of Eta Circle, will preside. Further detailed announcements will be made in the future.

DEBATE TRYOUTS OCT. 25

Debate trials will be Friday, Oct. 25, in Washington 200, according to announcements this week. Each student trying out will present one side of the question, "Should Automobile Insurance Be Made Compulsory?" Those selected by judges as capable debaters become eligible for the Wrangler's Club. From its numbers are to be chosen members of the varsity team for the coming season. While a schedule of intercollegiate debates has not yet been drawn, Lawrence Morscher, president of the Debate Council, has been receiving correspondence from several colleges proposing contests in the near future. The first debate will probably be in December although class contests will start as soon as possible.

MYSTERY, LAUGHS AND THRILLS IN THEATRE PROGRAM

An entertaining program of laughs, suspense and thrills is promised William and Mary with the production of four one-act plays by the William and Mary Players next Friday night. The program is one of the lengthiest and most varied that has yet been offered on the Phi Beta Kappa stage.

The plays will be "The Twelve Pound Look" by Barrie, "Poor Aubrey" by George Kelly, "Dark Lady of the Sonnets" by George Bernard Shaw, and "The Travellers" by Booth Tarkington.

Because of the length of the program the curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock. The production will be under the direction of Miss Althea Hunt.

BRANCHI, AUTHOR,
ADVENTURER, PLANS
LONG MOTOR TRIP

A 10,000 mile automobile trip from the United States to South America, the first tour of this nature ever attempted, will be undertaken next year by Dr. C. E. Branchi, professor of modern languages at William and Mary.

Plans for the trip, the most recent adventure of Professor Branchi, will be announced in a few weeks, he told The Flat Hat. Although the tour will be highly adventurous, it is not being planned as a sporting venture, but for educational and commercial purposes, Dr. Branchi said. Every mile of the continent-to-continent tour will be made by motor, through Mexico, the Central American states and Panama to South America.

This will not be the first adventurous trip Dr. Branchi has undertaken, for he has several more to his record. He holds the record for the fastest crossing of the Mediterranean Sea, which was made in a speed boat. A daring sailing trip in the South Sea to the Juan Fernandez Islands, on which he wrote a book, was another one of his adventures. He has also crossed the South American Continent from Buenos Aires to Valparaiso. Dr. Branchi participated in the African War and the World War.

SENIOR MEN TO CARRY

As has been the tradition of graduating classes at William and Mary for many years, senior men will carry canes at all collegiate functions, and women will carry sports scarfs, in college colors. This new insignia will make its appearance within a few weeks.

The audience was composed of people from Norfolk, Hampton, Newport News, and Williamsburg, as well as a great many students.

Miss Peralta, accompanied by Harvey Brown had a wide selection of songs including some American songs which especially appealed to the audience. The Soprano Prima Donna said that she always had her greatest trepidation before a college group because she knew from experience that they were by far the most critical people with whom she came in contact.

CAMPBELL NAMED ASSISTANT

The Flat Hat takes pleasure in announcing the promotion of James T. Campbell, of Oak Ridge, N. J., to assistant managing editor, effective this issue, and the following additions to the staff: Virginia Arthur, of Norfolk; Frances Bragg, of Atlanta, Ga.; Virginia Leary, of Alexandria; Mary Parry, of Scranton, Pa., and Marjorie Lanston, of Washington, D. C.

NEW SONG WRITTEN BY RICE

"Indian Sweetheart", which is being featured at the college dances by the Indian Serenaders, was written by Frank Lee Rice during the summer vacation. It has been broadcast over WJR, WFI, WIP and many other important stations.

Chorus

I love my Indian sweetheart,
I love my Indian girl.
When things go wrong, throughout the day,
She's there by my side to drive my cares away.
It's just like the end of a story—
Our little bungalow of dreams.
Someday I know roses will grow
For me and my Indian Sweetheart.

Can You Recognize "The Twelve Pound Look"?

Sir Harry didn't and it caused him a good bit of trouble. It is all explained in the one-act play by Barrie

"The Twelve Pound Look" which the William and Mary Players will present on the night of Friday, November 1, in Phi Beta Kappa hall at 8 o'clock.

The Football Team's Achievement

Omicron Delta Kappa, according to announcement elsewhere in this issue of The Flat Hat, is going to conduct its annual autumn service in another fortnight or so. This means that William and Mary once more will meet in Phi Beta Kappa hall to witness the selection of men who within the past year have achieved prominence in campus affairs.

It is a good thing that an organization of the sort of O. D. K. exists, if for no other purpose than to inspire college men to work for the good of their respective alma maters. From this standpoint alone, O. D. K. with its list of national chapters, may easily be put down as one of the moulding factors in college life today. Through the determination it inspires, and through the actual work accomplished within its organization, it has undoubtedly performed invaluable service for the American College as an institution.

Better Mail Service

Sometime in the near future, according to report, the United States government is going to establish a postoffice at William and Mary. Which is another way of saying that William and Mary's mail troubles are near an end.

There is no doubt the amount of mail arriving and leaving the College daily justifies the establishment on the campus of a postal station as speedily as possible. Whoever may question the need has only to walk down Jamestown road past the women students' dormitories Monday mornings. The quantity of outgoing mail is so large that the present mail box is wholly inadequate to handle it, with the result that dozens of letters are often piled on top of it overnight. Two weeks ago the carrier arriving at the box Monday morning found letters not only on top of it, but piled beneath the box on the ground.

If the new campus post office is not soon forthcoming an additional collection box ought to be placed at the women's dormitories, or the present one should be replaced by one large enough to handle the mail.

Debating Talent

Another debating season begins for William and Mary next week when try outs are to be held for the varsity debate squad. Last year the Debate Council undertook an ambitious schedule, containing contests with several prominent colleges and universities along the Atlantic Coast. The council is anticipating an even more ambitious campaign this year.

A college is not known by its athletics alone. Debating is a well known activity in almost every educational institution and one which is receiving greater prominence each year. William and Mary, historically outstanding in American collegiate debating annals, should put out a strong team this year.—F. H. B.

London—Modernization of Britain's railroads, which was something of an issue in the last general election, has been brought a step nearer. One of the railroads in Great Britain will try a fleet of 40-ton coal cars on its lines.

On railroads here are of the stubby size and 12-ton type, or about the size of an average automobile truck.

New York—Talking from an airplane 4,000 feet in the air and 1,300 miles away, Capt. A. B. Brooks addressed the annual convention of Telephone Pioneers of America at Minneapolis, recently. A combination of radio and land telephone lines, which connected New York, Minneapolis and the airplane into a single circuit, thus added another milestone to the progress of communication.

London—If the dirigible R-101 had a swimming pool, it would have about everything that is found on a modern ocean liner. The passenger state-rooms have accommodations for 100 guests.

New York—Greetings from President Hoover were sent to Commander Richard Byrd and his expedition in the Antarctic recently in a radio program broadcast from a New York Club.

University—The dean's list of honor students in the college department of the University of Virginia contains the names of 251 students from twenty-five states and five foreign countries for the first term of the session of 1928-29.

Philadelphia—A fifth attempt to get out of jail is being made by Al "Scarface" Capone and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, Chicago gangsters, who are serving one year terms in the Eastern State penitentiary in Philadelphia for carrying concealed weapons.

Detroit, Mich.—Coming to receive a nation's tribute on the golden anniversary of his invention of the incandescent electric light, Thomas Edison arrived in Detroit, traveling in the private car of Henry Ford.

Washington—Investigation by the federal trade commission of an alleged combination of certain cottonseed crusher and oil mills to fix the prices of cottonseed was asked in a resolution recently by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama.

Annapolis, Md.—A conference between naval and military academy superintendents to formulate a set of eligibility rules for all athletic relations between the two schools has begun work.

Washington—A license to enable a radio and telephone inventor, to make flight tests of his "aerial eye" has been granted by the federal radio commission. The invention is intended to provide airplane pilots particularly in wartime with equipment to pick up a continuous picture of the land over which they are flying and transmit it to observers at receiving stations in safe convenient places on the ground.

Holton, Kansas—Pursued by dozens of egg-throwing supporters of a high school in Holton the superintendent of schools was forced to flee from town under guard after a football game in which his football team was defeated.

Washington.—Preparations have been begun for the five-power ship parley between the governments of the United States, England, France, Japan, and Italy.

THIS DEPARTMENT

In Which We Fulfill a Promise

We promised, a week ago, to put our whole plant to work, castle and henchmen and armorers and all, in quest of at least one new, non-Scottish joke. We have promised you a new joke. We further cast a Castilian curse on all creators, communicators or purveyors of jokes concerning Mexico.

Well, after a good deal of effort we've partly succeeded. Here are a couple of high class, strictly-Mexican jokes. Please be very careful with them, because so far as we know they are the first and only Mexican jokes in captivity.

Once there was a Mexican named Angus MacDonald who cut all the buttons off his shirt before he sent it to the laundry.

Ha. Here's the other one.

Once over in Glasgow (why Glasgow?) two taxicabs ran together and thirty Mexicans were badly injured.

We couldn't find any jokes about Icelanders, probably because they don't have shirts or taxicabs there, but we'll see what can be done sometime in the near future. Meantime, we've got two new poets who make their daybase with sonnets of a more or less murderous nature. We won't guarantee the first one is original; somehow we seem to have heard it before. But we'll vouch for the second one by Happy Easter.

Sonnet

There was bl-ood on the saddle,
And bl-ood all around,
And a big puddle of BL-OOD
All over the ground.

—I WILLA.

I Willa's real name is said to be I Willa Arise and Go-Totth-To-Meet-My-Lord, but we call her I Willa for short. There's no use being hard on printers. Incidentally this is an honest-to-goodness pseudonym, although we think I Willa's parents committed a gross grammatical error when they didn't call her I Shalla instead.

The second poem, which we know definitely to be entirely original is entitled:

Reply to I Willa

If there's any truth
In I Willa's line of hash,
Someone's just been killed
By gash.

—HAPPY EASTER.

Influence of the new numerical movement, as set forth by the screen titles of three current cinemas:

"Two Black Crows"
"Three Live Ghosts"
"Four Feathers."

Pratty Preen, which has been hanging around all night for no reason at all, has just looked over our cold shoulder to read the First Mexican Joke, and said it couldn't see the point. "I don't see the point," said Pratty Preen. Well, Pratty, the point is that he had only one shirt. Go on home, now Pratty. You're in the way.

Based on our successful voyage to the V. P. I. in Richmond, which we figured out beforehand would cost between $3 and $4, we are now in a position to tell our esteemed reader how to attend the Thanksgiving game at Richmond for $3-$4:

An Alumnus Prefers to Stick to "Indians"

Editor of The Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:

I note in the issue of October 4, a suggestion from someone that there seems to be a crying need for a new name to grace the William and Mary athletes and the suggestion that this be the high sounding panhandle of "Sovereigns."

Now, Mr. Editor, having spent four years at the college and enjoyed a close relationship with athletics as well as publications, I can not help saying that I regard this suggestion as pure "bunk".

The writer of that letter feels that because the nickname of "Indians" is used by some other colleges and perhaps too frequently by sandlot outfits, it should be discarded. I disagree with him. With the exception of the real article in attendance at Haskell and possibly one or two other schools for the native American I fail to see who is any more entitled to that name than William and Mary athletes.

OPEN FORUM LETTERS

Tradition has it that the teams first acquired the name because a good portion of the student body was roomed in Brafferton which, as all know, was the original Indian school. In fact, I think they had an Indian Club back in those days. The old timers can tell you more about it. Nevertheless, it seems to me the nickname of Indian should be one of which to be proud.

Now I have one other objection to such a change and I am sure you and staff will agree with me. The writer of the letter who suggests such a name as Sovereigns evidently never wrestled with a headline in his care-free young life. Let him try to put that word in a headline and see how well he can do it. "Indians" is a nice, short word and "goes" easily in a headline. Turn that into something longer and you'll call down the just wrath of all head writers.

With all due respect for the writer of the 'Sovereign' suggestion, I recommend he try to find something better to call such teams than the degrading name of "Squaws".

Yours, etc.,

An alumnus and an Indian.

"Scythe" Urges Classes to Follow Actions of Fraternity on Campus Editor of the Flat Hat, Sir:

Omicron Delta Kappa has pledged its members to refrain from cutting campus. This you will agree is bound to be of great benefit to the appearance of our campus grounds if carried out by any sizeable group of students.

If one whole class were to establish a precedent I think that it would not be long before the majority of the student body, if not the whole, would refrain from this careless practice. The freshman class has the opportunity to perform a great service for the college by pledging its members to refrain from cutting campus as sophomores.

The Scythe.

"Horse Craver" Likes to See Men Talk to Lady Lovers on Horseback Editor of the Flat Hat, Sir:

I would like to inquire if the college is planning to institute a new movement for bigger and better Knights?

Last Sunday afternoon around four o'clock two young cavaliers drove up on their sturdy steeds to one of the new houses in college court to pay a visit to their fair lady loves. With the horse's nose practically through the living room window, the young sire held a lengthy conversation with the damsel on the second floor. Although one of the horses showed considerable fatigue because of the "bigger Knight", they were fairly good examples of one way of avoiding the non-motor rule.

I wonder if the Restoration period has had any effect on the men of the student body?

Horse Craver!

Wants Transfer Restrictions Editor of the Flat Hat, Sir:

The number of transfers here at William and Mary is gradually increasing. This is due to a number of causes among which has been the policy of the college to admit men who have failed at other institutions. William and Mary has been known as a place where, in the phraseology of students, "it is easy to get in".

Such a policy, I think, is detrimental to the advancement of the college. It also brings about a divided student body whose members do not have the interests of this college at heart as much as they would have had they been through their freshman year here.

Men who fail at other colleges certainly cannot be counted on to help the scholastic standing of William and Mary, and a large number of transfers undoubtedly makes for a student body with mixed interests.

The next step in the advancement of this college should be the establishment of a rule restricting the transfer to this institution of students who have failed at others.

Marshall Baggett.

"Scrub" Corrects C. T. J. Editor of the Flat Hat, Sir:

A decided misunderstanding must have prompted the letter of C. T. J. in last week's Open Forum. The scrubs who had worked hard all fall on the Varsity Squad with few exceptions were taken to the V. P. I. game as a reward. I am sure the scrubs are greatly indebted to the Athletic department and regret seriously that the misunderstanding occurred. I feel that this letter will correct the wrong which unfortunately appeared in the letter of C. T. J. In closing, I as a scrub, wish to thank Mr. Gooch and Coach Boccock, and I am sure that the other scrubs will join me wholeheartedly.

A Scrub.

BRIDGEWATER HERE FOR GAMES

Fighting Virginians At Home To Bridgewater Tomorrow Night

By CURLY

Looking over the football results of last week, there seems to be a number of those things which the experts speak of as "upsets".

But just why the fact that football games run contrary to the predictions of the gentlemen who figure prospects from a few hundred or a few thousand miles off should be called upsets is not quite apparent.

It may have been in the minds of the rules committee which passed the fumble rule and in minds of the coaches who influenced it that the rule would tend to make football games run true to form.

The charm of the modern game has been the fact that many of the predictions of the experts have been upsets on the field to the delight of everyone but the losers.

If there were no upsets, intercollegiate football would die a painful and lingering death.

Speaking of the William and Mary-V. P. I. game. The crowd was the largest witnessing a football game in Richmond since Virginia and Carolina last battled in the Capital City in 1916.

From the Richmond Times Dispatch: Bill Scott is the fastest gridiron stepper in Virginia, just as he is the only ten second man in college track circles in the state.

There will be two decisive battles played tomorrow that may have a decided bearing on any national ranking under discussion when the winter league opens.

One is between Stanford and Southern California at Palo Alto. The other is between Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

With the backing of President Emilio Portes Gil, American football has been given a start in Mexico which seems certain to establish the game on a permanent basis.

The University of Mexico coached by Reginald Root, Yale, lost its first game with an American college but the players were not disheartened.

The second international game at Mexico City will be played between Sewanee and the University of Mexico on November 20.

The expenses of this game will be borne by President Portes Gil. The president hopes that the Sewanee-University game will be attended by perhaps a 100,000 people who are expected to participate in the opening of a new athletic field.

Senor Gil saw his first football game between the National University and the Deportivo Club. His enthusiasm for the sport was instantaneous.

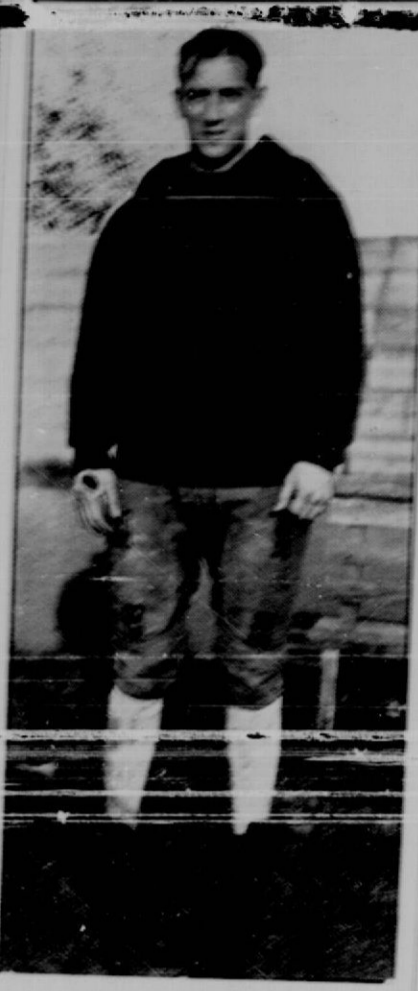

This is the most popular cheer at the National University:

Joya! Joya! Cachun! Cachun! Rah! Rah! Cachun! Cachun! Rah! Rah! Joya!!!! Universidad de Mexico!!!

What to do with a girl who is a better swimmer than any man on his team is the problem vexing Coach Barry of the Brown University aquatic squad.

Thomas Gerstenberg, fullback of the Defiance Athletic Association and an all round athlete, injured in a football game last week, played the remainder of the game with a broken neck.

TECH RALLIES TO DEFEAT REDSKINS

Gobblers Trim Fighting Indian Eleven In Last Period; 12,000 See Game

After leading a powerful Virginia Tech team for three quarters, the Gobblers' leading eleven cracked under the terrific pace in the final period of last Saturday's football classic at Richmond to bow under a 25-14 defeat.

With a 14-13 lead, gotten mainly through the brilliant running of Bill Scott, flashy Indian halfback, and the steady kicking of Captain Bauserman, the Bocoekmen held the highly touted Techmen at bay for three spectacular quarters.

Scott thrilled the capacity crowd of 12,000 in the first two minutes of play when he grabbed a Tech punt in mid-field and raced fifty yards to V. P. I.'s one-yard line.

By uncocking a puzzling aerial attack, with Scott doing the passing and Maxey and Ryan the receiving, William and Mary advanced deep within Tech territory again in the second quarter.

V. P. I.'s great backfield, composed of Spear, Owens, Tomko and Hooper, tore holes through the Indian line to score twice in the first half.

Murphy, playing right tackle, Fields in center, and Constantino in the backfield, all played great defensive games.

Once more the Gobbler has emerged from the fray with an Indian scalp, but never, in all the games of the past quarter century, has he had to fight so hard or remain in doubt so long as to the final outcome as in last week's great contest.

Coach Miller Brings Last Fighting Team to Williamsburg

INDIANS IN TRIM

William and Mary Predicted to But Plenty of Action Expected

Tomorrow evening at 8:30 the William and Mary eleven tangle kicks with the Bridgewater Eagles on Cary Field.

The Eagles come here anxious for revenge. Last year the Redskins won the game 28-0.

So far this season, the Bridgewater eleven has not won a single game. Early in the season, Hampden-Sydney ran up a 38-0 score on the westerners in Death Valley.

In all these contests the Eagles have displayed plenty of flash and speed, but have been out-weighted and out-played by their heavier opponents.

The Eagles will probably line up with Kagey and Cupp at end, Sanderson and L. Myers at tackle, Marrhand and Miller at guards.

The Indians are in fine shape to face the Eagles tomorrow. Minor injuries will hold many of the regulars out of the lineup.

Dr. E. G. Swem, librarian, returned yesterday from Chapel Hill, N. C. where he attended the meeting of the Southeastern Educational Association.

GAME TOMORROW

Young Drills Team On Offensive; V. P. I. Adopts New System

Tomorrow the Little Indian eleven journeys to Blacksburg with hopes of annexing their third straight victory of the season at the expense of the Virginia Poly Tech freshmen. The day shapes up as being one of the hardest of the season for the Papooses after a ten day layoff, the entire team is in fine shape to bring home another scalp. Coach Young does not let his charges go stale and kept them hard at work with gym work and scrimmages. The squad of twenty-four men left early this morning for Blacksburg where they expect to arrive sometime this evening.

At V. P. I. they have adopted the Warner system of football for the freshmen. Under it the football outfit for Tech has improved greatly. With this system every man out for football is given the same amount of instruction instead of just a selected few. The freshman squad numbers over eighty. Despite the fact that scores of these men will never make the freshman outfit, they are nevertheless all given the opportunity of learning the fundamentals of the game. Only those men who are physically unfit to stand up under eight weeks of real football are dropped from the squad.

Another purpose for this system is to develop yearlings for future use in the varsity. Men are placed in positions totally unfamiliar to them in order that they may fill vacancies in several of the 1930 team. Although it weakens the frosh team, it is considered a good investment in that it strengthens the varsity of future years. The V. P. I. freshmen have only played one game this season, winning easily from Roanoke frosh by a score of 20-0. The Gobblers are reported to have a strong offense, but is lacking in the defense. Working on this point, Coach Young centered his attention on the Papooses offense. A fast, close game is predicted.

HENDRICK WINS GUESSING AWARD

Tops Field of Fifty; Gets All Correct But One; Another List Given

James L. Hendrick won the weekly football score guessing contest conducted by the Flat Hat and sponsored by Chunky Rodger's College Men's Shop. Hendrick succeeded in guessing the outcome of all the games but one correctly. He was patriotic and predicted his Alma Mater to defeat V. P. I. last Saturday. J. R. Spencer was the only one to come close by predicting seven of the ten games correctly.

Last week's list was probably the hardest of all the lists given so far this season. The biggest stickers were the Army-Harvard, Michigan-Ohio State, North Carolina-Georgia, and the William and Mary-V. P. I. frays. Nearly every one picked the loser in these games. One contestant guessed seven correctly; three, six; and most of them only guessed five. One missed as many as eight.

This week's list perhaps is more difficult than last week's. A wide variety is given and an excellent chance is presented for some one to

Haspel, Zabel, and Green Likely to Participate In Finals

Weather permitting the finals in annual college tennis championship will be run off tomorrow afternoon. The semi-finals are scheduled to come off this afternoon, but due to rain the early part of the week, a delay in the schedule may be necessary. Quarter-finals were played early in the week.

Joe Haspel and Rudy Zabel, two of the men seeded in the tournament, advanced to the quarter-finals by nature of decisive victories over their first and second round opponents. According to current opinion these two men should meet the winner of the upper half of the draw.

The first upset of the tournament was the defeat of George Williams, seeded number one, by Inslee Green, a new comer to tennis circles at William and Mary. Because of his showing in the match it is expected that Green should experience little trouble in reaching the semi-finals.

Just Naturally Good

Good tobaccos . . . made good by Nature, not by "artificial treatment." That's the secret of OLD GOLD'S goodness

A chef may be able to make a doubtful steak taste good by artificial flavoring and sauces . . . But it's still dangerous to your stomach.

OLD GOLD tobaccos are naturally good. Carefully selected from Nature's best for smoothness, flavor and freedom from throat-scratch.

So it is with cigarette tobaccos. "Heat-treating" is useful to "set" and "sterilize" the tobaccos . . . and all cigarette makers have used it for years. But "heat-treating" cannot take the place of good tobacco in making a honey-smooth cigarette.

You have only to try a package to get the thrill of this smoother and better cigarette. That will tell you why OLD GOLD'S sales are ALREADY THREE TIMES GREATER than the combined sales of three leading brands during a like period of their existence.

Better Tobaccos make them smoother and better . . . with "not a cough in a carload"

Bill Scott and Red Maxey are tied for William and Mary scoring honors so far this season with twelve points apiece. Scott scored in the St. John's and W. P. I. frays, while Maxey scored in the St. John's and Emory and Henry games. Ryan and Baidard are close seconds with a six-pointer in the St. John's and W. P. I. games respectively. Captain Bauserman is third with four extra points from placement to his credit.

James L. Hendrick was the weekly football score guessing contest conducted by the Flat Hat and sponsored by Gunn's Barber's College Men's Shop. Hendrick succeeded in guessing the outcome of all the games but one correctly. He was accurate and predicted the same winner in every W. P. I. last Saturday. J. E. Spence was the only one to come close by predicting seven of the ten games correctly.

Tomorrow the Little Indian eleven journeys to Blacksburg with hopes of annexing their third straight victory of the season at the expense of the Virginia Poly Tech freshmen. The fray shapes up as being one of the hardest of the season for the Papooses but after a ten day layoff, the entire Duc team is in fine shape to bring home another scalp. Coach Young has not let his charges go stale and has kept them hard at work with dummy work and scrimmages. The squad of twenty-four men left early this morning for Blacksburg.

Last week's list was probably the hardest of all the lists given so far this season. The biggest mistakes were for St. John's, Michigan, Ohio State, North Carolina-Georgia and the William and Mary-W. P. I. frays. Nearly every one picked the wrong winner in every game.

The week's list perhaps is more difficult than last week's. A wide variety is given and an excellent chance is presented for some one to guess correctly.

At V. P. I. they have adopted the Warner system of football for the freshmen. Under it the football outlook for Tech has improved greatly. With this system every man out for football is given the same amount of instruction instead of just a selected few. The freshman squad numbers over eighty. Despite the fact that scores of these men will never make the freshman outfit, they are nevertheless all given the opportunity of learning the fundamentals of the game. Only those men who are judged physically unfit to stand up under eight weeks of real football are dropped from the squad.

Fighting Virginians At Home To Bridgewater Tomorrow Night

DOWN THE LINE

By CURLY

Looking over the football results of last week, there seems to be a number of those things which the experts speak of as "upsets". With the modern game and the number of teams engaged more and more seriously in the game, there are bound to be more and more upsets.

But just why the fact that football games run contrary to the predictions of the gentlemen who figure prospects from a few hundred or a few thousand miles off should be called upsets is not quite apparent. Almost anything can happen in a football game, as should have been made apparent. Not only has it been demonstrated that anything might happen, but anything has happened.

It may have been in the minds of the rules committee which passed the fumble rule and in minds of the coaches who influenced it that the rule would tend to make football games run true to form. The rule was supposed to remove the element of chance. Just why should the element of chance be taken away from football any more than form any other sport?

The charm of the modern game has been the fact that many of the predictions of the experts have been upsets on the field to the delight of everyone but the losers. If all games ran true to the predictions, and if, say William and Mary, doped beforehand to be so many touchdowns better than Bridgewater, inevitably should turn out that way, what would be the reason of playing the games? Bridgewater might as well concede the football game to William and Mary and invite the members of the Indian team to a singing or ping pong contest.

If there were no upsets, intercollegiate football would die a painful and lingering death.

Speaking of the William and Mary-V. P. I. game. The crowd was the largest witnessing a football game in Richmond since Virginia and Carolina last battled in the Capital City in 1916. The Indian team had the honor of making history in the new stadium, for it will always be remembered that the Fighting Virginians and the Gobblers were the first teams to pack them in and stand them up in the new bowl. The Redskins' brand of ball last Saturday won them many new admirers and insures another large crowd when they battle Tech next year in Richmond.

From the Richmond Times Dispatch:

Bill Scott is the fastest gridiron stepper in Virginia, just as he is the only ten second man in college track circles in the state. The William and Mary star made a beautiful return of a punt before spectators hardly had adjusted themselves to their seats. . . . Incidentally Tech immediately recalled William and Mary's past success in returning punts, and from that moment Tech booters kicked the ball outside, rather than risk another dash by Scott.

There will be two decisive battles played tomorrow that may have a decided bearing on any national ranking under discussion when the winter league opens.

One is between Stanford and Southern California at Palo Alto. The other is between Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh. These are four of the strongest teams football can show for the 1929 campaign. Other games of importance this week are Yale and Army, Harvard and Dartmouth, Princeton and Navy, and Michigan and Illinois.

With the backing of President Emilio Portes Gil, American football has been given a start in Mexico which seems certain to establish the game on a permanent basis.

The University of Mexico coached by Reginald Root, Yale, lost its first game with an American college but the players were not disheartened. The sweeping end runs, behind perfect interference, bewildered the Mexican players, but it only made them more anxious to learn the game. Louisiana College won the game at Mexico City, 59-0.

The second international game at Mexico City will be played between Sewanee and the University of Mexico on November 20.

The expenses of this game will be borne by President Portes Gil. The president hopes that the Sewanee-University game will be attended by perhaps a 100,000 people who are expected to participate in the opening of a new athletic field.

Senor Gil saw his first football game between the National University and the Deportivo Club. His enthusiasm for the sport was instantaneous. "This is the way you Americans work off your energy and avoid revolutions," he said after watching the first few minutes of play.

This is the most popular cheer at the National University:

Joya! Joya!
Cachum! Cachun! Rah! Rah!
Cachun! Cachun! Rah! Rah!

What to do with a girl who is a better swimmer than any man on his team is the problem vexing Coach Barry of the Brown University aquatic squad. Entered in Pembroke College of Brown University is Albina Osipowich, the Olympic 100 meter free-style titleholder. She had asked Barry permission to work out with the Brown varsity squad, since the girls only swim one or two days a week. A search is being made of the college regulations to discover if it is possible for a girl to represent a school in varsity competition.

Thomas Gerstenberg, fullback of the Defiance Athletic Association and an all round athlete, injured in a football game last week, played the remainder of the game with a broken neck.

ELABORATE CARD FOR HOMECOMING

Emerson Institute, Sweet Briar, and George Washington Play Here

An elaborate athletic card has been prepared by Billy Gooch, graduate manager of athletics here, for the annual homecoming next week-end.

On Friday afternoon, the William and Mary freshman football team will meet the Emerson Institute eleven on Cary Field. Emerson is one of the leading prep schools in the District of Columbia and comes here with a grid record that is hard to surpass. The Little Indians will have their hands full when they line up against this strong array of mole skin wearers from the capital city.

Saturday afternoon the varsity hockey team will open their fall campaign with Sweet Briar. The Indianettes have been preparing for this fray for the last month and are in fine shape to draw blood from the green and white. The William and Mary-Sweet Briar fray is an annual affair and an intense rivalry has sprung up between the Squaws and Briarites.

The George Washington University Colonials will be the attraction on Cary Field Saturday night in the third home game of the season. This is also an annual fray, the Indians defeating the Washington eleven in Washington last year 24-0. The Colonials will be anxious to avenge this defeat and a fast, exciting game is expected next Saturday night.

TECH RALLIES TO DEFEAT REDSKINS

Gobblers Trim Fighting Indian Eleven In Last Period; 12,000 See Game

After leading a powerful Virginia Tech team for three quarters, William and Mary's fighting eleven cracked under the terrific pace in the final period of last Saturday's football classic at Richmond to bow under a 25-14 defeat.

With a 14-13 lead, gotten mainly through the brilliant running of Bill Scott, flashy Indian halfback, and the steady kicking of Captain Bauserman, the Bocockmen held the highly touted Techmen at bay for three spectacular quarters.

Scott thrilled the capacity crowd of 12,000 in the first two minutes of play when he grabbed a Tech punt in mid-field and raced fifty yards to V. P. I.'s one-yard line. Baldacci plunged through center a minute later for the first score of the game. Captain Bauserman kicked the goal.

By uncocking a puzzling aerial attack, with Scott doing the passing and Maxey and Ryan the receiving, William and Mary advanced deep within Tech territory again in the second quarter. Scott then stepped around right end and ripped through the entire Gobbler team for a second Indian score. Captain Bauserman's kick from placement sent William and Mary into the lead 14-13.

V. P. I.'s great backfield, composed of Spear, Owens, Tomko and Hooper, tore holes through the Indian line to score twice in the first half. They were held scoreless throughout the third period, but managed to break loose again in the final quarter for two more touchdowns.

Murphy, playing right tackle, Fields in center, and Constantino in the backfield, all played great defensive games. Maxey was the only back, besides Scott, who was able to gain at all through the big Tech line.

Once more the Gobbler has emerged from the fray with an Indian scalp, but never, in all the games of the past quarter century, has he had to fight so hard or remain in doubt so long as to the final outcome as in last week's great contest.

REDSKIN ELEVEN

Coach Miller Brings Light, But Fighting Team to Williamsburg

INDIANS IN TRIM

William and Mary Predicted to Win, But Plenty of Action Expected

Tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock the William and Mary eleven will tangle kicks with the Bridgewater Eagles on Cary Field in the second home game of the season. A capacity crowd is expected for this fray.

The Eagles come here anxious for revenge. Last year the Redskins romped on this team from western Virginia, 68-0. But despite the fact that they were greatly outclassed and out-played, the Eagles displayed a brand of fighting spirit that was very commendable.

So far this season, the Bridgewater eleven has not won a single game. Early in the season, Hampden-Sydney ran up a 38-0 score on the westerners in Death Valley. In their next game Coach Miller's charges held the strong Emory and Henry Wasps to a 20-0 score. Last Saturday at Ashland the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets left the Eagles on the short end of a 26-0 score.

In all these contests the Eagles have displayed plenty of flash and speed, but have been out-weighted and out-played by their heavier opponents. Failure to get and to take advantage of breaks caused them several touchdowns in the Randolph-Macon fray. The majority of their gaining has been done by means of the forward pass, with Payne hurling and Cupp on the receiving end. Myers and Cline have been the Eagles' mainstays on the defense while Payne and Captain Fifer have been called upon to do most of the ball-totting.

The Eagles will probably line up with Kagey and Cupp at end, Sandy and L. Myers at tackle, Marrhand and Miller at guards, Kinze at center, Cline calling signals, Payne and Captain Fifer at half back, and J. Myers at full back.

The Indians are in fine shape to face the Eagles tomorrow. Minor injuries will hold many of the regulars out of the lineup, and the second team will probably be called upon to furnish most of the action in tomorrow night's fray. The starting lineup is not available. Although the Indians are predicted to win, plenty of action is expected.

Fray to Be Hardest of Season for Yearlings; Twenty-Four Men Make Trip

GAME TOMORROW

"Cy" Young Drills Team On Offensive; V. P. I. Adopts New System

Tomorrow the Little Indian eleven journeys to Blacksburg with hopes of annexing their third straight victory of the season at the expense of the Virginia Poly Tech freshmen. The fray shapes up as being one of the hardest of the season for the Papooses but after a ten day layoff, the entire Duc team is in fine shape to bring home another scalp. Coach Young has not let his charges go stale and has kept them hard at work with dummy work and scrimmages. The squad of twenty-four men left early this morning for Blacksburg where they expect to arrive sometime this evening.

At V. P. I. they have adopted the Warner system of football for the freshmen. Under it the football outlook for Tech has improved greatly. With this system every man out for football is given the same amount of instruction instead of just a selected few. The freshman squad numbers over eighty. Although it weakens the frosh team, it is considered a good investment in that it strengthens the varsity of future years.

The V. P. I. freshmen have only played one game this season, winning easily from Roanoke frosh by a score of 20-0. The Gobblers are reported to have a strong offense, but is lacking on the defense. Working on this basis, Coach Young centered his attention on the Papooses offense. A fast, close game is predicted.

SEMI-FINALS TO BE RUN OFF TODAY IF WEATHER PERMITS

Haspel, Zabel, and Green Likely to Participate In Finals

Weather permitting the finals in annual college tennis championship will be run off tomorrow afternoon. The semi-finals are scheduled to come off this afternoon, but due to rain the early part of the week, a delay in the schedule may be necessary. Quarter-finals were played early in the week.

Joe Haspel and Rudy Zabel, two of the men seeded in the tournament, advanced to the quarter-finals by nature of decisive victories over their first and second round opponents. According to current opinion these two men should meet the winner of the other half of the draw.

The first upset of the tournament was the defeat of George Williams, seeded number one, by Inslee Green, a new comer to tennis circles at William and Mary. Because of his showing in the match it is expected that Green should experience little trouble in reaching the semi-finals.

Last week's list was probably the hardest of all the lists given so far this season. The biggest stickers were the Army-Harvard, Michigan-Ohio State, North Carolina-Georgia, and the William and Mary-V. P. I. frays. Nearly every contestant was a loser in these games. One contestant guessed seven correctly; three, six; and most of them only guessed five. One missed as many as eight.

Just Naturally Good

Good tobaccos . . . made good by Nature, not by "artificial treatment." That's the secret of OLD GOLD'S goodness

A chef may be able to make a doubtful steak taste good by artificial flavoring and sauces . . . But it's still dangerous to your stomach.

So it is with cigarette tobaccos. "Heat-treating" is useful to "set" and "sterilize" the tobaccos . . . and all cigarette makers have used it for years. But "heat-treating" cannot take the place of good tobacco in making a honey-smooth cigarette.

OLD GOLD tobaccos are naturally good. Carefully selected from Nature's best for smoothness, flavor and freedom from throat-scratch.

You have only to try a package to get the thrill of this smoother and better cigarette. That will tell you why OLD GOLD'S sales are ALREADY THREE TIMES GREATER than the combined sales of three leading brands during a like period of their existence.

Better Tobaccos make them smoother and better . . . with "not a cough in a carload"

On your Radio, OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR. Paul Whiteman, with his complete orchestra, every Tuesday, 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time

FRESHMAN CLASS TO PLANT NEW TREES

Fourteen trees are to be planted by the Class of '33 on Homecoming Day, November 2, in honor of the fourteen

Gardiner Tyler, President Emeritus of the College of William and Mary, and grandson of John Tyler, President of the United States, is invited to assist in the ceremony. Dr. Tyler and Dr. J. A. C. Chandler are the only living men in whose name trees will be planted.

The exercise is scheduled to follow a campus procession of undergraduates and alumni and will take place at a spot selected by Mr. Robinson, the college architect. The hour is set for two-thirty and the programme is in the hands of the newly-chosen officers of the Freshman Class. They have outlined a simple and impressive ceremony and have hinted that an original poem will be composed in honor of the occasion.

SENIORS DON CAPS AND GOWNS

At a recent meeting of the senior class it was decided that seniors would wear caps and gowns during the hours of formal convocation in the parade next Saturday, at homecoming.

Virginia Turner, of Atlanta, Ga., and J. E. Bradford, of Manassas, Va., have been chosen by J. H. Waters, Jr., president, to head the committees on invitations and gifts, respectively.

Unusual

Differing from the usual sort of one-act play, is "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets" by G. B. Shaw, which will be presented by the William and Mary Players during Homecoming. It is a propaganda play, attempting to influence the growth of an English national theatre, similar to the contemporary Russian group of the Moscow Theatre. Moreover it is a charming costume play showing the young Shakespeare gathering immortal phrases to be used in his forthcoming works. Students in the English department will be especially interested in this Elizabethan travesty.

Awards Offered for Best Original Compositions

The English department wishes to bring attention to the two prizes offered this year for exceptionally original compositions.

The Jones award of thirty dollars for the most original composition submitted. The work may be in any type of literature such as poems, short stories or plays, essays, orations, etc. It is suggested that poems be of about 50 lines; short stories or one act plays, of about 3,000 words; and essays and orations, of about 2,500 words. This prize is offered as a memorial to Tiberius Gracchus Jones, '45, by his son, Archer G. Jones.

Another prize is offered, the Francis Scott Key Smith award in memory of Francis Scott Key. It offers ten dollars for the best poem submitted. It must have a patriotic as well as a religious sentiment as is shown in the poem "America".

The Jones award was won last year by R. C. Moses for a one act play entitled "Rebellion". The Key-Smith award was won by a poem "Freedom's Land" by John F. Ward.

Manuscripts must be written on a large paper with either typewriter or ink and must be turned in by May 1st.

The committee of awards is composed of Dr. E. M. Gwathmey, Dr. Grace Landrum and Dr. J. R. L. Johnson, any of whom will be glad to consult with students who are interested in competing for the prizes.

Supreme Court Closes Doors Until Next October

By Marie Newman

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Hear Ye, the call rang out. Friday night, October 18, 1929, the 232nd session of supreme court of William and Mary met in Phi Beta Kappa hall to try and punish all 'ducs', 'rats', etc.

The proceedings began with the ducs all kneeling in the balcony facing the wall while 'Rosy' Ryan, judge, opened the court. The court chaplain, William Halpern, prayed for the complete success of the evil intentions of the court. A prayer it may have been but it was to the master of darkness and comprised of an indictment and discription of the victims of the moment.

The jury, good men and true, having been sworn to deliver absolute injustice and to inflict the maximum punishment for the slightest offense. The first case, that of 'duc' William Shepherd, was called. Greeted with howls of delight and cries for blood, each succeeding victim was called forth. It appears that this class of '33 'had' a number of outstanding criminals in its midst and the good right and left arms of 'Jimmy' Wallace and 'Bill' Fields were well exercised. Witness thereof may be had by the conspicuous absence of freshmen from the window seat of the College shop and other places where 'ducs' are wont to recline.
