First Inter-Society Contest Monday Night

Will Be First Time Men's and Women's Societies Have Come Together for a Joint Contest; Inter-Society Debate Will Be a Feature.

The first competition between the men's and women's literary societies ever held at William and Mary will take place in the Inter-Society Literary meeting to be held in chapel Monday night at 8 o'clock, with the Phoenix, Philomathean, J. Lesslie Hall and Whitehall societies participating. The feature of the program will be the inter-society debate with the Phoenix and J. Lesslie Hall societies debating against the Philomathean and Whitehall organizations. A handsome banner will be awarded to the society making the highest number of points.

The following is the program for the evening:

Violin solo—B. B. Alpert, accompanied by Miss Josephine Barney.

Declamation—Jack Ambler, representing Phoenix.

Declamation—George W. Reilly, representing Philomathean.

Declamation—Miss Blanche Taylor, representing J. Lesslie Hall.

Active Work Begun On "Merchant of Venice"

Cast for Production to Be Given May 13 on Sight of First Theater in America Selected by the Committee in Charge.

Work on the production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," to be given on the sight of the first theater in America on May 13 by the Little Theater League of Williamsburg in conjunction with the College of William and Mary is going ahead rapidly under the direction of Professor Cary F. Jacob and members of the league. The cast of the play has been carefully selected and every effort will be made toward a successful production.

So far as can be ascertained, the "Merchant of Venice" was the first drama given in the new world, which is given as the reason for its selection as the play to be given in May. Students of the college often united with the English actors in many of the productions given at the old theater Wanted!

Students to join the College Band. Previous musical instruction unnecessary. College credit will be given for the work. Organization under most capable leadership. Here is a chance for every man with musical ability to serve his Alma Mater. For further information see William Bozarth or M. B. Reynolds.

Kappa Phi Kappa Frat. Installs Chapter Here

William and Mary Given Pi Chapter of National Educational Honorary Fraternity; Chapman Elected Local President.

Pi Chapter of the Kappa Phi Kappa national educational honorary fraternity, was installed at the college last Wednesday evening, the charter members being Dr. W. A. Hamilton, professor of jurisprudence and dean of the school of economics and business administration; Henry C. Krebs, associate professor of education; C. M. Faithful, associate professor of education; T. P. Chapman, Jr., D. L. Lohr, B. M. Marks, H. J. Swink and H. I. Willett, of the class of 1925; W. F. Lawson, Jr., W. F. Marston, W. G. Neale, G. H. Reid, R. E. Reid and C. D. Duff, of the class of 1926.

The installing officers were R. H. Jordan, president of the fraternity, and professor of education at Cornell University; A. D. Wright, secretary of the fraternity and professor of education at Dartmouth, and Dr. Frank H. Kramer, legate of the fraternity and head of the department of education at Gettysburg College. Mr. W. E. Gentzler, of Epsilon Chapter, also was present. Professor Wright is an alumnus of William and Mary and has held important posi-

College Band Revived Under New Leadership

Director Briggs, of the Norge Band, Will Be Instructor; William Bozarth Elected President and M. B. Reynolds, Secretary-Treasurer.

Along with the revival of college spirit begun several weeks ago, there has also been revived the college band which a few years back was an active organization, supplying the necessary music at the football and baseball games. The first call for aspiring musicians brought gratifying results, fifteen candidates applying for various positions in the band. Organization took place on Tuesday, February 24, William Bozarth being elected president and M. B. Reynolds, secretary and treasurer.

There are still a number of positions open for various instruments. Students who are interested in work of this kind should, therefore, apply at once in order that there may be no delay in beginning the instruction. It is preferable but not necessary that the student shall have had musical instruction before. The work will be conducted as a regular college class for which college credit will be given, making it attractive as a college activity, an educational work and an enjoyable diversion.

Musical instruction will be given by Mr. Briggs, director of the Norge band, an excellent musician and instructor.

WILLIAM AND MARY-WESTHAMPTON CONTEST ENDS IN DISPUTE OVER SCORING RECORDS

Smith Heads Women's Student Government

Will Round Out Four Years of Service on Student Council; Virginia Hardy Elected Vice-President at Meeting of Women Students.

Virginia Smith, of Richmond, was elected president of the Women's Student Government at the annual election held in Jefferson Hall Monday afternoon. In completing the work the coming year Miss Smith will round out four years of service on the Student Council, having served as freshman representative, secretary and vice-president of the organization.

She is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Virginia Hardy, of El Paso, Texas, was elected first vice-president. Miss Hardy is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, the Art Club, and is engaged in many other student activities.

Other officers elected are Caroline Ribble, second vice-president, Elizabeth Smucker, sec'y; Paige Drinker, treasurer; Kitty Myrick, handbook editor; Mary L. Parker, first representative at large; Martha L. Gibbs, second representative at large, and Leah Jones, third representative at large.

Chandler Confers About Richmond Health School

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler was in Richmond recently to confer with Dr. H. H. Hibbs regarding the future relations of the College of William and Mary with the Richmond School of Social Work and Public Health, which has been affiliated with the college for some time.

Former William and Mary students who have been trained for social and health work in the Richmond school have acquitted themselves well, according to Dr. H. H. Hibbs, director, and are engaged at present as playground workers, industrial welfare workers, rural social workers and community workers. Dr. J. T. Mastin, secretary of the State Board of Public Welfare, has recently called attention to the need for social workers in Virginia, and has complimented particularly the work of the Richmond School of Social Work and Public Health. A representative of the school is at present visiting the colleges of the State in the interest of the work.

Notice!

All members of the Cotillion Club who expect to remain at William and Mary for the final dances will hand names in to Watkins Booth at once.

REFEREE WELLS DECIDES IN FAVOR OF TIE, 31-31

No Agreement Reached

Indianettes Fought Uphill Battle Throughout Whole Game; Superb Playing of Entire Team in Final Minutes Brings Them on Even Terms.

The outcome of the annual William and Mary-Westhampton basketball game, played in George P. Blow Memorial gymnasium last Saturday night, is still in doubt. The 33 to 31 victory announced in favor of the Indianettes was immediately contested by Coach Crenshaw, of Westhampton, who had been keeping her own score from the side. Her protest was made on the ground that the two official scorers, whose records were identical, had recorded one field goal for Louise Love, of William and Mary, which should not have been counted after the referee's "no goal" signal.

Indianettes Playing Last Games of Season

Fredericksburg Normal Met Last Night by Fighting Co-ed Quintette Which Faces Temple Tomorrow and George Washington Monday.

Coach Barksdale, with a squad of nine, left yesterday for a four-day trip on which the Indianette basket-tees will face three of the hardest games of the season. Last night Fredericksburg attempted to stop the attack of the invading Indianettes. Tomorrow finds them clashing with the strong Temple College outfit at Philadelphia, while William and Mary and George Washington lock horns Monday at Washington, D. C., in the last game of the former's schedule.

In George Washington and Temple College the Indianettes will meet two of the strongest sextettes of the season. George Washington will be thirsting to revenge the defeat of three weeks ago at the hands of the William and Mary girls, and will no doubt put up a brand of basketball that will make Coach Barksdale's charges step lively. Temple College proved last year that they had a sextette to be respected, when they handed the Indianettes the small end of a 38-25 score, and will, according to all reports from Philadelphia, present a strong aggregation again this season.

Coach Barksdale, Manager Myree Hutchings and the following girls are making the northern jaunt: Love, Chase, Dixon, Sawyer, Best, Arnold, Armstrong, Moody and Gibbons. The squad is expected to return to William and Mary Tuesday morning.

THE LAST ISSUE UNTILL AFTER EXAMS

Dr. Morton to Rewrite History of Virginia

Will Revise His Volume of History Written in Connection With Philip A. Bruce and Dr. Lyon G. Tyler; Covers Period 1861 to 1924.

Acting upon the advice of Dr. Philip A. Bruce, prominent Virginia historian, Dr. R. L. Morton, head of the department of history at William and Mary, has decided to revise and re-write a history of his own, according to a recent statement.

The History of Virginia, of which Dr. Morton's work is a part at present, was written in three volumes; Dr. Philip A. Bruce, editor-in-chief, and Dr. Lyon G. Tyler contributing the first two books of the series. The third volume, written by Dr. Morton, covers the period from 1861 to 1924.

In his history Dr. Morton gives the stream of political progress the right of way and due consideration to the economic, religious and social development of Virginia. The volume covers a field which has been only poorly developed before, and is based upon a great mass of original research. Dr. Bruce points out that the history is "an extended new and thorough contribution to our State history." He states further that the book is marked by "fine common sense and unusual literary culture."

In re-writing the history Dr. Morton intends to revise and expand several chapters and add a number of new ones to cover from 1861 to the present time. The work will be reprinted in a more popular size, with improved style and illustrations. Dr. Morton announces that he will be glad to receive any information of historical importance contributed by any student relating to Virginia history.

Girls' Minstrel Show Practice Under Way

With work going ahead rapidly in practice, the girls' minstrel, under the direction of F. R. Elliott, promises to rival the earlier production of the boys. According to an announcement, the girls will make their initial bow to the public at the Palace theater the night of April 24.

End positions have been awarded to Anne Chenery, Alice Kauffman, Nancy Featherstone, Jane Moss, Chippy Barrow and Sally Cogle, and a chorus of sixteen girls has been selected. The program promises several musical revues, the latest jokes and the last word in clog dancing.

The minstrel is being given under the auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy for the benefit of the hospital for cripples in Richmond.

Annual Manless Dance For Tomorrow Night

Co-eds Will Make Yearly Attempt to Show World Man Not Necessary to Pursuit of Joy and Happiness.

The unusual opportunity to be a man will be offered the Co-eds of William and Mary for one night only, tomorrow, when the annual Manless Dance will be staged in Jefferson Hall. Should some girl appear too critical in a survey of boys' dress for the week-end, do not become alarmed, she will be only striving to select from the men at the college one whose suit, overcoat or shoes appears to suit both form and fancy.

The festivity is an annual affair given by the finance committee of the local Y. W. C. A. In the past few years the dance has met with much success, each girl striving to outdo the other in her masculine attire.

They have adopted a unique means of advertising the event which runs: "Be sure and come, Co-eds, with your girl, your pep, and your dollar. Let's show the world that men are not essential to a good time."

Whitehall Society Will Present "The Gypsy Lad"

The Whitehall Literary Society, at a business meeting held last Saturday night, decided to present in the early part of the spring term, a musical comedy, "The Gypsy Lad," written by one of its members, Betty Kneeland. The cast and date of presentation will be announced later.

A change in the time of meetings was also made, the meetings to take place on Thursday nights instead of Saturday. The change will not go into effect until Thursday, the 12th, on account of the Inter-Society meet, to be held Saturday night.

The Whitehall will be represented in the Inter-Society meet by Margaret Gordon, who is debating with Paul Everett, of the Phoenix, on the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That All Student's Activities Should Be Done Away With During the Spring Term"; and by Alice Moss, who will read "The Highwayman," by Alfred Noyes.

Notice!

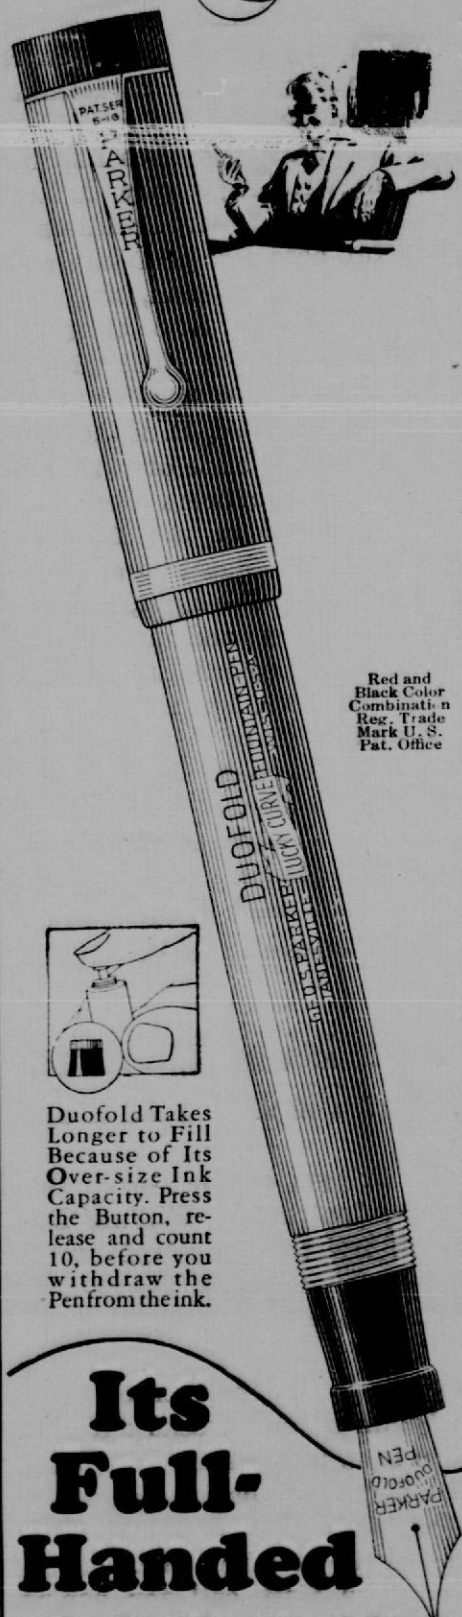

The time of Philomathean Literary Society meetings, due to the conclusion of the basketball season, has been changed back to Saturday night at seven o'clock. Members and friends will please note change.

Freshman Quint Loses Final Game of Season

After taking three straight games on the road, the freshman quint returned to Williamsburg for its final game last Friday night in the Blow gymnasium to Portsmouth High, 23-19. The freshmen were outplayed in the early stages of the game, but led at the end of the first half. Coach Watkins' charges seemed to be off their usual form, however, and allowed the Presidents to nose out a four-point margin of victory. Although the game was hard fought, it was marred by the poor passing and obvious errors of both quints.

In all the freshmen played fourteen games this season, winning eight and losing six. Several of the quints humbled by the freshmen have an excellent rating in the State, and taking everything into consideration, the past season has been quite a successful one for the freshmen cagers.

Track Practice Begun by Seventy-five Men

Schedule Opens With V. M. I. Meet on April 25; Richmond University Will Make Its First Appearance on Indian Cinder Path.

Opening with Virginia Military Institute in Lexington on April 25, the William and Mary track team will run through the most comprehensive schedule ever undertaken by an Indian cinder squad. Seven meets compose the schedule, three being held in Williamsburg and four away. The season closes with the big Virginia-North Carolina conference meet in Richmond on May 22 and 23, an annual feature of college track in the two States.

Outdoor practices began Wednesday with seventy-five candidates for the team undergoing initial workouts on the field under the direction of the coaches. It is probable that only light practices will be held during this term, but with the opening of the spring quarter on March 19, rigorous workouts will begin in preparation for seasoning the cinder and field men for the heavy spring program in store for them.

The schedule:

- April 25: V. M. I., Lexington.
- May 2: Randolph-Macon, here.
- May 6: Roanoke (pending), here.
- May 9: Duke University, Durham.
- May 11: Wake Forest, Wake Forest.
- May 6: Uni. of Richmond, here.
- May 22-23: Virginia-North Carolina Conference Meet, Richmond.

Tennis Prospects Are Bright For '25 Season

Three Letter Men of Last Year's Virginia-North Carolina Inter-Collegiate Championship Team Return to College This Year.

With the completion of four new tennis courts between Blow Gymnasium and Cary Field, and with the proximity of spring weather, it will be but a few weeks before the tennis squad will begin putting themselves into shape for their coming schedule of a dozen or more meets. It will probably be the beginning of the next term before the practices will begin in earnest; and in the meantime a squad of new men is being gotten together ready to be tested out at the very first opportunity the weather gives.

Matsu and Goetz are the most prominent of the old men who are trying for places on the team for the first time. Among the freshmen Howard and Crossfield appear to be the most skilled in the use of the racquet.

The first match comes on April 10 with the Country Club of Virginia, being played in Richmond. The Country Club has had for the past few years the best team in this part of the State.

The Collegiate schedule opens on April 28 against Richmond University at Westhampton. The first meet scheduled to be held in Williamsburg will come sometime in May. There will be four meets on the local courts with Hampden-Sidney, Wake Forest, Randolph-Macon and Richmond University.

On trip the Indian racqueteers will engage the two teams in Richmond previously mentioned, and Wake Forest, Washington and Lee, Virginia Military Institute and probably the Richmond "Y."

Marshall, Parrott and Pollard are the only tennis letter men in the college this year and upon their shoulders will fall the brunt of the work in moulding together a team of equal calibre to that of last year, which won the collegiate championship of the Virginia-North Carolina Conference.

W. & M.-WESTHAMPTON CONTEST ENDS IN DISPUTE

Miss Wells, the referee, decided that, according to the rules, she had authority in event of such a dispute, to decide in favor of the smaller score. Hence, she ruled, the game should have ended in a tie. No action has been taken in the matter by either Coach Barksdale or the Women's Athletic Council.

Westhampton scored 14 points during the first quarter and by the end of the first half was leading with a score of 22-15. The Indianettes, unaccustomed to the larger court of the boys' gymnasium, could not seem to locate the basket, making only five field goals during the entire period.

With the beginning of the second half, the co-ed team put up a fight, the parallel of which has never before been witnessed at William and Mary. Although the score mounted through the third quarter, Westhampton held the lead, and not until the last two minutes of play were the Indianettes able to take it from the Spiderettes.

Wilkins, playing side center for William and Mary, with her admirable defense and swift pass work, was one of the stars of the game. Arnold, guard, though not playing her usual game during the first half, rallied in the second and held back the Spider forwards time after time.

Love stands in the limelight for her superior goal tossing, scoring 27 of William and Mary's 33 points, and thus making her record for points 135 for five games. The fact must not be overlooked that Dixon and Chase sacrificed every opportunity for stellar work, and play as feeds to Love's remarkable shooting ability.

Powell, center, and Brockenborough, forward, were the outstanding players for Westhampton, Brockenborough scoring six field goals and six points from the foul line.

1925 Indian Baseball Schedule Is Incomplete

Temple, Yale, Bucknell and Holy Cross Will be Met; Six Game Trip as Far as Connecticut to be Taken by Team in May.

Though the 1925 baseball schedule is not yet completed, a glance at it shows it to be one of the hardest ever attempted by a William and Mary nine.

Beginning early in the season with a game with Temple University on Cary Field, March 30, the Indians proceed through a long list of Northern as well as Southern university and college teams, numbering all told about twenty.

Following Temple University, such nines as those of Holy Cross, collegiate champions of New England in 1924, Bucknell and Yale will battle William and Mary at or near Williamsburg.

Sometime during the first weeks of May, Coach Tasker and Manager Baker will pilot the Indian nine through New England for a week's tour in which time they engage some six of the best known colleges in that section, journeying as far North as Connecticut. The trip will probably terminate in Boston.

The schedule will include five games with Virginia teams and several with North Carolina nines. A commencement series has been engaged with Randolph-Macon, to be played in Williamsburg and in Ashland. The official complete schedule will appear in the next issue of The Flat Hat.

THE LITERARY SOCIETY CRISIS

Now that the basketball games no longer conflict with the programs of the men's literary societies, a decided improvement in attendance should be noted. The two societies have arranged their programs in an effort to eliminate conflicting interests as far as possible, and we cannot but feel that the students at William and Mary will lend their support to these activities.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a letter published by one of these societies to which no student who has the welfare of the college at heart can afford to turn a deaf ear. To say that the officers of the societies are discouraged would be putting it mildly. The letter brings us face to face with the facts: Shall the students of William and Mary support the literary societies, or by continuing their present indifference force them to close their doors and admit defeat?

Each week the societies present their programs to a meagre handful who gather in the halls to take part. Each week finds the audience dwindling and the societies growing weaker and weaker, until it has come to such a deplorable state of affairs now that they cannot continue their work unless the students support them with attendance. It is not enough to stand back and lend your moral support when the societies are crying for an interest demonstrated by attendance. Are we, as students of the college which has turned out men from these same societies for the better service of the State and nation, going to allow them to crumble and fall apart because of lack of interest?

THE STUDENT BAND

The student band movement is one of the most commendable started at William and Mary for some time. It will fill a long felt need at the college and cannot but result in supplying the cheering section with music of our own making. Each year we have been confronted with the question of music for the cheering section furnished by an organization unfamiliar with the college songs. While we are indebted to the Norge and Williamsburg bands for their support in the past, we cannot but feel that better results will be obtained by having one that may be called William and Mary's own.

Each student at William and Mary should consider it his duty to lend his support in every way possible in an effort to make of the movement a success. It merits support and should not be hampered because of any lack of interest.

In keeping with the larger modern improvements apparent at William and Mary, The Flat Hat suggests that we turn our attention to smaller things and strive to bring about improvements there which will keep pace with the other developments. There are the hymn books in the chapel, for instance, surely enough to make the writers of those sacred songs feel that they have been done a grave injustice. These are little things, but at the same time things that any visitor may use in forming a wrong opinion of the college. It is not necessary to describe these wrecks, their frayed backs, loose and penciled pages are all too familiar to any student who has ever attended chapel exercises.

Philomathean Society Presents Its Problem

A LETTER.

To Each Member and Friend of the Philomathean Literary Society:
 Dear Sir—As you are well aware, the status of the literary society work on the campus of William and Mary is very precarious. Not much time is allotted to it by the various societies whose organization is justified only on the grounds that they are the promoters of forensic and oral literary work, and such time as is allowed is not used to the best advantage. Not all the students of the college are members of a literary society and not all who are members reap the full benefit of such connections.

The Philomathean Literary Society, to face the facts squarely and without alibi, is in perhaps the worst condition of any society on the campus. About fifteen members have been the average attendance for the last two or three years, and the work has been far below the average standard for efficient forensic production. This is due largely to the fact that the society has been in somewhat of a lethargy, but it cannot awake without the loyal support of its members.

This letter is not intended to be a sermon on loyalty to an outworn shell. Literary society work is perhaps the most tangibly practical on the campus. It teaches men to think easily and in ordered manner on their feet. It gives them fluency of speech, facility of thought, and grace of action in public engagements regardless of the nature of such appearances. But to do this requires practice and work on the rostrum before an audience. To foster this activity one-quarter hour credit is given for regular literary society work for each year, this credit to help satisfy six required activity credits.

Pointedly then this letter is to put this question to you: Shall the Philomathean Literary Society be dissolved or rehabilitated? If you decide that the latter course is the desirable one, are you willing to help? Merely moral support will not suffice. We must have active and regularly attending members as well.

Any suggestion you may have to offer will be cordially and gratefully received, and your presence will be welcome at all times in Philomathean Hall.

Very cordially yours,
 F. J. BARNES, Jr.,

Chairman Committee on Rehabilitation.

LIBRARY CORNER

Through the courtesy of Worthington C. Howland, Massachusetts Historical Society has presented the college library with a copy of Robert Tindall's "Draft of Virginia." This chart, showing the York and James rivers, was reproduced from the original copy in possession of the British Museum, and is the oldest map drawn showing any part of the main land of North America being drawn from an actual survey made by Tindall in 1608.

The chart gives an excellent view of Jamestown as it appeared before its separation from the mainland.

The British Museum has allowed only twenty-five reproductions to be made from the original copy now in their possession.

A large engraving of Washington and his generals has been recently presented the library by Mr. Clarence Hoson, of New York City. The picture is remarkably clear cut, with all figures vividly portrayed.

A collection of book plates has been loaned the library by the American Society of Bookplate Collections and Designers. The assortment consists of a hundred designs which constitutes the work of various noted designers of the United States.

Foster to be Chairman Blue Ridge Conference

Mary Custis Foster, of Norfolk, was elected chairman of the Blue Ridge summer conference at a committee meeting of the Y. W. C. A., held at Brenon College, Georgia, last week-end.

At this meeting plans were made for the Y. W. C. A. summer conference at Blue Ridge. The "Y. W." plans to secure a number of prominent speakers to address the conference this summer, among whom will be Judge Florence Allen, justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio; Dr. Koo, of China, and George Collins, who spoke to the students of William and Mary a month ago.

SOCIAL NOTES

Pi K. A. Anniversary.

Gamma Chapter of Pi Gappa Alpha celebrated Founders' Day, Monday, March 2, with a brilliant dance at the Colonial Inn. The music was furnished by the Jolly Jazzers of Newport News.

A number of students of the college, members and alumni of Gamma Chapter, and many Pi Kappa Alphas from Richmond were present. Approximately thirty-five couples took part in the opening march during which the girls were given favors, which consisted of attractive silver rings on which was the fraternity seal.

During the intermission refreshments were served, which effectively carried out the colors of the fraternity. Directly after this James Campbell and Dot Wilkinson lead the Pi Kappa Alpha figure.

The chaperones of the evening were: Miss Bessie P. Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Rowe, Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Williams, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. L. Smoot and Mr. and Mrs. Steel.

Hon. J. W. H. Crim, assistant attorney general of the United States and an alumnus of William and Mary and family, spent the past week at the college as the guests of Dr. Chandler.

Misses Vin Hilsman and Gladys Ray, of Westhampton, were guests of Miss Gertrude Atkins for the week-end.

Miss Margaret Ewell, from Eastern Shore, Va., has been visiting Miss Llewellyn Baker for several days.

Misses Virginia Lee and Elizabeth Kent, former students of William and Mary, were week-end guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Miss Mary Fowlkes, of Westhampton, spent the week-end with Miss Dorothy Farrar.

Miss Page Harrison, student and instructor at Fredericksburg Normal, was a week-end guest of Miss Ellen Moody.

Miss Annette Wilson, former student at the college, visited Miss Virginia Smith last week-end.

Theta Chapter of Chi Delta Phi held its initiation ceremony and banquet in the Iota Mu Pi rooms on last Friday afternoon. The initiates were Phyllis Walsh, Frankie Lopp, Mary L. Parker, Helen Turnbull and Anna Whitehead.

Miss Julia Linebaugh, of Florida University, and Miss Jerry Solomon, of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, were the week-end guests of Omricon Beta of Chi Omega. A tea was given in their honor at the sorority house on Saturday afternoon from four until six. Guests included friends in town and on the campus.

Miss Elizabeth Nicholson spent the week-end at her home in Petersburg.

Dr. Emily Gardner and Miss Elizabeth Gaines, of Richmond, were the guests of Miss Mary Cust's Foster, in Jefferson Hall last week end.

Miss Lillian Easley visited her home in Smithfield over the week-end.

and hence it seems to those in charge that it is fitting that students of the college should again take part in the revival of the ancient custom.

The "Merchant of Venice," it is understood, will be given before all the Little Theater League of Tidewater Virginia, while many are expected to attend from other sections of the State. A special stage will be erected on the site of the old theater, while stands will be built on Palace Green, directly across the street, the street itself being blocked on the day of the performance.

As the play will be given out of doors, it is necessary that all members of the cast be trained to render their lines in a much louder tone than would be required inside. Various members of the cast are already at work on outside practice.

The following is the cast selected by the committee in charge:

Duke of Venice..... J. J. Ambler
Antonio, the Merchant of Venice.....
..... W. J. Montgomery
Prince of Morocco..... L. L. Born
Prince of Aragon..... E. J. Barnes, Jr.
Bassanio, a Venetian nobleman.....
..... W. H. Morrow

Salarino..... W. W. Robertson, Jr.
Salanio..... W. F. Lawson
Gratiano..... R. B. Wynne
Salerio..... C. M. Smith
Lorenzo..... F. S. Hopkins
Shylock, a Rich Jew.....
..... W. H. Graveley, Jr.
Lubac, a Jew, His Friend..... H. L. Ganter
Launcelot Gobbo..... A. C. Hozier
Old Gobbo..... J. S. Smith
Leonada, Servant to Bassanio.....
..... Gordon Darling
Balthazar, Servant to Portia.....
..... Carl Andrews
Stephano, Servant to Portia.....
..... W. F. Young
Portia, a Rich Heiress.....
..... Mildred Vaiden
Nerissa..... Anna Whitehead
Jessica..... Alice Moss

Stage directions for this scene from William Vaughn Moody's play, "The Great Divide," call for a woman's muffled scream, a pistol shot, and the crash of breaking furniture. The microphone on the right sends them all to your home.

Film On Women's Work to be Shown Thursday

The film, "Women's Work Through the Ages," will be given at the Imperial theater Thursday, March 12, at 3:30 in the afternoon. The picture has been brought to William and Mary by the classes in vocational guidance, the Edith Baer Club of the department of home economics, and the Y. W. C. A. The material was gathered by the Women's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, and is historically of great value.

The women's organizations of Williamsburg have been invited to the presentation and will be entertained at tea later in the afternoon by the officers of the Y. W. C. A. in the parlors of Jefferson Hall. Miss Taylor, Mrs. Stryker, and Dr. Peters will be assisted in receiving by Louise Sale, president of the Y. W. C. A., Virginia Allen Smith, president of the Women's Student Government Association, and Caroline Ribble, president of the Edith Baer Club.

"Cash $2,000" Selected As Hall Soph. Play

Inspired by the splendid freshman presentation of "Aria de Capo" on February 23, the sophomores of the J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society showed much enthusiasm at their tryouts held on Saturday. The play to be given is "Cash, $2,000," a one-act realistic drama by Nathan G. Chatterton.

The committee announces the following:

|-------------|----------------|
| Bertie..... | Anne Cameron |
| Jennie..... | Kitty Myrick |
| Harry..... | Chippie Barrow |
| Mame..... | Anne Withers |

Committee on stage, costumes and publicity will be appointed at the next meeting of the society.

History Club Selects Its Official Emblems

From the several drafts of keys which members of the History Club have been considering, they have chosen as their official emblem a key triangular in shape, with beveled edges and a panel of black enamel in the center of which there will be a torch and two hands of gold, and under which will be written in Greek script, "ISTORIA." On the back of the key the date and place of the founding of the club and the name of the member wearing the key will be engraved.

"Y" Training Councils To Meet Here In May

The Cabinet Training Council of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. of Virginia will hold its 1925 session at the College of William and Mary May 1, 2 and 3.

A definitely laid plan has not yet been formed, but Miss Mary Healy of the Randolph-Macon Women's College, who is the Y. W. chairman of the council, is at work on the program.

tions in educational lines in Virginia and elsewhere. The group installed a chapter at Washington and Lee Monday afternoon.

The visitors were the guests of the local chapter Tuesday afternoon and were given an opportunity to see the places of historic interest around Williamsburg.

In the evening, after the installation ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Dean and Mrs. K. J. Hoke. Mrs. Hoke was assisted in receiving the guests by Miss Helen Ross Weeks, associate professor of education, and Misses Elizabeth Clement, Alice Moss, Myree Hutchings, Louise Saie, Josephine Barney and Mary Custis Foster.

At an election of officers held immediately after the initiation, the following were elected: President, T. P. Chapman, Jr., secretary; H. I. Willett, treasurer; W. F. Lawson and faculty sponsor, Dr. W. A. Hamilton.

Kappa Phi Kappa is a professional educational fraternity confining its activities to academic colleges with well developed departments of education. It admits to membership persons belonging to the undergraduate Greek letter fraternities and does not bar its members from belonging to other honorary or graduate organizations. Membership is limited to white male students who are taking or have taken courses in the department of education, including graduate students and professors. The fraternity has chapters at Dartmouth, Lafayette, Maine, Colby, Gettysburg, Alleghany, Wittenburg, James Milliken, Emory and Henry, Birmingham-Southern, Pennsylvania, Middlebury, Syracuse, Miami, Washington and Lee, and William and Mary.

A Glimpse Into The College World

Here And There With Exchanges of The Flat Hat

Why do students prefer cutting across the campus to going around on the pavement? A professor at Oregon Agricultural College has decided that the reason is an inborn instinct to save energy. He says it originated in primeval times when man had to be constantly on guard to defend himself and, therefore, had to conserve all of his surplus energy.

A new type of inter-collegiate contests in the form of song contests are arousing much interest beyond the Mississippi. The Missouri Valley song championship will soon be decided between the colleges in that district.

"The Plastic Age" is still the most popular book at the University of West Virginia. "So Big" and "The White Monkey" rank next in popularity.

A professor at the University of Wisconsin asked the members of his class to send him anonymous letters criticising him and his methods of teaching.

Seniors at the Law College at Washington and Lee are not alone in the custom of carrying canes. Those at Ohio State will have canes with a silver band, the college seal, the year and the name of the owner.

A professor at West Virginia Wesleyan has discovered a new method of cribbing. The fair co-eds read notes through flesh colored stockings. The notes are made legible by pulling the fabric taut.

The young women at Newcomb College in New Orleans, according to a writer in Collier's Weekly, were put through an intelligence test and came through badly. Thereupon they challenged the faculty to a similar test, and it proved to be a sweet revenge. Some of the answers from a group of 23 professors were:

Al Jolson is a wrestling champion. Filet Mignon is an opera by Puccini.

Brilliantine is a preparation that ladies put in their eyes to make them shine.

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll was a world war hero.

Oglethorpe University, in Georgia, has perhaps the youngest university student in the country. This prodigy is but 10 years of age.

Recent investigation at Clemson, State college, in South Carolina, disclosed the fact that 90 per cent of the men are affiliated with the church. This deals a blow to the common belief that students at the State colleges do not stress the spiritual side of life.

According to Dr. T. P. Harrison, of North Carolina State College, the five main reasons why students do not make their classes are:

1. Financial straits.
2. Other family troubles.
3. Ill health.
4. Mistake in selecting course.
5. Failure to work.

Of these, the last named is responsible for 95 per cent of the failing students.

"Sports of Mexico" Is Subject Final Lecture

Professor Castaneda Brings to Close His Series of Talks Under Auspices of the Spanish Club.

"Popular Sports of Mexico" was the topic of the final address in the series of three lectures delivered in the chapel under the auspices of the Spanish Club recently. Added features of the well arranged bill included a solo, "In Old Madrid," by Gordon Darling, accompanied by Julia Zisgen at the piano; a Cuban dance by Nancy Featherstone, and an Argentine tango by Martha Claiborne and Marion Meads.

The lecture by Professor Castaneda on Mexican sports, well illustrated with a number of vivid views of bull fighting, covered the various pastimes of the Mexican people. "The public is changing in their attitude towards the bull fights," declared Professor Castaneda. "Within the next fifty years, the national sport will disappear, carrying with it a large portion of local color obtained only at the large gathering of people who witness the events. There are any number of objectionable features attached to the fights; such as the killing of horses, the tormenting of the bull, and the risk to human life," said the speaker.

In the course of his lecture, Professor Castaneda pointed out that the colleges of Mexico have no organized teams, the literary and musical clubs taking place of the sports found in the colleges of the United States. He stated that next to the bull fight, boxing was the most popular sport of the Mexican people. "They get more punch out of this," he said.

Course in Girl Scout Leadership Offered

Under the auspices of the Physical Education department of the college, Miss Anne M. Roos is giving a course in Girl Scout leadership between February 6 and April 1, to all those who are interested in Girl Scout work or in any phase of leadership work with junior girls.

This course has been given for the past three years in the leading colleges of the country, including Smith, Swarthmore, Wellesley, Barnard and others, through a special grant from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial. This is the last year of the full grant and William and Mary is very fortunate in having the course offered.

The class was organized on last Wednesday afternoon and will meet every Wednesday from four until five-thirty in the Jefferson Hall gymnasium. Every one who is interested is requested to join the class as early as possible.

Art Club Planning An Elaborate Tea

The most elaborate Art Club tea of the year is being planned by the entertainment committee to be held in the Jefferson Hall gymnasium on Saturday, March 28. The program will be representative of the best talent of the campus, and will consist of singing, dancing and readings. The guests of the committee will be the members of the Art Club and the members of the faculty.

All those who wish to watch the program from the balcony may do so for a nominal admission fee.

Home Economics Exhibit Is Given In Jefferson Hall

The Home Economics department gave an exhibition of all sewing done by its members during this year on last Saturday afternoon in Jefferson Hall living room. The simplest problems as well as those of intricate design were on display. Especially interesting were the made-over dresses which demonstrated the usefulness of home economics to all girls. Around the wall were posters showing correct and incorrect styles, as well as instructions in the wearing of bobbed hair.

Refreshments were served during the afternoon by members of the cooking classes, which added the final convincing argument for the home economics work.
