

May Re-Establish Student Government Here

MEN START MOVEMENT AT MEETING

Committee is Appointed To Consider Plans For Proposition

A movement for the re-establishment of student government for men, at William and Mary, was begun Tuesday at a special meeting of men in Phi Beta Kappa hall. With little opposition, a motion calling for the appointment of a committee by James I. Robertson, president of the Men's Student Body, to confer with Dr. W. C. Hodges, Dean of Men, was carried. This committee will study the feasibility of the student government plan and will probably present a working model in time for the inauguration of student government at the beginning of the next semester, if the plan meets with the approval of the student body.

The decision to consider student government came following an address by Dr. Hodges in which he stated that since the abolishment of student government in 1924, he has felt the need here for such a plan, on a workable basis. He assured the students that they would receive the fullest co-operation of the college administration in their efforts.

"I feel sure that the establishment of student government here would instill a more corporate spirit between the students and the administration and develop a sense of individual responsibility of each student for other students and for the college," Dr. Hodges said. "I can foresee that a working student government would help in improving life at the college and would give more responsibility to the students in the conduct of affairs here," the Dean declared.

Y. O. Kent, brought up the question of the reasons why the student government was abolished in 1924. Macon Sammons, who was present when the move was made at that time, stated that the system was abolished because of friction between the students and administration. Neither body at that time could agree upon certain measures, he said.

Mr. Robertson stated following the meeting that he will be in a position to announce the membership of his committee to investigate the student government project within the next week.

J. M. Hurt, president of the Honor Council, explained the system which is being used this year to protect merchants from the results of the issuance of worthless checks by students. He stated that all bad checks up to $25 passed by students are being made good by the college. The students who pass such checks are investigated by the council and unless they can furnish evidence of non-fraudulent intent, they will be immediately shipped from college.

William and Mary Grad Bridge Publicity Head

R. A. Angle, of the Class of '26, is now connected with the James River Bridge corporation as publicity director. This is one of the largest bridge construction companies in the south and has recently handled construction of the Nansemond River, Crittenden Creek, and James River-Newport News bridges, the last being the longest concrete highway bridge in the south.

DRAMATIC CLUB WANTS HEADING FOR PROGRAM

A contest for the best design suitable for the program heading "The Enemy," the three-act play by Channing Pollock, to be presented in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, Thursday evening, December 13, has been announced by the Dramatic Club, under whose auspices the production will be staged.

Two reserved seats for the performance will be presented to the student submitting the best design. Miss Althea Hunt, dramatic director and Miss Craighill of the Art department, will act as judges. The sponsors of the play are particularly desirous of receiving as many designs as possible within the next two weeks.

Students Aroused By More Burglaries

Men's Debating Fraternity and Women's Honorary Literary Society Elect Members

Two campus non-social fraternities, Theta chapter of Chi Delta Phi, national honorary women's literary society, and the local chapter of Phi Delta Gamma, national men's forensic fraternity, have announced new members for this year.

Members inducted into Chi Delta Phi are as follows:

Mildred Moore, of Atlantic City, N. J.; Beatrice Hood, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Louise Coyner, of Linwood, West Virginia; and Miss Althea Hunt, of Winsburg, Virginia, a member of the College faculty. The organization is said to be the only one of its kind in the United States and includes among its members Miss Edna Ferber and Miss Helen Keller.

Phi Delta Gamma elected the following men:

Garland Johnson, of Benson, West Virginia; C. A. Turner, of Winsburg; Paul Norton, of Boston, Pa.; William Rountree, of Portsmouth; Russell Collins, of Newport News; Arnold Motley, of Tappahannock; Joseph Hancock, of Newport News; Albert Cox, of Blackstone; Robert Moses, of South Boston; Melvin Fields, of Winsburg; Nyle M. Miller, of Anthony, Kansas; James Lucy, of Guinea, and Harry Johnson, of Windsor.

The William and Mary chapter of the order was founded in 1924. Randolph Vaiden, of Newport News, is president this year.

GUARDS PLANNED FOR EACH HALL

Thieves Enter Monroe and Old Dominion Dormitories During Saturday Night Dance

Aroused by the second raid by thieves within a month upon Monroe and Old Dominion dormitories, men students at a special meeting in Phi Beta Kappa hall Tuesday, approved an emergency measure offered by the administration for the protection of these buildings.

The plan, presented by Dr. W. T. Hodges, Dean of Men, calls for the placing of student watchmen in the lobbies of both dormitories between the hours of 6 P. M. and 1 A. M. All doors with the exception of main entrances to the lobbies, will remain locked during the hours when the student watchmen are on duty. Their desks will be placed in positions which afford them an unrestricted view of entrances and stairways and they will be instructed to learn the business of all individuals entering or leaving the buildings, with a view towards keeping a constant check upon the movements of all persons in the buildings.

Four suggestions for further minimizing danger of more robberies were made by Tom Varney, a member of the Honor Council. They were: "Keep your eyes open;" "Report suspicions;" "Report thefts as soon as discovered;" and "Keep all doors locked."

The second raid was discovered Saturday night while a majority of students were attending a dance in Blow gymnasium. A student discovered his room ransacked of clothing, jewelry and other valuables and sounded an alarm. Dr. Hodges, Herbert L. Bridges, the registrar, members of the Honor Council and one of the night watchmen, who when the robberies occurred was sleuthing at the dance, began an immediate investigation. Through their check-up, it was found that several rooms had been visited in both Monroe and Old Dominion, the articles stolen including suits of clothes, overcoats, jewelry, valuable heirlooms and money. It has been estimated that the first raid made early in the month under similar conditions, netted the thieves more than $1,000 worth of loot and it is believed that a final check-up on Saturday night's raid will reveal several hundred dollars loss.

The night watchman, whose efforts on the night of the raid were directed towards detective work at the dance, said that he believed that the robberies were "inside jobs" with help from outside sources.

CHRISTMAS DANCES DECEMBER 14 AND 15

JOE NESBITT TO PLAY FOR HOPS

Pennsylvania Orchestra, Well Known In Virginia Secured by Cotillion Club

Joe Nesbitt and His Pennsylvanians who have made a reputation for themselves in Virginia, and who recently completed a four months engagement at Virginia Beach, will play for the Christmas Dances at William and Mary, on Friday and Saturday, December 14 and 15, according to an announcement made by McLain T. O'Ferrall, president of the Cotillion Club.

Joe Nesbitt has proved himself to be very popular in the colleges of Virginia, having played seven times at V. P. I. in the last few years, and having been booked to play this year for the Thanksgiving Hops at V. M. I. The popularity that Nesbitt has received at V. P. I. has been returned to them by dedicating their feature piece to the Cotillion Club, namely, "Cotillion Girl of Mine," and will be played by the orchestra at the Christmas dances here.

The Blow Gymnasium will be attractively decorated in black and silver, and the windows will be decorated with cutouts with modernistic designs. This scheme of decorating has never been tried before at William and Mary, and according to the members of the club, they are looking forward for the most successful dance ever held at William and Mary.

With the popularity that Joe Nesbitt and His Pennsylvanians have received throughout the south, the college expects to have a large number of guests.

FLAT HAT OUT WEDNESDAY

The issue of The Flat Hat for next week will come out on Wednesday instead of Friday. This is being done because of the holiday Thursday, both at the college and at the printers. This will be for next week only, however, and after that the paper will appear on Friday as usual. It is the practice to put the Thanksgiving week issue out immediately before the Thanksgiving game.

COLLEGE ACTIVE IN RED CROSS

Will Co-operate In Annual Roll Call In 100 Per Cent Effort; All Students Canvassed

The American Red Cross has asked William and Mary to co-operate in its drive for new members from November 12 to 29. Efforts are being made to approach every student on the campus and an attempt is being made to enroll the College of William and Mary, 100 per cent for the Red Cross.

The Red Cross is a permanent organization chartered by Congress to carry out the objects of the International Treaty of Geneva and other humanitarian projects.

The Red Cross receives no financial support from the government. The scope and effectiveness of its service depend upon the measure of support given by the people through individual membership annually renewed.

WOMEN CHANGE RUSHING RULES

Preferential Bidding To Feature Rushing Seasons Hereafter

Preferential bidding, a new feature in women's fraternity rushing, will be added to next year's rushing program here. Near the end of the rushing season each new woman student will be given an opportunity by the Panhellenic Council to indicate the first two fraternities of her choice. If she does not receive a bid from either of these fraternities, she is on her honor not to accept a bid from any other fraternity for one year.

This method, which is used at Hollins College, and other colleges nearby, has now been adopted by National Panhellenic, and will go into effect next September.

Co-Ed Sticks Appear

Senior Women Make Appearance With New Insignia

Senior women have secured their swagger sticks and can now be distinguished from other upperclasswomen. They made their first appearance with the suort sticks at the William and Mary-Bridgewater football game last Saturday afternoon.

This is the first year in the history of the college that women of the Senior class have had a class insignia. For many years the senior men have followed the custom of carrying canes for distinction so it was thought only fitting that the women of the class have some mark of recognition on the campus. The sport stick will be carried only on Tuesdays and to all games at the college.

New Organization Coming Here Leading National College Women's Fraternity

FIRST CHAPTER IN VIRGINIA

William and Mary Will Be First College in Old Dominion to Get Society

The Alpha Club, the first co-ed society on the local campus, will be installed into the senior women's national honorary fraternity, Mortarboard, in the near future, according to a statement by Polly Hines, president of the club. She bases her statement on a letter from Mrs. Lillian Stupps, National Expansion Director, of Mortarboard.

The Alpha Club was established at William and Mary in November 1921, soon after the college became co-educational. Mortarboard has about 50 active chapters, and will establish its first chapter in Virginia, at William and Mary.

The Alpha Club elects its new members from the Junior Class every spring on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and personality. The present members are: Polly Hines, Phyllis Logan, Frances Lord, Laura Colvin, Elizabeth Sexton, and Virginia Smith. Phyllis Logan, and Frances Lord are both members of the Alpha chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

INSIDE DATES FROM NOW ON

Through a new ruling which went into effect last Sunday, no women students are privileged to entertain on the college campus or on the porches of sorority houses of dormitories.

The measure is said to have been adopted by a vote of the women students themselves and is believed to have been prompted by the approach of cold weather.

The unusual warmth Sunday caused some inconvenience in some of the sorority houses, especially in those whose members were entertaining at tea or at other special functions where the rule made it prohibitive to receive on front porches.

COED GLEE CLUB TO PRACTICE AT CHURCH

From now on, all Women's Glee Club practices will be held in the basement of the Williamsburg Methodist Church, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Kathleen Hipp, director of the Glee Clubs at the college. This arrangement has been made to avoid the confusion of meetings held in the Phi Beta Kappa Hall each night.

The Women's Special Glee Club will meet at its regular scheduled time on Thursday nights and the General Chorus will continue to meet on Friday afternoons.

NOTICE

Those who ordered class rings are hereby notified that shipment is scheduled for early part of next week. More orders were taken than was expected and we trust that you will appreciate the work entailed in filling these orders properly.

WILLIAM AND MARY DESIGNATED FOR SULLIVAN AWARD

Some Members of Class 1929 Will Receive Recognition By New York Southern Society at Commencement Exercises When Present Senior Class is Graduated

The New York Southern Society has designated the College of William and Mary as one of the fifteen institutions wherein the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award established in honor of the Society's first President, may be made. The award consists of a bronze plaque, a suitably engraved certificate, and a volume on the life of Mr. Sullivan. It may be bestowed annually upon one man

(and one woman) of the graduating class, and those who receive it shall have demonstrated their worthiness to typify that spirit of brotherly love which was the corner-stone of the life of Mr. Sullivan.

The object of the New York Southern Society in establishing this award is to perpetuate the influence of a life which exemplifies the highest type of manhood and to encourage in others the characteristics which made Algernon Sydney Sullivan beloved of all who knew him.

The award shall in no wise be based upon scholastic, athletic, or other collegiate attainments, but rather upon that quality, much broader in its scope, which is best described as a desire to be of service, to help fellow students in combating the problems of daily life.

The Award Bulletin will be found in the College Library and it is urgently suggested that students familiarize themselves with the requirements which will make them eligible for this recognition. The opportunity of aspiring to this honor is one that will be eagerly grasped by the student body it is felt.

The Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award will be made at Commencement by the Committee on Awards.

MCLEAN HEADS S. P. E. ALUMNI

Virginia Delta Chapter Celebrates Twenty-Fifth Year at William and Mary

Last week-end the Virginia Delta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon was host to its alumni here in the celebration of its twenty-fifth year on the local campus.

The purpose of this reunion was to organize a Virginia Delta Alumni Association. Dr. Frank E. McLean was elected president of the association. M. Weldon Thompson, '28, is vice-president; Nathan Caffee, also a graduate of last year, was elected secretary and Jimmy Doyle, of the class of '24 treasurer.

One of the features of the reunion, was the formal dance held at the Colonial Hotel on Friday night. The hall was attractively decorated in the fraternity colors, purple and red, with a big heart appearing at the front of the hall. J. Harold Lawrence and His Orchestra were in the heart's background and appearing through the colors of the fraternity.

Business sessions were held on Saturday morning at the fraternity home. The alumni were guests at the William and Mary-Bridgewater game on Saturday afternoon.

Saturday night all alumni were guests of the active chapter at a formal banquet at the Colonial Hotel. William L. Phillips, Grand Secretary of Sigma Phi Epsilon, was present along with other national officers. Dr. George D. Strayer, of the Columbia education faculty, and a member of the fraternity, was also present at the banquet. Another reunion of this nature will be held on November 16-17 of next year.

Fales, Jr., stage manager; Misses Ruth Davies and Marion Porter, costumes; Miss Dorothy Dow, properties; Edward Parker, Miss Carrie Sheren and Worth Bailey, settings and stage design and Harold Lewis, lighting.

Miss Logan, Joe Bennett, Miss Venable and Bowen are well known to audiences here. Nelson Case will be seen upon the stage here for the first time. He has had considerable experience in California.

"I'd rather have a Chesterfield!"

It is considered the height of bad form, they say, to carry your own sandwiches to a tea—or to pack your own blanket for the week-end—but luckily, no such outlandish conventions surround the smoking of your own cigarette.

"I'd rather have a Chesterfield," fortunately, is a phrase which not only remains "good cricket" in polite circles—but at the same time brands the smoker as a person of rare discernment and excellent discrimination.

And small wonder, considering all the remark implies. Good taste, top quality, the rare sparkle of tobacco goodness—all these combine to justify the choice of that man who thus shows his keen judgment.

"I'd rather have a Chesterfield"—a neat line, that—the mark of a real connoisseur and the password of six million smokers.

A CORRECTION

In the editorial column of the last edition of THE FLAT HAT, an error in fact was made. The line which read "The opening of the Newport News-James River Bridge from North Newport News to Eagle..."

To Newport News Tomorrow

A team that is losing consistently needs support from student body, while a team that has been playing the type of football that the 1928 Indians have for the past three weeks deserves it. The locals up to three weeks ago scored occasionally and had won a game the opening night, but in the last three games, they have scored 124 points to 6 for their opponents.

With a game tomorrow no further away than Newport News, and with a team that is going like the present one here, William and Mary should be represented in the seaside city by at least 1,000 of the student body. The men who wear the Green, Gold and Silver uniform have done their part to win support.

Dramatics Here

It is indeed pleasing to note the difference which has come over dramatics at the college during the past few months. Up to the time of the presentation of "Outward Bound" last spring, the plays presented here were usually trite comedies which amounted to little and required little ability to "put across." Since then, however, the policy has been different. Two of the three one-act plays offered earlier in the year were above the light class, and now comes announcement of "The Enemy" as the dramatic club's fall play.

Dramatics in a college are of value only when they stand for something worthwhile—something that can never be expressed in farce. It is doubtful if "The Carolina Playmakers" and the Yale Players under Baker would have made the reputations which they have if they had not aimed higher than slapstick.

Robberies Again

Reports from student body officials indicate that dormitories were visited again last Saturday night by thieves and several hundred dollars worth of clothing, money and jewelry taken. The first time that this occurred this semester The Flat Hat said considerable, but it is reserving comment on this occasion. If it keeps up, however, a robbery here will be like a dog biting a man—it will not be news.

Queer Records

As was to have been expected, with the craze for the new dance, the "Shag" sweeping the country, the usual number of endurance contests have sprung up in several cities and colleges.

The question of contests is one that puts the American public "on its ear" as soon as something new springs up. Newspaper accounts during the last several years have brought to light many types of contests for various "titles." We have had the dance Marathon in which several people danced over 100 hours at a stretch, the coffee drinking contest in which the winner finally swallowed 67 cups of the liquid, and other "long distance" title meets.

Just what has been accomplished after a person has won a shag contest is hard to say. Perhaps he or she gets the same satisfaction that the flag pole sitter does after a hard week's work.

Help Editor Pattie

A College Annual is a thankless job at best to get out, and unless the student body will cooperate with those in charge of it, it is a well nigh hopeless task to do properly.

With a student body scattered as at William and Mary, the business of gathering information is much more difficult than in institutions such as military schools where those enrolled live in a small space.

With this being the case here, The Flat Hat is appealing to the students to aid Editor Pattie of The Colonial Echo when he, or members of his staff, ask the cooperation of any particular group as a unit.

A NEW MEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT?

The decision of men students to investigate the possibilities in the adoption of a plan for self government is the most important step towards closer cooperation between students and administration at William and Mary this year and deserves thought and discussion.

Apparently it represents a desire on the part of the administration to foster closer contact with the students, since it was first suggested by the Dean of Men.

If this is the idea motivating the suggestion, then it is an admirable one and worthy of development.

However, no rash steps should be taken without giving the plan serious thought. Such a plan was in operation several years here until 1924, when it was abandoned because of friction between its workings and the administration. In attempting to pass certain measures, the students met with repeated opposition from the administration and decided that so long as the administration disregarded the constitutional powers of the student government, then the entire plan was not workable.

There are many arguments pro and con for student government but it is believed that if the administration intends to assume a "hands off" attitude, investing specific powers in the student government, then a new plan for William and Mary would be acceptable.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The Orange and Black of William and Mary was unable to stem the tide of Hampden-Sydney's advance in their second football championship bout of the Virginia conference. The weight and "class" of the Tiger eleven were too much for the Indians, and the Hampden-Sydney players emerged from the fray with 32 points chalked up to their credit. This was the first game of the season in which William and Mary failed to score, as Hampden-Sydney successfully blocked Bertschey's drop kicks.

Carl B. Bare, the student Y. M. C. A secretary of Virginia, spent several days on the campus recently, assisting with the Association's work. Eighty-five students were enrolled in the Bible study group which met weekly, under the supervision of the local secretary.

On Tuesday November 18, Dr. William S. Gordon, one of the leading physicians of the state, spoke to the men on "The Medical Profession as a Life's Work."

Professor Bird Baldwin and Henry Messner of Swathmore College visited William and Mary to get information on the College's honor system. They are preparing to publish a book on "Present Status of the Honor System in American Colleges and Universities."

FIVE YEARS AGO

A black face streamer "On to Richmond" adorned the front page of "The Flat Hat" five years ago. Everyone seemed to breath football in those never-to-be-forgotten days. At an athletic rally, the "Richmond Jinx" was burned and buried. The inscription on the casket read as follows: "In this casket remains all that is mortal of the 'Richmond Jinx' who departed this life after the rally on November 22, 1923, after a grand attack of 'Taskeritis' the ghost was given up. Pox Vobiscum. R. I. T. 'May there be no resurrection'."

The college colors were changed from Orange and Black to Green, Silver and Gold, in order to conform with the colors appearing in the coat-of-arms which the Royal College of Heralds issued to William and Mary, May 14, 1694. All College decorations underwent a similar change to make the College and its athletic colors identical.

THIS DEPARTMENT

We've been after those Special Investigators of ours for nearly a month now to give us some sort of Special Report on anything at all, and finally Jerry, who really is our best Investigator, has come through with a big idea. Jerry tramped into our private sanctum the other night, unbuckled his snow-shoes and flopped into the extra chair. He took off his green spectacles and began.

"Chief," he said, "We need a new system of dates to protect the younger generation. I've worked out a new plan to let the young gentlemen meet their young lady friends in a friendly, dignified way.

"We will build a new building and call it Date Hall. Down the middle will be two rows of chairs, ten feet apart, facing each other. One row will be for men students, and the opposite row will be for their 'dates'. A Social Chairman will sit on a platform with a book of parliamentary rules. If a fellow wants to say something to his girl he must first stand up and address the Chairman, upon which the Chairman will give him the floor unless somebody else already is talking. The girls can't do any talking at all, but must write their answers and submit them to the Social Chairman who will then stamp them O. K. and send them to the right man. In this way—"

We didn't let Jerry finish the remark. Pained and grieved, and with a troubled look in our eyes, we reproached him sharply.

"Altogether too careless a report," we told him. "You have made no provision for a stone wall between the rows to keep the dates from seeing one another. Why, they could even smile at each other or talk in deaf and dumb language. Therefore, Jerry—" and here we hesitated, for Jerry was really our star Investigator; "therefore, Jerry, you're— shipped."

We are all hot and angry at our printer because he chopped off the end of the column last week. Not only that, but we recall somehow that there was a capital idea in the paragraph that he threw away, and now though we have racked our editorial brain we can't remember at all what it was about. Our only solace is to hope our printer, being a kind and appreciative soul, is saving that last paragraph to show his great-grandchildren some day.

Well, how about that!

"LORD BOTETOURT SAYS"

By BILL

The new device down at the College Shop has threatened to put a quietus on night-football, according to dispatches received today from that quarter. The machine registers forward passes, penalties, substitutions, and time-outs, and it has even been reported the quarterbacks have been heard to call their signals. It is the most efficient thing made since the days of Frankenstein, but unlike that unfortunate person, its inventor will hardly be destroyed by his creation.

Again the deputation team from the Y. went forth to do some light broadcasting down in Norfolk. No casualties were reported, however, and the trip was very successful as far as the team was concerned. Some of the boys, it should be confessed, wanted to give a demonstration of a few card tricks for the benefit of their radio public, while one was somewhat disappointed when he was told they wouldn't be able to appreciate the shag. So you can see for yourselves everything worked out splendidly under the guidance of those two redoubtable champions of good, Gordon Campbell and Leroy Ober.

No, Florian, Monroe Hall is no finishing school for girls.

Some time ago an eminent sociologist said that men were becoming women and women were becoming men. We would just like to ask what are the people from Middlesex going to do?

"O Mother may I go out to gym?" "Yes, my darling daughter, But aren't you dressed too gay for him—in a way you hadn't oughter"

There is a merry trio of young men who perform their rites on the campus just a little before midnight. Perhaps you have heard them at their sport. If so do not be upset as they are merely three boys out for a good time at their own expense and we will vouch for their normalcy and say that they mean no harm by skipping up and down by the girls' dorms, singing their simple carols of peace and goodwill to every one—at least goodwill. Address any complaints to Dave Straughn, Inc.

Since Priscilla, whom we told you of some time ago, has departed on her way, our remorse evercomes us sometimes in the midst of our devotion for her rival to such an extent that we pause to wait for cold, mercenary realism to swing back with the pendulum of man's varying moods. After all, he is fickle and weeps over an old love but a short space for the sheer joy of being sad. Thank heaven he is fickle. (Priscilla was a good typewriter, though.)

Well, 'twas ever thus," and so we part as we must do and keep only the pleasant memories and burn the unpleasant ones. Yours in a nice way; L. B.

Writer Thinks Dormitory Search After Robbery Saturday a Foolish Project

Editor of The Flat Hat, Sir:

It is a common belief that there are two kinds of criticism, that which is constructive and that which is destructive. It was Roosevelt who first (Continued on page five) said that, "if you can't offer a good suggestion, don't attack any project or action." I try to adhere to such a remark.

THE OPEN FORUM

The world looks to this generation for its future leaders and clear, concise thinkers. The world cannot tolerate anymore stupidity as seems the cause of the Vestris disaster. Let this college turn out men the universe needs.

All this introduction leads up to the deplorable action taken by the student leaders after the unfortunate robbery of Old Dominion Hall. Instead of trying to get to the base of the incident, a few determined men at 2:15 A. M., long after everyone was sleeping, started to search every room in all dorms. Imagine the foolishness of this project. Naturally the only result was the awakening of every student by rude knocks, bangs on the doors and general disorder, a thorough search being impossible. The net gain of the investigators for which they may be termed, was the ill feeling of all concerned.

Let us have better watchmen, who if they patrolled the halls every half hour or so would do a great deal more work than snooping in the shadows of the few couples who enjoy an evening's company.

Sir, I appreciate your attention and remain at your service.

J. Charles Simon.

"Mac" Wants to Be Shown "Beautiful Belles of Virginia" of Which "Mrs. Hoyle" Made Mention

Editor of The Flat Hat,

Sir: There is one question I would have Mrs. Hoyle answer for me and that is—"Where are all of these beauties that she speaks of?" All of my life I have heard of the "beautiful belles of Virginia"—but in the two months and more that I have been at this institution of higher learning I have not seen one of them.

Perhaps if she is able to locate these beauties she may find the Virginia gallantry which is so lacking here at William and Mary according to her epistle in "Flat Hat" last week.

In regard to the tradition and romance that she speaks of, there is no denying that both of these elements so necessary to all mankind are in large quantities, in not only this state and on this campus, but in all states and on practically all college and university campus in the United States!

The trouble with the women is that they want the men to give until it hurts and in many cases breaks a man. But do the women in most cases give anything in return? THEY DO NOT!!!

When the women demand respect from the men, they will receive it BUT NOT BEFORE THEY DEMAND IT!!!

Do the women on this campus think that the men gather at the "judges' stands" to do nothing but pass judgment on all the "co-eds" that pass? If they are so conceited that then the men might think the same of the girls who "park" themselves in the windows of Tyler after dinner and supper.

I would like to know if the "The Three Co-eds" or "Mrs. Hoyle" ever thought of that side of the question? Possibly not as they were thinking so much of themselves and could or would look or think of only the one side.

The writer of the letter of last week accuses me of being one of four things and I now answer her on those.

I am not a past football hero.

In regard to the "Co-ed" dances, I can not say whether or not I am popular having been to one, as here I attended school before there were no women. And I never heard of such a dance until I arrived on this campus.

I have seen most of this country but have never been to the other side as I believe in "seeing America first."

And last of all and in a way most important, "Mrs. Hall" accuses me of being a "hardened cynic if past the age of 23." I am and glad of it and I must say that it is because of a woman!!!!

I would like to meet "Mrs. Hall—pardon me—Mrs. Hoyle" and tell her some other things and perhaps she will be able to point out some of her "beauties" to me. This meeting can be arranged thru the editor.

"Mac."

Flat Hat Hits Nail on Head Writer Claims After Reading "234 Out of 729" Editorial

OVERSET FROM LAST ISSUE OF HAT

Editor of The Flat Hat,

Sir:

For the purpose of emphasis, allow me to carry on the plea for justice that our editor offered in his columns recently.

It seems highly improbable that an institution like ours, that is decidedly on the upward climb and admittedly had the brightest year before it in all its two hundred and thirty-five years of functioning, should start off that year by doing the poorest scholastic work, probably in all its history. Yet, according to last month's grades, that must be the case. Therefore, we must deduce that these grades are not truly indicative of the work accomplished (or, as it would seem—not accomplished).

Not only is it by no means normal that approximately but one-third of the men's student body should pass all its work, but in such prosperous times as these the ratio should, indeed, be far better than usual.

If more students than ordinarily flunked one subject, it stands to reason that the number of those who flunked two, three, or four courses should proportionately increase. With these facts as a basis, if one will take some time to make some careful approximations, it must be concluded that a conservative estimate reveals as a fair average that more than twenty-five per cent of the students in every course in college failed last month. That does not speak highly of your teaching, professors!

And we are not an altogether unintelligent group; statistics will bear me out in that. Furthermore, when a group as large as this one of over seven hundred is gathered together in one pursuit, the standard system of grading (which is purely arbitrary, not only in itself but in its application) should be fixed approximately according to the mean work accomplished by that group. Criteria in all things human are not fixed at the idealistic, or at anything but what humanity has been able to make it. So let it be with us.

However, although I do not blame the students for the unusually poor record, neither am I wont to condemn the methods of teaching; rather do I think it the result of an inaccurate estimation of the students by the professors and on unreasonable standards on the part of some of them.

The professors do not hesitate to point out to us our mistakes. In the same kindly manner we wish to bring to their attention what we consider to be an unfortunate mistake. Professors, we do not hold you too strongly to account for human errancies (for I have heard tell that professors are human); but bear well in mind this adage: Blessed is he who can accept advice as freely as he gives it.

Student Opinion.

Dean Hoke Back From Educational Conferences

Dean K. J. Hoke has recently returned from a trip to Southside Virginia and North Carolina, where he was a guest of Farmville State Teachers College, Farmville, Va., and Womens' State Teachers College, Greensboro, N. C. The purpose of this visit was to inspect the Laboratory facilities of said colleges in view of the possible erection of a William and Mary Teachers Training Department.

Dr. Hoke said she was very favorably impressed with these departments, especially that of the North Carolina school which has just been completed at a cost of $350,000.

Dr. Hoke also attended conferences on higher and public education, held at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

BRIDGEWATER 0; WM. & MARY 68

Indians Have A Delightful Time On Cary Field With Eagles

Last Saturday afternoon the William and Mary Indians rode rough shod over the Bridgewater Eagles 68-0 and increased their streak of wins to three straight. The Redmen's second team played most of the game and at no time did the Bocockmen have all their regulars on the field. Indians played straight football most of the game and found no difficulty in smashing through the Eagle's line or skirting her ends.

Bauserman was the individual star for the William and Mary eleven, making four six pointers, two of which were intercepted passes. In addition to these markers he was outstanding on the defense as well as the offense. All the Indian ball toters came in for their share of glory, for nearly every one of them had one or more touchdowns to their credit.

The Eagles, although hopelessly beaten from the first minute of play, staged a good fight and kept it till the final whistle blew. Passes were their chief ground gainers.

During the course of the game William and Mary made fourteen first downs, Bridgewater made seven. The Indians completed six out of fourteen passes while the Eagles were successful in only eight out of twenty-four.

The two teams lined up as follows:

Bridgewater		W. & M.
Sandy	LE	Frizzell	RB
Showalter	LT	Varney	RF
Crouse	LG	Rodgers	LB
Pen (c)	C	Smith	QB
Ienberg	RG	Nofal	RB

Score by quarters: 0 0 0 0
W. and M. 12 13 13 30-68

Touchdowns: Bauserman 4, Rice 2, Ryan 2, Darden 2, Blossom 1.

Points after touchdown: Bauserman 1, Ryan 1.

Officials: Referee, Eppes, V. P. I.; Umpire, Billups, V. P. I.; Headlinesman, Hanes, Birmingham-Southern.

VALUABLE PICTURES PRESENTED LIBRARY BY EARLY ESTATE

A collection of pictures and fine etchings valued from $1,000 to $2,000 of old Rome and other European places of interest was presented the College Library recently.

The gift comes from the estate of Miss Ruth Early, lately deceased, and was presented by her niece in her memory. Miss Ruth Early and her father who was a prominent alumnus, have always manifested interest in William and Mary and this collection comprises their second contribution to the library.

Of the original line engravings, one of the city of Heidelberg, Germany, outlined by Gest V. C. Hober, is outstanding. The engraving is 5 ft. by 3 ft. and is finished in black and white. The largest and most interesting of them all, although a reproduction, is a very accurate line engraving of the famous Sistine Chapel in England. The picture, 6 ft. in length by 3 ft. 6 in. in width, reveals very distinctly one of the best pieces of marble decoration of the early Renaissance.

GREEN, GOLD AND SILVER TO FACE TOUGH PROBLEM

Bengals Have Won When They Should Have Lost, and Turned Trick Vice Versa

INDIAN STARS RECOVERING

Entire List of Injured May Be Back In Game With Exception Of Mozeleski

The Indians will have a hard problem to solve tomorrow afternoon when they face the tricky Hampden-Sydney Tigers on the Newport News High School Field. These Tigers are noted for standing up against some of the strongest teams of the east and to even beat some of them and then turn around and let some team that has been losing right along best them.

Early in the season the V. M. I. Cadet eleven eked a 14-7 victory over the Bengals. In this game the Tigers displayed a fine brand of football and head work. However the next week V. P. I. left them on the short end of a 32-7 score. Next these men from the Death Valley traveled to New York and it was all the Cornell eleven could do to draw a victory from these angry Tigers. Returning home Rutherford went down to defeat before the charging backs of Coach Bernier, 12-0. The Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets were their next victims. After this game the jinx appeared again and Roanoke and Lynchburg found no difficulty in drawing blood from them. Then the unexpected happened. The warriors from Death Valley brought death to the Richmond Spiders in a onesided contest at Richmond last Saturday. What will they do tomorrow?

The Bengals have been relying on Willis' plunging and Lawton's passing for most of their yardage this season. Also they have been outpunting their opponents in nearly every game this season. Captain Wordon has proved himself a stone wall against all comers and in last week's game he smeared several Spider plays before they got under way.

After their workout against the Bridgewater Eagles last Saturday, the Indians are in fine shape. There is no one seriously injured except Mozeleski. Scott will be seen in the line up again if Coach Bocock thinks that the Tigers will prove formidable. Taylor was back in his old position again last week and will probably start there again tomorrow. The line is in excellent shape and will remain much as it has in previous games.

Probable line-up:

W. and M.	Position	Hampden-Sydney
Willis or Frizzell	LE	Jones
Carmichael	LT	Wordon
Rogers or Nofal	LG	Carter
Fields	C	Hunt
Paxson	RG	Blanton
Murphy	RT	Beverly

Ryan	QB	Lawton
Darden, Baldacci,		Peach, Willis,
Scott, or Constantino	HB	or Reed
Taylor or Bauserman	FB	Montgomery

ESTHER FOLEY, HIGH DIVING CHAMPION IS VISITOR ON CAMPUS

Miss Foley is a graduate of New York University and was a member of the Purple hockey team two years ago. At present she is the swimming coach at that university.

WILL DISCUSS MANAGERSHIPS TUESDAY

PARTIAL DRAFT OF 1929 GRID CARD CHANGES LIKELY IN ELECTIONS

It is likely that next year the William and Mary football schedule will not begin until October 5. On this date the Indians will meet the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. The team will be away for the first three games. After playing the Midshipmen it will journey to Emory for a return game with Emory and Henry College. Then will come a game that will be of great interest to local sport followers, the Indians will meet V. P. I. in Richmond on October 19. Other games that will appear on the locals schedule will be Catholic University, Richmond and others. These games have not been definitely dated yet though it is certain that they will be played. The locals will close with Hampden-Sydney on December 7. Those games which are completely scheduled are:

Oct. 5. Naval Academy, there.
Oct. 12. Emory and Henry, there.
Oct. 19. V. P. I., Richmond
Nov. 28. Richmond, Richmond
Dec. 7. Hampden - Sydney, place undecided.

Athletic Council to Confer With Gooch, and Will Present Proposition to Men

A proposition for a change in the manner of student manager elections is scheduled to come before the men of the college Tuesday night at a called meeting in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, according to a statement by President of the Student Body, James M. Robertson.

Members of the Athletic Council are scheduled to have met with Billy Gooch, athletic manager to discuss managerial elections previous to the meeting Tuesday night, and to have devised a plan for presentation to the men for approval.

The manner of elections here, has been felt in several quarters for the last few years to be unwise. Managers are now elected by the student body as a whole.

INDIANETTES DEFEAT N. Y. U.

Local Hockey Team Takes Gothamites Into Camp by 4 to 1 Score

The Indianettes hung up a victory over New York University last Saturday by a score of 4-1.

There were several new faces on the team but they played like veterans. Nancy Burke who has been forced out of the line-up due to an injured knee was back and played an exceptionally good game. Two freshmen made their appearance for the first time, Young, who substituted for Burke in the second half and who made a very pretty goal for William and Mary, and Dreyer who played a good game at goal, saving many would-be goals. Blanche Wood Pierce held her own at right half.

The locals appeared better organized than they had in their previous games and were able to play more of an offensive game than defensive.

Line-up:

New York		W. & M.
Seyman	RW	Bishop
Merriman	RI	Burke
Wilkinson	CF	Moore
Ressler	L	Benedix
Gossett	LW	King
Thorpe	RH	Pierce
Flanagan	CH	Maffett
Immerman	LH	Johnston
Newman	RB	Osmond
Roth	LB	Miley
Litzky	Goal	Dreyer

Score: New York University: Gossett (1); William and Mary: Moore (3); Young (1).
Substitutes: William and Mary: Gary for King, Shackman for Osmond, Young for Burke, Troupe for Maffett.
Umpires: Margaret Goreth (Syracuse); Esther Foley (N. Y. U.).

W. V. BRADSHAW GETS WEEKLY SCORE AWARD

Herbert G. Stewart Runs a Close Second

ANOTHER LIST TODAY

Last week's football guessing contest was won by W. V. Bradshaw, who guessed eight out of the ten scores correctly. Herbert G. Stewart also guessed eight right but failed to get the total scores as correct as Bradshaw. Bradshaw only missed the outcome of the Princeton-Yale and the University of Richmond - Hampden-Sydney contests. Stewart failed to predict the Wisconsin-Iowa game and the Richmond - Hampden-Sydney upset. There were about ten that had high as seven right and about twenty-five predicted six out of the ten correctly.

The list last week presented many difficulties for the seventy-eight men and women who handed in the scores. Perhaps the biggest upset was Hampden-Sydney's victory over the University of Richmond. Y. C. Kent was the only entrant to predict the outcome of this game correctly. Also many stumbled on the Notre Dame-Arncliffe Tech battle. However the catchmen pulled a fast one and left the Fighting Irish on the short end of the score. Others found difficulty with the Princeton-Yale game.

This week's list will prove just as difficult and just as interesting for football fans as the previous ones. No one has turned in a list that has been entirely perfect yet, but it will be possible for someone to turn the trick this week. Put your guessing cap on, list the winning team on the right and add up the probable scores, seal in an envelope and address to B. D. Pattie, Sports Editor, Flat Hat. Place your list in the Flat Hat box in Brafferton before noon on Saturday.

Garner and Company, local men's clothing store, will reward the winner with a neck tie chosen from their stock.

This week's list is as follows:

- W. & M. vs. Hampden-Sydney.
- Arncliffe Tech vs. N. Y. U.
- Georgetown vs. Georgetown.
- Ballantyne vs. Bridgewater.
- Ohio vs. Ohio State.
- Princeton vs. Navy.
- Tennessee vs. Wilberforce.
- Trinity vs. Nebraska.
- Washington and Lee vs. Western Maryland.
- Yale vs. Harvard.

DUK RESERVES DEFEAT MAURY

Very Little Indians Add Another Loss to Norfolk High's Record

Maury High School Commodores had not won a game this season until they lined up against the William and Mary Freshmen Reserves last Friday at League Park. When the slaughter ended, Maury's record was still unblemished. The Little Indians walked away with the game 21-0.

In the first few minutes of play Evans, speedy Papoose back, recovered a Maury fumble and raced ninety-five yards for the yearlings first touchdown. This seemed to take the life out of the Commodores and from then on Cy. Young's reserves tore their opponents' line to pieces at will. Before the smoke cleared Young, the Indian back had raced over the goal line for two more six pointers. The Commodores put up a strong defense, but it was not strong enough to withstand the powerful charges of the Indians.

The lineup:

STATEMENT OF HONOR SYSTEM REPRINTED AT HURT'S REQUEST

The Honor System as it now exists at William and Mary is explained in the letter carried below, according to a statement made by J. M. Hurt, President of the Men's Honor Council here. The Honor System is not being "modified" in any way, says Mr. Hurt, as it is not in the power of either of the Honor Councils on the campus to do so.

The letter, reprinted at the request of Mr. Hurt, follows:

To students and Prospective Students of the College of William and Mary:

In order that you may have a thorough understanding of the Honor System as it is interpreted and applied in the College, we, the members of the Students' Honor Councils are sending you this letter.

In becoming a member of the College the student pledges himself to maintain the Honor System; and those who do not wish to uphold this Honor System must not matriculate.

William and Mary is justly proud of having originated the Honor System in American college life, and of the long continued existence of the system here since 1779. The system is the very foundation of our student life; and it is an indisputable expression of the spirit of William and Mary. It is by no means merely a name, nor a convenient means for escaping espionage by the Faculty. It is the working principle of our student life; and it simply requires that a student shall act honorably, no more, no less.

Stealing, cheating, the violation of a written pledge, and the failure or refusal to report such offenses are breaches of honor upon which a student may be placed on trial by his fellow students, to determine whether he is fit to continue a member of the College.

In its application to scholastic work the following interpretations of the Honor System are herewith submitted:

- I. All scholastic work, whether it be in the lecture room, the library, the students' room, or elsewhere, is under the Honor System. All cheating, whether in work pledged or unpledged, whether in tests, assignments, or examinations is a violation of the Honor System. Giving aid to any student or receiving aid from any student, without the consent of the professor, in tests, assignments, or examinations, is cheating.
- II. All written tests and examinations given in the classroom will require a formal pledge. The pledge is required not for the purpose of creating the obligation but to remind the student of the obligation already existing under the Honor System.
- III. For any forms of scholastic work other than written examinations and tests in which the professor desires the use of a pledge, the professor or instructor will prescribe the form of pledge to be used and will make clear the scope of the pledge and the responsibility of the individual under the pledge.

The student's "sense of honor" is not inherited; it is acquired. And it is acquired in some specific environment. It is therefore relative to that environment. In the College of William and Mary the older students furnish the environment; and unless the older students jealously guard the Honor System by reporting dishonor and ostracizing the dishonest, the new students will not acquire that "sense of honor" necessary for an efficient Honor System.

The Honor System is supported and administered by the students themselves and they are wholly responsible for it. Violations of the Honor Code are not reported to the Faculty, but to the Student Honor Councils; and it is the duty of every student to report another student seen in a dishonorable act. Loyalty to the student body and to the Honor System demands this. Reporting cases is not spying or tale-bearing, for the Honor Councils are the representatives of the students themselves. A student accused of dishonesty is not necessarily separated from College. Upon report being made to the Honor Council a thorough investigation is made.

If after hearing the explanation of the student accused, or after he has refused to make explanation, the Honor Council is convinced of his guilt, the Honor Council of the student body shall thereupon demand that he leave College at once.

Reread this letter carefully and keep it for reference. The System will be explained by the representative of the Honor Councils at the beginning of the session. We ask you to help make it perfectly clear that in the College of William and Mary in Virginia, there is no place for the liar, the thief or the cheat.

Faithfully yours,
THE STUDENTS' HONOR COUNCIL OF 1928-29.

TRAFFIC BRIDGE ACROSS JAMES IS NOW OPEN

High Officials Attend Celebration At Newport News on Saturday

CROWDS THROG PENINSULA

The dedication last Saturday of the massive Newport News-James River bridge closed the last principal gap in the Atlantic Coastal Highway System and provided the first physical connection to be effected between the scattered communities of the Hampton Roads area. The pomp of the past, the progressiveness of the present and the anticipation of the future were all represented in the great moving pageant which wound its way through the streets of Newport News toward the new structure.

After Miss Martha Woodroof Hiden, as "Miss Virginia," closed the golden shears and clipped the ribbons at the Newport News public, President Charles C. Williams, at his office in Washington gave the signal that lowered the bridge lift span and formally opened the bridge to traffic. Prominent in the celebration besides the president were Governor Byrd, President Little, William A Paine of Boston, senior member of the Paine, Webber Company, Massachusetts bankers, Mayor Thomas B. Jones of the city of Newport News, and L. E. Pugh, chairman of the bridge opening celebration.

"We must unite," says Governor Byrd, "for the good of Virginia; there is no need to abandon principles in our efforts to place Virginia in her rightful place among the leading states of the nation. I consider this one of the greatest steps in the progress of the Commonwealth."

Manufacturer's National Association House Organ Recognizes Taylor's Book

"Open Shop Bulletin No. 23" of the National Association of Manufacturers of the United States of America features a short review of Dr. A. G. Taylor's recently published book, on its front page. Quoting verbatim:

"We direct attention to 'Labor Policies of the National Association' by Dr. A. G. Taylor, published as one of the 'University of Illinois Studies in the Social Sciences.'

"Dr. Taylor in his preface states: 'The development and behavior of employers' associations' in the United States is a subject which has received relatively little attention as compared with that accorded labor organizations. The National Association of Manufacturers, the largest non-trade employers' association in the country, has received no adequate notice. Its vigorous activities in opposition to the practices of trade unionism are of sufficient importance to justify this research.'

"In his conclusion, Dr. Taylor, now professor of economics at William and Mary College, declares (pp. 160,161):

"The doctrines and policies of the National Association of Manufacturers have a philosophical basis similar to that underlying the restraints laid by the Constitution upon the law-making powers of Congress and of the state legislatures The doctrine of individualism, of the natural rights and freedom of man, as embodied in our Declaration of Independence and Constitution, is the doctrine of the Association'."

"LIT" MAGAZINE SHOWS GROWTH

Staff Enlarges Scope and Improve Quality of Year's First Issue

By Edward D. Fales, Jr.
OVERSET FROM LAST ISSUE OF HAT
It is a new and flourishing Literary Magazine that Editor Barrett and his staff offer William and Mary this month. Although slightly delayed in publication, the first fall number which is off the press this week, represents such an advance that one overlooks the delay and inwardly congratulates the new editor and his associates on their work.

While the editors undoubtedly deserve full measure of praise, one cannot but believe that the literary talent in Williamsburg is blossoming for the first time in anything like its full bloom. On this account credit must be given the student body itself for the number of contributors and the quality of contributions which have made possible a magazine with twice the amount of good reading material that has been available to previous editors. And undoubtedly the quality has improved. The reader who picks up this issue can be certain of finding really excellent material. Particular attention ought to be called to a new feature, the frontispiece, which in this issue is a drawing by Carie Sheren representing a scene in the first story.

Space does not permit a more lengthy comment on the contents, although the contributions are without exception of such quality that each

VESPER PRAYERS AT M. E. CHURCH

Two Services Planned Thanksgiving Day in Both Morning and Afternoon

Thanksgiving Vesper Services will be conducted in the main auditorium of the Williamsburg Methodist Church Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons from 5:45 to 6:15 o'clock. These services are planned for any who will use this half-hour for quiet meditation and prayer in preparation for the national Day of Thanks, it is announced.

On Thanksgiving Day, at 8:30 a. m., a service will be conducted in the same auditorium. The service is particularly arranged not to interfere with the plans of any students who may leave for Richmond or home Thursday morning.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, a service of Thanksgiving is planned for students who remain on the Campus for the day. All are invited to participate in this service especially, according to the announcement.

deserves mention. Editor Barrett evidently has conceived of the full possibilities of the Literary Magazine and is just beginning. This reviewer hopes, however, that in so doing he will maintain the unquestioned quality of the material presented and will adhere to the policy of strict conventionality in all things truly literary. Meanwhile we shall await anxiously the December issue.

Advance reports on the lecture indicate a "graphic word-painting" on history, description, pathos, and humor. He will speak on "The Passion Play at Oberammergau," and will also give travel incidents and readings.

Dr. Hoenshel is author of "Tenting With Abraham" and numerous other well-known works of that type.

German Club Opening Dance Scheduled For Friday Night

CO-ED "HOP" TO BE MOVED OVER TO BLOW 'GYM'

Carolina Buccaneers of Chapel Hill North Carolina Will Play for Dance

TO START AT 8:30 O'CLOCK

Officers of German Club Making Plans For Most Successful Formal Here They Say

Blow Gymnasium will be the scene of the opening co-ed dances Friday night. This dance is sponsored by the German Club, and will get underway at 8:30 o'clock promptly, it is said. "The Carolina Buccaneers" of Chapel Hill, N. C., will furnish the music for the dance.

Officers of the German Club indicate that this will be the best co-ed dance ever held on the campus. The decorating, in charge of Elizabeth Sexton will be unique. The scheme is not being made public, but the committee has announced that it will not follow the old schemes of decorating, but will be original in every way.

K. O. B. and G. G. G. Ribbon Societies will again vie to furnish the most attractive "cozy corner." It is expected that each dance club will form a figure during the evening, as has been the custom at all German Club dances.

"The Carolina Buccaneers" hail from the University of North Carolina, in Chapel Hill, and is considered one of the best college orchestras in the South. The Buccaneers have played at several colleges in Virginia and North Carolina and have appeared in several cities of this vicinity. The orchestra has also broadcasted several times over WPTF, in Raleigh, N. C. During the summer the men travel on vaudeville circuits, and have been abroad several times. This orchestra has the latest in jazz, combined with a number of tricks and surprises for the men and women that have never been "pulled-off" at this school before.

This is the first appearance of this orchestra on the local campus.

The German Club will feature eight dances, with breaks during encores. The officers of the club have been planning on this dance since the last of the 1927-28 school term, and are trying to make this the most successful formal affair ever held on the campus.

An echo that circles the globe

Sightseers returning from the Alps never fail to babble of the marvelous echoes that reverberate so obligingly from peak to peak.

But no such phenomenon matches a certain echo that keeps circling this whole mundane sphere. It is the best-known cigarette slogan ever coined—the Chesterfield phrase "They Satisfy."

Originated to describe a unique coupling of qualities seemingly opposed—"they're mild, and yet they satisfy"—its descriptive accuracy was instantly perceived. Today it echoes and re-echoes wherever cigarettes are smoked:

"Satisfacen... ils satisfont... THEY SATISFY!"

And rightly enough, for Chesterfields are mild—and they DO satisfy... and what more can any cigarette offer?
