GLIDER CLUB FORMS HONOR ROLL LIST

Those Who Contribute to Aid the Club Will Be Named on the Honor List

The Glider Club announces the formation of a Glider Club Honor Roll, consisting of people who contribute one dollar or more to help the society.
So far the club's activities have been limited because of insufficient capital.
There are many people in town and on the campus who do not have the time to warrant the purchase of a membership, yet who are interested in the development of the sport here.
This honor roll is to give them an opportunity to aid at the time when it is most needed.

The following letter and a substantial check was received today by Mr.
Bailey from a member of the Faculty:
"Please turn over the enclosed check to the treasurer of the Glider Club as a donation, and put me down as a contributing member at one dollar per month.

"All agree that the energy and exuberance of youth should be put to constructive purposes. The question has always been how to do this—and I think you have found a splendid solution."

The Glider Club finds this very encouraging and hopes that more of the faculty and townspeople will follow this example. Those interested in such contributions should make them at once, because the society needs the support now.

Dean Landrum Writes Foreword to Campus Anthology Which Will Appear May 1

The editors of Script, which is the first anthology of students literature to be published on the campus of the College of William and Mary, have completed the proof-reading of the book and have returned the manuscript to the publishers. It is quite certain now that the publication will be out by May 1st.

The editors are very fortunate to have as the writer of the foreword Dr. Grace Warren Landrum who has written forewords for several prominent books. She has taken for her subject "A Plea For Articulation." Dr. Landrum is very well known all over this country for her research work and particularly well known in Virginia.

The editors have written the preface but have laid no claim to genius in so doing. The grade of literary work which certain of the students have done in the past two years has made possible this undertaking of compiling an anthology.

Without a doubt the twenty contributors are people of utmost ability in the field of writing. The list of writers are as follows: Editor Fay LeCompte, Editor Lewis F. Brown,
Elliott D. Healy, Patruchia Clarke,
Thomas McCaskey, Hannah Margolis, Clark Samuel Staples, Romaine Safford, Willoughby Patton, Elizabeth

CARDS TO BE ISSUED

Decorations to Be Very Unusual on Account of Extreme Simplicity;
German Club to Have Figure

A tea dance tomorrow afternoon marks the opening of the first dances of the year to be sponsored by the German Club, the women's dance organization on the campus. The dances will take place in Blow Gymnasium with "Al Katz and his Kittens" furnishing the music. These famous music-makers have been brought from Cleveland, Ohio, by the dance sponsors in order to make the affairs the best possible.

According to Clare Hargrove, the members of the club have decided that they will not totally abandon card dances and thus the first eight numbers of the evening formals will be covered by program. After these, however, breaking will be permitted.
During the entire tea dance also the latter system will be followed. Perhaps the German Club has found here the solution to the controversy on card dances.

(Continued from Page One) biological survey of Long Island Sound, and later, a biological study of the upper Mississippi River. Since 1921 he has been in charge of all oyster investigations of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

Dr. Galtsoff and his associates have made fundamental studies on the feeding, reproduction, diseases and pests of the oyster and have devised effective means for increasing the production of seed oysters. By reason of these studies, Dr. Galtsoff is undoubtedly, of all persons, best qualified to recommend measures calculated to diagnose and to meet effectively the tremendous difficulties that have greatly reduced the prosperity of the oyster industry.

In view of the educational responsibility of the College for spreading knowledge of interest and value to inhabitants of the State, and especially on matters of such vital concern to those in its immediate vicinity, the College considers it a privilege to present this lecture by a man so eminently qualified to give sound information and advice.

When is a style authentic?

When Rodgers say that a style is authentic, they mean that it has been accepted by America's best dressed men.

It has been worn at Palm Beach, on Wall Street, at the great universities, or at some other places where well dressed men form the majority.

Of course, it would be impossible for Rodgers to have representatives at all of these places to check the styles worn, but men like Captain Murdoch, Mr. John Starbuck, and other members of the fashion staff of MEN'S WEAR and MAN and his CLOTHES, keep us accurately posted through the pages of these magazines as to what is being worn in the style centers of the world.

We are always glad to show these carefully selected styles. Drop in and see them.

FUND IS STARTED TO PURCHASE BUST OF PATRICK HENRY

Only One of Eight Famous Virginians Whose Bust Is Not In Hall of Fame

WILL COST $3,000

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler has recently received a letter from Mr. R. U. Underwood, Director of the Hall of Fame of New York University, asking for contributions to aid the university in purchasing a bust of Patrick Henry for the Hall of Fame. Patrick Henry is the only one of eight Virginians in the Hall of Fame whose bust has not been provided to go above his tablet in the Colonnade at University Heights.

A committee consisting of professors R. L. Norton, T. J. Stubbs, J. T. Ecker and B. J. Flickinger has been appointed to receive the contributions. A subscription form will be found on page nine which the contributor should fill in and send to one of the committee. Mr. Johnson's letter reads as follows:

March 27, 1930

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va. Dear Sir:

Patrick Henry is the only one of eight Virginians in the Hall of Fame whose bust has not been provided to go above his tablet in the Colonnade at University Heights. The others are Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Marshall, Poe, Robert E. Lee and John Paul Jones.

The Sons of the Revolution have pledged $1,100 towards getting the bust for unveiling May 8. I am inviting persons in New York and Virginia to make up the balance, $1,900.

Could you arrange to have a dollar subscription started promptly in the College so that anyone who was willing might contribute to this worthy cause? Virginia patriotism and pride may well be appealed to see that Henry is no longer neglected.

Kindly acknowledge receipt of this note and inform me of the result.

The check for the aggregate should be made to the bursar of New York University and sent to me.

Sincerely yours, R. N. Johnson.

Jenkins was toastmaster and introduced the following speakers. H. E. Spense and Miss Catherine Dennis of Greensboro; R. H. Ruffner, H. Page Williams and Miss Jones of Raleigh; F. M. Parrish and R. H. Boyer, of Winston-Salem, and Ross Ashby of Greensboro. Mr. Jenkins called the attention of the alumni to the fine athletic record of the college and especially to the Harvard-William and Mary game which resulted in a victory for William and Mary.

The alumni of South Carolina will be invited to join forces with those of North Carolina in forming a strong Carolinas Club. The Carolinas will be well represented at the Commencement exercises in June and especially Alumni Day. President Jenkins and Secretary Ross Ashby feel that they want to poll the full Carolina strength at the meeting.

USE OF NEGRO IN LITERATURE SUBJECT OF CLUB DISCUSSION

The Dramatic Club held its regular meeting on April 10th at the Pi Beta Phi House. The feature of the evening was a talk by G. Glenwood Clarke on "The Negro in American Literature." After tracing the development of American Literature in so far as the negro is concerned, Mr. Clarke prophesied that in the future the importance of the negro will not lie in creative work but in imitative work such as portrayals of characters upon the stage.

This talk led to the discussion of books and plays that dealt with the negro. Perhaps one of the most interesting of the books mentioned was "Old Man Adam and His Children."

The New Motions

Apparently the students were caught napping at the meeting of the student body last Tuesday afternoon when they passed several motions that were a bit inconsistent with some of the motions made previously this year. A motion was passed to make an appropriation to the cheerleader of ten cents from each man student for the year in order for them to carry on their work of creating enthusiasm and pep. This does not seem to be consistent with the motion which the students defeated earlier in the year, when the question of paying the editors and business managers of publications was brought up. The appropriation given to the cheerleaders will amount to over one hundred dollars. The appropriation given to the cheerleaders will amount to over one hundred dollars. Under the present arrangement the editors and business managers are allowed a certain amount, and they have to account for every cent that is spent. They are not allowed to keep anything for their remuneration, whereas it will be possible for the cheerleaders to save something to pay them for their efforts, and yet one is just as much a student activity as another.

A motion was also passed stating that an Executive Committee be elected consisting of members from each student activity and that this committee should supervise the finances of each activity and that it should also elect the editors and business managers of the various publications. Is the business manager to run to the Executive Committee and get its consent every time he wants to buy a couple of pencils or some stamps? Is this body more capable of electing the editors and business managers of the publications than the members of the staff who have been working with them all the year? These points were not included in the motion, and it seems to give the committee a great deal of power. Instead of alleviating, it seems to make them more complicated.

The proponent of the motion stated that the purpose of it was to keep a better check on the student funds, to provide a method of electing editors and business managers and to avoid any possible fraud. But will such a committee accomplish these purposes? Can they keep a better check on the student funds than an auditing committee consisting of students and professors in the Business department, when probably not a member of the committee will be acquainted with business ethics? It is not likely that they will be better informed on the merits of the proposed editors and business managers than the members of the various staffs who have worked with them all the year. Then, too, there is just as much chance for politics and fraud under the proposed plan as there could be under any plan.

These motions have been passed, however, and we can only wait to see what the benefits will be.

An Easter Vacation

From recent reports we find that the college will not grant an Easter vacation to the students of William and Mary this year. There have been numerous opinions expressed by the students as regards to this action. But, is the criticism justified? Have we delved far enough into the possible reasons which the administration might have for not granting this leave of absence to form an unbiased opinion of its action? The answer is obviously, "No".

An extended leave was granted during the Christmas holidays. Two weeks of academic work was lost at this time. It is not reasonable to suppose that we must be deprived of some of our coming vaca-

Please, Mama, can't I get Religion, too?

"Christianity" is the favorite game at the house parties held at Norwich University. The young ladies play the "Christianity" on one side of the room and the cadets act the part of heathens on the other side. Someone shouts and the fellows become converted—they run over and embrace "Christianity."

Modern? It seems to me—

Last week we said that the rats of this part of the country had been revolting against the upper classes and it seems that this "modern" custom is spreading and we see that the University of Florida is having this trouble. We are unable, at the time of this writing (Wednesday afternoon) to say what the outcome will be, but we feel quite safe in predicting another victory for the older men.

And in order of importance?

Just a trend—

Furman University faculty, in connection with a group of students representing the various student organizations on the campus, have revised and put into effect the point system adopted several years ago for the government of the extra-curricula activities on Furman campus. This action came as a result of a strong agitation on the part of a number of students and faculty members to place some kind of limitation on the amount of outside work that a student might undertake during any one term. It is believed that the new system will do much toward the remedying of the somewhat disorganized condition of the various activities at Furman.

According to the new system, the various extra-curricula activities at Furman have been divided into three groups. The first group is composed of the editors of the publications and the managers of the intercollegiate athletic teams and of the glee club; the second is composed of the presidents of several of the large campus organizations and the assistants of the publication staffs; and the third is comprised of the presidents of the classes and cultural clubs and minor assistants on the publication staffs.

Positions in the first group count fifteen points; positions in the second group, ten points; and positions in the third group, five points. No student will be permitted to engage in activities the total value of which will be over thirty-five points, and no student will be allowed to have more than one position in group one.

The revised system will be put into effect immediately and will govern the coming student body elections.

"LORD BOTETOURT SAYS—"

By BILL'S LITTLE NEPHEW

Spring is here—tra—la—tra—la without a doubt. If you don't believe that, just take a look at the 19 1-2 pairs of linen knickers to be seen run around on our fair campus. From a gatherer of curious statistics, we that out of the 19 1-2 pairs, one of them was long enough—that is on individual had a 1930 edition. Nine of them had been carefully stored in bottom drawer since their return from the laundry last fall. The remaining ten had just been received from home by mail, and another group had only recently been returned from the laundry. The remaining ten belonged to the five foot four roommate of the six foot five wearer.

Julius Caesar or Will Rogers (I am not sure just which one of them said that what the world needed most was a good five-cent cigar. That however, before linen knickers were worn by the well dressed man in Williamsburg. What the world needs most is a laundry that can take a pair of knickers belonging to your sawed off roommate and return them to you enough for yourself.

We have recently heard that plans are under way to tear down the Duke of Gloucester street again. That will at least prove so Taliferro. That seems to us a needless bit of expense. All in the world officials have to do is to let it stand for another year, and it will probably fall down. However, we might suggest that before anything more is wrecked around here that it might be well to put up the gates that George Washington started when he was a student. If the gates are never going to be finished then we hope that somebody will be kind enough to reconstruct the old wall that was formerly there. The seating situation has become desperate since its removal.

Well, it is almost time for the habitual Easter bunnies to be running and down the Duke of Gloucester street again. That will at least prove so what exciting, and break the uneventful calm in which Williamsburg rested for the last twenty years. What would we give to see just one little street car—The situation has become so serious that young men college are to be seen standing on the one and only business corner blowing up toy balloons. Ever since the Eskimo Pie Company started giving a balloon with each purchase of their product, Williamsburg is beginning to show some signs of life. It seems that the Yo-Yo has passed into a oblivion, and something had to take its place—consequently the rubber balloons.

All the papers have been full of stories concerning the outbreak at University of Virginia. It seems that the students became very much perturbed because of the fact that the theatre monopoly of Charlottesville demanded exorbitant prices for their entertainments. They have been damned because of the violent methods employed in bringing about a change. However, a few rotten eggs and a brick bat or two, we must admit, are of very much more effective than the pleading words of some dignified representative. In most college towns, the city and school officials realize that demonstrations are more or less the high spots in the life of a college student. For instance in one of the Mid-western University towns, the students have been known to derail the street cars and practically wreck the town after an important athletic event. Although we cannot uphold our Cavalier friends in their little revolution, we certainly envy them the spirit that is essential to such a demonstration. At any rate, we still can look forward to Freshman-Sophomore rush. Freshmen Beware!

I. Bid Desires Better Food After Banquets

Editor of The Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:

It has been continuously evidenced, with chagrin on the part of the students, that the food served in the dining hall is of decidedly inferior quality at any time banquets are served to visitors. The college must surely have an entertainment fund to provide for such purposes. Complaints in regard to the food served us regularly, have been published in previous issues of The Flat Hat. At banquet times, the food is hardly deserving of so mild a term. It is indisputable that the costs of such meals are not within the range of the amount allowed per person for daily food. If the cause lies in an inadequate allowance for entertainment of visitors, why not enlarge the fund instead of having the students suffer the difference?

Sincerely,
I. BID.

Another Plea for an Easter Holiday

Editor of The Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:

General disappointment and surprises were featured by all when the positive report became current that William and Mary students would not have an Easter holiday this year. The reason for this cessation was given that because so many students took advantage of the holiday last year by extending it several days; this spring it would have to be done away with entirely. This could certainly be rectified by charging a fine for each over, that a student was absent from classes. As it is now, any student may leave college provided he has permission from the Dean. However his absences from classes are not ways excused.

Professors are unable to leave college even for a week-end because they would, therefore, be unable to attend all of their classes. It seems that the condition could be bettered by allowing a two-day Easter holiday. When one feels that he is tied to a place and to get away he must break regulations and cut classes, it becomes some to stay there. If we were given a vacation, even a short one, both professors and students would come back to school with renewed vigor and interest in studies and campus activities.

"A Student" Offers A Plea for Co-operation

Editor of The Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:

Why do people always wait until after a motion has been carried to bring up criticism and discussion of it? We would have more satisfaction and less wrangling among the student body if the dissenters would only make their criticisms during the specified time set aside by the president for discussion of the motion. But this time there is usually profound silence and only the passing of the motion itself will unloose the tongues of the critical. Is it because the students need time to muster up

He asks ten people every week some question on college life. If you have any problems you would like to see discussed in this column, send them to "The Inquiring Reporter," care of The Flat Hat.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Do you think that the Board of Control will solve William and Mary's problem of the apportionment of activities fees?

Lib Lawder, '32: "I do not think that the Board of Visitors should have complete control in the appointment of fees, but instead a committee of representative students should be appointed for this purpose. I think that these students are better qualified to carry out the said work."

"Mit" White, '30: "I do not think that the Board of Visitors should have absolute control in regard to the appointment of activities fees, but should hear a report annually from a student committee consisting of representatives in the various major fields. If this delegated favor were made in person by the students more responsibility would be placed on the students' shoulders and a greater respect for the college would result."

Jean Upsall, '32: "Probable but not possible."

Mary Stearns, '31: "Yes."

Thomas McCaskey, '30: "No, it should be left to the students."

Elizabeth Vaiden, '30: "Yes, I think that the Board of Control could get together and consider the needs of each organization and apportion the fees accordingly."

Allan Charles, '32: "No, I think that the college will act more competently and more impartially in this matter than the Board of Control will."

Mitch Mozeleski, '31: "No, because the Board will probably be limited in its power to act."

Billy Parker, '31: "No, because each member of the Board will want more money for his organization."

Earl Swem, '31: "Yes, I think that the Board could do it better than the student body as a whole because it will know the needs of each organization."

TURNING the PAGES

Mystery Mile by Margery Allingham, New York. Doubleday, Doran for the Crime Club, 1930. 320 pages. ($2.00.)

Judge Lobbett was fleeing to England to escape from the vengeance of Simister's gang. His son and daughter were with him, and they had persuaded him to leave the United States after some time. He had wanted to stay and face the gang, but had finally given in to his children.

For many years the judge had fought this gang from the bench, and at last he had found a clue as to the identity of Simister. The name Simister had been known to the New York police for years, but they did not know if it were an alias or not. The clue that the judge had come upon was in a child's book, and was some what obscure, but he was almost certain that he knew who this gang leader was, and as subsequent events proved, the judge was right.

The detective who aids in the solving of the case appears at first to be a very stupid person, but of course he is not. He did save the judge from death while they were on ship board, and as a result of all that happens Albert Campion was ready and eager to take up the case.

All the events that happen in Mystery Mile are most improbable, but Miss Allingham has written her story so well that the improbabilities are soon overlooked. There are a couple of kidnappings to make the story more exciting, and while one will soon guess which of the characters is Simister, it is our belief that no one will ever guess the entire outcome until the final chapter.

The Avenging Parrot by Anne Austin, New York. Greenberg, 1930. 226 pages. ($2.00.)

This is the second novel by Miss Austin in which a bird is the means of solving a murder. Last year she wrote one called The Black Pigeon and now we have The Avenging Parrot.

An eccentric old woman who lives in a boarding house is, one night, murdered. All of the boarders, with one exception, are suspected of the crime, and most of them had good cause. This one boarder is a detective who had gone there at the request of the old woman.

She had written the police a letter requesting police protection but they had laughed at it, that is all but one. He took it seriously and decided to comply with the request of the woman.

The only witness to the murder was the parrot that the old woman owned, and it was through the words "Bad Penny" that this bird kept screaming gave the detective the first clue to the identity of the criminal.

The old woman had led rather a queer past, and it was one of the people connected with her former life that turned out to be the "Bad Penny". Again we believe that the reader will guess the murderer, but how his alibi is disproved is one of the most unique methods that it has ever been our privilege to find in such a story.

The Avenging Parrot is excellently written and will hold the reader's attention until the end.

The Door by Mary Roberts Rinehart, New York. Farrar and Rinehart, 1930. 314 pages. ($2.00.)

Mrs. Rinehart wrote The Door, so her publishers say, in response to requests from five thousand people. We are afraid that these fans, and all others are going to be disappointed.

There are four murders and the criminal commits suicide, so if one is looking for plenty of deaths in a story of this type, he will enjoy The Door. The solution of the mystery lies in the watching of a certain door, but

Advice to the Lovelorn, Woebegone, and Forlorn

Conducted Weekly by Lily White

To the Gentlemen

Ladies' Day is coming, and for the benefit of the young macaronis who wish to appear at Co-Eds without that stringy spaghetti look, the local haberdashers, through this column, are casting some broad hints.

In case you are going to the Inter-Fraternity Tiddledy Winks pre-T dance Tournament Braeburn suggests a charming outfit consisting of pink silk David Livingstone trousers, and a smoking jacket of orange beaver board which oxidizes at intervals of twenty minutes in case you run out of cigarettes. By the way, speaking of cigarettes, you had better take some Murads along as ammunition. If you begin to feel like a want ad light a Murad.

Then of course the fortunate ones who will be attending the Old Dominion hunt will want to have a stock of vacuum cleaners and magnifying glasses on hand so that the hunt will not be responsible for tardiness at the T dance.

For correct formal and informal wear we have the Evening Stick Gazette as our authority. The opera hat, by all means. This is rapidly supplementing the hip pocket as a place of storage. These come lined in various pastel shades of quilted satin, so that one may talk through his hat and still keep his head. Have you seen the new circular evening cape, made of soft undressed worsted, all skeleton lined (this is a bone), with velvet collar, and silver chain (for bachelors) and catch? This is what the British call jolly knobby and will be worn by all the ultra elite, especially diplomats. Watch for them on members of the Foreign Trade and Consular Service Class. The evening cape is a sure sign of a doormat. For those who do not approve of entangling foreign alliances the dinner jacket is still in vogue, gravy on the left sleeve, trademark. The Victor company is showing such nice looking black patent leather oxfords, which, though unaccustomed as they are to public squeaking, are guaranteed to play the Prelude in C Dull Minor at intermission and harmonize with milady's bacelets on the way home. These are made with special pontoon arrangements in case of rain.

For afternoon festivities the Homburg hats are all the outrage. These may be had with or without onions, and come with small vials of listerine in the lining. Oxford gray is the popular afternoon shade. If you are the kind of chap who isn't a go-gatter, and you have the misfortune to like the kind of a girl who is a hard boiled egg but knows her yokels, Kuppenheimer is offering the cast iron headed cane which ought to make you able.

We have here in the office on our filigreed rosewood desk a very interesting announcement from the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, Williamsburg branch, notifying us of a special week-end sale of vanilla, lemon and cinnamon extract, for flavoring mustaches. If you are interested go early and avoid the walrus.

One of our office boys has just brought in a telegram from De Pinna in New York, announcing recent clothing ads featuring powder blue. Quoting—"A newcomer among the Blues—powder blue—proclaimed by style authorities as the most favored of new shades—providing a fresh color for your spring ensemble." Brooks Brothers of Bond Street are headlining the Dusty Blues for the open road. Look for the Saint Louis blues on Saturday night.—Lily White.

DR. J. H. JACKSON'S TRANSLATION PROVES EVEN MORE POPULAR

Peter Egge Asks Professor of English Here to Translate His Book "Drmmen"

WORK PRAISED BY CRITICS

When Dr. J. Jackson's translation of Peter Egge's "Hansine Solstad" was first published, it was described as one of the most successful translations ever made. It has now proved so successful that Mr. Egge has asked Dr. Jackson to translate into English, for him, his book "Drmmen" (Norwegian for "The Dream").

Critics from coast to coast praise "Hansine Solstad" most highly, saying that Dr. Jackson has, unlike other translators, succeeded in carrying the true spirit of the original manuscript into the translation. It has already been recommended to a Book-of-a-Month Club, this by Miss Sigred Unsted, whose recognition of the volume has done much to increase its favor with the reading public. The New York Times described the work as representative of the excellent writing being done in foreign languages, the majority of which never reach the English speaking peoples. This book however has not only been translated to English but also to French, German, Italian, Swedish, and finally Dutch.

Henry Goddard Leach, editor-in-chief of the Forum magazine and president of the American Scandinavian Foundation, in writing the introduction for the book said that he thought that Dr. Jackson had been most amply prepared and trained for a task of the type before he had attempted it. He mentioned that Dr. Jackson had received his degree as Doctor of Philosophy at Harvard University and had served a fellowship in Norway for the American Scandinavian Foundation, had spent some time at the scene of writing, and had visited with the author of the book. Incidentally, in preparing his doctor's thesis, he wrote a good deal of it in old Norse. It was while at Harvard, never having seen Norway, that he became interested in the Norwegian language, and studied it from every angle.

Peter Egge is one of the most active of the Norwegian authors. He is president of the Norwegian Author's literature. He realized, long before, the importance of making his books available to the English speaking public and one of his greatest dreams was realized when, October first, Doubleday Doran and Company of New York City released Dr. Jackson's English translation of "Hansine Solstad."

It is a typical Egge novel portraying most effectively the life of the Tonjhen peasants among whom he has spent most of his life. The story is woven about a young Norwegian girl who, at the age of ten years, had been accused of petty theft and was condemned by the villagers. She spent the rest of her life in an attempt to live down the false accusation. It is here that Egge comes into his own, having lived amongst these people, he knew how they prejudiced and remembered, how they would make a decision which, once made, was never to be reversed—in Egge's own words: "She may put out the fire but the ground will still smoulder at her feet."

His perfect choice of words leaves us with an unmistakable picture of Norwegian peasant life, and those who have read both Norwegian and English publications declare that, except for the petty barnyard bantering which some of Egge's characters used, Dr. Jackson has an almost perfect translation.

Harvard Bows Out With Sweeping Victory Over Indians, 99-3

600 SPECTATORS SEE CRIMSON ACES TOP NINE BRAVE MARKS

W. & M. Carries Three Events With Smithers and Johnson in Record Runs

DASHES FURNISH THRILLS

Bettering nine William and Mary records, the Harvard track team sped to a victory over the Indian lightclads at Cary Field, Saturday afternoon, 93 to 33, while more than 600 persons witnessed the tourney which capped a week of practice for the Crimson on Cary Field cinders.

Although attaching but three first and three second places, while Harvard romped through with eleven wins including slams in both hurdle races, the Indians achieved even more places than previously doped.

With no wind, the weather warm and the sky cloudless, conditions were admirable for Harvard to throw its versatile powers into action for the first time outdoors this spring.

Plenty of thrills were furnished the stands in the 880, 220 and 100-yard dashes where competition was close. Smithers made himself outstanding in the dash events by sprinting a victory in the 220, defeating Hennessy of Harvard in a driving finish. The time was 22 seconds, which tied the 1929 record of Quesenberry. Again the century proved exciting with Smithers squeezed out of first by a hair after he had led Hennessy in the final stretch. The absence of Scott was obvious here, the time being :10.1, which he has beaten consistently. In the half-mile, Cobb of Harvard led the field to the tape after Johnson, Indian star, had set the pace until the backstretch. Johnson was kept out of first by a few yards, but his individual time of 1:56.9 lowered his own record. Cobb's time was 1:56.6.

William and Mary's strong suit proved to be in the javelin throw, where Swentzel and Syer tied for first and Balacci rated third. The best throw of the leaders was 179 feet 10 inches.

Probably the most spectacular time of the day was garnered by "Red" Record in the high hurdles when he raced across the high timbers in 14.9 seconds, within three-fifths of a second of the world record. Record also copped the low hurdles in :24.5, almost a full second better than the college record.

Although unable to match strides with the Crimson leaders, William and Mary proved to be in the running in most of the events, designating a team of a caliber which should accomplish much this season. An Indian trackster figured in every event but (Continued on Page Eight)

THREE SCORE ON SCOTT'S TRIPLE TO BEAT VALLEYMEN

Wallace Protects Early Lead From Mound by Scattering Opposing Team's Hits

SCORING PUNCH WEAK

With Sauerbrun and Engleburt on first and second, Bill Scott caught hold of Hunt's fast ball and drove it into deep left field to score both runners in the first inning, to beat Hampden-Sydney, 3-0 Saturday. Scott could easily have turned his drive into a home run, but tripped as he rounded second, fast fielding forcing him to pull up at third. He scored a minute later when Ryan grounded out to write "finis" on the run column.

After this inning, though, William and Mary found no trouble in getting on the bases, they lacked the punch to push over more runs. Presented with a three-run lead at the outset, Captain Jimmy Wallace experienced no trouble in keeping the home team away from the scoring station. Hampden-Sydney managed to get seven hits off Wallace, but at no time threatened to score.

The tricolors hopped on Hunt for three runs in the first inning, and though held runless for the remainder of the game, the defending champions won their first league game in easy style, 3 to 0. Besides keeping the league record intact, this victory marked the fifth straight win this season for Cy Young's minions.

Charley Scammon, Indian first baseman, led the locals at bat with two hits in three times at bat. Captain Jimmie Wallace and "Rosie" Ryan sparkled in the field. Willis and Crawley put up the best game for the Tigers.

FRIES, HARTMAN HEAD HIKERS

The close of the hiking season finds the number of participants in this sport noticeably decreased. From a group of approximately forty, only six persons covered enough mileage to be awarded points toward their monogram. Marie Fries and Ethel Hartman led the squad having hiked 276 miles during the six weeks allowed for this sport. For this they were awarded one hundred points. Ella Repass, Margaret Scott, Corinne Hancock, and Eleanor Fields, having hiked approximately 150 miles won fifty points.

FROSH TAKE FOURTH SCALP IN 6-0 WIN FRI. OVER IRISHMEN

The William and Mary Freshmen continued on the warpath, winning their fourth consecutive victory in baseball by shutting out McGuire's School of Richmond, 6 to 0 last Friday on Cary Field.

White proved quite effective on the mound, holding the visitors to two widely scattered hits, and was at no time in danger, being faultlessly backed up by an errorless defense. The yearlings hit the opposing pitcher quite freely to all corners of the lot, but only one hit was for extra bases, that being a stinging drive for three bases by Siemenski, Indian second baseman.

PAPOUSES DEFEAT VIRGINIA FRESHMEN

The Little Indians of William and Mary made it five straight last Monday at Charlottesville by taking the U. of Virginia frosh into camp by a score of 8-1. Despite the comfortable margin by which the Indians won, the Cavaliers presented the best ball club that the Papooses have met this year and were it not for some ragged fielding on the part of the home team, the outcome of the fray might have been considerable different.

Leading 3-1 in the sixth, the Ducs proceeded to sew up the game by shoving across five counters, the results of loose defensive work and several William and Mary hits.

Dizenzo, Indian hurler, came with in an ace of stepping into the hall of fame by holding the opposition hitless until the eighth, in which Virginia smashed out their two hits of the day.

YEARLINGS CLEAN UP 69 POINTS IN TRIANGULAR MEET

Aggregating 69 points to more than double the score of the nearest competitor, Maury High School, the William and Mary yearling cinder and sod-men won their second meet Friday on Cary field by leading Maury and Wilson High Schools of Norfolk in a triangular meet with eight first places.

The Maury crew amassed 34 points for runnerup while Wilson was a poor second with five.

Three records were tied and one was broken in the meet. Meade surpassed Berkwitz' record of 45 feet set last week, by throwing the 12-pound shot 45 feet 9 1-2 inches. The speedy McKeown broke the tape in the 220-yard dash in 22.8 seconds, which tied the record of Smithers hung up in 1929. Meanwhile Williams and Reed fought to a tie in the high jump and knotted the five feet nine-inch record of White gained in 1929. Webb again tied his pole vault record at 10 feet 6 inches, while Alexander moved up to share the honor, the two tying for first place.

McKeown led the point-getting with 13 units, while Little featured for Maury with firsts in the low hurdles and the broad jump. His time of 27.5 seconds surpassed the freshman record time by two-fifths of a second.

Edith Stevens heads the list of the winners in the first week of the Archery Tournament. She is followed by Lois Roberts, Marjorie Harper, and Virginia Haughwort. During the past week the participants shot three rounds of twenty arrows at a distance of thirty yards, each choosing the best round to count in the tournament. YOUNG GROOMS HIS BEST FOR BATTLE IN 4-GAME SERIES

Strong New Englanders and Delaware Follow Doubleheader With Princeton

OLD NASSAU LOOKS TOUGH

By Frank Mozeleski

Tomorrow afternoon the Princeton Tiger invades Cary Field to open a two-game series with the fast-talking Indian nine. William and Mary has had things pretty much its own way so far this year, but in meeting the Tiger nine they will buck up against one of the hardest hitting teams that has even worn the orange and black of old Nassau.

Princeton, after a weak start against Rutgers, has hit its stride and is more than anxious to keep up its winning streak at the locals' expense. Their overwhelming wins over Vermont and Williams during the past week bodes no good for the William and Mary hurlers.

Cy Young will start Bill Scott against the visitors tomorrow. Last year, Princeton hopped on Scott for seven runs in the first inning of that never-to-be-forgotten 13-inning game, but Scotty got sweet revenge in the last of the ninth when he crashed out a long home run with the bases loaded to tie the score. Then he proceeded to win the game in the thirteenth with a single to score Silverman and the winning run. Tomorrow afternoon Bill intends to gain some more revenge for that terrific bombardment that he had to face last year.

With Scott pitching, Captain Jimmy Wallace will be stationed in centerfield. Engleburt will take care of left field with Johnny Moore in right. William and Mary's crack infield of Scammon, Silverman, Ryan, and Sauerbrun will be found in their usual places when the first ball is pitched. Bill Ferrell will be stationed behind the plate to handle Scott's pitches.

Monday afternoon, Princeton and the Indians play the second game of the series. Coach Cy Young is expected to send in his ace, Captain Jimmy Wallace, against the invaders. Jimmy has been hurling wonderful ball this year and is out to take the measure of the hard-hitting Princeton nine. Wallace is credited with winning last year's encounter, as he relieved Scott with the score tied at eight all and that game plus his win over the Tigers in his freshman year gives Jimmy a perfect record in that direction. With Wallace pitching, Bill Scott will take care of centerfield (Continued on Page Eight)

Strong William And Mary Quartet Wins Four In Southern Trip

HAVERFORD DARK HORSE ON W. AND M. SCHEDULE SAT.

William and Mary's runners meet Haverford College of Pennsylvania on Cary Field tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the Indians' third dual meet of the season. The green, gold and silver trackmen have one victory and one defeat thus far while this is to be the Pennsylvanian's first meet.

Haverford is the dark horse on William and Mary's schedule this year. It is the only school that the Indians have not met in recent years, and therefore not much is known here of the strength of their team. They are rated as being well-balanced and especially strong in the field events.

William and Mary, as was indicated by its showing against Harvard last Saturday and its early victory over V. P. I., has one of the strongest teams it has had in years. The Indians will be on the warpath tomorrow seeking to assuage the Harvard defeat at the expense of their next northern opponents.

With its fleet dashmen, Smithers and Scott, in the century, and the former in the furlong; with Wink Johnson continuing his record-breaking tactics; with Captain Baggett fast getting into shape; and its galaxy of field men, Swentzel, Trowbridge, Baldacci, Syer, Levin, Mozeleski, Willis and Shipp; with Potterfield and Horton, hurdlers; and Trice, Clark and Zabel, in the middle distances, William and Mary presents a well-rounded squad of capable performers.

Haverford entries are as follows: 100-yard dash, Rice and Reisner; 220-yard dash, Gabriel, Lawrence, and Reisner; 440-yard dash, Gaskill and Gerenback; 880-yard run, Edgar, Tabakin, and Katzenback; mile run, G. Edgar, and Ferris; two-mile run, Shirk and Ayres; high hurdles, Richardson, Schirpp, and Jopsen; low hurdles, Masland, Richardson, and Jopsen; shot put, Captain Morris, Browne and Fields; discus throw, Morris and Fields; Javelin, Swan,

A review of last year's track events follows:

DEBATE WITH PITT CANCELLED

The University of Pittsburgh cancelled the debate scheduled for April 16, according to an announcement by the Debate Council. This was to have been the last debate of the season for the men's varsity team. In order to afford the students one more opportunity to hear both the men's and women's teams plans are under way for a debate between the two teams which represented this college during the last season. A definite announcement of date and question will be made later. The question will undoubtedly be one of wide interest on the campus and will close all debate activities for this semester.

WILLIAM AND MARY CAPTAINS 12

VIVIAN DREYER Captain of Track

With the beginning of the track season the squad chose as their leader Vivian Dreyer. Vivian entered the realm of athletics in the fall of 1929 along with a number of other Freshmen who also aspired toward making the hockey squad. She showed her prowess in playing goal-keeper and not only made the squad but was chosen to play on the team. When hockey season ended she turned to basketball and here was successful in making the squad, playing center.

Baseball next claimed the attention of athletes and Vivian was chosen to captain the Freshman team. On the track team she won first place in the basketball distance throw and placed third in the shot put, and one of the dashes.

Although only a freshman, she was chosen to become a member of the Monogram club with the honor of being the only member of her class chosen to this group.

The 1929 season found Miss Dreyer in her old position of goal-keeper on the hockey field where she played faithfully the whole season. When the time came to play basketball she again made the squad.

Dreyer numbers among her other honors treasurer of both the J. Leslie Hall Literary Society and of the Monogram club. Having been chosen best all around athlete and student of the senior class in high school at Port Jefferson, N. Y., it is not hard to predict that Vivian will be one of William and Mary's outstanding women athletes.

BATTERS HIT HARD TO BLANK JUNIATA ON CARY DIAMOND

With Scott and Rux holding Juniata College to three without a run, William and Mary hit hard and often to run up 166 runs for their fourth straight victory of the current season here Thursday.

The Indians had their hitting togs on collecting 14 hits off two visiting pitchers, Johnny Sauerbrun, diminutive third baseman, led the assault for the locals with three safe blows in four tries. Red Maxey, starting his first game, and Demarest, sub third baseman, each collected two hits in as many trips to the plate. The rest of the hits were well divided among the other players.

Bill Scott held the visitors to three hits in the seven innings that he worked and during that time he fanned nine opponents while issuing two walks. Peter Rux was sent in to relieve Scott in the eighth and held the Pennsylvanians hitless for the remainder of the game. He ended the game by fanning Gracey.

Score by innings:
Juniata 000 000 000—0
Wm. and Mary 110 340 70x—16

SCOTT IN TWO-WAY HIT LEAD

Bill Scott, who has been leading the state in batting for the past few weeks, is today forced to share the top with Burger, Randolph-Macon shortstop. Burger's field day against the Quantico Marines boosted his average to .500 which places him with Scott in first place. Scott has broken off seven safe blows in fourteen trips to the plate while his rival has eight in sixteen trips.

William and Mary and V. M. I. have seven players batting over .250. Washington and Lee places five men in this group.

Scott, with a mark of .500, leads the local Indian stickers. Johnny Sauerbrun and Bill Ferrell are next in line with marks of .333 which puts them in a tie for eleventh place in the state standing. Engleburt with .294, Ryan with .286, Wallace with .278, and Scammon with .250 comprise the William and Mary men in the select group.

NORTH CAROLINA ONLY SET-BACK ON 5-GAME CARD

Wiedenmeyer Hangs Up Best Record On Fairways With .800 Average

DUKE FALLS TWICE

After an initial set-back from the University of North Carolina in its six-day tour of North Carolina and Virginia, the William and Mary golf quartet swept through four consecutive victories, defeating Duke, N. C. State, Wake Forest, and finally winding up on the Yorktown course Tuesday with a second win over the Duke club-swingers.

With its creditable record in consecutive play as evidence, the Indian golf team labeled itself as having one of the strongest arrays of tee-artists in South Atlantic competition. All four of the Indian golfers turned in creditable cards, while Wiedenmeyer headed individual victories, taking four of five singles in which he completed both Wilcox, ranking No. 1, and Captain Graven garnered three low scores in five matches while Mullowney took two and lost three. Wilcox lost both times, 1-2, to Jennings of Duke. Wiedenmeyer's only rebuff was at the hands of Goode of N. C. U.

Probably the feature of the trip was the meeting of Duke at Durham, Friday, W. and M., nosing out in the lead 9 1-2 to 8 1-2, after losing the morning round of singles. In the fourball play in the afternoon the tricolors dropped only a half a point to win the fray. N. C. U. won Thursday by a score of 12-6. Saturday the Brave quartet bested N. C. State, 15 1-2—2 1-2 and followed up with Wake Forest, 18-0 Monday, for the two worst drubbings meted out.

Dr. Campbell Addresses Classes In Education

Dr. Harold G. Campbell, Associate Superintendent of High Schools in New York City, recently spoke to the members of Dr. Leonard's classes in Secondary Education of the problems confronting the New York City high schools and explained how they were representative of problems of high schools all over the United States.

Dr. Campbell holds degrees from both Yale and New York Universities. He was returning from an Educational conference in Charlottesville when he consented to stop by William and Mary and address the students. Dr. Campbell's daughter, Hazel Campbell, is a member of the Junior class.

By BUD TIME OUT and LEFTY

"Off to the races" is the expression which fits Cy Young's repertoire of base-gambolers. For three games the opposing clubs have no less than a nice round goose egg in the run column. Meanwhile the Indians have hooked an even score of circuits.

Look them over: Harvard, 1-0; Juniata, 16-0; Hampden-Sydney, 3-0.

In the first two games of the season it took 60 some chances at bat for Drexel and Virginia to squeeze out four runs, which comprises the scoring against the Young-men. Drexel took the count 10-1, and the Cavaliers were not far better off with a loss, 9-3.

The redoubtable hurler, Wallace, pitched his second no run game against Hampden-Sydney.

Only a week or so ago some of us, we do not remember who, were gathered talking track and track records. Some one mentioned that they had heard of men tying in almost every event but the longer throws such as the discus and javelin, and declared it almost inconceivable for two men to throw exactly the same distance.

Ripley may or may not see a "Believe It Or Not" in the fact that Swentzel and Syer, of the W. and M. tracksters, shared the winning of javelin throw in the dual meet with Harvard, Saturday. Each heaved the spear 179 feet 10 inches.

Incidentally this event was a slam for the Indians, Baldacci getting third.

The fastest time chalked up on Cary Field Saturday, when the Crimson took its outing, went to "Red" Record who clipped over the high timbers in 14.9 seconds. This brought him within five tenths of a second of the world's record which is :14.4.

A coincident of the two successive wins of the freshman track team was the fact that each time the Paposes attached 69 points.

In the first meet the Scrap-youngsters topped John Marshall of Richmond, 69-39, and in the next meet, a triangular affair, W. and M. had 69, Maury, 34, and Wilson, 5.

It looks as if "69" will be a lucky number for the frosh this season.

Marie Fries and Ethel Hartman, students here, have indulged in a considerable amount of hiking recently. They are accredited with having walked 276 miles each, during six weeks of hiking competition. Each were awarded 100 points toward a monogram.

If either of us could develop a hiking background of that sort while in college, we would walk home on a bet and, not only save, but earn money. Let's see Detroit or Boston—saving is a hard job, after all.

SENIOR-SOPHOMORES WIN IN CLASS GAME

The Senior-Sophomores were the victors over the Junior-Freshmen by a score of 16-11 in the second of the interclass baseball games which took place on the Women's Athletic Field Friday. The game was closely contested, neither team scoring during the first three innings.

At the conclusion of the fifth inning the score stood 9-9, but the excellent work of Dabney on the mound and Sollenberger at first put the upperclassmen in the lead.

The line-up was as follows:

Senior-Soph.	Junior-Fresh.
Sollenberger 1b	Harvey
Dabney p	Booth
King 2b	White
Moore 3b	Scott
Beckett ss	Repas
Irving ss	Cubberly
Field rf	Roberts
Baughman lf	Winn
Young c	Wilkerson

NETMEN FAIL TO REPELL INVASION IN FIRST TILTS

Unable to repel a formidable invasion of racketeers last week, the William and Mary netmen were forced to take the short end of the scores at the hands of Harvard, 9-0, on Wednesday, and University of Virginia, 8-1, Thursday.

Though failing to win a single match, the William and Mary players pushed the Crimson hard in several of the contests. Joslyn, playing second for the Indians succeeded in carrying his opponent to three sets and Le Bow, a freshman, playing his initial match for William and Mary, succumbed to Frame's steadiness after two long deuce sets. In the doubles Wiggins and Joslyn lost to Ward and Frame after taking the second set.

Wiggins of the Indians scored the only win for his team by defeating Johns, second ranking on the Virginia team in straight sets 6-2, 6-3, both of which were fast and well played. The experience of the veterans of the Virginia proved to be too much for the other William and Mary netmen, most of whom are serving their first year on the varsity.

YOUNG GROOMS HIS BEST FOR BATTLE IN 4-GAME SERIES

while the same lineup that played the first game takes the other positions.

After Princeton, Boston College will show its wares to the local fans. Hugh Duffy, former Boston Braves coach, always puts out a high caliber team and his year's nine is no exception. Last year, the New Englanders defeated the locals both on Cary Field and in Boston, but Wednesday Jimmy Wallace and his mates are out to stop their winning streak. Cy Young will send Bill Scott to the mound in an effort to stop the hard hitting Eagles. For the past several years Boston College has been battling with Holy Cross for the college championship of the country; this game will serve as a criterion for William and Mary, when compared with the leading nines of the country. The one-day lay-off that the Indians will have after the Princeton game will put them in fine shape for the Boston Eagles.

Thursday, Delaware University will play the local team on Cary Field. The boys from Newark have been having an in-and-out season. They play the Indians at an opportune time, for they catch the locals right after three hard games, and are ready to take advantage of any let down on William and Mary's part. Peter Rux will ascend the pitching knoll against the invaders with either Bill Ferrell or Mace Goldblatt behind the bat. Scammon, Silverman, Ryan, and Sauerbrun will be in their usual places with Englebert, Scott and Wallace in the outfield.

tions in order to make up this week. From a reliable source comes the thought that the head of this institution conducted an experiment the long winter holiday. Students heretofore have complained that time allotted them for the trips and from their homes has been insufficient. This year a longer period was given them for this express purpose. Even then some of the students were not satisfied. They related the leave given by the school and returned several days late.

It is partly because of these factors who were not willing to return at the specified time that the student body is being deprived of the Easter vacation.

"And why not, my gal?" demanded Wellington Threaves, thrusting his classic chin against her heaving bosom.

"Because," replied Winona, "you will not be annoyed at bridge by his huskiness any longer. He has promised that, if spared, he will change to OLD GOLDS, made from queen-leaf tobacco. Not a throat scratch in a trillion."

DRAMATICS

The judges for the Tidewater Dramatic Tournament to be held April 25 and 26 for secondary schools, will be Miss Susie Blair, director of dramatics at Hollins College, and Mr. Baker Wynne. The tournament is under the direction of Miss Althea Hunt, and the trophy plaques will be presented by the William and Mary players.

Plans for entertaining the visiting contestants have been made by Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, and by members of Theta Alpha Phi, Dramatic Club, and Department of Play Production. A dinner will be given Friday night in the main dining room for the visitors and for those interested in dramatics at William and Mary. Since this is the first event of its kind to be given in Virginia, the public is urged to attend and lend its support to this dramatic innovation, conceived and worked out by Miss Hunt.

Friday night, four county high schools will give the following program: Wakefield school, "Enter the Hero"; Gloucester school, "Grandma Pulls the Strings"; White Stone school, "The Wonder Hat"; and Norfolk school, "The Intruder".

The Saturday night program will include "Figureheads" given by John Marchall High School, Richmond; "The Valiant", given by Newport News High School; "Spreading the News" presented by Maury High School, Norfolk; and "The Twelve Pound Look" presented by Fredericksburg High School. A number of these plays are rather ambitious projects in staging and acting, and all of them are considered first class plays.

The cast of The Royal Family, annual Senior class play to be given May 14, has been definitely announced as follows:

Fanny Cavendish, Harriet Smith; Julie Cavendish, Virginia Turman; Kitty Dean, Mary Quick; Gwen Cavendish, Mary Stearns; Della, De Ette Jones; Miss Peake, Liz Vaiden; Antony Cavendish, Paul Ryan; Herbert Dean, Truman Welling; Gilbert Marshall, Floyd Bailey; Perry Stuart, Milton White; Oscar Wolfe, John Bauserman; Joe, Leon Lewis; Gunga, Frank Taylor; McDermott, John Sauerbrun; Chauffeur, Bob Moses; Hall Boys, William Savage and Wallace Hicks.

The play, written by John Kaufman and Edna Ferber, is a high comedy supposedly written about the Barrymore family. The direction of the play will be by Miss Hunt, assisted by Mary Parry.

Leading Architect Gives Two Histories to Library

During his recent visit to the College of William and Mary, Mr. Glenn Brown presented the library with two of his new books on the History of the U. S. Capitol Buildings. Mr. Brown is one of America's leading architects, and although eighty years of age is still very prominent in that field. His history begins with the early buildings in Philadelphia and leads up to the present day. All through the volumes there are numerous illustrations which bring to the reader the story of the development in a pictorial form. Mr. Brown has inscribed one of the books with the following words:

"Presented to the Library of William and Mary in memory of Captain Nicholas Martian, a landholder (1621) in Tidewater Virginia, who was an ancestor of Mrs. Brown and of my niece, Miss Eugene B. Walker."

The second volume bears the subsequent quotation:

"Presented to the Library of William and Mary in memory of my ancestor, Walter Lenox, who was a resident of Williamsburg before the Revolution."

every one is always watching the wrong door.

The story is told in first person and this detracts from this one especially. Some novels can be told in the first person and they are enjoyable, but it is our belief that had Mrs. Rinehart told her new novel in the third person, we would have liked it immensely.

The end comes as a distinct surprise, and the identity of the murderer is not disclosed until the narrator of the tale is informed that he has committed suicide.

Mrs. Rinehart has a passion it seems for nurses, and she brings one into the story for a short time only, but that particular character is there, as she is in all stories by this author.

We think that you might like this, but we wish that the author of The Door would write another The Man in Lower Ten or another The Circular Staircase.

So many unhappy things can happen to increase that old inferiority complex. Deans and Doctors, Mid-years and Finals, all dedicated to the cause of making life a burden. Coca-Cola was made for times like these. Here's a drink that will quickly invest you with some of its life and sparkle. Give you exceeding joy in its tingling, delicious taste. And leave you with that cool after-sense of refreshment in which a righteous megalomania may wax fat and prosper.

courage, or is it that they have to think before they leap? At any rate people should accept the motion after it has been carried. If they don't voice their opinions at the proper time they should not speak at all. This is one time when it is not better late than never.

Now that the Board of Control has definitely been voted upon, let's abide by the will of the majority and try to co-operate instead of tearing down after it is too late to make any effect. The Board seems to be one of the most constructive steps we have taken this year. It will bring the various campus organizations into closer understanding, and consequently will eliminate the constant strife which has existed here. After all, we are all part of the same body and in hurting one part of the body we eventually hurt ourselves and likewise in helping one part we are contributing to our own general welfare. We need a little more of the attitude: "Our school, may she always be right, but right or wrong, our school."

Miss Styron Presents Library with Pin Which Cannot Be Identified

DISTANT ANCESTOR LEAVES IT

A recent addition to the rapidly-growing collection of material with interesting and historical significance in the College Library is a pin, presumably of some forgotten fraternity, which has been donated by Miss Sade C. Styron, a pianist and organist of note, of Washington, D. C.

The form of the pin is that of a shield, bearing resemblance to the shield of the college formerly used. The background of black enamel is effectively set off by a gold band around the edge. There is a gold star under each of the points of the shield below and in the middle of which is a white enamel crescent surmounted by a gold semi-circle. Below the crescent is a fan of arrows with the letters E and A on either side. The back of the pin bears several Greek letters of unknown significance and the letters "L.C.Va.", whose connotation is also unknown.

The libraries of the University of Virginia and Emory and Henry college have been unable to identify either the pin or its owner from their records. It came into the possession of Miss Styron along with several other similar articles through a distant ancestor who was a student at William and Mary. Miss Styron would appreciate any information regarding the pin or its owner.

Warren will act as toastmaster, while Dr. Ortenburger will be the speaker.

At 8:30 o'clock, in Washington 100, the concluding installation ceremonies will take place. Of particular interest will be a popular scientific address by Dr. Ortenburger to which all members of the Clayton Grimes Club are invited. Dr. W. T. Hodges, representing the administration, Dr. W. G. Guy, the Chemistry Department, and Dr. R. C. Young, the Physics Department, will then extend a word of welcome to the members of the newly-established William and Mary chapter.

Bernice Briggs, '30, vice-president; Ann Messick, '30, secretary; and John Swanson, '30, treasurer.

Students, to be considered for membership in the society, must be of junior or senior standing and have grades of 85 or above in fifteen hours of biology.

The establishment of Phi Sigma on the campus will not remove the Clayton Grimes Biological Club, which will continue as a separate organization.

Y.; Ralph de Falco, New York City; Channing Glenn, Richmond; Virginia Hanna, Rochester, N. Y.; Pansy Hawley, Bluefield, W. Va.; Wallace Hicks, Hampton; Mary E. Johnston, Pulaski; C. P. has also developed courses in Mechanical Drawing, Descriptive Geometry and Surveying. In the summer of 1928 he attended Columbia University, where he took special courses in this field.

Mr. Bailey's engagement to Miss Mary Niningger was recently announced through the columns of the Flat Hat. Miss Niningger, known as "Peggy" on the campus, was also prominent in activities, a member of Chi Omega, social fraternity, and several honorary fraternities.

This couple will be married in June, and after the honeymoon, will journey to Akron, Ohio, where Mr. Bailey will enter the rearsch field for the Good-year-Zeppelin Company in that city. Mr. Bailey is accepting this position in view of making aeronautical engineering his life work.

Since coming to William and Mary, he has made many friends, and also become a member of Chi Beta Phi, scientific fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities fraternity, and Sigma Delta Psi, athletic fraternity. He was also President of the Williamsburg Little Theatre League in 1929-30, and organizer and technical advisor of the William and Mary Glider Club.

Mr. Bailey, upon commenting on his leaving Williamsburg, said: "I have been here for three years and regret very much that my new work will necessitate my leaving this campus."

TRADITION has it that ye shall know the fellowship of pipes with seasoned, masculine, mellow men of every age and degree.

Some try to join this brotherhood, yet fail, and are absolved as born to pipeless lives. But honest effort is required—each man's own test with good tobacco in a good pipe.

That is the formula. Both pipe and tobacco must be good. The pipe must be pure of bowl, and the tobacco must be—

Decorations for the affairs have been put in charge of Virginia Turman. Miss Turman and her committee have planned a scheme which is expected to be unusual due to its extreme simplicity. Smilax and other spring flowers will provide the seasonal effect. The K. O. B. and G. G. G. Clubs have arranged with the Decorating Committee to design and furnish their usual "cosy corners." An additional feature will be the presentation of a figure by the German Club members and their escorts which will probably be given at the evening formal.

Tickets for the dances may be secured at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

FOURTEEN ENROLL FOR STUDY TOUR THROUGH EUROPE

It is possible either to spend the two months in travel through various countries of Europe or to confine it to study in Paris. For those who wish to travel, trips are planned through England, a boat excursion up the Rhine through Germany, a visit to the Passion Play at Oberamgau, and a glimpse of Holland and Belgium. For those who desire to study and gain college credits, the opportunity is offered to attend the Sorbonne and other Parisian schools. One of the notable advantages of the tour will be the fact that the members will be constantly using the French language and will obtain a useful knowledge of Paris.
