

LITERARY MAGAZINE ANNOUNCES AWARDS FOR PRIZE WINNERS

Ladd, Nolan, Stinnett, McCaskey, Pyle, Hersberg, and Litwin are Winners of Awards for January and February.

EACH PRIZE FIVE DOLLARS

Ladd and Litwin Two New Contributors to Magazine; Author of Anonymous Poem Honored.

Prize winners among the writers whose work was published in the January and February issues of the William and Mary Literary Magazine have been announced by John Eversole, editor, following the consideration of the material by faculty members.

Seven Receive Awards

Those receiving the five dollar awards include: Ralph Ladd for his essay, "The Fine Art of Reading"; Stanley Sergei Nolan for his "Tale of India"; Harry Stinnett and Thomas McCaskey for their "Malay, A Travelogue"; the author of poem, "To One Fool from Another" published anonymously; Mary Thurman Pyle for her one act play "A Moment of Darkness"; Alice Herzberg for her poem "Sargon of Akkad"; and Lester Litwin for his "Christmas at Home."

Nolan's article had been adjudged by faculty members as one of the best pieces of writing to appear in the Literary Magazine. Mary Thurman Pyle's play was produced on the Phi Beta Kappa stage last spring under her own direction in the program of original one act plays. Lester Litwin, varsity basketball player, and Ralph Ladd, a freshman, had their first work published on the campus in these past two issues. All of the other writers are familiar figures to the readers of the publication.

According to the editors of the Magazine, the new system of prizes has served as an efficient stimulus to student contributors. Under the old system of lump prizes awarded at the end of each year, the new contributor had very little opportunity of having his work recognized. Consequently, the Magazine was composed of articles and stories written by a small group of faithful contributors. This year many new names have appeared in the list of contributors and prize winners.

MAY USE AIRPORT AS U.S.-EUROPE BASE

Captain Grant of British Admiralty Presents Vivid Account of an "Atlantic Necklace of Airports," Over WRVA.

W&M AVIATION TO BENEFIT

From a meteorological aspect, the College of William and Mary's Airport is best suited for the intermediate base of the proposed Richmond to Europe trans-oceanic flying schedule, according to Captain Hugh Duncan Grant, of the British Admiralty, in a radio broadcast over Station WRVA, Richmond, last Thursday. Captain Grant, Fellow of the Royal Geographical, Astronomical, Meteorological Societies, and Member of Council of Royal Meteorological Society (1917), spoke on the extensive plans of the Armstrong Seadrome Development Company, Wilmington, Delaware. In a conversation with Colonel Earl C. Popp, who also broadcasted over the Richmond station, Captain Grant explained that Williamsburg has an excellent opportunity of being chosen intermediate landing field, since Norfolk, the Atlantic base, has fog more often than Williamsburg.

Williamsburg is actually the terminus for north, west, and south air travel and east trans-Atlantic travel, according to the United States Hydrographic Office, noting that the city is free from low ceiling and visibility. Furthermore, the proximity of the Airport to the city is a valuable asset (Continued on page two)

RADIO TALKS GO TO SEA

History of College Aviation Started by Madison and Being Continued by Dr. Chandler.

Colonel Earl C. Popp, Director of the College of William and Mary Department of Aeronautics was presented by Sidney J. Paine of the Department to a vast radio audience over Stations WRVA and WTAR last Thursday and Saturday, respectively, on the subject "Virginia in Aviation."

Virginia Feature of Talk

"Virginia's contribution to the history of the nation has been so great that it is not surprising to find that the history of man's domain over space would not be complete without a record of her accomplishments in the realm of aeronautics. Indeed, just three years after the first aerial voyage by man had been accomplished by the Montgolfier Brothers in 1783 in France, the balloon was introduced to the American college campus. It was the "ancient and honorable College of William and Mary in Virginia," whose contributions to the American Hall of Fame were already history, that produced the first Aeronautical Club in America—a balloon club—under the keenly interested and encouraging direction of the Reverend James Madison, eighth President of the College.

"Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, the present President, saw that a great need in aviation today must be met promptly. (Continued on page two)

JUDGES SELECTED FOR SHORT STORY CONTEST

Participants in Chi Delta Phi-Sigma Upsilon Contest Urged to Submit Material Before April 1.

The judges for the short story contest being sponsored by Chi Delta Phi and Sigma Upsilon this spring will be Dr. Landrum, Dr. Gwathmey, and Dr. Clark. They will give the final decision on the manuscripts that have been selected from all entries by a committee composed of representatives from the two literary fraternities. Contestants must have submitted their stories by April 1 to either Lib Lawder or Duncan Cocks. Other members of the eliminating committee are Mrs. Pyle, Georgia Bennett, John Weaver, and John Eversole.

This contest sponsored by the two honorary literary fraternities is the first of its kind on the campus and a decided interest is being shown in it. The author of the best short story submitted will be awarded a silver cup and twenty dollars in cash. There will be no personal bias in the judging, as manuscripts submitted must be written under a non-de-plume, the name of the author being enclosed in an envelope attached to the story. These envelopes will not be opened until the close of the contest.

The winner of the contest will be announced as soon after April 1 as possible. All students still wishing to enter the contest are urged to get their material in soon, as only two weeks are left before its conclusion.

DEBATE COUNCIL GIVES SCHEDULE

Shawen, Hudson and Rutherford to Engage Penn U., New York College and Hunter College in Coming Meets.

The spring schedule for the Women's Debate Council has been announced as follows: April 4, 5, 6, 7, Anne Shawen, Margaret Hudson, and Margaret Rutherford will debate the University of Pennsylvania, the College of the City of New York, and Hunter College. At this time, also, Lota Spence, Isabel Neilson and Virginia Houghwout will challenge Hood College and Temple University. The questions for debate have not as yet been decided upon, but most of them will be on some phase of socialism and capitalism. On April 11 Lucie Grossmann and Lou Long will debate (Continued on page two)

W. & M. ENGAGES BOSTON U. IN RADIO DEBATE TONIGHT OVER RICHMOND STATION

Joseph R. Jackier Will Speak for William and Mary on Question of Centralized Government Control of Industry.

Debating by radio from WRVA, Richmond, at 8 o'clock tonight, Joseph R. Jackier will represent William and Mary in a single team debate with the University of Boston on the subject: Resolved that Congress should enact legislation for centralized control of industry. Each speaker will have a total of fifteen minutes on the air, ten for the constructive case, and five minutes for rebuttal.

Jackier, a Junior transfer from Miami University, is a member of the Wranglers Club and the orchestra. He will present the affirmative case in this argument which will be his first inter-collegiate debate.

This will be the first time William and Mary debaters have been on the air this season, although they had similar contests last year.

The New York University-William and Mary Debate on the campus, April 5, will close the current season for the Men's Varsity. In this debate, on the subject: Resolved that civilization is a curse to mankind, Jas. J. MacPherson and Lynwood Wilson will argue the affirmative case.

W-M TO BE REPRESENTED IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Representatives to be Chosen Through Local Tryouts Friday Night, April 22, at 8 o'clock, in Washington 200.

William and Mary will have a representative in the Virginia State Inter-collegiate oratorical contest at Roanoke College this year, during the first week in May, it was announced by Professor George Brooks of the Public Speaking Department. William and Mary along with Washington and Lee University, Roanoke College, Hampden-Sidney College, University of Richmond, Randolph-Macon College, Emory and Henry College, Bridgewater College, and Lynchburg College will have one entrant in the contest for the state title, the winner of which will be awarded a fifty dollar gold medal.

In order to select a single representative for William and Mary, tryouts will be given Friday night, April 22 at eight o'clock in Washington 200. All undergraduates are eligible. The speeches on any topic must be original and not over twenty-four hundred words in length. Those wishing to tryout should communicate their names to Professor Brooks.

These state-wide contests are annual affairs, the place of the contest going from one to the other of the institutions named above, who are members of the Oratorical Association. The contest was on the local campus in 1928, at Lynchburg in 1929, Richmond in 1930, and Washington and Lee in 1931. Emory and Henry won the contest last year, with Washington and Lee second and William and Mary third.

The judges for the local tryouts are to be taken from the faculty, though they have not been chosen as yet. The judges for the state contest are selected from the names nominated by the presidents of the participating colleges.

Y. M. C. A. CHOOSES ELLIOTT PRESIDENT FOR NEXT YEAR TO SUCCEED DEBORDENAVE

Elliott, Harper, Lowman, and Hudak are Chosen at Annual Election by Young Men's Christian Association.

Morris P. Elliott of Philadelphia was unanimously elected president of the Young Men's Christian Association at their annual elections last Thursday. Elliott succeeds Ernest A. DeBordenave in office. Other officers elected were: Cecil Harper, vice-president; Ruffner Lowman, secretary; and Leighton Huske, treasurer.

Elliott is Active on Campus

Morris Elliott has been active in Y. M. C. A. work since coming to William and Mary and served as treasurer during the past year. He is a Junior manager of track, assistant business manager of the Indian Handbook, has served as secretary of the Phoenix Literary Society, and is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He is a member of the Junior class. Before coming to William and Mary Elliott attended Northeast High School in Philadelphia, where he was prominent in literary circles. He was on the staff of three high school publications.

ONE ACT PLAYS WILL BE PRESENTED HERE APRIL 1

Cast and Student Directors of Short Plays Have Prepared for Performances Under Supervision of Althea Hunt.

The cast and student directors of the group on one-act plays that are to be presented in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on the night of April 1, have been hard at work during the last week in the training necessary for competent performance. They have been supervised in the labors by Miss Althea Hunt, who is also supervising the production of the other groups of one-acts that are to be presented April 15 and 29. The group to be shown on April 29 is composed of original plays written by students, who will direct their own productions.

The group to be given April 1, is headed, in order of performance, by "Rosalind" by Sir James Barrie. This play is being directed by Dorothy Stewart, and has in its cast Judson Wheeler, Mary Jane Aude and Jean Rogers. This play is based on Shakespeare's "As You Like It," which was presented on the campus during the past week.

The second play of the evening will be "Confessional" by Percival Wilde. This play is being given under the direction of Betty Brunstetter, who has Eugene Pleninger, Shirley Metz, Marjorie Lanston, Howard Scammon, Georgia Zehner and Donald Gordon as the members of her cast. This is a story of a man who conquers his conscience for the sake of money, only to find that he gains more by being completely honest.

The series of plays of the evening will be rounded out by the presentation of "What Never Dies." This play is also by Percival Wilde, who is thus represented on the program by two plays. Carlton Casey is the director of this play, and in his cast he has the talent and services of Mary Pyle, Estelle Foreman, Elizabeth Whitehead and Frank Manning.

RIDING SCHOOL TO HOLD PAPER CHASE MARCH 31

Limited Number of Experienced Riders to Take Part in Chase Over Course Laid Between Williamsburg and Jamestown.

The Riding School has announced that there will be a Paper Chase on Thursday, March 31.

Dick Conlen, student instructor of the school, stated that only a limited number of experienced riders will take part in the chase. The course will be laid between Williamsburg and Jamestown over the winding roads and cross country, and so constructed that even the least proficient will have a good chance of winning the prize.

A beautiful English riding crop will be awarded the winner by Mr. Bass, manager of the Riding School.

The course is at present being conditioned and when completed will afford jumps over ditches and streams and miles of open country.

This chase is only a part of the plans which the school has made for the spring. Those wishing to take part in the Chase and other later contests should see Dick Conlen. Arranging riding can be purchased through Miss Taylor's office or from representatives on campus. Six rides of an hour and a half each cost ten dollars.

COLONIAL ECHO BEING PRINTED

Few Extra Copies Ordered. Those Who Have Not Activity Fees Must Place Orders at Once.

Orders for this year's Colonial Echo have already been sent to the publishers by the business manager and a few extra copies have been ordered on the assumption that all students desiring the year book have not yet paid their activity fees. The fact that there are more activity fees paid last semester than this semester, seems to indicate that there are a number of students desiring the year book who have neglected, thus far to pay second semester's activities fee. Any such person should make arrangements immediately to pay this fee so that they will be assured of a copy of the year book. Fees can be (Continued on page six)

INDIAN BALL CLUB TO START SEASON AGAINST VERMONT

Baseball Team Cards Four Games for Opening Week; Vermont Plays Its First Game Saturday on Cary Field.

INDIANS TO PLAY W. & L.

Drexel to Play Thursday; Line-Up is Undecided; Bad Weather Delayed Outside Practice.

Saturday finds the William and Mary Baseball team starting down the diamond warpath with a game with the University of Vermont nine. This will be the first game for both teams as well as the initial game of a lengthy southern tour for the Burlington boys.

Meet W. & L. at Norfolk

Aside from the Vermont game, there are three other games in the first week of play. The Indians travel to Norfolk Monday to engage the Washington and Lee outfit on Bain Field, returning to Cary Field Tuesday for a second game. Thursday finds the Drexel Institute nine invading Williamsburg for a one day stay.

Three Holes to Fill

Having been able to fool the weather man long enough to put in a few practice sessions on Cary Field, the ball club is rapidly rounding into shape. Three big holes were left by Bill Scott, Andy Capola, and Bill Ferral, outfielder, shortstop, and catcher, respectively. However, there is some experienced material in Andy Christenson, Bradley, and Paul Broderick, who are being groomed to fill the above vacated positions. Pat Harkins, a remodeled pitcher, is being converted into a shortstop and is giving Christenson a fight for his job in the Keystone territory.

Probable Line-up:

- Maxey, 2b. McBride, 3b. Christenson, Harkins, ss. Demarest, 1b. LaCroix, cf. Bradley or Broderick, rf. Gallinant or Forrest, lf. Broderick or Suttle, c. Sundin or Stankus, p.

MAY DAY WILL USE OLD GREEK THEME

First Draft of Plans Was Submitted by Edith Ford at the Women's Student Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

EDITH FORD IS IN CHARGE

This year's May Day will be based on the mythology of ancient Greece, according to an announcement made by Edith Ford yesterday at the meeting of the Women's Student Government Association. The theme of the program is being written up by Lib Lawder and Mrs. Pyle and plans are already being formed for the annual celebration. The principle legend will be that of Proserpine who once a year returns to earth to visit her mother Ceres, bringing with her the Spring season.

In accordance with a custom of the college, May Day is sponsored by the Senior class in cooperation with the Physical Education Department. Edith Ford is directing and guiding all plans being made. The dances will embody other Greek legends and customs connected with the story of Proserpine.

The May Queen will probably be elected at the first meeting of the Women's Student Government in April. Her only requisite is that she be a member of the senior class. Nominations are made from the floor, the nominee receiving the largest number of votes becoming the queen. Her identity, however, is not disclosed until the May Day celebration.

STUDENT TEACHERS

Students expecting to teach next year and desiring to use the Bureau of Recommendation, should file applications at once.

BANQUET HELD BY LOS QUIXOTESCOS

The Spanish Club held its annual banquet in honor of new members at Williamsburg Inn Saturday Night.

The Spanish Club held its annual banquet last Saturday night in the Red room of the Williamsburg Inn; in honor of the new initiates who are: Gladys Anderson, Dorothy Green, Max Waterman, Mildred Keyser, Anne Chalkley, Virginia Harris, Lloyd Langbour, Grace Mickey, Hazel Klug, and Marguerite Stribling.

Rachael Black, the president, spoke briefly welcoming the initiates in behalf of the older members of the club; and expressed the hope that they would keep in mind the purpose of the club, which is to learn more about Spain, and to hear and speak Spanish. Mildred Keyser made the answering speech in behalf of the new members. According to the President, Miss Keyser who is from Mexico spoke very fluently and eloquently in true Spanish style. Dr. Fisher gave a very short talk expressing his pleasure in the work of the club, and congratulated them on their success. Mrs. Iturralde spoke of the Hispano-American museum in New York, and urged the members to see it as it contains the finest collection of Spanish paintings in the country. The final speaker was Dr. Iturralde, the club's advisor, who spoke on Christopher Columbus, supplementing his talk with extracts from the diary of Columbus. All the addresses except those of Dr. Fisher and Mrs. Iturralde were in Spanish, demonstrating the proficiency of the members in that language.

The table decorations were in red and yellow which are the club colors. Large bunches of jonquils ornamented the table, and the place cards were small red windmills marked in yellow. This color scheme was further carried out in the after-dinner mints, which were shaped as tiny Spanish castles and windmills also in red and yellow.

PROPOGATION OF FISH IS TOPIC OF BIOLOGY TALK

Alta Kennedy Tells Clayton Grimes Biology Club of the Operation and Problems of Fish Hatcheries in Massachusetts.

The Clayton Grimes Biology Club held its bi-monthly program meeting in Washington 100 at eight o'clock Monday night.

Alan Kennedy, a student member of the biology club gave a talk on "Trout and their Propogation." Mr. Kennedy has had experience in the State fish hatcheries of Massachusetts, and gave the club the benefit of his findings.

The hatchery in which Mr. Kennedy worked is the largest in the State, and has an annual output of 180,000 trout. The art of propogation of trout and the problems of the hatcheries were explained in the speech, and Mr. Kennedy told of the diseases to which trout are subject, and the methods employed for their cure.

These hatcheries are maintained by the government of Massachusetts in order to replenish the diminishing supply of game trout in the mountain streams of the State. They are located in western Massachusetts.

During the middle of April the Freshman members of the Council will argue against Hollins College, with Ruth Cobbett and Mary Louise Hollowell representing William and Mary; and Harriet Council and Abba Barrett will debate John Marshall High School. The topics for discussion will be announced later.

Lacie Grossman will make her second varsity appearance, having been admitted to the Council February, '31. Lota Spence participated in her first varsity debate on March 5, when William and Mary defeated Swarthmore College. The other members of the team have been on the Debate Council for several semesters, and have represented the college in varsity debates before.

DEMING ADDRESSES THE PHYSICS FRAT

"Propeller Noises" is the Subject of Lecture by Mr. A. F. Deming.—Discusses Sound Analyzers of Various Types.

A. F. Deming, of the N. A. C. A., laboratories at Langley Field, delivered a talk on "Propeller Noises" at an open meeting of Sigma Pi Sigma, honorary physics fraternity, Thursday night. Mr. Deming discussed sound analyzers, pointing out their application in determining the harmonics produced by complex waves or noises. In particular he outlined a set that has been installed at Langley Field, pointing out the improvements that have been made to increase the selective power. By using a filament wire of varied thickness he believes that it would be possible to determine the harmonics of even a radio frequency wave.

In discussing other sound analyzers, Mr. Deming briefly described the latest development in that line incorporated by the Bell Telephone Laboratories. The later method is of an entirely different nature from the one on which Mr. Deming has been working, and is perhaps less efficient in its selective power.

Mr. Deming is a graduate of the University of California and has been connected with the Langley Field Laboratories as junior physicist for the past two years.

BUSINESS GROUPS TO HOLD BANQUET

Alpha Kappa Psi and Beta Alpha Psi Will Hold Joint Meeting at Williamsburg Inn, April 1.

Alpha Kappa Psi, National Business Fraternity, and Beta Alpha Psi, Professional Accounting Fraternity, will hold a Joint Banquet at the Williamsburg Inn, Friday, April 1.

Summer Waters of Alpha Kappa Psi, and Brooks George of Beta Alpha Psi are in charge of arrangements. It is expected that about 40 members will be in attendance at the banquet. The faculty members of Alpha Kappa Psi who will attend are: Dr. A. G. Taylor, Professor P. P. Peebles and Professor W. F. Gibbs. Professors Peebles and Gibbs are also members of Beta Alpha Psi. The speakers for the evening have not been announced.

LINBERGH ATTITUDE IS SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

Ethics of the Lindbergh Case and Dual Personality of Patience Worth are Considered by Psychology and Philosophy Club.

"Formalism vs Fundamentalism, or the Ethics of the Lindbergh Case," was the timely subject of a talk given by Melvin Blumenthal last night when the psychology and philosophy club met at the Chi Omega House. Whether Lindbergh is ethically right or wrong in his independent attitude in the present kidnaping case led to much discussion, with the general conclusion that he is in the wrong.

The second talk of the evening was in connection with the famous dual personality case of Patience Worth which has interested psychologists for many years. Through the medium of the Oufi board, she although a woman of mediocre intelligence and education, has been able to write poetry and prose of a finished style often in Anglo Saxon. This talk was given by Clara Schwartz.

The club will hold its next meeting Monday, April 4, the first Monday after Easter holidays. Several papers will be read by the members. At the succeeding meeting members of the experimental psychology class, will give several demonstrations of their work.

DR. HOKE SPOKE BEFORE STATE TEACHERS FRIDAY

Dr. K. J. Hoke, dean of the college, took part in a Teacher's Institute at Harrisonburg State Teachers College last Friday. The purpose of this convention was the discussion of the new State Curriculum Program which is being inaugurated by State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Sidney E. Hall. Dr. Hoke took part on the program at the request of Dr. Hall. In his address, Dean Hoke discussed the plans of this program for next year.

SIX TO REPRESENT W & M IN NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK

Picture of Group to be Used in Advertising Virginia Drive. Sponsored by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce.

Six representatives of the men's and women's Glee Clubs were photographed on Friday, March 18 by a representative of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. Grace Settle, Page Johnson, Alice Castator, Eleanor Buchanan, Thomas McCaskey, and Arthur McLawhorn are the students of whom a group photograph was taken. The last week in April is to be garden and music week throughout the country. During this time, the State of Virginia is to be widely advertised by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, and the group of students mentioned above were chosen because of their outstanding ability in music to represent William and Mary.

MUSIC MASTER SERIES IS NEW FEATURE OF MOVIES

Each Short Subject Will Feature the Life of Some Great Composer: First Will Feature Life of Handel.

The Campus Theatre with the re-opening of motion pictures programs this week, announces the booking of the "Music Master Series." These short subjects will be presented each week. Each one will feature the life of some great composer, and some of his best known music will be played by famous orchestras. The first one of the series will feature the life of Handel, and will be shown in conjunction with John Barrymore in the "Mad Genius," which will be the feature attraction for Monday and Tuesday of next week. A change in booking brings Walter Huston in "The Ruling Voice" to the screen on Thursday and Friday of this week, in place of the "Mad Genius" which will be shown next week Monday and Tuesday.

FIVE INITIATED BY SCIENTIFIC GROUP

The spring initiation of Chi Beta Phi, national scientific fraternity, was held Wednesday, March 16, at which time Edward Vaughan, Joseph deGange, Jammes Snyder, E. B. Cranstton, and Benjamin Wright were taken in.

Chi Beta Phi endeavors to bring into closer union those students taking a major or minor in the science department. Its members includes those men students interested in biology, chemistry, and physics. Membership is based on a quality average in these subjects.

He saw an industry, fundamentally sound and vitally necessary to the progress of civilization, being stifled at its very source by the inability of prospective students to acquire theoretical and practical flight training at costs comparative with other education. As is characteristic of Dr. Chandler, HE DID SOMETHING ABOUT IT! And now, for the first time in academic history, an American college—the Virginia college—is offering theoretical and practical flight training as a part of its regular curriculum.

With this as the theme of his talks Colonel Popp's broadcasts were received in Virginia and in portions of her sister states, over the Columbia Broadcasting System at Norfolk, and the National Broadcasting Company at Richmond. The Norfolk broadcast was received on United States patrol boats, pleasure steamers and other water craft, plying their way along the Virginia coastline to and from their respective ports.

SIX HONORED WITH KEYS FOR WORK ON FLAT HAT

Frances Bragg, Elizabeth Lawder, Hamilton Simonds, Barrett Roberts, Charles P. McCurdy, and William G. Talton, are Awarded Keys.

Six members and past members of the Flat Hat staff were recently awarded Flat Hat Keys for outstanding service on the publication. Those honored were: Frances Bragg, Elizabeth Lawder, Hamilton Simonds, Barrett Roberts, Charles P. McCurdy, Jr., and William G. Talton.

These keys were formerly given only to editors and business managers, but are now awarded to the heads of each department for outstanding and lengthy service. William G. Talton is the first circulation manager to receive a key and Elizabeth Lawder, present Associate Editor, is the fourth woman to be thus honored, the others being: Lucy Nottingham, Virginia Arthur and Frances Bragg.

The keys were presented to the members of the staff by W. Brooks George, past Business Manager, and similar ones were sent to Hamilton Simonds and Frances Bragg for their services as Editor-in-Chief and Associate Editor respectively during the first Semester of this year.

Link of Airports on Atlantic

Captain Hugh Duncan Grant is now in America as Meteorological Consultant for the Armstrong Seodromes, the breath-taking feat of planting a series of floating steel islands approximately 350 miles in line across the Atlantic from Richmond to Europe for the commercialization of transoceanic airplane traffic. These floating airports with six acres of landing deck are filling stations and safety harbors for Atlantic flyers and will constitute one of the greatest engineering achievement of the century. The story of the relationship of this international development to waves, storms, currents and weather in both low and high altitudes was both interesting and captivating. It is a history of achievement utterly novel and supremely fascinating and few know so completely the entire mammoth undertaking better than Captain Grant, as he ably set it forth in all its popular phases and scientific context.

As former Superintendent of the Meteorological Department of the British Navy; Maritime Meteorologist, Balloonist and official Weather Forecaster of the British Admiralty for the historic naval raids on Zeebrugge and Ostend, he brings to the American lecture platform and radio audience a wealth of experience rarely given to one man. He described in glowing detail how aviation is spreading its young wings in the service of peace and in the expansion of industry; how the continents of the world

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR GOOCH RELEASES DIAMOND SCHEDULE

INDIAN BALL CLUB TO PLAY NINETEEN GAMES THIS SEASON

Vermont, Maryland, and Roanoke to be Met on Diamond for First Time; Harvard, Sawbones, and Princeton Dropped.

Last week Athletic Director, "Billy" Gooch, released the 1932 baseball schedule, which is somewhat different from last year's card. The Indians will play three new teams this year. Vermont, Roanoke, and Maryland, while Harvard, Princeton, and Medical College were dropped from this season's schedule.

The Indians, aside from winning the Conference baseball title, won fourteen out of nineteen starts last year. The high light of the season occurred when Lefty White missed the college record for strikeouts by one in the first Princeton game.

Of the teams on this season's program, the Redskins lost to W. & L., Drexel, Bridgewater, Navy, and Hampden-Sydney.

The schedule:
 March 26—Vermont, Here.
 March 28—W. & L., Norfolk.
 March 29—W. & L., Here.
 March 31—Drexel, Here.
 April 7—Roanoke, Here.
 April 9—Richmond, Here.
 April 15—Bridgewater, Here.
 April 18—Bridgewater, There.
 April 19—V. M. L., There.

SPRING FOOTBALL SQUAD IS DIVIDED

Two Divisions to Battle for Turkey Dinner Award at End of Practice Session.

With the passing of the third week of spring football practice, the large squad which turns out for daily workouts has manifested a marked improvement.

For the past few days the entire squad was divided into two groups, one wearing orange and the other green jerseys.

According to Athletic Director, "Billy" Gooch, the orange group is being coached by Meb Davis, Ed Meade, and Captain Happy Halligan, while Bill Scott, ex-Captain Douglas, and Tommy Ayers are aiding the green squad. The two divisions are working individually in their signal practice and come together in scrimmage. Coach Fetzer is working with both groups.

Toward the end of the practice season, a competition will be held between representative teams from the two divisions. Though the exact nature of the competition as to the name or the number of games is as yet unknown, the winning team is to be awarded a turkey dinner.

Practice will be resumed immediately following the Easter holidays, and will continue thereafter for three more weeks.

"RIP" COLLINS TRIUMPHS IN GOLDEN GLOVE BOUTS AGAINST BALTIMORE CLUB

Lemback Loses Close Decision to Darheim of Baltimore in Listless Battle; Both Boys Represent Richmond.

On Friday night, March 18, two William and Mary students donned the colors of the Richmond Golden Gloves A. C. in the match against the Baltimore Golden Glovers. The fights were held at the Commonwealth Club in Richmond, and a large crowd witnessed the Baltimore victory of 4-3.

In the flyweight division, "Rip" Collins defeated Sammy Herman by a decision. Collins, in the opening round had the edge on his opponent by completely outboxing him. In the second round Herman made a gallant comeback by sending left and rights to Collins's jaw, but "Rip", because of his shiftiness and steadiness, avoided many blows. The third and last round saw Collins again the better opponent. In the infighting the W&M boxer was superb and his blows in the clinches proved to be the undoing of Herman.

Jackie Lemback, bantamweight from William and Mary, lost a judge's decision to Ralph Darheim of Baltimore. The fight was a slow affair from start to finish with Darheim's superior stamina enabling him to gain the verdict of the judges.

At the end of the evening's entertainment, Collins was presented with a medal signifying the championship of Virginia and Maryland.

TENNIS TEAM WILL OPEN SEASON WITH VIRGINIA

Inclement Weather Prohibits Early Practice for Match to Take Place on April 9.

Although the weather to date has been much too cold for any concentrated tennis practice, individual members and candidates for the tennis team have been taking advantage of every opportunity to get themselves into condition for a strenuous campaign this spring. Captain Larry Schaffer is expected to lead a strong team into action when the silver, green and gold representatives face the University of Virginia racquetters here on April 9.

Although the make-up of the team at present has not been decided upon, it is quite certain that Schaffer, Joslyn, Lebow, and Jackier will win berths on the squad. Joslyn and Lebow are both veterans from last year's outfit, the latter compiling the best record of any of the racquet welders on the squad. Lebow's sole defeat last year was administered by Donald Frame of Harvard who won out after a stirring battle. Joslyn a veteran of two years is dependable court man and is expected to account for a number of victories.

The schedule will not be officially released until next week but will contain matches with Navy, George Washington, Virginia, and Richmond among other schools.

PAPOOSE BASEBALL OUTFIT TO ENGAGE IN THIRTEEN TILTS

Season to Open on April 15 With Game Against Highland Springs to be Played on Cary Field.

Freshman baseball this year calls for a schedule of thirteen games of which ten are to be played at Cary Field with some of the leading high school and college squads in the state. The schedule as issued by Billie Gooch, Athletic Director, is almost complete and calls for a contest with Louisburg College, of North Carolina, to be played here on April 27 and also a home and home series with University of Virginia frosh.

Due to weather that has been unsuited to outdoor practice, Meb Davis's charges have not been called together for hitting and fielding practice but the battery candidates have been working and faithfully indoors and will insure the aspirants for positions plenty of curves for their tryout performances which are expected to start with the first sign of favorable weather. The Frosh schedule is as follows:

- April 15—Highland Springs, Here.
- April 19—Open.
- April 22—Petersburg High, Here.
- April 23—Virginia Frosh, There.
- April 25—South Norfolk (pending) Here.
- April 27—Louisburg College, Here.
- April 28, Hopewell High, Here.
- April 30—Virginia Frosh, Here.
- May 4—Norfolk Division, Here.
- May 6—Woodrow Wilson High, Here.
- May 9—Fork Union, Here.
- May 11—Norfolk Division, There.
- May 14—Open.

GOLF TEAM IS DEFEATED BY STRONG DUKE SQUAD

Blue Devil Golfers Play Brilliant Golf to Win 18-0; McCanniss Cards Startling 69, Jaffee 71.

Duke University golfers, made up of some of the best young players in the country, defeated the William and Mary mashie wielders at Durham last Saturday 18-0.

The feature match of the day was between Jaffee, Tri-color ace, and Peacock of Duke. Peacock shot a brilliant 70, even par for the course, to beat Jaffee 3 to 2. Jaffee, incidentally, carded a 72 over an unfamiliar layout. Fred McCanniss produced a sub-par 69 to down Joslyn of William and Mary 10 to 8. Foursome play in the afternoon found the Duke combination of Peacock and Captain Caldwell, Rhode Island star, shooting a best ball of 69 to win along the McCanniss-Stokes team.

The next match for the Indian golfers will take place at Yorktown on March 31 with the Boston College team furnishing the opposition.

DOUGLAS ELIMINATED IN TRYOUTS FOR OLIMPICS

First Defeat for Indian Wrestler in His Career; Loses to Goldsman of Baltimore Y. M. C. A.

In the tryouts for the United States Olympic wrestling team held at Baltimore, Otis Douglas of William and Mary lost a judges decision to Dickson Goldsman of the Baltimore Y. M. C. A.

The match was a ten-minute affair with the boys, both weighing about 200 pounds, struggling for victory. It was a very close and exciting bout, and according to the judges (Continued on Page Five)

PEARLE YOUNG WILL RUN IN OLYMPIC TRYOUTS AT CHICAGO DURING SUMMER

William and Mary Trackster Will Compete With Some of Nation's Best in Century.

Pearle Young, who recently took first place in fifty-yard dash and high jump at the national indoor track meet held at Newark, N. J., will represent William and Mary in the Olympic team tryouts to be held at Chicago in July. "Speedy" expects to be in the 100 yard dash, and is now training for that event.

Pearle has been track captain here for the past two years as well as outstanding in hockey, basketball, and baseball. She holds the college records in dashes, hurdles, and high jump.

In the recent National Indoor Track meet at Newark "Speedy" won the fifty-yard dash with her nearest competitor three yards behind her at the tape. Her time for this event was 6.3, one tenth over her record. She took the high jump at 4 feet 11 inches which is also under her college record.

Pearle Young is probably one of the best all-round track stars in the country. Standing only 5 feet 2 inches she can almost jump her height, and can more than triple it in the running broad jump. Her sixty yard hurdle time is among the best in the U. S. Pearle holds college records in fifty, sixty, and seventy-five yard dashes. "Speedy" can also offer keen competition in the javelin throw.

SPRING SPORTS TO START FOR CO-EDS

50, 75, and 100 Points Will Be Awarded for Participation in Hiking, Tennis, Baseball, Swimming and Archery.

The spring sports for the Indianettes will start immediately after the Easter holidays. Baseball, which has already begun, will be carried on in real earnest for a series of class games are scheduled, the first being held Thursday, March 31. Hiking, Tennis and Archery will also begin if the weather permits.

All sports will be graded on the basis of 50, 75 and 100 points. Fifty points will be given for participation throughout the season, 75 for class or sister class teams and 100 for varsity or honorary varsities.

In hiking points may be earned as follows: For hiking 275 miles—100 (Continued on Page Five)

SPORTS SHORTS

Pearle Young will go to the Olympic Tryouts in July. There, they will not start races with a gun because it is unfair to Chicago athletes. They cannot get out of the habit of jumping guns.

Physical Education Majors can sew sleeves on necks of costumes for H2E Circus and not note their mistake until costumes are tried on. Marge Harper will have to admit that 99 per cent of above statement is correct.

Mary Dabney and Otis Douglas made a fine Ma and Pa in the circus. "Doug" cannot even give away his dress. It was bought at Casey's, but it is a size "54."

Hiking starts after Easter. Tourists—Beware!

Coach Barksdale gave the basketball squad a waffle supper last Tuesday. In spite of excellent guarding by Captain-Elect Hudak, Captain Dabney charged through the bread line for winning tally with seventeen waffles to her credit.

TEEPEE TOPICS

The weather seems to be coming down our alley for a change. And the old ball team is taking advantage of the opportunity. Did you see them in that practice game Saturday?

It wasn't exactly what we'd call hot, but those ball players were plenty warm. The first squad took the engagement by a rather small score, but "Honest" John decided that the boys needed a little more practice. Whereupon he kept them out on the field and served them some hot grounders. It was the first real practice, remember.

Bill Casey, captain of ye olde swimming team, has relinquished his claim to the South Atlantic A. A. U. championship, and he didn't do it voluntarily, either.

Bill was defeated in a competition held in Baltimore Saturday, when he placed third after two Baltimore Y. M. C. A. men. Bill had annexed this title last year, in the same city.

Tomorrow (Wednesday) night at 8:00 P. M. a basketball game will be played between the William and Mary Seniors and the Varsity Future All-Stars. The game is to be played for the benefit of the Williamsburg Volunteer Fire Department. Admission will be thirty-five cents.

The teams will be composed from the following players:

Seniors	Undergraduates
Corky Sundin	Wally Lynn
Larry Shaeffer	Les Litwin
Bin Sykes	Milt Gallinan
Frank Mozeleski	Happy Halligan
Crawford Syer	John Reid
Byrl Fisher	Jackie Lemback

There will not be any fouls called or men taken out of the game, and one of the players insists that it will be the best that has ever been played in Blow Gym. Don't miss it!

Speed comes rather high, the Chicago Motor Club concluded after an investigation, that showed a mile-a-minute in your automobile is from three to four times more expensive than when your speedometer says 40 to 45.

The conclusion was arrived at after checks made at various speeds. These results were cited:

- Oil consumption at 55 miles an hour is seven times greater than it is at 30.
- Tire wear at 50 is twice as much as at 40.
- Gasoline consumption at 55 is one fourth more than at 30.
- In addition there's the wear and tear on the car at the higher speeds.

Up at Fordham not only is the football team going through its usual spring training, but the Band has turned out for early practice.

The coach reports they have a good front line of derby-covered horns, but that they need a heavy man for the symbols.

Get this one about those poor old Brooklyn ball players. Just because some girls at Lasell Seminary, of Auburndale, Massachusetts, played a baseball game on snowshoes last week, rumor has it that they are training to become Dodger base runners. Omgawd! What next?

Myrl Hoag, a young New York Yankee outfielder, still is trying to figure out whether he was the hero or the goat in last Friday's game with Indianapolis.

On the credit side Hoag could point to four singles in five times at bat. But, on the other hand, he lost one fly that went for three bases, fumbled a single for two extra bases and stole second base when Arndt Jorgens already was occupying it!

"All mothers-in-law should be deaf, dumb, and blind. And if they aren't thus afflicted, they should pretend to be."

Thus Mrs. Rita Bliss, of Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, voiced her sentiments from the stage of the Tuxedo theatre of that same district, and strange as it seems, or believe it or not, she received ten dollars for her opinion.

It was presented in a mother-in-law contest held by that theatre.

Three hundred students at University City High School, of St. Louis, who boycotted the school cafeteria because of the size of the food portions, have won their fight. Hereafter, there will be more food for the same money.

The pupils rebelled specifically because they could only get three cookies for five cents, instead of four, and because their sandwiches lacked content. Anyway, they're enjoying four cookies.

Jack Sharkey had something on his chest and he ridged himself of it last week. Up in Boston, he charged that Gene Tunney "ran out" of a bout with him which was to have been held at Madison Square Garden in New York on March 15, 1926.

In support of his claim, Sharkey showed a contract which he said was entered into between himself and the Garden on January 7, 1926, calling for a twelve-round contest with Tunney.

Sharkey also exhibited a contract entered into December 4, 1926, after he beat Harry Wills, purporting to call for a bout between him and Tunney at the New York Garden September 15, 1927.

"Gene Tunney is one fighter I always knew I could lick," Sharkey said. "Tunney knew it, too, which is why he always dodged a meeting with me in the ring."

Oh, well, take the marbles.

THE OPEN FORUM

For a number of years, the William and Mary Flat Hat has contained in its columns a section which is known as the Open Forum. The purpose of this forum is to encourage those students who may so desire to express their views and sentiments on campus conditions.

There is no "red tape" process for the student to go through in order to have letters of this nature considered and published. The two main qualifications required of such material is that they be of interest to the student body and that they be signed by the author. A number of letters have been rejected due to this lack of a signature. If the letter is signed, a non-personal signature will be used at the request of the writer.

There is scarcely an organization on the campus which will fail to appreciate constructive criticism. The Flat Hat has not reached its highest peak by any means and any comments and suggestions aimed for the improvement of the paper will be gladly received by the editorial staff.

A student often has a good slant on a campus activity but his reflections will be confined to a limited few unless he is able to offer them on a large-scale basis. All those connected with the College of William and Mary are urged to contribute for it is only through cooperation that the Open Forum can be maintained on successful standards.

DEBATE SUBJECTS

One of the outstanding extra-curricular activities of nearly all colleges of the country today is debate. There seems to have been a revival in forensic achievement in many of the institutions of higher learning, and as a result, the art of debate has generally reached a high standard throughout the nation's high schools and colleges. Here on our campus, during the last few years, debate has come into prominence and the teams of William and Mary have met and vanquished some of the largest schools in the country.

This growth has not been correspondingly followed by a growth in student interest. Any count of an audience attending a debate on the campus will reveal a discouragingly small attendance. The student body, despite the excellence of the teams representing it, seems to have no great interest in debate, and therefore stays away. It might be very easy to account for this seeming lack of interest by berating the student body, and maintaining that it is incapable of appreciating anything more cultural than a movie and "The Saturday Evening Post," but there is more excuse than reason in that attitude.

Perhaps the reason debate does not have a larger campus following is that the subjects chosen for contention are too far removed from every-day life to hold any great interest. Not only are they above the range of interest of the average audience, but the enthusiasm that the debator himself manifests for his subject is all too often assumed and simulated. The first requirement in the ability to carry conviction to an audience is conviction on the speaker's part. If that conviction is assumed then debate degenerates into a combination of acting and mental gymnastics, and there is little wonder that it has only a small following.

Certainly debating's keenest adherents will agree that it should have a higher value than that. We suggest as a method of making debate into a more vital factor in the life of the campus, that the subjects chosen for discussion be more within the range of student interest. This would not only draw a larger audience, but would also relieve the debator of the handicap of generally having to argue for something on which his convictions are non-existent.

The Inquiring Reporter

(He asks ten people every week some question on college life. If you have any problems which you would like to have him discuss, send them to "The Inquiring Reporter," care of the Flat Hat.)

Do you think that voting for student government elections should be made compulsory?

Howard Scammon '33: "Why make it compulsory? There are too many things compulsory now."

Willoughby Patton '32: "It doesn't make much difference to me."

Ellen Gray '32: "Yeah, but I don't know why."

Bill Bowen '32: "A vote by a person who doesn't wish to vote tends toward no selectivity."

Jo Habel '32: "One should take enough interest to vote without having to be made to."

Doug Hubbard '34: "If a person hasn't enough interest to vote out of his own accord then he shouldn't be made to vote."

Ann Garrett '34: "Yes, if we can really have student government."

Kendall Whittaker '35: "Sure I think so. Yes."

Garrett MacEwan '35: "Certainly, by all means."

Editor of the Flat Hat,

Dear Sir:

I think something should be done about all the fences that are going up around here—both on campus and off. Pretty soon we'll all be staggering around with a hunted look on our faces, suffering from a "hemmed in" complex, which is just about the worst thing anyone could suffer from in this so-called free land of ours.

Even Sorority Court is fenced in about as completely as anything could be, and the inhabitants therein are just beginning to realize what a small world this can be after all. It makes us, (the inhabitants) positively sad to think that from now on perhaps we'll have absolutely no use for our back doors, which have always been such good old standbys. No more can we dash madly down the stairs, out the back door, and slip out to Richmond Road via one of our pet paths. And as for getting to Brown—I simply can't think of anything worse than having to go at least the distance of a block when it has been done in something like a hop, step and jump. Well, what's the use of speculating sadly on something like fences? I'm sure there are plenty of other things really worthwhile to worry about, but just the same, how about a few less fences over here and a little more freedom?

Court Dweller.

Editor of the Flat Hat,

Dear Sir:

This college among its priorities lists the establishment of the "Honor System." This "Honor System" has been effective in classrooms, but there is a great deal of stealing which the "Honor System and Council" has failed to stop.

Several weeks ago I had the lock taken off my locker and some track shoes stolen. I delayed getting a new lock, and today when I went to Physical Ed. I found my tennis shoes and the rest of my gym outfit to be missing. Of course, I'll admit that there are bound to be some dishonest people in a college this size, but stealing has increased much more rapidly than the registration in the last year.

Quite a large amount of money, clothes, etc., have been stolen from dormitories too. The only way to eliminate this evil is for the students to cooperate with the "Honor Council" by removing the temptation if possible, and by reporting an offender if he is caught by one of them.

Soft-heartedness is O. K. in some cases, but not in this. Such people should be reported, and expelled at once.

All losses should be reported to the "Honor Council" which might incidentally, strive just a little harder to get the offender.

From "Honest John."

P. S. It might be a good idea for the Editor to publish the names of "Honor Council" members. Some people don't know who they are.

THE WINGS

William and Mary

At last the WINGS settle down upon one of their prophesied purposes, which is to give a few of the reasons why William and Mary has the first collegiate flight school in the world in their chronological order.

The story begins a long way back, high up in the sleep hollow foothills of the Catskill mountains, where a pioneer educator evolved one of his many ideas in pioneer education. Raymond Riordon created the first preparatory flight school in the world, and its program was successfully carried out by Lieutenant Colonel Earl C. Popp, Head of the Riordon School of Aviation. While the prep school was wintering at Jamestown, studying history at its source, its flight school was preparing some nineteen students for private Pilot's licenses. Through the permission of Dr. Chandler, it offered the advantages of its flight instruction to the college of William and Mary. Two members of the Department of Aeronautics staff of the College received their primary flight training here.

It was through the realization of Raymond Riordon's air-minded ideas that Dr. Chandler saw the possibility of college aviation courses, and the Riordon School of Aviation was transferred and enlarged upon until it became the foundation of the William and Mary School of Aeronautics.

The story of the beginning is familiar to the campus. While an airport was being constructed, with its hangars, shops and offices, five students were preparing for pilot licenses, while seven others, who already held government flight ratings (six of them from the Raymond Riordon School) were continuing their flight studies. At the end of the first semester there were 12 licensed pilots, and about 6 student flyers participating in active aviation classes. The Ground School enrollment total was about 35.

Another reason, outside of Riordon's illustrative experiment and the air-minded realization of Dr. Chandler, is Lt. Col. Earl C. Popp, Director of Aeronautics. It is largely through personal effort on his part that aviation at William and Mary is receiving national recognition and a number of other colleges and some universities have asked for the plans of our flight curriculum and expressed a desire to install flying in their own academic routines. Col. Popp, Lieutenant Y. O. Kent and Julian A. C. Chandler, Jr., are largely responsible for what Aviation has accomplished at William and Mary.

These are a few of the most important reasons for the existence of the first College School of Aviation. The industry itself provides a number of others and realization of a world of wings, not in the future, but in the present have influenced the decision which gave us this school.

For some time, the students at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N. H., had failed to vote in the town even though they were offered the privilege by town officials.

The city fathers last year passed an ordinance compelling the undergraduates to vote in town elections in order that the city might collect a poll tax from them.

The students took command of the situation by passing two bills, one proposing the building of a wall eight miles high around the town and the other the construction of a city hall one foot wide and a mile high.

In order to get out of the ridiculous situation, the citizens of Hanover were forced to appeal to Washington, D. C., for aid.

Madison, Wis (NSFA)—In a letter addressed to the various fraternity presidents of the Wisconsin campus, Scott H. Goodnight, dean of men, quoting President Harry W. Chase of Illinois University, contends that "hell week is scarcely a pleasant thing to see continued in fraternities, as centers of culture, practices which penitentiaries and convict gangs are abandoning."

"Hell week," continues Dean Goodnight, "is hostile to every higher interest of fraternal life at the present time. Faculty members grow resentful when their students fail to appear in class, or if they do come are jaded, sleepy and unprepared. Parents are angered by what they call outrageous abuse of their sons and it raises new enemies against fraternities when we sorely need friends."

In closing this letter, Dean Goodnight directed this question to the presidents: "May I request you to bring this letter to the attention of your chapter, and, if your group is not one of those that has already abandoned the childish practice of Hell Week, won't you please consider taking immediately at least this one important, almost imperative, step forward towards a higher plane of fraternity life at Wisconsin?"

Providence, R. I. (NSFA)—In a recent address here "in defense of American institutions and doctrines," John B. Chapple, editor of the Ashland, Wis. Press, traced the growth of what he termed "destructive organizations" entrenched on university campuses, and called upon the students to "keep America American."

Chapple blamed "an element in the faculties" aligned to the radical forces within the nation as responsible for the movement which, he said, "would supplant our system by socialism."

The movement "to turn students into socialists," Chapple said, "is going on in fifteen of our colleges, and the radical enemies of America are making an intensive effort to get college students to go on record favoring the disarming of America."

"We want the principles of the American system, not of communism or socialism, taught in our university," Chapple concluded.

"Socialism and communism, which are dependent upon inciting the emotions of envy, hatred, and greed to secure a following, suppress the individual. Our system develops the individual to excel in art, in business, and in earning power. Our system lifts people up. Socialism and communism would drag important people down to the level of the ants and bees where the group is more important than the individual."

GREENSVILLE-BRUNSWICK GROUP HAS BEEN ACTIVE

Club Has Had Three Meetings in Emporia; Is Planning Conference April 15th.

Among the active William and Mary organizations is the Greenville-Brunswick William and Mary Club. It was organized at a dinner conference at American Legion Hall, Emporia, October 1930 with 25 members. The next meeting was held in Lawrenceville last spring with about 35 members present. November 6th another meeting was held in Emporia at the Parish House. Wilson E. Somers is president of the organization and has been very untiring in his efforts to build up William and Mary sentiment in that section of the state and has the cooperation and support of all the William and Mary alumni in the two counties. We take this opportunity of congratulating the club upon the various meetings held and the good work they have accomplished.

Among the guest speakers at their meetings were Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of the College of William and Mary, Dr. T. W. Hodges, Dean of Men, Miss Lucy Mason Holt, of the Board of Managers, and Geo. W. Guy, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association. The officers of the club are Wilson E. Somers, North Emporia, Va., president; T. R. Witten, Brodnax, Va., vice-president; Miss Rosa Lohr, Ebony, Va., secretary-treasurer, and Miss Willie Lee Rogers of Freeman, Va., historian.

The Greenville-Brunswick Club is planning another conference in Lawrenceville April 15th and hopes to have present every William and Mary man and woman in that section of the State. The parents of the students here from Greenville-Brunswick are also expected to hear a message from the old college.

JOHN CAMM WAS SEVENTH WILLIAM AND MARY HEAD

He Was the Last of the Colonial Presidents of College of William and Mary.

Rev. John Camm, seventh president of the College of William and Mary was born in England in 1718, the son of Thomas Camm of Hornsea, and went to school at Beverley in York County, in the Kingdom. He matriculated at Trinity College, Cambridge, June 6, 1738, as a "subsizor." On August 24, 1749, he qualified as professor of divinity in William and Mary College, and was also elected minister of York-Hampton parish. He was the last of the colonial presidents of William and Mary, and succeeded James Horrocks as head of the College and head of the established church in Virginia. He was a man of inflexible courage and led the clergy in the "parsons cause" against the people and Patrick Henry. He acted, too, as treasurer of the College; and in the proceedings of the clergy who met in convention at William and Mary College in 1754, he took a leading part, and was appointed their agent to solicit repeal of the act of the colonial House of Burgesses, making the salaries of the clergy payable in money instead of tobacco. Mr. Camm went to England in behalf of the clergy and secured from the privy council there a disallowance of the act. But the juries of Virginia influenced by the eloquence of Patrick Henry and the influence of Governor Dinwiddie, who hated Camm, gave nominal damages and President Camm again appealed to the privy council. In 1767 Lord North dismissed the appeal on the ground that the action had been wrongly laid. This closed a controversy of thirteen years' duration. In 1769 he married Betty Hensford, daughter of Charles Hensford, a grandson of the brother of Thomas Hensford, one of Nathaniel Bacon's lieutenants, on the outbreak of hostilities between Virginia and the mother-country. President Camm would not recognize the authority of the new government and in the spring of 1777 was removed by the board of visitors. He died the following year and his wife a year later. He left numerous descendants in Virginia.

The following romance is connected with Rev. Camm. One of his young parishoners asked the doctor to "put in a good word" for him to his lady love. The clergyman fulfilled his mission and the young lady referred him to a certain portion of the scriptures to be read when he reached home. To the doctor's amazement, it read, "Thou art the Man." So Mr. Camm is known as the John Alden of Virginia.

The following is an extract from the proceedings of the visitors, September 1, 1769:

"The Visitation being informed that the Rev'd John Camm, Professor of Divinity, and the Rev'd Josiah Johnson, Master of the Grammar School, have lately married and taken up their residence in the city of Williamsburg by which great inconvenience has arisen to the College and the necessary attention which those professors ought to pay to the conduct and behavior of the students and scholars has been almost totally interrupted:

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Visitation that Professors and Masters, then engaging in marriage and the concerns of a private family, and shifting their residence to any place without the college, is contrary to the principles on which the college was founded, and their duty as Professors."

Extract from same Dec. 14, 1769: "Resolved, That all Professors and Masters hereafter to be appointed, be constantly resident of ye college, and upon marriage of such Professor and Master, that his Professorship be immediately vacated."

INT. ALUMNI ASSO. FORMED

There has been organized in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, an International Alumni Association which is composed of the alumni of all the colleges. There are seventy-one colleges represented—52 from the United States. The activities of the organization include social events, general meetings, for the discussion of international problems, usually featured by some speaker of prominence, and weekly luncheons for the purpose of good fellowship. Harvard, Columbia, Oxford, Queen's, Pennsylvania, Rochester, Woolwich, Illinois, Michigan and McGill already have organized groups there. We are hoping that William and Mary will soon have a chapter there. If the million alumni of the country could use their influence in the solution of some of our international problems this alone would justify the existence of alumni associations throughout the country.

William and Mary now has organizations in seven states and it is the hope of the alumni office that an international chapter will be formed in Toronto. We are asking Littleberry S. Foster, '02, to assist us in the organization there. His address is 40 Whitehall Road, Toronto, Canada. Any William and Mary people there are urged to get in touch with Mr. Foster. Mr. W. N. Miller, R. 2 Oakville, Toronto, Canada, is secretary of the International Alumni Association and will be glad to furnish further information regarding same.

points; 215 miles 75 points; and 150 miles 50 points. Hiking season will last a period of six weeks. During this time each girl will be required to take one ten mile hike each week after the first week for 100 points. For 75 points she must take at least two ten mile hikes.

In swimming points may be gained as follows provided she has participated throughout the season. For passing test A—100 points; test B—75 points; test C—50 points. Test C is one given to beginners, test B to intermediates and test A to the Life Saving group. Mr. Carr, National Red Cross Field Representative will be on this campus the week of April 5 in order to give both Senior and Examiners Test in Life Saving.

When a Co-ed totals 750 points in two consecutive years she is awarded a point monogram. In order to receive this monogram each individual must have at least one sport with 100 points to her credit and may only include three sports each season. If within three years 1150 points have been earned, a blazer with the college seal is awarded. A blanket, the highest athletic award possible, is given for a total of 1600 points in four years.

Here's One Smoke for MEN

For the little girls toy with their long, slim holders—let them park scented cigarettes with their powder compacts. That's the time for you to go in for a REAL MAN'S smoke.

And what can that be but a PIPE!

There's something about a time-proven, companionable pipe that does satisfy a man's smoking instincts. You become attached to it—like the way it clears your head, stirs your imagination, puts a keen edge on your thinking.

And you know the heights of true smoking satisfaction when you keep your pipe filled with Edgeworth. It's the finest blend of choice, selected burleys. And its mellow flavor and rich aroma have made Edgeworth the favorite among pipe tobacco in 42 out of 54 leading American colleges and universities.

Edgeworth? You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or, if you wish to try before you buy, send for special free packet. Address Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive eleven-step process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 15¢ per packet package to $1.50 per pound tin.

H2E HOLDS CIRCUS IN BLOW GYMNASIUM

Tucker Jones and Marguerite Roberts Direct Annual Program. Physical Ed. Classes Present Skits, Tableaux, and Dances.

Under the able guidance of Mr. Tucker Jones, Ringmaster, Miss Marguerite Wynn-Roberts, general manager, and the co-ed committee in charge, the annual H2E Club Circus achieved another brilliant success, on Monday night, March 21, in the Blow Gymnasium. One of the highlights of the performance was Mr. Tucker Jones as Ringmaster.

The Circus began in true circus fashion with a parade of all the participants of the entire show in full regalia.

In the first act, the members of the Women's Apparatus Club displayed their dexterity on the horses, buck and parallel bars and in tumbling. The Sophomore dancing class, clad in skating outfits of sweaters and skirts, then did a soft shoe dance called "Jingle Bells."

An amusing feature of the evening was the evolution of costumes as depicted by members of the Freshman gym classes. Costumes, both Gymnastic and Sport, were shown, ranging from the long, full bloomers and black cotton hose of 1890 to the colorful rompers of the present day.

Following this, six couples demonstrated the popular waltz steps, now in vogue.

Under the direction of Otis Douglas six of the tumblers and apparatus workers of the masculine sex proved their worth. Mr. Tucker Jones with his wrestlers, fencers, and boxers then gave an exhibition of combative sports. Mr. Jones demonstrated the various holds, breaks and positions in each of these sports.

In contrast with the foregoing events came two dances rendered by some of the William and Mary co-eds. The first, "Midnight," was as spooky as it sounds, while the "Loves of Pierrot" was beautifully interpreted with Marjorie Harper taking the lead.

Tableaux similar to those presented last year were staged most effectively. Figures in white, representing each of the sports, both men's and women's, stood in characteristic pose against a background of black. The tableaux were so arranged that different scenes were witnessed at the same time.

Next followed two more dances. One, given by Freshmen girls dressed like Raggedy Anns and Raggedy Anny, was entitled the "Arkansas Travelers." The second, the hit of the evening, was a skit picturing "Ma and Pa at the Sesqui," and was well received by an appreciative audience.

The Grand Finale, a "Mardi Gras" brought to a smashing climax the events of the entire evening. The whole cast in full costume danced around the gym in circular order leaving the audience with an impression worthy of the production.

Music for the program was furnished by the College Orchestra. The costumes were original and colorful.

The H2E Club which sponsors this event annually, was organized to promote Physical Education on this campus. It is composed of women who are Physical Education majors.

EUCLID CLUB TO SPONSOR BANQUET EARLY IN APRIL

The Euclid Club announces a banquet for new initiates to be held at Holly Brook Inn, April 5, at 7:30. All those eligible to attend the banquet are to meet in the lobby of Barrett Hall at 7 o'clock. Transportation to the Inn will be furnished.

Students who are to be initiated at the banquet include: Fay Logan, Camilla Nelson, Elizabeth Jacobs, Margaret Neale, Jack Freeman, Travis Hulse, Mildred Wallace, and Sarah Pope.

The Euclid Club endeavors to draw into closer union those students majoring or minoring in mathematics. Membership is limited to those students having a quality average in at least fifteen hours of math.

LITTLE THEATRE LEAGUE OFFERS "MISS LULU BETT"

Comedy to be Presented April 6. Cast Includes Mary Pyle, Dr. Southworth, Frances Galvin, Prof. McClellan, Prof. Carter, Margaret Galphin.

The Little Theatre League of Williamsburg is presenting "Miss Lulu Bett," a domestic comedy, by Zona Gale, on the night of April 6, at the Matthew Whaley High School. This play will be the second production of the League this year, "Mr. Pim Passes By," having been given in the fall under the direction of Mary Thurmann Pyle.

Mrs. Pyle will take the lead in the forthcoming production, filling the role of Miss Lulu Bett, the middle-aged maiden sister. Other members of the cast and the characters they will portray are:

Mrs. Clyde Trudell, Ina Deacon, sister of Lulu Bett; Dr. S. D. Southworth, Dwight Herbert Deacon, her husband, a "Babbitt" type; Mary King Lee and Colvin, Monona and Diana Deacon, their eighteen and ten year-old daughters; Douglas Stackhouse, Bobby Larkin, suitor of Monona; Miss Margaret Galphin, Mrs. Bett, aged mother of Lulu and Ina; Professor J. D. Carter, Neil Cornish, a neighbor and friend; and Professor R. C. McClellan, Ninian Deacon. The Misses Laura Colvin and Mildred Matier will direct the performance.

"Miss Lulu Bett" will mark the initial appearance of Mrs. Clyde Trudell and Miss Margaret Galphin, college librarian, with the League players.

Mary King Lee has been active in dramatics at the Matthew Whaley High School. Dr. Southworth, president of the Little Theatre League, has previously appeared in their presentations of "Yessiree Arizona," and "Streets of New York." Douglas Stackhouse appeared in "Mr. Pim Passes By." Mr. Carter has had experience with the League players and has served as director. Mr. McClellan played in "Streets of New York" last year. Mary Pyle needs no introduction on the campus, having appeared in several presentations of the William and Mary Players.

DR. YOUNG ATTENDS S. P. S. IN RICHMOND

Dr. White, National Secretary, Also in Charge of Installing Chi Chapter in Elaborate Ceremonies at the University.

Dr. Marsh W. White, national secretary of Sigma Pi Sigma, honorary physics fraternity, and Dr. R. C. Young, head of the physics department of the College of William and Mary, had charge of the ceremony installing Chi Chapter of the society at the University of Richmond last Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

The initiates in the ceremonies included Dr. R. E. Loving, head of the physics department of the University; Dr. C. L. Allbright, associate physics professor; E. G. Pickels, W. C. Decker, class of '32; Miss Marian Clark, Miss Florence Siebert, R. Perkins, T. C. Newell, H. R. Bailey, class of '33; L. G. Crutchfield, H. B. Kinchloe, D. B. Selden and E. A. Williams, Jr., senior class; H. Van Allen, class of '34.

E. G. Pickels has been elected president of the group and W. C. Decker, vice-president; J. R. Perkins secretary and Miss Marian Clark, treasurer.

C. D. Moore of the science department of John Marshall; W. R. Galvin, head of the science department at Thomas Jefferson, and R. R. Chappell, former associate professor of physics at the University, were present as alumni charter members.

The first open meeting of the new honorary chapter was held on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock in the physics building of the University when Dr. Marsh White lectured on "Energy Relations in X-Ray Tubes."

Sigma Pi Sigma is an honorary physics fraternity and is eligible to those taking an advanced course in physics and making a grade that is above the average. This organization has the distinction of being the only national physics fraternity in the country.

22 CO-EDS ARE NOMINATED AT STUDENT GOVERNMENT MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

The polls will be held, Friday, April 1, and will be open from 4:00 to 5:30. They will be held as usual in all of the dormitories. This is the last group of officers to be elected. The entire group of officers will be installed on April 4.

PLAYERS PRESENT "AS YOU LIKE IT"

Shakespearean Comedy Successfully Staged Friday, Saturday Nights; Production Abounds in Music and Color.

The William and Mary Players production of the Shakespearean comedy "As You Like It" on last Friday and Saturday nights was one of the most delightful presentations that has ever been seen on the campus. It was a beautifully staged and charmingly acted production which completely captivated two large audiences. The acting and characterizations of the large cast were excellent and the costuming and sets were beautiful.

The performances of the players were all extremely competent, with some of the cast turning in some delightful pieces of work. Charles Frost, filling the role of Orlando, gave the best performance since his connection with the Players. He was obviously much more at home in this light role than in the previous tragic parts which he played, and evidently delighting in the opportunity that it presented to him, gave a thoroughly graceful piece of acting.

As Rosalind, Jean Upsall was required to carry an extremely heavy role, and her credit is the greater for her able performance. Her scenes with Orlando, in which mannish exterior all too patently covered a maiden's heart, were among the most charming pieces of work in the performance.

Evelyn Kohlmorgan, in the role of Celia, gave one of the best performances of the evening and one of the best of her career with the Players. Thoroughly in command of her characterization, she moved through the part with ease, and made most effective use of all her abilities and charms to bring out the full possibilities of the role.

Howard Scammon continued the high standard of work that he set as "Clutie" John in "John Ferguson." He played the part of the clownish Touchstone with an air of self-conscious importance that rendered his performance most delightful.

The role of Jaques was played by Maurice Berkwitz with the usual ability that this excellent actor shows. He made the most of his rather short appearances in the building up of his character. The seven ages of man speech was very effective.

The minor roles of the production were all very ably played, and showed a thoroughness of training that bespeaks very careful direction. To enumerate the various excellencies of the entire cast would require more space than is available, but some performances were so outstanding as to command special mention. Betty Brunstetter, playing in role of Audrey, made her short appearance among the high spots of the evenings. Her naive joyousness was particularly attractive. Sewall Logan, in his very short moment on the stage, showed how effective a small part could be made. The scene in which he appeared with Audrey and Touchstone was a very strong piece of work. Evan Shaw and Edgar Weigand, playing as the usurper and banished duke respectively, were both dual in appearance and character. Gladys Monroe, cast as the haughty Phoebe, moved through her part with grace and ability.

A feature of the performances was the music. Thomas McCaskey singing of the Shakespearean lyrics was very attractive. Mr. Small's overture was more in the nature of incidental music. It added a great deal to the two performances.
