DEBATE TEAM TO LEAVE FOR WESTERN TRIP

Locals Leave Wednesday For Jaunt to Extend As Far West As Missouri

FIVE DEBATES ON SCHEDULE

Hampden-Sidney, Emory and Henry,
Centre, Westminster and Wesleyan to Meet Locals

Encouraged by the success of the debaters who returned from a southern debate trip last week, another team will leave Williamsburg Wednesday, for a debate trip west. The team will include William B. Bolton, M. Weldon Thompson, and perhaps a third man. The question used throughout the trip will be the same as has been used throughout the season by the William and Mary debate teams, that of intervention by armed force before a formal declaration of war. The team on the western trip will uphold both sides of the question.

The first opponents to be met by the Indian debaters will be Hampden-Sidney College. This college has a strong record in Virginia debating circles, and the local debaters expect to encounter stiff opposition at this institution. The following night, the locals will again debate in Virginia, meeting Emory and Henry College, at Emory, Va. Emory and Henry holds a record second to none in debating, and should the Indian debaters be able to take them into camp, the season will indeed have been a fortunate one.

On the following night, a debate with Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, Tenn., is pending. Lincoln Memorial is another member of the Smoky Valley section which has shown herself outstanding in debate work. After meeting the Tennessee university, the Indians will journey on up into Kentucky meeting there the strong Centre College. The "praying Colonels" have proved themselves during the past seasons as formidable on the platform as they are in athletics, and should give the William and Mary representatives a good scrap.

After meeting Centre on Saturday night, the locals will travel on Sunday, arriving in Missouri on Monday, where they will meet two foes. The first will be Westminster College of Fulton, Mo. Westminster will be remembered for their strong debate put up here last year, and since they lost to the same opponents who will meet them this year, Bolton and Thompson, they will probably be primed for the contest in the hope of getting revenge for their defeat last year at Williamsburg. After leaving Westminster, the Indians will meet Central Wesleyan College of Warrenton, Mo., another outstanding member of the Missouri Valley league in debating. Central Wesleyan have published a syllabus on the same question which is being debated by the Indian team, and since this syllabus is being used by the William and Mary team itself for reference work, it is at least certain that the Warrenton institution are not expecting to be surprised.

Omicron Delta Kappa Tap Services To Be Held in Phi Beta Kappa Hall Wednesday

Spring tap services of the William and Mary chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, foremost national honor society drawing members from the undergraduate body, will take place in Phi Beta Kappa auditorium, Wednesday night, March 14, it was announced yesterday. At that time the present members will pass among the student body and tap those men who are designated the principal campus leaders in various lines of endeavor.

The names of those to be taken into membership are not made public until the ceremony actually takes place.

Donald K. Van Wormer, president of the honor society at William and Mary, will preside. It is expected that Dean Prince of Richmond will deliver the customary address.

Eleven students and one faculty member were tapped last fall, the faculty member being Dr. W. T. Hodges, dean of freshmen.

CO-ED DEBATORS WIN AND LOSE

Local Team Triumphs Over Swarthmore and Loses to Temple University

The Co-ed debate team of William and Mary returned from their northern trip bringing a technical victory from Swarthmore and a loss to Temple by five audiences. Misses Helen Maffett, Constance Jamieson and Virginia Nicholas, representing William and Mary upheld the affirmative side of the question "Resolved that the United States Should Cease Protecting, by Force of Arms, Capital Invested in Foreign Lands Except After Formal Declaration of War."

At Swarthmore College and at Temple University the Oxford type of debate was used and decision was made by an audience vote. Before the debate, the audience voted as to which side they thought ought to win. After the debate they voted again to decide which side should win, and the mean of these two votings was taken as the decision, giving the William and Mary team a technical win over Swarthmore and a loss to Temple by five audience votes. There were no rebuttals but members of the audience were allowed to ask questions of the debaters.

Miss Constance Jamieson, according to Miss Helen Maffett, Chairman of the Women's Debate Council, deserves a great deal of credit and praise for the fine spirit with which she upheld her arguments. It has been reported that the debating coaches of both Swarthmore College and Temple University stated that had the decision been rendered by judges instead of by audience vote the William and Mary team would have brought home two decisive victories.

At both Swarthmore and Temple the William and Mary girls were entertained charmingly. At Temple a bridge and tea were given for them and following the debate at Swarthmore the girls were entertained in various ways.

DEBATORS "BAT" .750 ON TRIP

Locals Defeat Davidson, Furman and Wofford and Lose to Wake Forest

William and Mary's debate team has finally managed to throw off the jinx which has been following it all season, according to announcement of W. H. Elliott, Jr., debate manager, on his return from a southern trip, the results of which were three to one in the Indians favor.

The first debate of the southern trip was held last Tuesday, at Wake Forest College, with the Indian representatives Elliott, Lamberth, and Kelsey upholding the affirmative side of the query, "Resolved that the United States Should Cease to Protect, by Armed Force, Capital Invested in Foreign Lands, Except After a Formal Declaration of War." The debate went to Wake Forest by an audience decision, no judges being present.

The following night, the Indian debaters changed over to the negative side of the same question, with Elliott and Kelsey as representatives. This time they easily gained a judges' decision from their opponents, Davidson College. The debate was not held at Davidson, but in the auditorium of Queen's College in Charlotte, N. C.

Thursday night found the William and Mary team in South Carolina to meet Furman University at Greenville, with the Indians again taking the affirmative side of the question. Kelsey and Lambeth gained a judges' decision over their opponents. Friday night the team did not debate, but Saturday were still in South Carolina, at which time the same William and Mary men, Kelsey and Lambeth, met Wofford College at Spartanburg, and again gained a judges decision over their opponents, giving the William and Mary debaters the record of winning all the debates held that were decided by judges decision, the only loss being at the hands of an audience decision.

ELIZABETH DUKE HEADS WOMEN FOR 1928-1929

NEW PRESIDENT

Virginia Elizabeth Duke, Women's Student Government Association.

WOMEN'S RESOLUTIONS

Whereas we, the women students of William and Mary College, do not think that women's activities are receiving the proper recognition in the weekly publication, "The Flat Hat," do demand of the staff the following changes:

1. That the same space, heading, and prominent place be given to women's activities that are given to parallel activities of the men. To illustrate: the article on the Women's Student Government elections deserved greater publicity from the viewpoint of the number of students interested and affected than did the three weeks advance notice of a redheaded chorus featuring Minus Mary; equally as unfair were the big headlines of the men's debate trip compared to the small box in which the co-ed debate trip was related.

2. That the women's representatives on the editorial staff be allowed to write editorials on events and problems touching the women students. We resent heartily such editorials as the plea for tennis courts back of Rogers Hall to the complete disregard of the needs of women's tennis courts near Barrett Hall. Perhaps the solution would be the election of a co-editor to represent the women.

Be it resolved that this be sent to the "Flat Hat" staff and be published on the front page of the following issue.

WILL PRESENT "AN EVENING IN OLE VIRGINIA" HERE MARCH 12

Mrs. Ruby Biggers' Charming Play to Be Presented in PBK Hall

"An Evening in Ole Virginia," writ-

Vaughan Bigger of Richmond, will be presented here in the Phi Beta Kappa Hall on Friday March 16 under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. The play will be in two parts, the first consisting of tableaux and the second of singing, dancing, and instrumental music. In the first part Mrs. Bigger, dressed in old-fashioned costume, will read the story as the tableaux are presented. Miss Polly Venable will have the leading tableaux role.

Characters in the play will be portrayed by students and townspeople. A number of professors' children will participate. Tryouts for the cast were held this week and the full cast will be announced at an early date.

"An Evening in Ole Virginia" tells the story of Lady Nancy Astor and her old colored mammy in the part entitled "My Miss Nancy." Mrs. Bigger is well-known as a writer and a portrayer of old Virginia life and her mimicry of negro dialect has been particularly well-received and appreciated by previous audiences. Local Virginia newspapers speak in enthusiastic terms of Mrs. Bigger and her play, and the J. E. B. Stuart Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy recommends the play as a most successful and charming one.

Miss Eva Atkinson is in charge of the selection of students to take part in the entertainment and Mrs. Kathleen Hipp, Miss Althea Hunt, Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, and Mr. George Brooks will assist in the production. Miss Katherine Rhodes is in charge of ticket sales.

REV. J. H. MILLER ADDRESSES YWCA

Local Baptist Minister Talks On "A Christian Philosophy of Life"

In an address to the Y. W. C. A. on "A Christian's Philosophy of Life," Rev. J. Hillis Miller, pastor of the Williamsburg Baptist Church, formulated three fundamental factors in the philosophy of life which were first, seeing life whole; second, having something first; third, that experience must be lived.

To "see life whole" there must be elimination, subordination, and assimilation, for said Mr. Miller "seeing life whole is to see life broadly, steadily, seriously, and proportionately; not just a worm's eye view nor a fleeting glance but a long gaze, not with long faces but with serious aspect, not giving major places to minor things but giving to each worthwhile thing a specific place."

In pointing a way to deciding what should be first, Mr. Miller said that there can be no neutral ground, that no two things can be first and that therefore the thing placed first should be the controlling thing in life. In applying these points to religion, Mr. Miller quoted the Bible saying "you cannot serve God and Mammon" and "seek ye first the kingdom of God."

"Experience must be lived; there is no substitute for experience or for the knowledge that experience brings," said Mr. Miller. "If we have a conception of religion we ought to live it; not just think it for a thing isn't true unless it can be lived in experience." It was pointed out that religious experience must be lived individually because religion is a personal, definite experience which cannot be gotten vicariously or through someone's efforts in your behalf.

In concluding Mr. Miller stated that "the greatest consolation in the world

GERMAN CLUB DANCES TONIGHT AT 8:30 O'CLOCK IN JEFFERSON

NOTICE

On Wednesday, March 14, Barnes and Noble, a New York Firm, will have its representative at the College Shop. The representative will buy all old text books from the students who wish to sell them. The firm goes from school to school buying these books.

Bedouin Orchestra of Richmond Will Play for Dance; No Dansant Today

The Co-ed dances will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock tonight, lasting until 1 o'clock. The dance is being sponsored by the German Club and will be held in Jefferson gym.

Unlike former years there will be but one series of dances, the dansant being eliminated. There will be only eight dances scheduled, in place of the usual eighteen, the ones mentioned also including the encores. The decorating of the gym, in charge of a committee of German Club members is said to be most attractive and something entirely new in design. The plan has not been made public, but it is reported to be even more elaborate than in previous years.

The Bedouin Orchestra of Richmond will furnish the music for the dance. The Bedouins come highly recommended and are known as one of the snappiest jazz orchestras in the South. They have played at various college dances and have had several engagements in cities of Virginia.

This year a fine of fifty cents will be charged to every girl with a date arriving at the dance after 9 o'clock. The dance will begin on time and the German Club requests everyone to be there at the time stated.

HAMILTON BACK FROM MEETINGS

Local Dean Returns From Fraternity Meetings Held In Washington, D. C.

Dr. William A. Hamilton, Dean of the School of Economics and Business Administration, returned recently from Washington, D. C., where he attended the Conference of Law and many professional fraternities upon the desirability of founding a national organization. Dr. Hamilton represented at the latter meeting of Chi Beta Phi scientific fraternity, of which he is national vice-president and the Phi Delta Gamma, forensic fraternity, of which he is grand secretary and editor of the national magazine.

The purpose of the pre-conference of the professional fraternities was to consider the desirability of founding a Conference of Professional Fraternities to set standards and establish comity throughout the system of professional organizations. Organizations of several professions, including medical, legal, engineering, dental, scientific, educational, commercial and others were represented.

D. W. Davis Recommends That Pre-Med Students Make Applications Soon

The recommendation that William and Mary students planning to enter medical schools make application at once has been made by Dr. Donald W. Davis, head of the Biology Department here.

"Owing to the large number of applicants to the medical schools," Dr. Davis said, "these schools are urging that persons intending to enter medical or dental schools next fall make application at once. Each applicant should obtain an application blank from the school he proposes to enter, should fill in his part of the blank and submit it to the registrar's office for the transcript of his record at William and Mary. Recommendations will then be added, without further request, by the pre-medical committee."

DR. JOHN LESSLIE HALL

Whereas God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst our beloved friend and leader, Dr. John Leslie Hall, we, the members of the English Faculty of the College of William and Mary, desire to express our regard for him in the following resolutions:

(1) That the long and faithful service—the longest ever rendered by anyone to any department of this college:

The modesty and self-effacement in the effort to promote the cause of education and the welfare of the college to which he had allied himself:

The call to clean living and high thinking which he sounded at all times:

The solid scholarship and devotion to noble traditions:

of John Leslie Hall, shall all furnish a splendid inspiration to us whose task it is to carry forward his great work at the College of William and Mary.

(2) That a copy of these resolutions be communicated to the family, to the Secretary of the Faculty of the College to be included in the College records, to the College publications, to the learned societies of which he was a member, and to the public press.

Is the Honor System Weakening?

The recent action of the library in changing the method of giving the students reference books is a serious reflection on the workings of the honor system. That students cannot be trusted with the use of reference books is lamentable; why the honor council has not taken some action is surprising.

It is to be regretted that here where the honor system was conceived and brought into being that the system should seem to fail. The library is not to be blamed; their action is justified. The repeated loss of valuable books placed for the use of the students necessitated some drastic action.

This is another instance where the innocent must suffer for the guilty. For ninety-five per cent of the students the new arrangement would never have been necessary. It is the careless, thoughtless, abominable methods of the other five per cent that have made such an inconvenient plan, now in existence, necessary.

The Women Speak

Count Keyserling's theories about present American tendencies may be right if the action taken by the women students here Monday in regard to their rights is indicative of any widespread tendencies.

We congratulate the women on their interest in the publications. It is gratifying to find at last that they do have some interest in the things that are going on.

In behalf of the staff the Flat Hat wishes to make the following statements that may or may not answer the arguments of the women students. In regard to the small space that was run in regard to the election last week: if one will notice the Flat Hat of the preceding week one will see that there is a front page article in regard to the elections. The following issue ran nothing that concerned the elections but the ballot. The reason is that members of the staff were not able to gather any additional information from the women. In this issue where some information could be gained we gave proper emphasis to the story.

In regard to the comparative importance given to the two debate stories; the women reporters were unable to gather any fuller information in regard to the women's debate trip than was published. The story was not of sufficient length to run under a large head. The consequence was that the story was run in a box, bold face, the next most attractive get-up.

At no time has the editor refused to print opinions or editorials submitted by the women. As far as we recall but one editorial has been submitted by a woman on the staff and this was published in the issue of November 11. In these columns twice before statements have been published to the effect that the Flat Hat would gladly receive contributions from all students.

We have nothing but praise for the women on the present staff. They work industriously to secure news. The main difficulty is always that the coed news is hard to get. Ask any of the women members of the staff about the difficulties that the staff has to undergo. Ask them also who it is that stays up late editing the copy that comes in at the last minute, and who it is that has to rush to the train the last minute to get off the copy.

If the women will cooperate better with their reporters, their news articles will receive more prominence. The staff will gladly cooperate in any item planned. We appeal for more understanding on the part of those who know little of the difficulties of getting out such a paper.

A GLIMPSE INTO the COLLEGE WORLD

Here and There among the Exchanges of the Flat Hat

The student Council! Government at Amherst College recently tendered their resignations in a body to the faculty. This action was taken as a result of the punishment for infractions of the college in employing a watchman to spy on students while an honor system was supposedly in effect.

John Frier, president of Princeton University, says that the average college man has too much money to spend at college. He maintains that moving pictures, student-owned automobiles, too great indulgence in extra curricula activities, and the over generosity of parents are the principal causes for failure.

In commenting upon American college customs, F. J. Nugee, assistant headmaster of Radley School, England, has two chief complaints to make: (1) the lack of adequate facilities for having ones shoes "furbished up," and (2) the American custom of "cutting in" at dances.

The Psychology Department of Bryn Mawr has disclosed the results of its experiment on body weights and examinations after a period of two years. During that time students were weighed before and after their mid-year exams, and the results in loss or gain of weight were compared with the number of honor points they made this year. It was found that those averaging a loss of a pound or less made the best average in honor points. Those who gain or lose more than one pound did worse.

Dr. Leuba, in making the announcement, explained that "Calorimeter tests show that purely intellectual work has little or no effect on metabolism. Hence, the changes in body weight are referred to emotional stress."

A two-year college playing rule is the latest proposal in the wave of attempted athletic reform which is being experienced by our various educational institutions. This proposition has been offered for adoption at Oberlin College by its president.

An attempt is being made to improve the standards of English as used by the average undergraduate at Syracuse University. All seniors must pass a general English test or their degrees may be withheld.

University of Michigan has definitely determined to begin next fall, the plan of conferring two-year diplomas on students deemed incapable of carrying upper division work.

"The influence of the American college and university has resulted in an improvement of the drama," Professor Pierce Baker, famous play-maker of Yale University, told a student audience at Brown University. In his opinion it is the increased intelligent study of the drama and of stage mechanisms which has led to a greater respect for the stage and actors.

University of Southern California has added a unique building to its campus. It will house all student offices and is called Student Union.

North Carolina College for Women is to have a new proctor system whereby every girl in school except members of the senate will serve for a time as proctor.

The Seniors at the University of Richmond have adopted Piccadilly collars as the official insignia of their class with derbies, canes, spats, and monocles as optional accoutrements.

AMONG THE ALUMNI

By John B. Green

The Flat Hat has recently received a letter from J. Hubbard Lloyd '05, who is engaged in missionary work in Wakayama, Japan. Mr. Lloyd stated and gets a great deal of pleasure out of the news it brings him. He seems particularly interested in the restoration plan which is being carried out both in the college and the town itself, and sent his congratulations to Dr. Goodwin accompanying them with best wishes for the success of the project.

In his letter Mr. Lloyd reminded the recipient "to give my warmest regards to Dr. J. Leslie Hall. I often go back in thought to the good times we used to have in his classes." Sad to say this message was never delivered for Dr. Hall's death occurred three days before the letter's arrival.

It was the writer's great privilege and pleasure to meet and talk with Captain Jesse S. Jones, who was a visitor on the campus last week. Captain Jones was a member of the class of 1856 and is the oldest living graduate. He was 93 at his last birthday. His looks belie his age, however, for we would have felt safe in placing his age low in the seventies. He is very active and takes the keenest interest in life and everything connected with it. Street cars hold no charms for him and he confessed that a daily walk to the market only half suffices in his desire for exercise.

Captain Jones is a retired banker and makes his home in Hampton. He never loses his interest in his Alma Mater and has kept up with each step in its growth and development. In his tour of the campus he seemed very much enthused over each new building which has been added to the college group. The three buildings on the front campus composed the entire college plant in '56, according to his statement, and students lived in the Main Building as well as in Brafferton.

Our little chat with the Captain was most enjoyable and we sincerely hope his visits will be even more frequent in the future.

Miss Katherine Wicker, who transferred here from George Peabody College in 1922, and took her Master's degree, was a visitor here last weekend. Miss Wicker is a member of the faculty of Hampton High School. She was the fourth woman to take a Master's degree from William and Mary.

THE OPEN FORUM

Editor of the Flat Hat,

My Dear Sir:

An ancient has said that justice does not always fall with equal hand upon all alike. Now I can think of no adage that fits the case that I have in mind, as this one does. I am referring to the Library. I have often remarked that Nemesis lurks steadfastly on the trail of students in the Library, who get too talkative, but when a professor comes in, well—the god of vengeance just seems to take a vacation.

It can easily be understood why the Librarian and his assistants do not hesitate to call students down for their garrulity, but as to a professor, that is another question. It would be somewhat embarrassing for the librarian, in charge at the time a professor comes in, and begins to commit himself to excessive parlance,

"LORD BOTETOURT SAYS"

By Bill

Many years ago in the time which historians of the college have been pleased to call its second childhood, the paltry handful of students who comprised the targets for proctor gun-practice, grew exceedingly restless. It was Spring and what group of students are there who do not weary of the class-room when that goddess comes to touch with her magic the old campus? Such a group was this of which we shall recount a simple tale that has come down to us as a legacy of tradition.

One day the news gradually went the rounds that a raid had been made on the pantry. The pies and puddings, together with a goodly store of canned goods had been stolen.

The faculty were hastily corralled and a council of discipline was called to determine what should be done to the culprits—if they were found.

An old room, the identity of which has since been swallowed up in the colossal growth of the college, was used as a meeting place for the sages. A student had in the meantime crawled underneath the building to a place where he could see and hear the proceedings of this far-famed star-chamber. Six men, including the president, had assembled and these solons debated long in the afternoon. No decision could be reached—the moment was critical. The professor of mathematics had given it up; trig could not solve the problem, he had assured himself. One professor rose and moved that they all be shipped; another, who had read the Justinian Code in the original, said that since the students had stolen the food, the same should go without it. It being a typical faculty meeting, no one respecting the other's opinion, no decision could be reached.

Suddenly from somewhere a missile came flying through the air and landed with a crash on the table around which the Archons sat. Fright involuntarily seized them and they closed their eyes for fear of some great natural phenomenon. The papers had been full of halitosis—we mean Halley's comet). Someone breathed a prayer.

When they opened their eyes again, no sign of anything unnatural met their fearful gaze. The cigar butts lay undisturbed on the table, and not a poker-chip had stirred. The meeting came to a hasty close, and that Sanhedran, it must be confessed, broke in undignified disorder.

That night a professor's wife smiled happily. These husbands and professors weren't so bad—nor absent-minded after all, she thought, as she extracted a can of corned beef from her husband's coat pocket.

Yours truly
A Student

WILLIAM AND MARY ROLL OF FAME

Not only has William and Mary unquestionably had more priorities than any other American college of which to be justly proud, but she has also turned out a group of distinguished alumni that perhaps outrivals that of any other educational institution in this country.

That students in this College may glean some idea of the Roll of Fame to which William and Mary makes claim, the Flat Hat believes it worthwhile to print a list of those alumni who have been the dramatis personae in the development and growth of the American nation.

Nebraska Honoraries on Verge of Extinction at Hands of Student Body

Lincoln, Neb. (New Student Service). Six underclass honorary societies of the University of Nebraska are on the verge of death, their fate now resting in faculty hands.

Their abolition was recommended by the student council, following long agitation against purposeless organization by The Daily Nebraskan. The defense pleas. In announcing the council action The Nebraskan said editorially:

"There was little justification for these societies which had existed solely because certain ambitious men and women students wished to have important sounding club names placed among their achievements in college activities."

The Nebraskan used the past tense because it expected—and hoped—that the faculty would impose death immediately.

The honoraries in question are distinguished by such fine names as Vikings, Silver Serpents, Iron Sphinx, Xi Delta, Green Goblins, and Mystic Fish.

SOCIETY IN ITALY

After a short suspension of meetings, members of the J. Leslie Hall Literary Society resumed their World Tour this week when they traveled through Italy conducted by Misses Marion Handy, Peggy Hall, Lenore Schofield and Lee Lavenstein.

Miss Handy told of her "Travels through Italy;" Miss Hall sang several familiar and well-loved Italian songs; Miss Schofield discussed Italian art and its outstanding masters. A few short poems of Arnold Daly were read by Miss Lavenstein and Miss Catherine Lam gave Current Events.

Middlebury college has instituted a new course described by the officials as an "intensive course in etiquette." This course has been made compulsory for freshmen.

The Student Council at Ursinus College plays no favorites. Recently the president of the college and two professors were hauled before the court charged with violating a school rule prohibiting walking on the grass. They pleaded guilty and were fined one dollar each.

Indianette Basketeers on Road to Another Triumphant Season

WILLIAM AND MARY CO-EDS NOW HAVE RECORD OF FIVE VICTORIES AND NO DEFEATS; LAST ROAD TRIP ACCOUNTS FOR ADDITIONAL WINS

Locals Win Over Adelphi and New York University While In Gotham

Indianettes Now Pointing For George Washington Game, Last Fray of Season

With a record of five victories and no defeats, the Indianette basketball team is on the road toward another triumphant season. After beginning the season with a one sided score over the Richmond Medical College, successive swamping of Sweet Briar, and Lynchburg, the Co-eds chalked up two other decisive victories over Adelphi and New York University last weekend in New York.

The contest with Adelphi Saturday evening was a fumbling and rather slow affair, the Northerners being completely outplayed and bewildered by the superior speed and tactics of the Co-eds. Several times the Yankees attempted to stage comebacks but were effectually halted, the final score being 26-15. Ewart, right forward on the Adelphi sextette played a brilliant game, while Adler, jumping center was also in the lime-light for the opposing team.

New York U. offered more serious competition on Monday afternoon, Swift passwork and good defense were the keynotes of this contest, the two rivals being about equally matched. During the first half, however, the Red and Purple were a bit dazed by the speedy onslaught of the W. and M. girls, but recovered in the second period raising the score to the close margin of 30-28 in favor of the Indianettes.

Warshaw, speedy right forward, led the attack against William and Mary, netting some fast shots from the field, while the work of Lindeblad and Gigganti, jumping and side centers was also worthy of mention. De Shazo and Tanner, did their usual fine work for the local Co-eds. Winn and Burke did some good guarding and Sinclair and Wilkins showed up well as jumping and side centers.

Only one foe remains to impede the forward march of the Indianettes and that foe is George Washington. Next Saturday in Jefferson gym the local Co-eds will stack up against the hard driving Colonial sextette, which will probably offer the stiffest competition of this year. George Washington is an old rival of the Varsity and will invade the home court, fresh from victories wrested from some of the best teams of the East. A real combat is expected. Last season the Indianettes stole the lead from their opponents only after three quarters of the hardest playing, ending the

Strenuous practice periods are being held to round the girls into shape for this game, defense tactics being strengthened and the team further trained into a smooth working unit. It is felt that the experience gained from the out of state victories over Adelphi and New York U. will be no little asset in conquering the Colonials.

Another March Schedule for Here Tomorrow Night in Blow Gymnasium

Tomorrow night the wrestling team will engage the Norfolk Y. M. C. A. for the second time this year. The first meet ended 13-9 in favor of the local team. At these bouts the work of Blossom and Mercer, and Enfield and Jackson were the features of the last meet. It is probable that these same ones will engage each other again.

This will be the third meet of the year for the wrestlers, they having defeated the Norfolk Y and having lost to the Richmond Y earlier in the season. This sport, a new one at this institution, is having a successful year. It is coached by Captain Blossom and managed by William Bolton.

GOLFERS MEET G. W. APRIL 21

William and Mary to Meet Colonials On Yorktown Links Next Month

Assurance of the introduction of golf as an intercollegiate sport at William and Mary was given today with the announcement by Coach Art Matsu of a match with George Washington University April 21 at Yorktown. This is the first match scheduled for William and Mary's link team.

George Washington wrote recently for a match, and the invitation was accepted.

The final team has not been chosen, but candidates are: Frank Graven, Sam Wilcox, Richard D. Mullooney, James Reynolds and Shermer Stradley.

DeShazo Still Leads Coeds; Has 30 Points

Captain Lena DeShazo, Indianette basketball leader, still leads the Co-eds as a result of last week's games. Her record is 36 field goals and 8 foul shots, making a total of 80 counts. Tanner is second with 17 field goals and 7 fouls and a total of 41 shots. Pierce ranks third with 2 goals and 3 fouls, and Maitland fourth with 1 foul shot.

Women Showing Interest In Indoor Baseball Here

Indoor baseball practice periods have been held daily, a large number of girls turning out for this sport. Two teams have been selected, composed of odds and evens and captains and managers elected. The captain of the odds is Page Vaughan and the manager is Virginia Buston, while Nancy Johnston has been designated to lead the evens, and Harriet Zimmerman, the manager. A series of games will be waged between the two teams at some future date. Those doing the most outstanding work on these teams will be picked for positions on the honorary Varsity.

Thirteen Men Back In College Who Wear Track Letters; W. & M.

INDIAN TRACK LEADERS

Scrap Chandler, coach, and Meb Davis, captain, of the William and Mary 1928 track team.

Good weather which prevailed during the early part of the week permitted Coach Scrap Chandler to issue the call for track candidates to report to Cary Field for initial outdoor workouts. Work has begun in earnest since the first meet is only about three weeks off, when the Indians meet the Virginia Tech runners here.

The large number of last year's varsity track men who failed to return to school will place extra hardships on Coach Chandler in forming a 1928 team which will be equal to the strenuous schedule ahead. Captain Tiny Grove, holder of college shot put and discus records; Tom Yates, holder of college record for the 440 yard dash; Neighbors, dash man; Gram, Babb, Parsons and Caplan distance men; Davilla, high jump; Taylor, high jump; Baggett, hurdles, are

GRID PRACTICE STARTS HERE

Conditioning Will Be Aim First Two Weeks; Scrimmages Slated For Last of This Month

Spring football which was inaugurated at William and Mary last year, has been progressing for a week in Blow Gym and on Cary Field. The work for the first two weeks will consist chiefly of conditioning, with scrimmages scheduled for the last of this month. Coaches Tasker and Todd have been in charge of the practice.

Veteran linemen who are on hand are George Nofal, Brownie Bauserman, Elliot Ricketson, W. Paxson, Rice, Punk Power, Werblow, Wilkens, Yel Kent, Bill Fields, Al Walrath and Captain Fats Carmichael. Spud Blossom, Runt Taylor, Teddie Bauserman, Justis, Bill Scott, Mose Mozeleski, Hunt and Harris are the outstanding backfield men. In addition to these the members of last year's freshmen eleven will be on hand to battle the veterans for their positions.

The Indianettes have made a remarkable and enviable record thus far. With not a single defeat to mar the season with no defeats. In three years the co-eds have won twenty-one games in twenty-two starts, the lone defeat coming at the hands of the Savage School of Physical Education, score being 34-19. The two victories in New York last week proved that Coach Barksdale has again perfected a wonderful sextette which can stack up against the nation's best.

Coach Tasker now has a likely looking baseball squad working out daily on Cary Field. The Indians are fortunate in having good weather since they will need plenty of training to be able to meet on an even footing with the unusually strong aggregations which come here early in April.

Spring track training has begun in preparation for the opening meet here with V. P. I. on March 31. The baseball schedule is in many respects one of the most remarkable ever attempted by any William and Mary athletic team, but many local sport fans contend that the track schedule even eclipses this. Read this lineup, V. P. I., Maryland, Navy, Harvard, Catholic U., Johns Hopkins, V. M. I., Richmond, Hampden-Sidney, Lynchburg and the Virginia Conference meet!

Through the courtesy of John Weymouth '94, we have received a clipping from the Richmond Times-Dispatch of May 19, 1908 giving an account of a William and Mary-Randolph Macon baseball game in which the Indians nosed out the Yellow Jackets by a 2 to 1 score. The unusual feature of the contest was the fact that William and Mary was held hitless throughout the game, while the Methodists garnered ten well bunched hits, and yet the former won, —something out of the beaten path of baseball.

After witnessing four sessions of the recent boxing tournament at Charlottesville, which packed the large Memorial Gymnasium with spectators at $2.00 per seat, we are inclined to agree with the writer of a letter to the Open Forum recently, advocating the addition of boxing to winter sports here. We have often wondered why intercollegiate boxing, a branch that is being recognized as a major sport at all the larger colleges, should be ignored at William and Mary. Statistics show that football and boxing are the only two college sports which are self-supporting. Intercollegiate boxing never fails to draw a full house in Virginia since professional bouts are prohibited in the state. We believe that boxing would not only be self-supporting, but would also bring in a surplus large enough to take care of the wrestling and swimming teams.

Three former William and Mary baseball stars have donned the uniform again this spring. Mike Smith, who is under contract to the Giants, is working out with the Shreveport Club of the Southern Association. Monk White, former Indian second baseman, is teaching the game to boys at Newport News High School. Tack Cook, star first baseman here several years ago, is coaching baseball at Hampton High.

STENTOR REFUSES TO LIMIT COLUMNS TO CAMPUS ITEMS

Lake Forest, Ill. (New Student Service)—While an occasional editor now is kept busy trying to explain to a critical communicant why the college paper limits itself to campus happenings, the editor of The Stentor explains to the student council why he doesn't restrict his paper to the campus exclusively.

The editor, Fred Genschmer, who gently ignored the council's first summons to discuss the paper's policy, was informed that he is "only an appointee of the council and subject to its action." As reported in The Stentor:

"The council point of view was epitomized by Mr. Macklin who stated that the students were not interested in literary and technical matters appearing in various columns; that more items of local interest should be covered; and that the news should be written down to the interest of the readers. The Student Council further contended that not enough space was being devoted to important student activities, such as the Junior Prom, Athletic Events, etc. In answer to these arguments the editor pointed out the growing tendency in modern colleges to outgrow provincialism; that it is by far easier to fill up a paper with accounts of events with which every reader is already acquainted; that news articles were purposely condensed so as to get a wider range of subjects; and that the students might voice their opinions in letters appearing in the paper. The Council, however, contended that the school paper should be more a matter of record than of student opinion or comment."

The meeting ended in a deadlock, and The Stentor is still grazing in foreign pastures.

A number of freshmen have come to William and Mary with good prep school records and some of them will fill the places left vacant by graduation last June. The greatest problem will probably be the low hurdles which were taken care of last year by Baggett and the weights where Tiny Grove has reigned supreme for several years.

A new system of debating, in which the rebuttal is replaced by the inter-questioning of opposite debaters, is being used by the public speaking classes at the University of Denver.

ALYN K. FOSTER SPEAKS HERE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Noted Speaker and Writer

Addresses

SPEAKS HERE

Dr. Allyn K. Foster, who made a series of addresses at William and Mary the first of this week.

VISIT SAID SUCCESSFUL

Conferences In Addition to Talks
Made at Convocations
Held

A return to old fashioned standards of chivalry "just as soon as girls learn to be a little more stern with men" was forecast by the Rev. Allyn K. Foster, nationally known lecturer, editor and author, who delivered a series of talks at William and Mary last week-end. Dr. Foster's addresses and a series of student conferences were conducted under the auspices of the campus Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

"There is a tendency now to criticize the attitude of men toward women," said Dr. Foster. "The women themselves can correct this fault by being just a bit sterner. Not one in a thousand men will disregard a girl's wishes in matters of conduct. If girls will become slightly more strict they will witness a return of the chivalric tendency."

Dr. Foster's visit was characterized as one of the most successful of its kind in years. Because of the attendance at student conferences Dr. Foster was forced to lengthen his stay in Williamsburg until Monday night. While he was here he addressed three official gatherings. Scores of students attended his discussion groups in Phi Beta Kappa hall.

Saturday at convocation Dr. Foster discussed "Conscience," which he termed one of the strongest factors in the search for happiness. He also declared the modern generation can justly hold up its head despite abuse being heaped upon it by critics.

"The modern generation is no worse than ours was," he said. "It is true the young people of today have more instruments for falling into trouble."

Sunday Dr. Foster spoke on "Prayer," and Monday discussed the relationship of science and religion.

"Science and religion," he said, "are two chief considerations in our modern civilization. Science has kept pace with the times but religion has been slower in adopting methods suitable to our modern temperaments. Not one of our scientists today would think of teaching the old formulas of alchemy and primitive arts, but there still are some men who believe in teaching religion by methods used two thousand years ago."

COLLEGE TRAINING BEST OPTIONAL IS OPINION OF MILES

Princeton, N. J. (By New Student Service)—An opponent of compulsory military training has been discovered by the Daily Princetonian in Captain L. Wardlaw Miles, former professor of English at Princeton, whose bravery during the war won for him the Congressional Medal.

"I am against compulsory military training in the colleges," said Captain Miles, "because I am not convinced that compulsory training is desirable for America in general, and because I am sure it would be a bad thing for the colleges in particular. Colleges ought to be places where young men go to satisfy intellectual curiosity. The less compulsion—except the compulsion to make intellectual slackers get out—the better."

"On the other hand I am for optional military training in colleges because I am glad to believe there are a certain number of college men who want voluntarily to prepare themselves for war should it come—"

CHI DELTA PHI INITIATES FOUR

Literary Sorority Holds Initiation and Banquet at W. & M.
Tuesday

Chi Delta Phi initiated four women Tuesday evening. The initiation was followed by a banquet. Miss Constance Jamison, who is president of the William and Mary chapter, acted as toastmistress.

The table was beautifully but simply decorated with jonquils and the sorority's colors, blue and gold. The favors were admirably suited to the occasion.

Chi Delta Phi, which was organized in October of 1919, is the only woman's national honorary literary sorority. The William and Mary chapter, Theta, was among the first established and today there are thirty-six chapters.

The women who were initiated were: Frances Lewis, Mary Ninninger, Kathleen Cone, and Edith Richardson.

Philomathean Society Holds Meeting Tonight

An interesting program was presented at the last meeting of the Philomathean Literary Society held Friday evening. Among the features were a poem by Thomas Varney and a reading and short talk by William Ringland. A fair sized crowd was in attendance.

The program of the society for this evening is as follows. Oration, H. C. Bradshaw; Reading, J. A. Johnson; Declamation, H. A. McKann and Page Newbill; and Current Events, Thomas Varney.

WILL HOLD BANQUET

Already the interest of the college students in regard to the Second Annual Young People's Banquet, to be held in the Methodist Church, on Thursday night, March 15, is running high.

Many plans have been put on about the elaborate program arranged. Miss Elizabeth Hugo, Chairman of the Banquet Committee, has prepared a very unique program, the contents of which are desired to be kept secret until the long waited for night. It is announced however, that the program will contain several musical numbers rendered by a stringed orchestra. Toasts will be given followed by readings of interest to every one present. A number of out of town people will appear on the program also.

The ladies of the church, who will serve, have planned an elaborate and most promising menu.

Edwin Lambeth will be the toastmaster.

"The National Joy Smoke" is no mere catch-phrase

YOU can prove it. Prince Albert is the Nation's largest-selling brand of pipe-tobacco. It brings joy to more smokers than any other brand. Q.E.D.! Your first fragrant whiff will set your mouth a-watering.

And your first taste of good old P.A. in a pipe will satisfy your pipe-hunger as nothing else ever has. Cool as the first period. Welcome as the last. Mellow and mild and long-burning, right to the bottom of the bowl. Try P.A., Fellows, on my say-so.

PRINCE ALBERT
—the national joy smoke!

A snappy roadster,
a wonderful girl,
and a pipeful of good old P.A.!

ARE RESTORING PAINTINGS HERE

Portraits of Lee and Jackson in Library Undergoing Treatment

Two portraits, one of General Lee, and the other of Stonewall Jackson, library two years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Gunther of Norfolk, and which previous to their being given the Library had hung in the Norfolk Club for several years, are at present being restored and cleaned by Mr. Ellis M. Silvette, of Richmond. Mr. Silvette, who is himself an artist of considerable achievement, has presented the Library with a reproduction of a portrait of Lee, of which he was the original painter. His portrait of Lee is held by many to be the best of the famous Confederate General that has ever been made. When completed the portraits will be placed on the Library walls along with the other portraits.

Will Make Photographs Of Library Pictures

Due to the efforts of Dr. E. C. Swem, photos of the innumerable manuscripts, documents, and pictures that the Library possesses will soon be accessible to members of the student body as well as to any persons desiring them at a cost of five cents per picture. Knowing full well that there are many students on the campus who would be interested in having replicas of these priceless historical treasures not only as souvenirs but also as objects of informational value, Dr. Swem is at present having a photographer make pictures of them. It is in view of rendering the student body a genuine service that Dr. Swem is having these photographs made.

Elizabeth Duke Heads Women for 1928-1929

(Continued from page one) ing that there should be no cabin at the lake, arrangement had been for settling the money which had already been given toward that undertaking. The money contributed by various organizations is to be returned, and a committee of three was appointed to see to this. Since so many of the individuals who contributed toward the cabin have left college, the money received from individuals will not be returned, but will go toward the Student Government Association.

The President announced that convocations should be more conscientiously attended, and that Dr. Chandler wished the several classes to sit in the assigned section. Seniors should wear their caps and gowns.

Co-eds were also warned not to go into any drug store with dates on Sunday.

A group of resolutions was introduced by Elizabeth Lam. The resolutions were to the effect that women are not receiving as much prominence in the Flat Hat as are the men, and that their organizations should be played up as importantly as those of the men. A motion that the resolutions be sent to the Flat Hat was made and carried.
