Rockefeller to Discuss 'The Harmonious Man'

Rockefeller

BY LYNN KINGERY

Winthrop Rockefeller will come to William and Mary next Saturday to be initiated into Kappa Delta Pi and to speak to all interested persons.

Chairman of the board of Colonial Williamsburg Inc. and Williamsburg Restoration Inc., Rockefeller will be inducted into the Alpha Xi chapter at 8 p. m. in Wren Great Hall.

The public is invited to attend Rockefeller's address, "The Harmonious Man," at 8 p. m. in the Campus Center ballroom.

Cronkite Tapped
Walter Cronkite, noted CBS news commentator, also has been tapped. Due to his having to cover the Gemini space shot, he will not be able to participate in next Saturday's activities.

Cronkite, however, will attend an invitation ceremony of the national educational fraternity at the College next spring. Director of the Rockefeller Center Inc., Rockefeller has been a member of the Republican National Committee since 1961.

Contributions Made
He is chairman of the Advisory Committee of the University of Arkansas College of Medicine and serves on that state's General Assembly Committee on Vocational Education.

According to Suzanne Stainback, chapter president, Rockefeller has been tapped for honorary membership "because through Colonial Williamsburg he has contributed so much to the education of the American public."

Scholarships Awarded
Lavone Tarleton of the chemistry department and Edward Brickel, assistant to the president of the College, will be initiated next Saturday.

Scholarships Awarded
As part of its sponsorship of high educational ideals Kappa Delta Pi awards two annual scholarships.

The recipient of the $100 Edward R. Murrow scholarship for the coming semester will be announced at next Saturday's initiation banquet.

Kappa Delta Pi was founded in 1909 at the University of Illinois, with the Alpha Xi chapter being established in 1927.

Tonight's IFC to Star Byrds, Sam the Sham

BY SUSAN MORRISSEY

Two of the nation's foremost recording groups, the Byrds and Sam the Sham and the Pharaohs, will sound forth at the Interfraternity Council Fall Dance 9 p. m.-1 a. m. tonight in Adair Gym.

The Byrds are currently ranked number one in the nation by both Billboard and Cashbox magazines with their folk-rock rendition of "Turn, Turn, Turn."

A Los Angeles based group, the Byrds feature folk style material done in a rock manner.

Jim McGuinn, leader of the quintet, formerly played with such folk greats as the Chad Mitchell Trio, Odetta and Judy Collins as a back up instrumentalist and arranger.

Gene Clark, a former New Christy Minstrel, writes much of the Byrds' material. The boys also work closely with Bob Dylan and he has appeared with them several times.

Their first million-seller "Mr. Tambourine Man" was a Dylan tune.

On the other end of the spectrum, Sam the Sham and the Pharaohs, a quintet from Memphis, will provide ethnic strains of rock 'n roll.

Last spring the group first hit it big with the song "Wooly Bully."

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Newly inducted members of Omicron Delta Kappa men's honorary fraternity are Steve Marcy, Larry White and Bob Gatten.

ODK Initiates Three Students

BY LAURALEE GRIMM

Omicron Delta Kappa men's leadership fraternity, initiated Bob Gatten, Steve Marcy and Larry White at a banquet Monday.

Gatten, a senior biology major from Lexington, Ky., is editor of the Colonial Echo, vice-president of Phi Delta Epsilon journalism honorary fraternity, a group leader and a Dean's List student.

He is also a member of the Student Publications Committee, Circle K president, Biology Club vice-president and a former Flat Hat and Colonial Echo photographer.

Active Junior
A junior physics major from Alexandria, Marcy is chairman of the Student Association academic affairs committee. He is a member of Sigma Pi Sigma, Phi Eta Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

A Dean's List student, Marcy has been a Merit Scholar and last year was president of his class and winner of ODK's sophomore of the year award.

White is president of the junior class and a resident of Arlington. A Dean's List pre-med major, he is a member of the General Cooperative Committee, SA dance committee chairman and past sophomore class vice-president.

Vital Statistics
Membership in Omicron Delta Kappa is based on outstanding contributions to the school in scholarship, athletics, student government, social and religious affairs, publications and the arts.

ODK was founded at Washington and Lee University in 1914. Officers for 1965-66 are Bill Weiland, chairman, and Gary Chocklett, vice-chairman.

Phi Beta Kappa

Monday Celebration To Feature Spender

BY JUDY BETH ENTLE
FLAT HAT Associate Editor

Date: Dec. 5, 1978. Place: the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern, Williamsburg, Va. Occasion: the founding of Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity, the first society to have a Greek letter name.

One hundred ninety-four years pass. It is Dec. 6, 1965. The Alpha Chapter of Virginia is celebrating its anniversary by inducting 22 recently selected students and by holding a public meeting featuring Stephen Spender as speaker.

Public Program
Consultant in Poetry in English to the Library of Congress, Spender will deliver a talk entitled "Self, Subversion and Integration" at 8:15 p. m. Monday, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Following this program will be a reception at 9:30 p. m. in the Dodge Room for the speaker and his audience.

Poet, critic, novelist, dramatist, translator and editor of Encounter, Spender fulfills several roles as consultant in poetry to the Library of Congress.

Various Duties
He gives advice on improving the literary collections and recommends new materials for purchase. He assists in acquiring manuscripts and books in addition to advising on bibliographic and reference work in his field.

Meeting with scholars and poets using the library's facilities, Spender also supervises the tape recording of contemporary poets in readings of their own works.

The Library of Congress, which serves as the national library of the United States, will sponsor at least one public program given by Spender in the Library.

PHI BETA KAPPA OFFICERS

International Youth Program Sends Simms to Washington

BY DEE CURWEN

An Experiment in Swedish Living sparked sophomore Bill Simms to active participation in international relations work.

Just this past week, his associations with the Experiment in International Living sent him to Washington, D. C., for the White House Conference on International Cooperation.

Personally, Bill thought the conference gave him "the opportunity to become familiar with organizations in this field and hear original ideas on how the U. S. can make better use of resources for world-wide service — both in facilities and students."

Bill's involvement in international youth programs began in the summer of 1963 when he was selected to participate in an Experiment in International Living in Sweden.

The enthusiasm for his trip did not die with the usual speaking engagements in high school.

Orientation Work

This past summer he worked with the African Scholarship Program in American universities for a week in Vermont. His job involved assisting with the orientation of 200 African students coming to the U. S.

At the College, he is one of the campus representatives for the Experiment in International Living. This organization informs students about the Experiment and other programs like it.

A sophomore philosophy major, Bill has thought-provoking ideas and is quick to express them. For instance, he believes that "the Peace Corps ought to constitute a substitute for the draft."

On William and Mary, he reflected at random: "It has definite advantages. There is a positive value in having a college town with a relaxed atmosphere."

"However, you can't escape the fact that being a long way from a large city means missing the opportunity, for example, of visiting art galleries or consistently seeing top-notch films."

People and Ideas

Exchange of ideas with the exchange of students from various backgrounds emerges as an invaluable benefit according to Bill.

"I think the number of out-of-state students should be raised for the sake of the overall excellence of the institution."

In his own exchange of ideas, Bill commented on life, love, war, peace and religion:

"Life — that has a definite positive value.

"Love — that is the most important thing to me.

"War — to say that war is absurd is to say something absurd. People engage in war for specific reasons and motives which may be valid.

"However, that is not to say that war is the best way to gain one's goals. Physical force should be a last resort.

"Peace — should not bring with it a lessening of the enthusiasm which is often prompted by a situation of conflict.

"Religion — it is a valuable thing, but like anything powerful it may be misused and has been."

Serious reflection is just one of Bill's favorite pastimes. From his work on foreign relations he has come to favor, even more, international living and youth. More than likely, Bill's future will involve work with both.

Tuition Increases to Affect College's Auxiliary Programs

BY KERRY SAWICK

Tuition increases for students in the College of William and Mary's Evening College, Extension Division and Summer Session won approval from the College Board of Visitors at its meeting Nov. 20.

In all three cases, the increase is $2 per semester hour. The increases will be effective in September, 1966.

As for the "Evening College and the Extension Division, the tuition increase will enable an increase of $25 per semester hour in the compensation of faculty members for teaching the courses.

The Board explained that the faculty compensation increases would enable the College to remain competitive with other institutions in the area attracting qualified instructors, especially higher-ranking members of the College's regular faculty.

"The increasing demand for upper division and graduate level courses," the Board said, "has resulted in a critical need for instructors who are qualified to teach these advanced courses."

Nature Preserve

At its meeting, the Board also authorized preparation of a plan for developing a nature pre-

The Board said it "recognizes the potential of the major portion of the College Woods north and west of Lake Matoaka for development as a future nature preserve, involving an arboretum, bird sanctuary and similar features for educational purposes."

It added that such a development "could serve not only the educational needs of the College and the Williamsburg area but also as a distinctive ecological and botanical resource of the Commonwealth of Virginia."

In addition, the Board authorized college officials to take steps which could lead to improvements at the College Airport.

Its resolution said that by improving the airport, the College would be able to expand its Air Flight Training Program in the future, "a program becoming increasingly important to national defense of the country," and to serve the Civil Air Patrol more effectively.

Commemoration Tablet

Authorization for placing a commemorative tablet in the Wren Building yard to mark the site where, for 157 years, stood the famed statue of Lord Bottourt was also given by the Board.

The statue stood on the campus from 1801-1958, when it was placed in storage to prevent weathering. In September 1965, it was moved to the Botetourt Gallery entrance to the Earl Gregg Swen Library.

The tablet will bear the inscription: "On this site, between 1801 and 1958, stood the statue of Norborne Berkeley, Baron de Botetourt, Governor of Virginia, 1768-1770, and Rector of the Board of Visitors. The original statue is on public display in the Earl Gregg Swen Library." serve in a portion of the College's woods.

Keplar Initiates Five

The Keplar Society, William and Mary's only independent fraternity, completed informal fall rush last week, increasing its membership by five.

Christmas Ceremonies Begin With Burning of the Yule Log

BY LEONORA OWRE

Highlighting the Christmas activities at the College will be the annual observance of the ceremonial burning of the Yule Log at 7 p. m., Wednesday, in the Wren Courtyard.

At this time members of the college community will have a chance to toss sprigs of holly, symbolizing their woes of the year, into the fire to be consumed by the blaze.

The custom of burning a Yule

Log at Christmas is derived from Colonial times and has now become an annual function at the College.

Until recent times, the ceremony was attended by invitation only; however, because of its popularity and importance, the event has been opened to include the entire college community.

Ceremony Sponsors

The annual burning of the Yule Log is co-sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board, the men's and women's honorary leadership fraternities.

Nancy Combs, president of Mortar Board, will deliver the welcome and Bill Weiland, president of ODK, will explain the history of the tradition of the Yule Log.

After the opening speeches Howard Scammoh will deliver a dramatic reading appropriate to the Christmas season. This will be followed by the blessing of the Yule log with wine.

ODK members will then carry the log through the courtyard in the Great Hall. As the log passes, students may touch it with their sprigs of holly and file into the Great Hall to throw the sprigs into the fire.

Holiday Trimmings

Refreshments consisting of cookies and hot spiced cider made from a Druid recipe will be served on the Wren porch.

A special Christmas tree will be put up for the ceremony and it will be lighted during the evening. The singing of Christmas carols will end the program.

The hosts and hostesses will be attired in traditional Christmas colors for the event, with members of ODK wearing green sweaters and black trousers and Mortar Board members wearing red sweaters with black skirts.

'THE DAYS BETWEEN'

Communication is the key to this poignant scene played by Judith Hein as Barbara Ives and Timothy DeVitt as David Ives. The William and Mary Theatre will give two more performances of this play by Robert Anderson at 8 p. m. tonight and tomorrow night in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Freshman and Greeks Invited To Interfraternity Seminar

BY BRUCE OLIVER

An Interfraternity Council seminar featuring four speakers will begin at 8 p. m. next Friday, in the Campus Center ballroom.

The keynote speaker will be Dr. Seth R. Brooks, national president of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Fellowship Discussion

The Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship will host a discussion of trends in modern theology, 6:30-7:30 p. m. tonight, in room A of the Campus Center.

David Hitt, a senior at Westminster Theological Seminary and a graduate of William and Mary, will lead the discussion.

Brooks will discuss fraternity ideals and goals, the role that a national fraternity plays in college life and exactly what a fraternity should be.

Dean Carson H. Barnes Jr., fraternity officer of the College, will speak on the administrative view of fraternities.

He will talk about fraternities at William and Mary and the current problems of fraternities on campus.

Jim Breeden, IFC president, will speak on the role of the IFC in the college community.

In addition to discussing the purposes and functions of the IFC he will make brief remarks about formal rush.

Frat Rewards

Rick Babcock will talk about the meaningful effects of being a fraternity member.

He will expound upon the pleasures and the disappointments which constitute being a fraternity member.

Following the addresses of the speakers, there will be a panel discussion. Questions will be taken from the floor concerning aspects of fraternity life.

Refreshments and an informal discussion will conclude the program.

All freshman men are urged to attend the meeting, which is intended to prove a valuable asset to later fraternity activities.

Primary Purposes

The purpose of the seminar will be to inform all men, primarily freshmen, about every phase of Greek life. The discussion will serve as a basis for later participation in fraternity rush.

The program will be of interest to fraternity and sorority members as well, since they can participate in the discussions and learn about the College's future plans for Greek societies.

Co-ordinator for the seminar is Gary Chocklett. Larry Marchant and Ken Himmel will handle publicity for the event.

Second Army Chief To Visit W&M Campus

Lieutenant General William F. Train will visit here Wednesday to be given a tour of the campus and be honored by a parade featuring members of the College's Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Commander of the First U. S. Army, Train is stationed at Fort Meade, Md.

He assumed his present title just this week with the combination of the First and Second U. S. Armies. Train was formerly commander of the Second Army, and previously served as commandant of the Army War College at Carlisle, Pa.

Staff Review

Train's visit will give him the opportunity of meeting with President Paschall and members of the College's ROTC staff.

His arrival will be a courtesy visit to view the ROTC unit and to note their accomplishments on campus under the leadership of Col. Julian T. Hogan.

After landing at Cary Field at 1:40 p. m., Train will see and participate in a variety of activities.

The ROTC brigade will be assembled for his arrival and will immediately conduct the parade.

Following a tour of the campus, the General will receive a briefing by the ROTC staff on the organization and operation of William and Mary's ROTC unit.

Gen. Train

He will discuss current campus activities with ROTC leaders and comment upon their progress.

Upon completion of his tour and discussions, Train will depart by helicopter at 3:30 p. m.

Public Ceremony

Both faculty and the student body are invited to attend the general's landing and to see the ceremony and parade on Cary Field.

The ROTC drills and parade will present an especially dignified ceremony for General Train, the military department has noted.

Honorary French Fraternity Selects Seven New Members

Pi Delta Phi national honorary French fraternity initiated seven members Nov. 14 in Wren Great Hall.

New initiates are Susan Andrews, Cathy Bjorkback, Ann Brisebois, Mary Blanford, Alison Brenner, Mrs. Susan Glasser and Charles Joy.

Susan Andrews is a sophomore mathematics major from Alexandria. She is a member of the Flat Hat archives staff and Kappa Delta sorority.

Cathy Bjorkback, a Chi Omega from Riverside, Conn., is a semi-finalist in the Miss William and Mary contest.

She was a representative from the sophomore class on the Homedoming court and is a member of Orchesis.

Also a sophomore, Ann Brisebois is a French major from Arlington. Ann belongs to the Christian Fellowship.

Mary Blanford, a senior French major from Newport News, is business manager of the Backdrop Club and a member of Theta Alpha Phi.

She also belongs to the Alliance Francaise, French Club (Continued on Page 10)

Mechanics Mar Didactic Drama

BY PAT WILLIAMS

Three themes of profundity — life, death and the search for meaning — highlight Robert Anderson's new play "The Days Between."

The play made its Virginia debut last night at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. It was presented by the William and Mary Theatre under the direction of Frank J. Staroba.

A didactic drama, "The Days Between," like many works of this kind, is a painfully obvious play. Each thematic element in the play is acted out on stage and then politely explained to the audience by one of the characters.

In the final scene the thematic elements — need for Love, search for Truth, search for Self, Illusion, Disillusion, Life, Death, Guilt, Forgiveness, Repentance and Rebirth out of ashes (remember the phoenix?) — are tied together in the the Message.

Didactic and Mechanical

The Message is that man must learn to live "The Days Between." He must not live for a future illusion but for the everyday miracles of life.

The play is mechanically perfect — and mechanical.

Dramatic exits and hesitant entrances abound. In fact, they tend to dominate the play.

This domination is due in part to the fact that there is only one means of access to the stage (the garden path).

Each character must either leave dynamically down the garden path or enter hesitantly upon it.

Having only one means of access is a flaw in an otherwise excellent constructed and finely functional setting.

Finely Functional Setting

Bob Weeks is to be commended for designing a set which adds scenically and dramatically to the play.

Mary Lou Walton as Mrs. Walker portrays adequately the nagging, bitter mother of Barbara.

One of the most delightful characters in the play — and one who is given some of the best lines — is Roger Ives, played by Michael Elchinger.

Roger is the Ives' young son. Having been alienated from his father, Roger turns to Ted Seares — friend of Mrs. Ives — for love. The scenes between Seares and Roger are delightful.

Seares is well characterized by Keith Taylor. Taylor manages to utilize slowness and pauses to portray Seares as compassionate and understanding.

Paul Hildebrand as George Hawkins and Timothy Devitt as David Ives vie for being the most stiff character on stage. However, Devitt manages to be the stiffer of the two.

He is supposed to be portraying nervous, searching David, and his scenes call for tension, pain and ulcers. But Devitt appears to have contracted arthritis rather than ulcers.

Responses to Role

Judith Hein as Barbara Ives is handicapped as the play opens by having to play to Devitt's David. She, too, appears somewhat stiff.

But Judith Hein playing opposite Keith Taylor shows the true Barbara. She responds magnificently to her role.

Her characterization of Barbara as confused and uncertain in her first meeting with Seares produces one of the best acted scenes in the play. Her acting is controlled and she plays Barbara in depth.

Miss Hein, opposite Taylor, manages to live Barbara Ives on stage.

The scenes between Barbara and Seares make the best of a contrived, didactic play. They bring the play to life.

Celebrated Accountants

Students who have registered in Business 202 (Principles of Accounting) during the 1964-65 session have ranked second in the nation according to the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

This ranking was made on the basis of a national test given at the close of last semester.

The report of the final standings, received recently, indicates that William and Mary students were rated in the top ten per cent of the 3,060 students from 56 colleges who took the test.

PI DELTA PHI

New members of Pi Delta Phi national honorary French fraternity are Charles Joy, Alison Brenner, Susan Andrews and Mary Blanford.

In Need of Repair

The Sad State of Dorm Maintenance

A random sample of College dormitories conducted this week revealed numerous inadequacies in facilities and maintenance.

Stygian Atmosphere

The interior appearance of all older dormitories is generally poor. A morose, stygian atmosphere pervades rooms and corridors because of infrequent applications of army-surplus olive-drab paint, and rationing of electricity to 25 watts per person.

Inverse Relationship

There seems to be an inverse relationship between the quantities of heat and hot water available at any one time. In the traditional eighteenth century manner, a student braves suffocation in bed to face spartan shower conditions.

A paucity of washing, drying and vending machines is provided in general and only the latter are available in men's dorms. Repairs are often long-delayed or unsuccessful because of the inability of the maintenance staff to repair certain appliances, and the College's refusal to call in off-campus service men.

Slovenly Appearance

Finally, the removal of room janitorial service from all dormitories except duPont and the houses on sorority court lends to the general slovenly appearance of these facilities.

The rationale was that students should be responsible for cleaning their own rooms to allow maids and janitors to concentrate on cleaning halls, thus engendering cleaner dorms.

This experiment has failed. Students do not have time to function successfully in two roles, and janitors do not use their increased time to fulfill the intended objective.

Thus the domestic situation in dormitories is deplorable and steadily deteriorating. The College has the responsibility to provide its students with adequate and pleasant living facilities, just as it must provide them with excellence in the academic sphere.

Letters to the Editor

Kudos to Rockathon

To the Editor:
Radio station WCWM must be congratulated on their "Rockathon." We listened to almost 24 hours of it, and it was nothing less than great.

The D-J's did a real good job of providing platter-chatter, and you couldn't ask for better records than those they played.

We certainly hope that WCWM has more "Rockathons" in the coming months, for we felt that this one was extremely successful.

The Guys on OD 4

Thanks to Letter Writers

To the Editor:
Kappa Alpha would like to thank all those who wrote letters to Viet Nam in response to our "Send a Christmas Letter to a Fighting Man" program.

Letters were sent not only by students, but also by many members of the faculty and of the Williamsburg community.

We think "Operation Mail Call" was a success. Over 400 letters were posted in the Rocket Mailboxes in front of the Campus Center. No small achievement when one considers the usual galloping apathy here.

Thanks again for sending a letter. It will be appreciated at the other end.

The New Edict

Upon entering the Wigwam on our return from Thanksgiving vacation, we came upon a series of unaesthetically displayed posters advising students that card-playing and studying were henceforth to be forbidden inside the cabaret.

There are several reasons for the laying down of this new edict. First of all, student cardplayers allegedly refused to cut the Wigwam management in on the proceeds obtained from their games.

Secondly, the Wigwam operators wish to discourage the pursuit of studying and intellectual discourse on the theory that students will then have more time to eat, thus increasing the income of the management.

Violation of the new regulation has been classified as a felony by the ever-alert and efficient Campus Security Patrol (a branch of the CIA), whose members reportedly plan to speed enforcement of the rule by bodily carrying student felons from the premises while confiscating their cards and books.

Over the River Kwai

William and Mary's version of the Bridge Over the River Kwai (located over the lily pond behind Landrum) has become a big hit with students and visitors to the College who enjoy crawling, rather than walking, across bridges.

Some people (especially graduates of the Class of '64, whose class dues helped to erect it) are perplexed that the bridge, reportedly a replica of one found in the Coney Island Funhouse, has neither an entrance, an exit, nor a practical purpose.

Many resourceful students have suggested that the wood portion of the bridge be dedicated at next week's Yule Log Burning Ceremony.

At Large

For Freshmen Only

By Tom Gardo

The great Greek battle to recruit new neophytes has reached its annual escalation point at William and Mary, as the campus fraternities and sororities brace up their forces and bring to perfection their smiles, songs and glad-hands in preparation for February's formal rush, when (to take from Shakespeare) the "pride, pomp and circumstance of glorious war" reaches its fever pitch.

For those new to the system, this analogy seems a bit far-fetched. But, believe me, the combatants participate so furiously that it actually seems like a "life or death" struggle.

The truth is, it is not, and for you freshman girls or guys who now feel inclined to enter the ranks of the Greeks, and don't qualify either through grades or rejection, it's also not the end of the world.

Often forgotten in the pressures and emotional crescendo, which has its definite beginning at tonight's IFC Dance and Open Houses and builds through assorted coke parties, beer gatherings and mixers, is the fact that everyone is not suited for the Greek system.

Freshmen rarely hear about those students who de-pledge and de-activate after finding that sorority life or fraternity brotherhood was not what they were looking for in college. Others deeply disappointed by rush realize later that they went through needless agony over something that was not for them.

Needless to say, the Greek system is profitable for many, particularly for the males who need a place to go to let off steam and display their virility and who seek a sense of belonging or prestige.

Thus, in order to enhance one's chances, there are a few pointers.

But first, fellas must remember (and sometimes it's painfully difficult) that there are a few things more important than getting that fraternity pin—and that is academics. Any Greek group that attempts to capitalize your time with impromptu visits and obligations, and can't take a hint that you want to study (no matter how friendly), doesn't have your interests at heart.

As for direct contact, and this applies to the girls as well, some things are important for first impressions—often the only impression on an individual who has the power to keep you "in" or "out." You'd be surprised at the number of Greeks who make judgments because of inconsequential things like a handshake or attire. The fact that John (or Mary) Doe "is not the Beta type" is the easiest, flimsiest and most commonly used excuse for rejection. It is also the most difficult to counter.

Be friendly but not sticky, confident but not cocky and, especially for girls, chic but not ostentatious. Don't be cynical; show an interest in all conversation, no matter what it's about. Don't monopolize conversation and try not to disagree. Don't disparage other Greek organizations even if encouraged to. It sounds impossible, but watch your behaviour and at the same time attempt to be relaxed and yourself.

You've got two months. Enjoy it and always be alert to the group you feel most comfortable with, not the one that has the most prestige or to which you feel obligated.

Good luck, you are now actually entering the first phase, which for many, will be both the most excruciating and exhilarating experience of your 18 years.

Lt. Mann Slain Grad Dies in Viet Nam

Marine First Lt. Glenn Dill Mann, class of '62, is the first William and Mary graduate to give his life in the Viet Nam war.

He died of wounds received in the battle of Hiep Duc, military authorities reported last Wednesday.

Mann, foster son of the U. S. ambassador to Thailand, is remembered by his fellow classmate and fraternity brother, Jerry Van Voorhis, as a very civic-minded and patriotic person.

"He was always doing things that other students often never even think of," said Van Voorhis. He was a volunteer member of the Williamsburg Fire Department and Rescue Squad for three years.

Mann worked hard for his education. He was a part-time engineer for the Williamsburg Fire Department and for two summers was a manager of the Queens Lake swimming pool.

Active in sports as captain of the varsity swimming team, Mann won three varsity letters in swimming.

Although he was a member of Pi Lambda Phi social fraternity, outside jobs and volunteer work took up most of his time.

Mann

Earlier this month Mann wrote a letter to the Flat Hat criticizing student anti-Viet Nam demonstrations and expressing the hope that William and Mary students would not participate in them.

He wrote, "Many of the young high school boys here in Viet Nam, risking their lives daily, really find it hard to believe the things they read in the papers about what college students their own age are doing in the states.

"They cannot understand how anyone warm and snug at home can have the audacity to defile their effort and, for some, their supreme sacrifice, here in Viet Nam."

Mann took an interest in politics, local and international. He majored in government at the College and therefore felt that he understood and recognized the American freedom to express one's own views. He could not condone the demonstrations of these college students.

A helicopter pilot in the Marine Corps, Mann received head and arm wounds on Nov. 14 while on a combat position.

He recovered from these wounds and returned to active duty last week before he was fatally wounded by machine gun fire.

Married in Williamsburg on June 12, 1961, to Mary Margaret Dameron, also a graduate of the College, Mann and his wife lived at a trailer court near Central Airport.

Mann has two sons, Glenn D. Jr., three years old, and Scotty, two years old. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Mann of Williamsburg.

Best Wishes

To the Editor:

I want to congratulate the recently elected officers of the freshman class and offer them best wishes for a very successful year.

I would also like to thank the many freshmen who supported my candidacy and aided me in my campaign. I sincerely appreciated all of the assistance and encouragement which I received during the election.

Finally, I urge all freshmen to support the new officers and to unite behind their leadership into one strong group—the Class of 1969.

Answers Pitt

To the Editor:

In answer to Mr. Pitt's personal attack, first let me reply that at no time have I claimed to be a "real philosopher" or a "mental giant." Nor did I claim that "man is subject to scientific method and logic (and thus) — totally unpredictable."

I attempted only to point out some objections I had to the two letters cited.

Mr. Pitt has in no way invalidated my opinion that we are in Viet Nam to attempt to establish what we believe should exist there: 1) representative government, and 2) a government devoid of Chinese Communist influence.

I also do not think that, as Miss Friedland maintains, pacifist demonstrations "negate action" but rather they are an attempt to eliminate a policy which is destructive to human life.

I would also like to know what "old debator's trick" I used in my letter. Let me remind Mr. Pitt that my original letter was abridged, but what it did say was that if Mr. Winn cared to do anything more than state his belief, he would have to resort to scientific method and logic to support it.

It is interesting, too, that Mr. Pitt appeals to "history" as a verification of his position.

Let me remind him that history has been used often to justify contradictory positions. It was used by Hitler in claiming that the Arians had a historical role to play.

To say that "war, not peace is natural to man," has been used as grounds for justifying this war.

My reference to this statement was to its implication. It implies to me, at least, that wars shall always continue in the future, for if it is "natural" why should a different state of affairs ever come into existence?

This conclusion does not of necessity follow, nor are we certain of the truth value of the premise, "war, not peace, is natural to man." I apologize if I did Mr. Winn an injustice.

Let me also remind Mr. Pitt that although I never opted for a position of psychological, sociological, or historical determinism, because a theory does not explain all the facts is no reason to discard it, at least not until a more "inclusive" theory is put forth. I think Mr. Pitt has found it necessary to call names as an outlet for what he objects to in my letters. But if he is willing to show me explicitly how I am "stupid (and) . . . deceitful," I am willing to listen.

Lost in The Shuffle

To the Editor:

I feel about letter-to-the-editor as I do about the right to vote; one person's voice may well be lost in the shuffle, but his responsibility to make an effort to be heard exists nonetheless if the issue at hand is important enough.

Philosophers sometimes speak of an "argumentum ad hominem." This Latin phrase describes one of the most potent and pernicious techniques used by men in debate. It means, roughly, attacking a man, in order to place the stand which he takes in disrepute.

One cannot help but wonder at the intellectual value of some of the phrases which have been used to describe our anti-Viet Nam policy protests.

"Unwashed," for instance — one need not know the "navy plan" demonstrators very well, to know that none of them have standards of personal hygiene which are at all questionable.

They have been described as "immature," yet does not concern — vocal concern, if need be — over the course of current history and mass slaughter, show anything but immaturity?

The old term "fellow-travelers," heretofore reserved for those who care for nothing but the destruction of our way of life, has been carted out for use in this context.

The demonstrators have been labeled "Bohemian." With Webster as our source, this would mean little more than "unconventional."

John Stuart Mill said, a century ago: "That so few now dare to be eccentric marks the chief danger of our time." I submit that closed-mindedness marks a chief danger on our campus today.

Lastly, many thanks to Tom Gardo for his devotion to freedom of thought and speech and his courage to defend an opponent who has been wronged.

GOING FOR TWO

Indian center Ben Pomeroy (52) leaps to score two of his team-leading 33 points in Wednesday night's 93-82 victory over Virginia. Making a futile attempt to block Pomeroy's shot is Cavalier center John Schroeder (23).

BY TED FANSHER

William and Mary's hustling Indians unveiled a promising 1965 basketball season with a stunning 93-82 trampling of the visiting Virginia Cavaliers.

The prolific tribe offense hit for a scorching 68 per cent from the floor, compared to a sub-par 42 per cent performance by the Cavaliers. Ben Pomeroy led the attack with an outstanding 33 point performance.

Despite the favorable scoring statistics, Virginia pulled down 46 rebounds, four more than the Indian's total.

The Tribe's comfortable 45-24 half time lead crumbled in the second half as the Cavaliers came back fiercely, led by Jim Connelly's delicate jump shots.

Connelly topped all scorers with a remarkable 42 point output for the night.

First Half

In the first half the Indian's deliberate offense raced to a 16-2 lead mid-way through the first period.

The Cavaliers desperately shifted into a full court press and harrowed the score to 25-15 with five minutes remaining in the half.

The shooting of Ron Panneton and Ben Pomeroy, collecting 15 and 16 points respectively, pushed the Indians to a commanding 45-24 half time lead.

The Cavaliers came alive in the second half, getting another big boost from junior guard Jim Connelly.

The West Virginia native tallied an amazing 31 points in this half, which helped to shave the score to 82-72 with 4:46 showing on the scoreboard clock.

In the closing minutes Walter Wenk, who had been sitting out most of the half, due to four personal fouls, returned to spark a controlled Tribe offense.

Leading Scorer

Ben Pomeroy's three baskets and two more by Tim Walter increased the lead to 11 points, as the clock ran out.

Sophomore starters Panneton and Jim Rama followed with 23 and 20 points, respectively.

The remainder of William and Mary's scoring found Wenk with seven, followed by Larry Paffrath with six and Tim Walter with four.

The Tribe travels South tomorrow to test its luck against another ACC foe, the University of North Carolina.

Johnson Ends Career As Cross Country Star

BY PAT BUTLER

Monday, Nov. 22, 1965, Jimmy Johnson ended his cross country career at William and Mary by placing sixteenth in the NCAA championships at Lawrenceville, Kan.

Johnson, who was the winner of the Southern Conference championship this year, covered the course in a time of 30:40.

John Lawson of Kansas University won the national title with a time of 29:24.

Interestingly enough, only one Southern runner and one Eastern runner finished ahead of Johnson. Bob Reddington of Tennessee took fourth place, while Eamon O'Reilly captured second.

During his time here Johnson has won the state title on the freshman and varsity level every year that he has been eligible.

Johnson captured the Southern Conference crown for three consecutive years in varsity competition, and when a freshman, he won the unofficial postal meet for freshman conference champion.

In the fifty races he has run here, Jimmy has lost only six and beaten nationally ranked athletes many times.

Johnson

While winning so many of his races, he also established a new course record in over half of his victories.

One of Johnson's more noted victims was Billy Mills, the Marine who set a new world's record in the 10,000 meter run in the Olympics. Johnson beat him in a nine mile road race.

Over his four-year career, Jimmy has set many course records, some of which will probably stand for quite a while. Some of these records were formerly held by nationally ranked performers.

This past season his times for the NCAA standard courses of four, five and six miles were 19:31.7, 25:07 and 30:11.

Johnson holds course records at VPI, VMI, Davidson, West Virginia, Richmond, Virginia, Bridgewater, Calloway Gardens and William and Mary.

Five Tribe Gridders Win All-SC Berths

The William and Mary Indians, who finished second in the Southern Conference, have placed five members on the 1965 All-SC football teams.

George Pearce led the voting by coaches, sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, amassing 362 points.

The senior end accumulated his points on the basis of his record-shattering number of pass receptions, his abilities as a "poocher kick" artist, his excellent offensive blocking and superb defensive play.

Tom Feola placed second in the voting, accumulating 318 points. Feola has been a spark-plug for the team all season. His presence on the field has been noteworthy in both offensive and defensive roles.

Defensive Unit

The other three All SC players from William and Mary were chosen from the defensive unit.

Senior Tony Buccino gained a berth as a defensive tackle. Tony is a past SC lineman of the week.

Jim LoFrese achieved his recognition as a defensive safety. The Oyster Bowl against Southern Mississippi was LoFrese's big game as he was chosen "Most Valuable Player" for his efforts.

rounds out William and Mary's first team contributions to the SC.

Gadkowski tied with Bob Schmalzriedt, VMI, as the "Best SC Sophomore for 1965." The Tribe's soph linebacker was one of the three defensive players that were not seniors.

Post-Season Honors

Four other Indians were honored in the post-season selections. Soph quarterback Dan Darragh, who combined with Mike Madden to set three records, was placed on the second team offense.

Darragh helped set records for most passes attempted and completed, as well as the most passes thrown.

Honorable mentions were awarded to defensive tackle Joe Neilson, co-captain Jim Dick at his guard position, and two-way halfback Mike Weaver.

Neilson has one year of eligibility remaining, while Dick and Weaver are both seniors.

Other post-season honors have gone to George Pearce. Pearce was voted an All-American Honorable Mention in the National Enterprise Association poll.

A more recent award has been his selection as second-team defense All-American in the Associated Press selections.

Indian Grapplers To Open Season With Pembroke

BY STEVE COCHRAN

Beginning their second year of competition, the William and Mary wrestlers face Pembroke State College at 8 p. m. tomorrow night in Blow Gym.

"We have a couple of good wrestlers," commented the coach, Dick Besnier, "but we'll lose 10 points if we don't get men for the two heavyweight classes."

The team, which only has 15 varsity and six freshman members, has an excellent wrestler in Bob Ellis (130 pounds), a transfer student from Christopher Newport College.

Two sophomores — Richard Randa at 123 pounds and Jimmy Miller at 152 — are expected to be valuable assets.

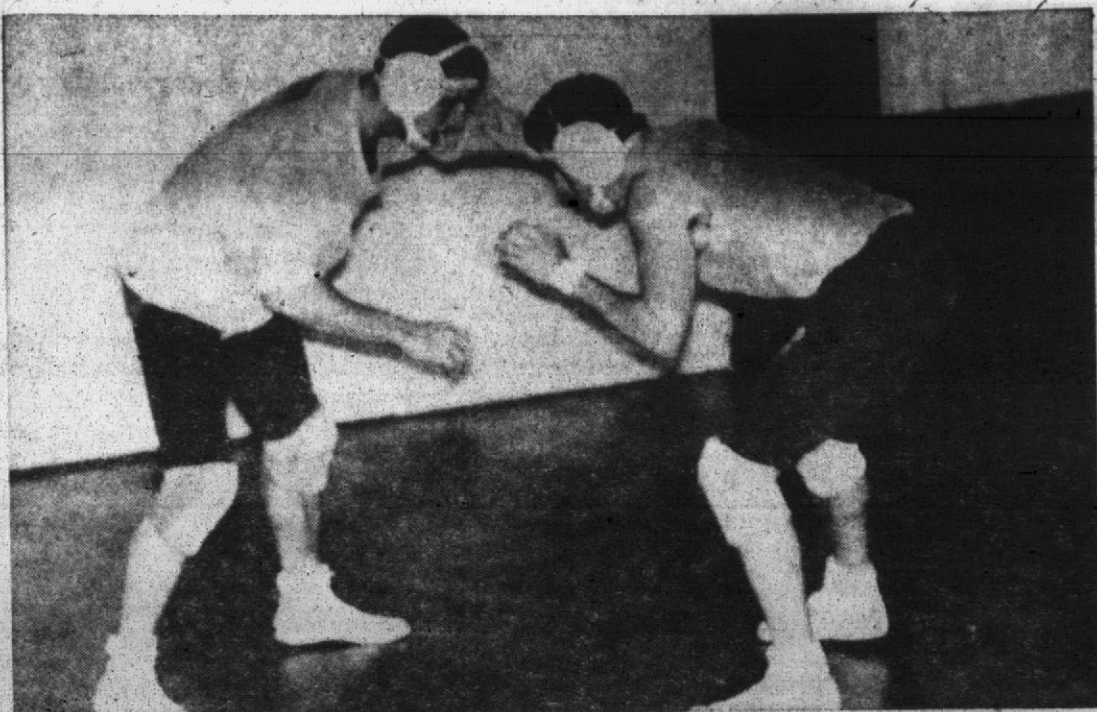

The fact that William and Mary offers no wrestling scholarships has hindered the team's progress, but Besnier says that there are 15 boys coming next year who will wrestle.

"The team has been working hard, but we will be handicapped by a lack of experience," remarked Besnier. The squad has only two lettermen — Lynn Diefendorf (145) and Woody Caine (167).

Coach Besnier, a three-time Atlantic Coast Conference champion from Maryland, has written 250 high school coaches in an attempt to recruit future grapplers.

With a regular schedule which has six of its 11 matches at home, the Indians will also play host to the Southern Conference tournament, March 3-5. Through the efforts of Besnier and physical education head Harry Smith, the team has made strides forward.

The wrestling room, which has mats wall-to-wall, has been painted and furnished with a new heating system. Also, a new set of equipment has been purchased.

WRESTLERS PREPARE FOR OPENER

Coach Groves Appointed To National Post

Harry Groves, William and Mary's full-time, all-around track coach, has been named treasurer of the National Collegiate Cross Country and Distance Runners Coaches Association for 1966.

Groves was appointed at the annual coaches meeting in Lawrence, Kan. Lawrence was the site of last week's Cross Country Championships.

For the last three years William and Mary has maintained an impressive national position. Tribe harriers have gone to the national meet for the last several years and have won the Southern Conference team championship two out of the last three times.

Groves was also assigned an additional position as a member of the Game Committee.

Levy's Second Squad Records Best Record in Twelve Years

BY GEORGE WATSON

When the final whistle blew to end William and Mary's 21-0 shutout of Richmond, it also brought to a close the school's most successful season on the gridiron in over a decade.

Coach Marv Levy molded a group of 12 outstanding and experienced seniors, nine talented juniors and 26 inexperienced sophomores into an exciting and spirited football team.

Missing the Southern Conference title by one game, the Indians finished second with a 5-1 slate, compared to West Virginia's perfect 4-0.

The 6-4 overall mark was the first winning season since the 5-4-1 accomplishment of the 1953 squad.

Turning Point

The turning point of the season would have to be the 41-0 trouncing of previously unbeaten and unscored on Davidson.

This victory snapped a three-game losing streak and set the Indians on their way to four consecutive wins.

Highlighting the winning streak was the 3-0 Oyster Bowl victory over Southern Mississippi and the 28-14 homecoming win over George Washington.

The 1965 season saw the team set two school records and tie two others, besides the individual record breaking of senior end George Pearce.

Receiving Records
Pearce accounted for five school and three SC pass receiving records. The fifth leading receiver in the nation hauled in 61 passes for 796 yards, both conference and school records.

Pearce's biggest day was in a losing cause against Navy. His 12 receptions for 162 yards snapped the previous school marks of 10 and 142 made by former teammate Charlie Weaver against Davidson in 1963.

The other school record set by Pearce was his career total of 86 receptions.

Although Pearce tied for the team scoring lead with 36 points on six TD passes, he was nowhere near Vito Ragazzo's 1949 record of 15 TD catches.

The Indian offense showed itself fairly well balanced by averaging 160.6 yards per game over land and 134.6 through the air lanes for a total of 283.6 yards per game.

Sophomore quarterback Mike Madden, who scored six touchdowns, led the ground gainers with 398 yards. He was followed closely by Mike Weaver with 361 yards and Chuck Albertson with 234.

It should be noted that Albertson had picked up 202 yards in the first three games before he was injured.

Another sophomore, Dan Darragh, led in passing with 73 completions for 896 yards and eight TD's.

Darragh also led with 1035 yards in total offense to Madden's 848.

Superb Kicking

In the kicking department, the Tribe had some near perfect performers. The team punting average was 40.5 yards per boot, due mainly to Darragh's 41.7 average, one of the best in the country.

Besides Darragh's long booms the Indians also utilized Pearce's "poocher" kicks, which were kicked from inside the 50-yard line and designed to roll dead inside the opponent's 10.

Donnie McGuire accounted for 27 points with his toe this year. He was 21 for 22 on extra points, a blocked kick against the Citadel marring his perfect record.

He also made two field goals in five attempts, one being the margin of victory over Southern Miss.

Swimming Team Pins Hopes on Sophomores

BY BOB DAY

Beginning his fifteenth year as men's swimming coach at William and Mary, Coach Dudley Jensen said in a recent interview that "the boys are more capable than they think."

Coach Jensen added that this year's team will be mostly sophomores. The boys returning are Don Cave, the Indians' only letterman, and upperclassmen Bill Atkinson and Bob West.

Indoor Track

Coach Harry Groves invites anyone interested in freshman or varsity indoor track to come out for the team.

Enthusiastic persons should report to Coach Groves after 3 p. m. weekdays.

Last season, the boys brought home an 8-4 record overall (2-1, Southern Conference).

This season the team faces some rougher competition, especially in the pre-Christmas schedule.

In a practice meet against Old Dominion College in October, the team did well and went on to defeat the boys from Norfolk.

Coach Jensen considers "building up the team within the season" more important than building for next season.

The attitude of the boys has been very promising. Again, Coach Jensen admitted that "many of the sophomores don't know their capability."

He does, however, expect the boys to come to their own during the rigorous schedule before Christmas.

The freshman team, coached by Wally Riley, looks forward to a winning season. Keith Hamack, a butterfly, Andrew Glassman, a back stroker and David Allen, a breast stroker are among the outstanding prospects for this season's team.

Both the varsity and freshman teams have their first meet tomorrow in Blow Gymnasium.

Hot Indians Down Alumni As Panneton, Rama Standout

BY RICHARD KNIGHT

The Tribe basketball team took an early lead in the season's opener and racked up an 83-64 victory over the alumni basketball team.

Ron Panneton's sharpshooting netted 17 points and Jim Rama followed with 16; meanwhile the alumni battled back with 18 points for Bev Vaughan and 15 for Roger Bergey.

Height Aids Tribe

The Indians started four out of the starting five of last year's team and have the height to pick off the rebounds.

Walter Wenk, hamed to the All-Southern Conference Tournament Team last year, scored 11 points. His floor leadership was invaluable in defeating the alumni.

Ben Pomeroy brings six feet and six inches of skill to center and was on hand to grab 12 rebounds and to roll up 13 points.

Tim Walter showed his skill in the victory by scoring four points. Larry Paffrath, standing six feet and four inches as a forward, had nine rebounds and six points.

Rama and Panneton, both sophomores, were outstanding as the varsity's high scorers.

A six and one half foot forward, Rama was a bright spot on offense with 16 points; he snatched 8 rebounds on defense. Panneton's deadly shooting netted him the varsity's high of 17 points.

Randy Mitchell was good for six points; Mike Johnson and Brian Wolf each had four points; and Lew Ollice had two. H. V. Withers and Billy Taylor round out the Indians' hopeful squad.

The alumni showed their old form as Bergey, a 1963 graduate, scored 15 points and Vaughan, a 1961 graduate, was good for 18 points.

More Shoot High

Charlie Woollum, a 1962 graduate, was third high scorer for the alumni with 11 points.

Bob Harris scored five points; Jim Roy and Harry Cornell each had four; Jim Osbon had three; and Kenny Roberts had one. Other alumni were Tam Stubbs and Paul Cowley.

The freshman team assisted the alumni. Getting their first taste of varsity basketball, Dave Daughtery scored one point and Jack Downing scored two points.

Other freshman players were Robert Kelly, Eddie Derringer, Randy Schaeffer, Jim Purtil and Bill Hardie.

Shutout of Spiders Ends Grid Season

BY TIM BEVINS

The Indians, setting out to obtain their first winning season in 12 years, saw their goal turn into a reality two weeks ago.

Victory over winless Richmond earned the Tribe a 6-4 overall record and a 5-1 record in league play, good for second place in the Southern Conference.

This victory sets them one win shy of a tie in the 74 year old scenes with Richmond. The record now stands at 35-34-5.

The Dan Darragh to George Pearce passing combination, one that has worked consistently all season, once again shone. Darragh threw for nine completions in 16 attempts, seven of them to Pearce.

Pearce Sets Record

Pearce's seven receptions tallied 86 yards, giving him a yearly total of 61 receptions for 796 yards, both of which are SC records. He also broke the school pass reception record of 44 earlier in the season.

Charging in a number of times from his end position and helping to throw Richmond quarterbacks for substantial losses, Pearce played an equally outstanding defensive game.

Pearce's fine double effort served to highlight a game which was statistically close.

Post-game statistics show 246 offensive yards totaled by the Indians against 217 for the Spiders, the difference lying in 29 more yards passing for William and Mary.

Starting off slowly, the Indians didn't reach the peak of their performance until the fourth quarter.

Earlier in the game, just before the end of the half, an interception by Mike Weaver in the end-zone stopped a Spider threat.

A fumble recovery in the opening moments of the final period by Mike Mihalas set up the Indian's second score, the first one coming on a four-yard pass to Pearce.

Hagan Scores Last

The third and final touchdown came on a pass from Dan Darragh to Dennis Hagan. The defense took over from there. Led by Nase, Buccino and Buchanan, the Spiders offensive attack was shackled.

The Indians' outstanding fourth period play served to end fittingly a tough but rewarding season of football.

SPIDER CAUGHT IN TRIBE WEB

Indian defensive standouts Donnie McGuire (left) and All-SC Tom Feola lower the boom on Spider quarterback Larry Shotwell (19) in second-half action of W&M's 21-0 win, as All-SC tackle Tony Buccino trails the play.

Soccer Squad Enters SC Meet at Davidson

Short on manpower but long on spirit, the William and Mary soccer team traveled to Davidson College for the first Southern Conference soccer tournament.

Played the weekend before Thanksgiving, the tournament was the finale for the Indians' inaugural season.

W&M Underdogs

Going to the meet with an 0-2 record, and both those defeats by substantial margins, William and Mary was expected to give no one any trouble.

The Indians did lose the four games they played but managed to throw a scare into three of those four teams.

Gary King, a junior, was named to the first All-Conference team at fullback.

Other outstanding jobs were turned in by senior inners Guy Temple and Brian Clark, sophomore center-halfback, Mike King-Harran and sophomore goalie Dale Mueller.

The first game was with Davidson, the pre-tournament choice for top spot. Aggressive defense by the Indians highlighted the play as they held Davidson scoreless for 36 minutes before finally falling 2-0.

In the second game with Furman, the Indians missed four opportunities of scoring and allowed one fluke goal by the Paladins, losing 1-0.

Mighty Mountaineers

West Virginia, who eventually beat Davidson 3-1 for the championship, out-manned and out-classed the Indians, scoring twice in the first quarter and twice in the second, to prevail 4-0.

The final game was against George Washington. Again it was a series of had breaks that kept the Indians from winning.

The defense played well this game, too, as GW became the third team forced to wait until the final minutes before scoring, collecting two goals in the last 10 minutes of play.

Team captain Steve Row scored the Indians' only goal of the tournament — a shot at the final buzzer of the game. The Colonials prevailed 2-1.

Girl Cagers Battle Roanoke in Opener

BY JILL HICKEY

William and Mary's girls basketball team opens its season with a weekend of traveling, Dec. 9-10, in away games with Roanoke College and Bridgewater.

Although the girls face a tough schedule this year, many of last year's starters are returning, and the girls will be striving to better last year's 3-3 record.

The new coach, Miss Patricia B. Crowe, who has herself compiled an impressive record, came to William and Mary from Salem State College in Salem, Mass., where her team won six out of its seven games.

Miss Crowe, expressing high hopes for this season, said, "With practice and experience, the new members of the varsity team will be good and will be an asset to the team."

In spite of the strong freshman promise, the majority of the starting line-up has had previous experience on the team.

Lynn McLeod and Kay Barrett, the only newcomers, will vie with Pat Cullen, Jean Elliot, Jean Lusardi, Mar-C-Milona, Linda Sheffield and Cleve Youngblood for the starting honors.

Co-captains Jean Lusardi and Mar-C-Milona fell "there is a lot of individual potential, and we will have a good team if we can all work together."

Fast Schedule Awaits Frosh Cagers

With emphasis placed on preparing for varsity competition, the William and Mary freshman basketball team will play a limited, 11-game schedule.

Coached by Dave Corley, the frosh practice with the varsity because the coaching staff feels that by competing with stronger players, the freshmen will develop faster.

"They are being utilized," remarked Corley, "where they can best benefit the varsity and at the same time accumulate experience."

The squad, which consists of eight players, is anchored by Dave Daugerty, a 6'7", 220-lb. center who is on a full scholarship, and Jack Downing, a 6'1" guard.

The remaining players include guards Bob Kelly, Randy Schaeffer and Jim Purtil and forwards Eddie Derringer and Bill Hardie. At 6'6", Hardie is the only other "tall" man.

After winning a scrimmage with Fort Eustis recently, Corley commented, "We won and I was very impressed by the team's performance."

Last year's coach John Harvey feels that the team faces "a tough schedule." He singled out Bullis Prep as "probably the best opponent."

The Indians meet Bullis Prep in their opening game here at 6 p.m. next Saturday. Two other teams to watch out for are VMI and East Carolina.

GOOD DINING

The prices are right, the service is courteous and the atmosphere friendly and informal.

PiKA, Sig Ep Move into Lead As Volleyball Season Nears End

BY RAY WHITEMAN

As the intramural volleyball season nears its end, both the fraternity and independent leagues show tight races. PiKA leads the Greek league with a 7-0 mark followed closely by Sig Ep (6-1) and Kappa Sig (5-1).

The undefeated PiKAs emphasized good teamwork with Al White probably being the best set-up man in the league.

Sig Ep is led by the good net work of Bud Anderson, and Kappa Sig's great overall height aids them in their quest for the title.

Pi Lamb in fourth place, with the only other winning record at 4-3, is led by Doug Dann.

The remaining standings show Lambda Chi (2-3), Sigma Pi, KA, Theta Delt and SAE all at 2-4, followed by Phi Tau (1-4) and Sigma Nu (1-6).

Close Race

From the School of Marine Biology at Gloucester Point, the Vins lead the independent league with a 4-0 mark.

The Untouchables (5-1), Keplar (4-1) and the Psychos (4-1), however, all have a good chance of overtaking the leaders.

Friday afternoon, Nov. 19, a record number of participants competed in the intramural cross country race. The race was completely dominated by freshmen and independents.

Score Sheet

Teams from Yates and Blair placed first and second respectively, with Sigma Pi leading the fraternities but in third place overall.

Dave Watson, a freshman from Yates, and Scott Hershey, a senior independent, battled each other throughout most of the 2.2-mile run.

Hershey led most of the way, but in the last 200 yards Watson flashed by him and beat him by nine seconds, with a record time 11:59.

Trailing Hershey in third place was Al Fort of Sigma Pi in a time of 12:19. Dave Glendenning led the James Blair team as he finished fourth in 12:23.

Yates placed five men in the top twenty while James Blair had three. Four independents finished in the elite twenty while only seven fraternity men joined them.

Freshmen also dominated intramural tennis as Jeff Fairbanks from Yates defeated Kent Stevens in the finals 6-1 and 6-2 for the championship.

Dennis Shea of Phi Tau salvaged a third and some recognition for fraternities.

Bowling Tie

Intramural bowling is proving to be a real battle. Perennial champion Theta Delt took an undefeated record into their match with second-place KA.

The Southerners, however, took advantage of Dick Shepherd's absence and defeated Theta Delt to tie for the lead, each with a 15-3 mark.

Both games were hair-raisers as KA pulled the first one out by a mere ten pins and squeaked by in the second by one one. KA's Mike Reese and Don Lillywhite were big men in the upset.

Sig Ep (11-4) and PiKA (9-3) also have fine records.

Varsity Rifle Team Blasts Richmond, Lafayette Squads

The Varsity rifle team boosted its season's record with victories over the University of Richmond and Lafayette College.

Robert Kennedy was William and Mary's high scorer each time, shooting 262 and 285 out of a possible 300.

The Indians' sharpshooting downed the University of Richmond by a score of 1401-1390 and then defeated Lafayette College 1285-1105.

Successful Season

Captained by Joe Turner and Bob Kennedy, the rifle team features Stacy Garrett, Ron Botto, Rick Babcock, Harry Swanson, Harry Sipple and Ed Willard as the other six marksmen.

The rifle team posts a successful 4-1-1 season. Turner and Kennedy led the team to victories over Wake Forest, University of Richmond, and Virginia State.

In a past tri-match with Hampton Institute and North Carolina State, the rifle team tied Hampton and lost its first match by 20 points to N. C. State.

SFC Louis Romero of the ROTC staff coaches the squad and thinks the team's record of 4-1-1 is an accomplishment. Romero rates Kennedy and Turner as the best shots and Willard a very close second.

In the Lafayette match, captains Kennedy and Turner were William and Mary's high scorers, having 262 and 259 points.

Sipple had 238, Garrett 226, Babcock 236, Swanson 174, Botto 227 and Willard 241.

Kennedy, Team Leader

Kennedy racked up 285 points against the University of Richmond and Willard had 284. Swanson had 260, Turner 279, Sipple 276, Garrett 264, Botto 277 and Babcock 274.

The next match is with Virginia Military Institute and University of Richmond tomorrow at Lexington.

Future opponents include Georgetown and Washington and Lee.

Feb. 28 the sectionals start and the conference meet is in March.

WINNING FORM

Senior Marksmen Bob Kennedy (standing) and Stacy Garrett assume firing positions in recent triangular match against Richmond and Lafayette.

W&M Female Tankers Vie with OD Today

BY DIANE RAWL

Old Dominion College will try this afternoon, in a return meet, to redeem itself from an earlier 60-8 defeat by the Indians' women's swimming team.

In the first meet the W&M girls took all first and second places in swimming events and a first and third in diving.

With only sophomores and freshmen on the team, the four returning members have been grateful for the many points brought home by the team's freshmen.

Tricia Hiegel has become a strong asset in the 50 yard freestyle and the individual medley.

Paced by Becki McColpin, Linda Haase has developed into a strong entry in butterfly and backstroke. She has placed in these events in each meet.

Lou Cooper has been swimming freestyle in the medley relay but is trying to gain a place in the 100 yard freestyle.

The team's diver is freshman Linda Freeman, who has relinquished only one first place, for a second in the Mary Washington meet.

The next women's meet is scheduled for Wednesday at Madison College. It will be a tri-meet with Mary Baldwin College also participating.

News For And About Greeks

By Pris Walker and Stu Spirn

Deeply Engrossed

Another William and Mary tradition has disappeared. Along with losing football seasons and non-involvement with the outside world, apathy has been destroyed at William and Mary.

Besides being deeply engrossed in their academic endeavors, sorority and fraternity members are planning their elaborate pre-Christmas social season.

At the perigee the brothers of Sigma Nu honor the victorious William and Mary football team with the annual "Big Green" party, while at the apogee the Pi Phis and Kappas celebrate their foundings at Monmouth Duo and the Gamma Phis and the Tri Deltas hold their respective Christmas dances.

Blast Off

With re-entry into the earth's atmosphere on Sunday we should find many Sigma Nus eating the terra firma at the hands of the dangerous Delta Dragons in the third football game of the fraternity-sorority season.

The first Christmas serenade in the Greek scene will take place Tuesday when we shall hear the brothers of Sigma Pi croon across campus.

New pledges in mystic circles are Alan Harell, Jim Kane, Brian Wolfe, Kappa Sig; Larry Jenkins, Jerry Sedlacek, Phi Tau; Pat Foster, Betty Conley, Kappa Delta.

Tuesday, Nov. 23, Sigma Nu and Chi O held a Thanksgiving party for local welfare youngsters. Today Kappa Delta visited the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond as part of their philanthropic program.

Kappa Sig, SAE and Pi Lamb concluded extensive preparations today with the soliciting of donors for the American Red Cross Bloodmobile. The College students can be gratified in not only helping the Williamsburg community with its blood quota but also in contributing much needed blood to the U. S. forces in Viet Nam.

IFC Dance Headlines Byrds, Sam the Sham

Sam the Sham and the Pharoahs got their start in the New Orleans area, and the influence of the area's local blues is evident in their work, which features a strong, eminently danceable beat.

Back-up band will be Roy Hines and his Kingsmen — a local group from Norfolk.

Tickets for the informal IFC dance are still on sale at the Campus Center desk and a limited number will be available at the door.

The price is $5.50 per couple and $3.50 single.

Fraternity lodges will be open from 7-9 p. m. for freshmen and their dates.

Jim Breeden, IFC president, encourages all freshmen to participate in this open house as it is the only time freshman boys will be allowed on the row before men's rush.

Fred Palmore, social chairman of the IFC, reminds students that absolutely no smoking or street shoes will be allowed in the gym.

Breeden is general coordinator for the show. Bill Westbrook, publicity chairman, and Steve Curcuro, technical advisor, are assisting Breeden.

Handling the ticket sales is John Haley. Joel Zaba, treasurer of the IFC, is supervising the financial arrangements for the dance.

"This show is believed to be the largest and most expensive popular show ever presented in Williamsburg," Breeden has stated, "and I believe the IFC is extremely fortunate in having two groups of such high calibre."

Sinfonia Selects Thirteen Pledges

BY NANCY VERSER

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia national professional music fraternity has selected 13 students as pledges.

These students are the first pledge class for the Nu Sigma Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, installed at William and Mary last April.

The pledges are Bill Beamer, John Brooks, Everett Casey and Larry Driscoll.

Also honored are Edwin Godshall, Mac Henderson, Don Korte, Bil Monroe and Dick Owens.

Kenneth Rumburg, Mike Stuart, Brian White and Dick Young are the other new pledges.

Beamer is a freshman from Pulaski and plays in the Band. Brooks is a junior from Titusville, Fla.

Band Members

Lansdale, Pa., is the home of senior Edwin Godshall. Godshall is a German major and studied in Germany last year. He is a member of the Wesley Foundation and Drama Club.

Henderson is from Nassawadox, Korte, from Virginia Beach, participated in the Choir and intramural sports. Both are freshmen.

Monroe, a '64 graduate of William and Mary, is now enrolled in the Marshal-Wythe School of Law. He is a native of Williamsburg, Mass.

More Pledges

Rumburg is from Augusta; Stuart is a Richmond native. Both are freshmen.

Brian White of Newport News is a freshman and participates in the band and intramural bowling.

Young, a sophomore biology major from Washington, D. C., sings in the Choir.

Honor Society Welcomes New Pledges

Alison Brenner is an Alpha Lambda Delta, sophomore member of the Women's Honor Council and recipient of the sophomore class scholarship. She is a Kappa Kappa Gamma from New York City, N. Y.

Mrs. Glasser is from Newport News and has attended Goucher College.

Charles Joy, a senior French major from Manchester, Conn., is a member of the Alliance Francaise and the Young Republicans Club. He is also worship chairman of the Canterbury Club.

Pi Delta Phi was founded in 1906 at the University of California at Berkeley.

This year's officers are Ursula Riddick, president; Susan Hackney, vice-president; Blair Riepma, secretary; and Charles Nicholson, treasurer. Dr. Gordon Ringgold is the faculty advisor for the group.

Tryouts Begin For Play 'Misalliance'

Tryouts will take place for "Misalliance" the third William and Mary Theatre production, this coming week.

The tryouts will be from 7:30-9:30 p. m., Tuesday and Wednesday in the Lab Theatre, Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

There will be no tryouts in the afternoon as has been the custom.

Copies of this play by George Bernard Shaw are at the main reading desk of the College Library. There are nine parts in the drama, six of them men and three women.

Johnny Tarleton, Bentley Summerhays, Joey Percival and Gunner are young men about 25 years of age; Hypatia Tarleton and Lina Szecepanowska are about 25 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tarleton are the parents of Hypatia and Lord Summerhays is the father of Bentley.

Although it may seem early to cast this production which will not be presented before March 3-5, such things as casting and the blocking of the play must be finished before the Christmas holidays begin.

Everyone is urged to try out for this merry comedy.

First of Public Debates Features English Boys

BY NANCY VERSER

Cambridge University, Cambridge, England, will send two debaters to challenge William and Mary's varsity debaters Dec. 13 in the Campus Center ballroom.

The British debate is the first in a public debate series sponsored by the Debate Council and the department of theater and speech.

Cambridge's team will argue the affirmative side of the resolution that "American culture debased and debasing." William and Mary will take the negative stand.

Eight freshmen are attending a novice debate at Temple University in Philadelphia this weekend.

Norman Dress of Wadsworth, Ohio and Mike Chesson of Newport News compose one affirmative team.

The second affirmative side is made up of Jo Ann Walthall of Alberta and Bob Weill of Falls Church.

On one negative team are Ray Converse of Falls Church and Gael Getty of Hopewell.

Dean Hewes of Fredericksburg and Richard Hayhurst of Parkersburg, W. Va., are the second negative team.

Mr. Glenn Kirk, assistant debate coach, and Mr. Jim Sawyer are accompanying the teams.

The Temple novice tournament is one of the largest of the season and is primarily a critique session, though individual awards will be given to outstanding speakers.

Four varsity debaters will argue before the Williamsburg Kiwanis Club Wednesday at the Williamsburg Lodge.

Participating in this demonstration will be Bryan West, Chuck Huxsaw, Jerry Harris and Jim Lowe.

These four will also represent William and Mary in the Wake Forest Dixie Classic tournament Thursday-Saturday.

The Wake Forest meet will be the last encounter for the teams until the second semester.

Thousands Come Marching In Viet Nam Demonstration

BY CHRIS SHERMAN

Somewhere, amongst an estimated crowd of 25,000-50,000 Viet Nam demonstrators around the Washington monument last Friday, were 21 William and Mary students, one professor and one dog.

Though many prominent Americans, Drs. Albert Sabin and Benjamin Spock, James Farmer, et al., sponsored the protest, participants represented all sectors of America.

Describing the pickets, Lynne Scott said, "There were many little old ladies and businessmen, the kind you'd expect to be Readers' Digest fans and want to kill all the commies, but they weren't."

The atmosphere, according to one news reporter was "typical of a college football game." Indeed, one familiar rival appeared.

University of Virginia students, spying the William and Mary protestors, jeered, "It's nice to see some thinking people at William and Mary."

Summing up his impressions, Steve Snell stated, "I was impressed with the moderation and absence of a militant attitude among the marchers and the speakers and the way they ignored all irrational hecklers."

Counter-demonstrations were sponsored by the Ku Klux Klan, the American Nazi Party and the Hell's Angels. One American policy supporter was offering "free gas and matches for Peace Creeps."

Concerning these counter-demonstrators, Jeff Quillen commented, "They acted like they had 'God' on their side and were sure that we were too contemptuous to talk to."

Speaking for the group, Rick Cook maintained, "The question is whether or not the U. S. is going to participate in the anti-colonial revolution around the world."

The student marchers felt it was a great boost to their morale to be in the presence of thousands of people who also disagree with U. S. policy.

Collegium Musicum

Randolph Hokanson, pianist, will perform at 4 p. m. Sunday in the Campus Center ballroom in the third program of the Collegium Musicum series.

Hokanson's recital will include works by Mozart, Beethoven, Bartok, Debussy, Chopin and Mendelssohn.

A member of the faculty of the University of Washington's School of Music, Hokanson is a frequent soloist with the Seattle Symphony, the CBC Chamber Orchestra in Vancouver and at the Bach Festival in Carmel, Calif.

He has played as guest artist with orchestras under conductors such as Sir Thomas Beecham, Arthur Fiedler and Pierre Monteux.

Four Virginians Fill Freshman Offices

BY DIANE MIMS

Freshmen left last week for their first official college vacation as a unified body, having put four Virginia students in class offices.

The election of Will Hooker, president; Ed Kellam, vice-president; Pam Roberts, secretary-treasurer; and Linda Freeman, historian, climaxed two weeks of vigorous campaigning by 31 hopeful office seekers.

Hooker, a physics major from Hampton, is a member of the track team and admits a new interest in the field of politics.

He plans to use his campaign slogan "Unity Through Action" as the basic idea for freshman activities.

Kellam, from Norfolk, is a member of the wrestling team.

Sports Enthusiasts

Pam is co-captain of the freshman cheerleading squad and lists her main interest as travel. She is an English major from Arlington.

Linda, whose home is Richmond, is a member of Mermettes and a diver for the swimming team.

The newly elected officers have met in executive session several times this week. Their immediate objective is to improve the social activities available to freshmen.
