HOLIDAY WILL BE DECLARED AT WILLIAM AND MARY BEGINNING TOMORROW AFTERNOON AT 1 P. M.

Eighty-Two Papers in All Will Be Read before the Several Departments

MANY SCIENTISTS TO ATTEND

Prominent Men From All Sections Will Attend Annual Meeting of the Academy

HOLIDAY STARTS TOMORROW

Because of the annual meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science here tomorrow and Saturday, classes will be dismissed from 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon until 8:30 o'clock Monday morning May 7.

Over 200 scientists will be the guests of the college tomorrow and Saturday, at the sixth annual meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science. It was in 1923 that Williamsburg first entertained this convention, and the little city plans an even warmer welcome this year. The membership of the Academy includes most of the members of the science faculties in Virginia's colleges and secondary schools, and prominent scientists in the industrial field. Many local students, both graduates and undergraduates, are members, several of whom will take an active part in the program.

Eighty-two papers will be read, the majority of which will be discussed in the various sectional meetings of the departments of mathematics, astronomy, geology, physics, chemistry, botany, zoology, and psychology and education. This is the largest number ever listed on a program of the Academy. Papers of general interest will be presented to the whole assembly, while more technical papers will be given before these sectional groups.

In mathematics there will be exhibited an ingenious device that makes the measurement of triangles, including determination of their angles and their area, as easy as measurements of a straight line with a yard stick or tape line. This will be of great value in the teaching of geometry and trigonometry, and will save surveyors and engineers much labor and time. Another paper will describe the seismograph at the University of Virginia, the instrument by which earth vibrations indicative of earthquakes are recorded.

Colonel H. Edward Bullis, a fellow of the British Royal Geographic Society, will speak on the reform of the calendar on Friday, May 4, at 3 o'clock. In the geological section, interesting accounts will be given of geographical features of the state.

The Virginia Section of the American Chemical Society will meet with the chemical section. A prominent feature of this joint meeting is the round table discussion of chemical

YEARBOOK BUSINESS MANAGER ASKS THAT ACCOUNTS BE CLOSED

The Business Manager of the Colonial Echo, has asked that all fraternities and societies that have not yet done so, pay for their pages in the yearbook right away, in order that the business on the publication may be closed.

He also stated that any alumni who desire books may get them, if they get in communication with him within the next few days.

NEXT FRIDAY IS DATE FOR PLAY

Seniors Working Hard For "Outward Bound" Production; Characters Picked

A week from tonight, May 11, the Senior Class play, Sutton Vane's "Outward Bound," will be presented in the Phi Beta Kappa Hall. This play has a theme both unique and fascinating, and it is made even more fascinating by the clever situations and lines. Essentially it is a "problem" play, and the conclusion throws light in the entire theme.

An excellent and complete cast is now in rehearsal. Each character in the play is outstanding, no one individual stars, but each role is as important as the next.

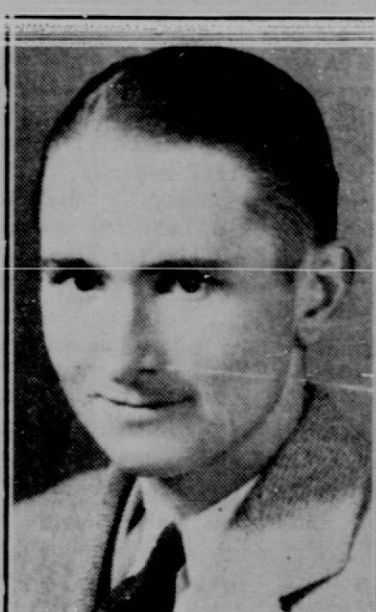

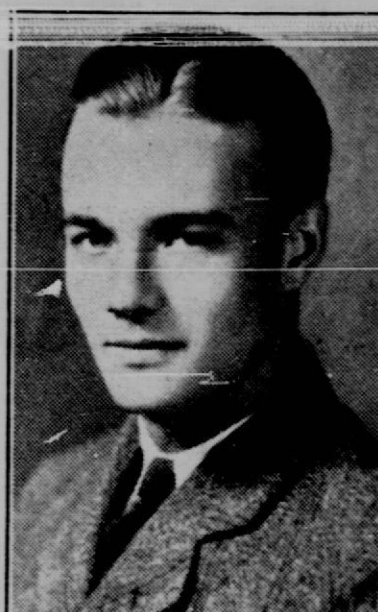

The part of Scrubby is taken by Weldon Thompson, who did such fine work in "The Valiant" and in summer school productions. The role of Pryor is taken by George Mapp, and E. P. Simpkins takes the part of Duke, the young clergyman. These are two outstanding parts.

Stanley Fein, who will be remembered for his performance in "You and I," summer school plays, and various one-act plays, is a member of the play production class and has done excellent work.

Ed Justis, of Chester, and Jimmy Robertson, of Norfolk, will lead the ticket as candidates for the presidency of the student body. These men were recently nominated in a student body meeting as were Spud Bloxson, of Norfolk, and Mac O'Ferrall, of Richmond, for the vice-presidency.

A new factor was injected into the election Monday when Joe Hancock, of Newport News, who had been nominated for the secretary-treasurership to run against Mit Stribling quit. On Tuesday night, Nathan Caffee, of Norfolk was named by the students to fill this vacancy. Mr. Caffee had been third in the previous nominations.

The several classes have been busy this week in making nominations for the honor council. Those nominated by the Junior class to be voted on as Senior representatives next year were: Arthur P. Crown Virginia Jones May Queen Today

A large assemblage was present here this afternoon to witness the coronation of Miss Virginia Jones as Queen of the May. Dancers in colorful gypsy and foreign costumes began the festivity by scattering in picturesque groups over the front campus.

The whole group of two hundred dancers took part in the opening dance, "We Won't Go Home Till Morning" which was danced with zest and enjoyment until the shimmering clink of tambourines announced the entrance of the heralds of the Gypsy Queen. Thereupon the dancers dispersed and gave way to the heralds, who were Misses Louise Stokes, Edith Wilkens, Charlotte Miley, Page Vaughan, Hazel Storch, and Margaret Eggleston. The gypsy heralds were dressed in gay costumes of red, yellow, green, purple, blue, and orange, and their hair was bound in kerchiefs of contrasting colors.

After the gypsy heralds, the Queen Regent, Miss Mary Fairfax Griffith dressed in a red circular skirt and a green waist distinguished by large sleeves entered and waited the coming of the new queen at the steps of the Main building. Excitement ran high as the Queen elect approached, in a gaily decorated gypsy wagon drawn by vigorous gypsy men, and was recognized as Miss Virginia Jones. The queen elect was beautiful in a vivid dress of black and red, a bright orange sash and a shawl of many colors. Miss Griffith crowned the new queen with a wreath of flowers and gave her a tambourine instead of a sceptre as a token of authority.

Misses Ruth James and Dorothy Farrar were the only attendants of the gypsy queen. They were dressed in orange trimmed in purple and red, and green trimmed with pink. They wore flowers in their hair.

After the coronation, Gypsy girls came forward to interpret a "Gypsy" dance for their queen. They danced barefoot to the shimmer of tambourines and the clink of money.

The next was a Dutch "Wooden Shoe" dance, danced by Misses Mary Lewis Mayhew, Jane St. Clair, Mary E. Johnston, Terese Caulk, Virginia

LOS QUIXOTESCOES WILL OFFER NIGHT IN OLD SEVILLE HERE ON NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT IN BLOW

Los Quixotescoes, the honorary Spanish society on the campus, has completed plans for a Spring fiesta, "A Night in Seville," which it will give in Blow Gymnasium on May 12. Elaborate plans have been made and everything is in readiness for this gala occasion. The fiesta will be in the form of a cabaret dance in a Seville garden cafe during Fair Week.

The gymnasium will be decorated to represent a Sevillian garden cafe in the spring time. Tables will be grouped about beneath the balcony in true Spanish fashion and to give a more vivid picture of Fair Week, little booths will be placed around in the gymnasium at which the guests may purchase drinks. Tables may be reserved by those who wish to do so.

The fiesta is to take the place of the usual Saturday night dance and will begin at 8:30 o'clock. Students who wish to enter the contest for the best Spanish costume will come dressed as Spaniards. To the winner of this contest a Spanish shawl will be given.

There will be "gay señoritas" and "bold caballeros" in native costumes who will sing typical songs and dance the well-known Spanish dances. Members of the club will give exhibition dances among which will be several tango dances. The tango exhibition promises to be one of the most interesting features of the cabaret.

All students, whether members of the Spanish Club or not, are invited to reserve tables and attend the fiesta. Dancing will be enjoyed during the intervals between feature numbers.

College Studio Exhibit Shows Complexity of Art Study Here

An extensive art exhibit representing every line of work by students in the art department of the college was conducted last Saturday and early this week in the Main building studios. Under the direction of Miss Beatrice Sellevold and Miss Brooks Johnson of the department several hundred examples of this semester's work was prepared for the eyes of the critical. The exhibition showed above all now interest in this branch of fine arts is growing at the college, and set forth the numerous branches and wide field encompassed by this year's courses.

The walls of the east room were devoted mainly to watercolor work, both in illustration and design. Among the former group there were several excellent landscapes, and a feature of the latter variety was a showing of screen designs, most of them with a marine tendency.

The high degree of specialization in art courses and the wide field of endeavor was shown by the west room exhibit, which included everything from charcoal drawing to batique work. All four walls were hung with exhibits, and special tables were placed to show off smaller pieces.

The "soap sculpture" work aroused high interest, and several pieces were deemed of a degree of excellence worthy to represent William and Mary at a forthcoming exhibition of such work at New York galleries. Several bas-relief medallions of Jefferson, Washington and Lafayette featured the sculpture exhibit. The soap sculpture work comprised mostly animal pieces.

Other exhibits included charcoal and pencil sketches, color designs, portfolio designs, grotesques, cubist designs, woodcuts, composition studies and batiques. Several batiques, wall hangings, were of superior quality.

An interesting feature of the exhibit was a showing of paint and crayon work by grammar school students.

On the whole the exhibit was a success, and was a surprising demonstration of the complexity of the art department to those unacquainted with its work. May there be more showings like it.

The plot centers around the eccentricities of a romantic young girl named Anne and her relation to Harold, the hero, Ruth, her sister, and her mother.

The cast is as follows:

ANOTHER EDITOR ASKED TO QUIT

Bloss of Michigan State Suspended For Libelous and Slandorous Statements

East Lansing, Mich. (By New Student Service) Roscoe M. Bloss, liberal arts sophomore at Michigan State College, has been indefinitely suspended for corruption and graft against the college and state administrations in The Student, a non-conformist and unofficial campus magazine.

The Student, which has been in existence for about three months, is the only questioning voice on a not very liberal campus. Its content is a queer mixture of pertinent impertinences and banal quotations. The front cover of the offending issue carried a reprint of Elbert Hubbard's "Message to Garcia," but the editorial page made up for it by exhibiting that "stiffening of the vertebrae" for which Mr. Hubbard asked. Starting on a light theme recommending the substitution of football for military training when war is outlawed, the editorial wound up by describing the college as "not a college at all, but a political playground, where the college presidency is a bait for party electioneers, a state institution for governors to practice economy upon, to cover up grafts elsewhere in the machine, a beautiful park with sidewalks and buildings, where taxpayers' sons and daughters may wait four years for that whimsicality, education, a gloss which covers defects, a veneer which can be polished." It wondered "just what one can expect from such a condition, where graft and corruption reign" and suggested that the best students had been "scared away by the political bugaboo and the unintellectual atmosphere."

FROSH RALLY TO MIDNIGHT FRAY

Collins Leads Freshmen In Greasy Attempt to Hoist Class Banner

Tuesday morning appeared rather cloudy; but the Freshmen appeared without their "Duc" hats, and were seen to walk fearlessly across any and every part of the campus. It was the morning after the night before, and freshman rules were off until the opening of school next fall.

The "night before" started with a meeting of the Class of '31 in the Phi Beta Kappa Hall Monday morning, where daring and secret plans were formed for the oncoming evening. Toward twelve o'clock at night various and sundry freshmen were seen to be drifting to the athletic field where a fire was burning merrily.

All having collected, the fun began. Various songs and yells were given and the Alma Mater was sung reverently as the battle hymn. Then the courageous "Ducs" started on their march to the flag pole. Finally, after a long and loud march, the slow moving mass arrived at the flag pole to find that "dirty work" was afoot, for the pole had been greased and suspicious upperclassmen decorated the nearby wall.

After several unsuccessful, but gallant efforts, "Rip" Collins finally succeeded in planting the battle scarred flag of '31 half way up the slippery pole. Then they thought it best to show their contempt to the members of the various upper classes, so they hanged a member of the class of '30 on the nearest telegraph pole. (That is they hanged an exact likeness of him.—No deaths reported as yet.)

At this stage the upperclassmen became active with eggs as weapons, so the freshmen retaliated.

At last Dr. Hodges, Dean of Freshmen, was found and cheered loudly. He, in a speech made in answer to the cheers, praised the work of the Class of '31, and expressed the desire that the fine spirit shown by this class be continued.

YWCA CABINET BEGINS WORK

Purpose of Local Organization is Formulated for the Coming Year

The new cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. here has already begun its plans for next year's Y. W. program of work for next year as formulated by Misses Laura Colvin and Edith Dodd is "to interpret the intellectual development, the opportunities, the activities and the problems of the campus according to Christian standards as found in the teachings of Jesus; to widen the interests, the appreciation, and the understanding of college life into a universal conception of Christianity and to bring through personal service the beauty of a deepened spiritual life to each member."

In undertaking to carry out this purpose, the Y. W. C. A. has taken a great and worthy task upon itself. Colleges have long needed such an awakening as this purpose is to guide to revelation. With such a future, the Y. W. C. A. should make rapid strides in progress through developing a more vital and constructive interest among the members of the organization. It will be a great task but under the able leadership of Miss Phyllis Logan and her well-selected cabinet, it should prove a great success and mark an era of improvement in the Christian life of the campus.

CMTC OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS

Nine Colleges, Including W. & M. Offer Rewards For Competent Work

Nine college scholarships will be offered to the students in the Citizens' Military Training Camps in the Third Corps Area this summer, according to a report received at Fort Eustis today. The scholarships are offered by the following institutions: Bucknell University, Carnegie Institute of Technology, College of William and Mary, Hampden-Sydney College, Loomis Radio College, The Temple School, Washington and Lee University, and the University of Pittsburgh.

Three of the scholarships have been definitely assigned to the Fort Eustis camp, the two offered by the College of William and Mary and the one by Hampden-Sydney College. There is a possibility that more scholarships will later be given to the Fort Eustis CMTC. The scholarship at Hampden-Sydney has a value of $50.00, and is renewable on the basis of good academic record throughout the college course. Each scholarship at the College of William and Mary amounts to $150.00 to a non-resident of Virginia, and covers the college and tuition fees. For residents of Virginia, to whom there is no tuition fee, each scholarship will amount to $60.00 and will cover the college fee.

In making the final selections for the scholarships at Fort Eustis, the board of officers will take the following into consideration: Ability to meet the admission requirements of the institution; quality of previous scholastic work; ability to provide sufficient funds to meet expenses while attending school; character of the candidate as demonstrated by his loyalty, resourcefulness, leadership, energy, and attention to duty; need for the financial benefit to be derived from the scholarship; and knowledge of military subject, excellence in military drill, military bearing and neatness, and evidence of good citizenship.

A number of vacancies still exist at the Fort Eustis CMTC. Application blanks may be obtained by writing the Recreation Officer, Fort Eustis, Va.

CHEM CLUB SEES "LIE DETECTOR"

Psychi-Galvanometer and Scientific Apparatus Used at "Stunt Night"

"Stunt night" was held here Tuesday evening in Rogers Science Hall and the departments of Chemistry and Psychology during which many interesting experiments and exhibits were shown to those unfamiliar with these sciences. In the chemistry department many experiments were made which demonstrated the peculiar properties of gases and chemical combinations. Dr. W. A. Guy, associate professor of chemistry explained to the uninitiated the purpose and the significance of these experiments. Expensive apparatus was exhibited.

In the psychology department many new and interesting experiments were made which revealed the potentialities and possibilities of the infant science. The most unique of these was "the lie testing experiment" in which a galvanometer and wierd looking psychological instrument were used. The theory of this experiment is Good. That's what it is . . .

No USE trying to put a definition around Camel. It is as diverse and fugitive as the delicate tastes and fragrances that Nature puts in her choicest tobaccos, of which Camel is rolled. Science aids Nature to be sure by blending the tobaccos for subtle smoothness and mildness. One way to describe Camels is just to say, "They are good!"

Each smoker telling the other, we suppose. At any rate, it's first—in popularity as well as quality. It has beaten every record ever made by a smoke. Modern smokers have lifted it to a new world leadership.

Camels request a place in your appreciation. Try them upon every test known. You'll find them always loyal to your highest standard.

Somehow, news of Camel has got around. "Have a Camel!"

MEMBERS OF THE VIRGINIA INTERCOLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION

MAY 3, 1928

A College Printing Press

Having been many times annoyed by the inconvenience occasioned by the lack of a press at the college, the Flat Hat wishes to make an earnest plea that one be established in Williamsburg.

The advantages of such a press are obvious. First, the Flat Hat would be enabled to publish more news. Under the present system the copy for the issue appearing on Friday has to be in the hands of the printer on Wednesday, or has to leave the office at that time. The consequence is that much of the news is stale when the sheet appears, and many late items have to be carried over until the next week or not printed at all. Furthermore, it is more expensive having the paper printed away from home because of the frequent trips that members of the staff have to make to the plant and because postage mounts up rather high.

Pursuing the same idea, it might be possible with a press here at William and Mary to put out a paper twice or thrice a week. Such a plan is adopted at many colleges no larger than this one, and it works successfully.

A plant with good equipment and printers would be able also to print the Literary Magazine, and thus make the labor in getting that out much lighter on the staff.

The bulk of the printing work is in the catalogues, pamphlets, and bulletins gotten out by the college. The amount of work here is enormous. Letterheads and forms could also be printed, and the mimeographed forms could be abolished. There is printing work enough for the college alone to support a small press.

Besides these angles of the question, there is the possibility that many of the professors might have bulletins and speeches printed. Surely this is done at the larger colleges so why not at William and Mary?

It has always been our secret desire that the Flat Hat, the Virginia Gazette, and the school of journalism might combine and put out a single paper. At present there is no town paper. This field coupled with the college news would furnish a wonderful laboratory for the students in journalism. The journalism students cooperate to a large extent with the Flat Hat at present, but much of their outside work is of an imaginary nature. Why could they not be coupled up with a living experiment and thus gain practical experience?

With a press on the campus one may easily see how such a plan could be facilitated. The students in journalism could work week by week along every phase of the field. Surely in comparison with the cost of the science laboratories this one would prove not only cheap, but profitable.

As the college grows, stride by stride, the need for a press becomes more and more evident. On every hand the demand is present. Surely no gift or endowment to the college could be more profitably employed.

Consider the Co-eds

We agree with the sentiment expressed last week by a co-ed in the Open Forum column, in regard to the privilege accorded the visiting teams in that they are required to have no introduction before dancing with the girls.

Is it "Southern Hospitality?" Is it fair to the girls to thrust such a measure upon them without their consent? Does it not tend to lower the co-ed in the eyes of the visitors?

We fear that it does. If we were to follow the so-called hospitality to the letter would it not be a little more commendable to respect the women's desires in such matters?

We propose a remedy. Have the visitors request the men at the dances to introduce them to the girls. Let the visitors introduce themselves to the William and Mary men, but let the William and Mary men do the introducing to the women. We believe that such a plan would be a bit more courteous to the women.

A GLIMPSE INTO the COLLEGE WORLD

Here and There among the Exchanges of the Flat Hat

The 60 students who make up Minnesota's European Turband are raising moustaches under order from their director. Said moustaches are not to be removed until they have returned to campus next fall.

"There is a scientific reason behind so ridiculous sounding an edict," declared Michael Jalma, as he stroked his already well-groomed upper lip. "A moustache develops and strengthens the embouchure, which is a French word for the mouth opening. All musicians playing wind instruments must develop a sensitive embouchure in order to add the final finished touch to their playing."

A rare plant was recently discovered in the vicinity of Chapel Hill. K. B. Raper, a student in the Botany department, found a beautiful specimen of the "shortia galasipolia," which had been reported as growing only in the western part of the state, while he was on a field trip.

Dr. Knigh Dunlap, professor of psychology at Johns Hopkins University, says that a girl shows the depth of her feeling by her mouth and not by her eyes, in spite of the old traditions. In his recent experiments of facial expression, Dr. Dunlap took pictures of the emotions usually registered by the human face. He cut the pictures segregating the eyes from the nose and the mouth, and then placed them together in such a way that the eyes readily indicated another feeling when combined with a different mouth.

"Dance" was the ruination of the editor of the Mercer Cluster, who was recently forced to relinquish his position because he used that word in an editorial.

"The Sweet Briar News" reports that the pageant which will be presented at that school May Day is "The Garden of Romance."

The University of North Carolina golf team carried off the championship of the state at the recent Sedgfield Intercollegiate tournament at Sedgfield Inn, near Greensboro, from a competing field including Duke University, Davidson College and Wake Forest College.

Carolina won the event with an aggregate score of 685 points for the 36 holes played, having a margin of 35 points over Davidson, runner up for first honors.

Lindbergh was voted first place by Yale Seniors in their list of outstanding world figures. Mussolini was second, only six votes behind.

The result of other balloting included: That prohibition is harmful to college life, and that English is the most valuable study, and psychology the least.

President Frank, of the University of Wisconsin, compares the elective system in American colleges to an "Intellectual Cafeteria," because there is nothing to guide the inexperienced in the choice of "food."

A million dollar chapel is to be built on the Harvard campus as a memorial to the university's war heroes.

Students of Liberty College have pledged $20,000 for a new artificial lake on their campus.

AMONG THE ALUMNI

By John B. Green

A great number of former students have visited the college the last few days. From some of these we were able to get a line on just what they were doing and how they were prospering in business. The warm, bright days and the various athletic contests which will feature college activities during the remaining days of school, should attract many more back to their Alma Mater.

The Flat Hat, and this column in particular, wishes to welcome back all former students who will accompany the Virginia Academy of Science here for their meeting. We congratulate you on your accomplishments and are proud to have you back in your present capacities.

Below we are listing a number of alumni who visited the campus during the last week or two and a few notes regarding them.

James W. Sommerville '23 is practicing law in Washington. This column has before referred to Mr. Sommerville's prominence in the legal world of the nation's capital.

Thomas R. Witten '22 is a prospering merchant of Broadax, Va.

H. C. Barnes is principal of Norview High School of Norfolk County. He returned last week-end and brought with him a group of future college high-lights from his classes there. They were entered in the debating contests held here Friday and Saturday.

Bruce Stewart is engaged in the insurance business in his home city, Portsmouth. Mr. Stewart's friends will be interested to know that he has acquired a flourishing mustache which gives him a most "business-like" appearance.

Cornelius DeWitt, ex-'28 is in the bond business in Washington.

Charles Pollard '25 is attending the Law School of George Washington University in Washington.

Lawrence I'Anson is connected with the Southern Produce Exchange with headquarters in Portsmouth.

We received word the other day that two former students have accepted positions with the Fisk Rubber Company of Akron, O. These are Joe Perkins and "Goofy" Magnus, both members of the class of 1926. It is rather a coincidence that both of these men, in their student days, were cheerleaders. Mr. Magnus in addition was a varsity baseball man.

"LORD BOTETOURT SAYS"

By Bill

Today, students, a man is going to talk to you who is particularly familiar with our assignment—The College's Attitude Toward Secession. April had come in that year, and already the Spring had given "the new wine of the year" to stimulate the imagination of youthful southern gentlemen—for they were gentlemen in those days, those college boys. As they duelled beneath the shade of the big trees, then behind the main building over some winsome Williamsburg girls, who always married some one else in the end, they prepared themselves to fight for a more worthy cause than a female.

As they whispered to their ladies fair, they could hear the distant rumblings of the approaching struggle which was to send the sons of William and Mary to glory or to the grave, and as glory's paths only lead to the aforementioned resting place for deceased humanity, they all ended up at the same place. Nevertheless, thoughts like these never stopped those cavaliers. They kissed the town girls goodby, took a last, but long, drink at the tavern, converted their race-horses into prancing war steeds, threw away their books (if they had any) and rode away to war!

During this time the college suffered the greatest humiliation of becoming a hospital, but as all available space was needed for McClellan's wounded, nothing was said about it. The northern troops got along splendidly with everybody and there was some talk of giving McClellan, who was more politician than general, an honorary degree, but the thing fell through. Hostility really broke loose when Wild Butler and his crew hit town. They burned the graduate school across the way, and that's why we have no graduate school.

Then came the dark days following the war. The college made a futile attempt to go on and struggled manfully but her crest had been shorn. New school had been begun and war had come with its poverty, and the boys who might have gone to school were forced to attempt to recover their lost fortunes. Sad days indeed for the college and sadder too for the little town girls who fully expected those boys back. Many a gay youth, anticipating glory and fame in what he believed to be a small skirmish in which he would merely have to show

THE OPEN FORUM

To the Editor of the Flat Hat: Sir:

May I offer an opinion concerning the stand that your paper has taken in regard to "Campus Politics" as expressed in an editorial of April 27, 1928.

The editorial stated that the Flat Hat sponsored the system of "Political Parties" as introduced last year, and that it is loath to see a return to the old system, or a system without parties.

First, I may state that the Student Body is not this year reverting to the system as formerly used when it was assumed that fraternities would form secret alliances or "cliques" for the purpose of electing certain men in their organizations. However, it can be said the method this year will be similar to the old one, but with absolute new provisions and restrictions.

At a recent meeting the Student Body passed a resolution for the discontinuance of Political Parties and a reversion to the method of electing nominees in a general meeting. At the same time another resolution was passed stating that the members of the Student Body agree on their honor as gentlemen to abstain from all types of fraternity or group agreements and personal solicitation for votes, and that any violation of the agreement reported to the secretary of the Student Body will be officially and publicly announced.

The writer of the editorial states or strongly intimates that the system thus adopted is too idealistic, that "the same underhand methods of bargaining will last," that "human nature is selfish," that "when and only when men become unselfish and do not desire gain for themselves of their close friends, politics will disappear and the deserving man be honored."

It is my belief that honor is a part of human nature as well as selfishness and that the agreement adopted by the Student Body will be conscientiously adhered to, that the use of "politics" will not be perpetuated this year.

I contend that men may desire gain for themselves or their close friends, and that they have, and will receive it and be duly honored without re-

U. S. TOPOGRAPHIC SHEETS ON FILE AT WM LIBRARY

The College Library now has a complete set of topographic sheets of Virginia, which have been prepared by the United States Geological Survey, according to an announcement by Dr. Earl G. Swem, librarian. With the exception of a few spots in Virginia that the sheets have been made thus far to get together, these topographic sheets contain detail information concerning every physical aspect of Virginia.

The particular value of these topographic sheets lies in the completeness of detail with which they show the natural resources, historical spots, highways, schools, cities, cultivated and uncultivated lands of the state, Dr. Swem said. It is expected that these sheets may be of some value to students interested in the geography, history, and natural resources of Virginia.

EDITOR OF COLUMNS REMOVED FROM POST FOR VULGAR WORK

Seattle, Wash. (by New Student Service) And another editor has bitten the dust. Sid Patzer, editor of Columns, literary and comic magazine of the University of Washington, has been removed from his post for "gross abuse of the function of his office."

The cause of the trouble was an article by Mr. Patzer himself entitled "Manuscript Found in a Spittoon" and sub-titled "A Detailed Account of the History of Expectoration Through the Ages." Professor Carl E. Leib, Chairman of the publication council, branded the article "abominably vulgar and in gross bad taste." K. E. didn't think "pathological troubles" need be "foisted upon the student body of Washington and the general reading public."

Under Mr. Patzer's editorship Columns has become outstanding among the few excellent college magazines. Just a year ago the Columns editor who preceded Mr. Patzer was ousted. The student body has become aroused at the summary dismissal, and it is probable that the case will be reheard, with the "offender" granted an opportunity to defend himself.

Students Protest

Undergraduates at Kansas and Ohio Wesleyan Adopt Resolutions

New York, N. Y. (By New Student Service, Students at two universities, Kansas and Ohio Wesleyan, have adopted resolutions protesting American intervention in Nicaragua and demanding cooperation with Latin-Americans in the supervision of the Nicaraguan elections. Student attitudes on the American foreign policy are being determined by the Student Emergency Committee which tried to call on Mr. Coolidge last week to present a resolution of protest. At Ohio Wesleyan the case was presented by the president of the student body at chapel. Although the present American policy had its defenders, the great majority of students joined in the protest.

Only a handful of students attended the Kansas meeting, but they adopted a resolution of protest which was sent to Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Postponed High School Meet To Be Run May 11

Panhellenic and Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Discuss Changes

Panhellenic council and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet held a meeting last Friday night to discuss the rushing rules of next year for the women's fraternities on campus. They did not come to any definite decision, but appointed a committee to meet and draw up a set of rules. Those serving on the committee are Nancy Burke, Polly Hines, and Katherine Carter.

The rushing rules will probably be based on those of this year, but there will be a few changes made.

Indian Baseball Team Will Clash With Richmond Here Saturday

GAME IS LAST ON HOME LOT THIS SEASON

Fray Will Mark First of Two For Year Between Spiders and Taskerites

WALLACE-BROWN TO PITCH

Leading Hurlers of Both Squads Expected to Ascend Mound For Go

Saturday afternoon on Cary Field the William and Mary balltossers will cross bats with Richmond College in one of the feature games of the schedule. This will be the first meeting between the two colleges on the diamond this year.

Both teams have been fairly successful so far this year. Richmond has succeeded in defeating some of the best of the Northern invaders as has also the Indians. William and Mary at present is leading the Virginia Conference while Richmond has lost one game. The game on Saturday will be significant. If the Spiders can defeat the Indians it will throw the Indians in the lost column and tie with some of the runner-ups. If the Indians win it will give them a comfortable lead in the standing of the teams.

It is expected that Brown will start the game for Richmond. Brown who is a Sophomore has been showing good form this year and is expected to give the Indians trouble. Wallace, who is credited with defeating the Spiders last year is expected to be on the mound for William and Mary.

Saturday's game completes the home schedule for the Indians. They will take two trips on the road.

OLD JUPE WINS SEVERAL FRAYS

Rain Halts Number of Events on William and Mary Sports Card

Having been out of the game for most of the year and letting the boys have a free hand at outdoor sports Old Jupe Pluvius last week decided to step in and take a hand. Consequently, his capers spoiled the week-end sports calendar for the local lads. Starting on Friday he allowed the varsity track team to run off the shot and discus against Richmond before he started to do his stuff. At Williamsburg he prevented the Indian raquetees from meeting Bridgewater.

Then on Saturday the fun began. The Tidewater Track Meet was postponed until later. The Golf Meet with George Washington was called off. The Indian Netmen again had their hopes washed away and the Tennis match with Richmond had to be called off. Then the varsity balltossers were prevented from meeting Guilford College in what would have been a nice bal game. The teams had begun to warm up when Jupe again frowned on the William and Mary boys. However, only two games have been rained out this year, the Guilford College game and the Boston College game.

Editor of the Flat Hat,

Dear Sir:

I might have a superiority complex but anyway I think that I am one of the biggest sport lovers at William and Mary and I certainly do hate to see so many baseball games cancelled or postponed at William and Mary because of a few rains. It is true that we have only one more game on Cary Field this year, but I would certainly like to recommend to the Athletic authorities of the College to purchase some canvas which certainly wouldn't cost very much, for the baseball games here next season.

The authorities seem to have incurred quite a bit of expense in the Indians Nose Out Win in Ninth Over Hilly City Aggregation By 4-3 Score

The Indian baseball team repeated their performance of last year against Lynchburg and staged a ninth inning rally to win 4-3 Thursday. The Hornets played a good brand of ball throughout the game and it looked as if they would finish on topside until the last frame when Jimmy Wallace poled out a hit, scoring Eason and cinching the contest for Tasker's men.

The men from the Hilly City had won three state contests previous to this tilt with the Indians and this victory over the Hornets boosts the Indians' chances considerably towards the state championship.

THREE FRAYS ON SCHEDULE

Hampden-Sydney, Lynchburg and Roanoke College on Schedule

The William and Mary Tennis team composed of Captain Terry Crossfield, Howard, Manager James, Ober, Novick, and Wiggins, left yesterday for a trip in the western part of the state. They faced the strong Hampden-Sydney team yesterday.

The Indians had not played the Tigers before this season and were out to revenge the defeat of last year which was the only one of the season.

Today the local netmen face the Lynchburg College team at Lynchburg for the first time of the year. Tomorrow the Indians hook up with the Roanoke College men in Salem. The Indians turned this team back earlier in the season by a 7-0 count.

Prospects point to the brightest season ever for the Indians. They defeated Randolph-Macon, have tied the strong Medical College team and have decisively defeated them once, and have turned back Roanoke College scoreless.

Scrap Chandler's Trackmen Meet Hampden-Sydney Here Saturday

TIGERS RATHER WEAK
Indians Expected to Annex Victory With Not Much Difficulty Saturday

Saturday afternoon, on Cary Field, at 1:30 P. M., the Indian track team will meet the Hampden-Sydney runners in a dual contest. The meet will be the third for Coach Scrap Chandler's men this week. The Indian tracksters displayed strength against Richmond Monday and should climb closer towards the State track title Saturday at the expense of the Tigers. Coach Bernier's men have dropped two meets this season to comparatively weak opponents. The Indians will see their star freshmen runners against the visitors from Death Valley.

On Thursday of next week, the Indians will be up against much stronger competition, when the Lynchburg cindermen arrive for a tilt with the locals. The Hilly City representatives have been showing up particularly well this season. They opened by defeating the Hampden-Sydney outfit by a score of 82 1-2 to 43 1-2. The Hornets are strong in the sprints and distance runs but are not rated very high in the weight and field events. However, there is every indication that the meet here Thursday will be an interesting one.

This meet will close the local track card as far as home engagements are concerned. The Virginia Conference meet at Richmond and the Navy at Annapolis are the two remaining meets on the 1928 schedule.

Art Club to Elect

Officers For Next Year Will Be Named Tuesday

Elections of the Art Club will be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, in the studio, at which time officers for next year will be elected. All members are urged to be present.

Some time in the near future Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin will speak to the Art Club on the Restoration of Williamsburg, and not only the Art Club, but any students who are interested are invited to attend. As the restoration of Williamsburg is a subject that is of paramount interest both to students and to the people in town, it is expected that a large number of both will be present.

AWARD LETTER

A cheer-leader's letter has been awarded Lloyd H. Williams of N. S. C. for his excellent management made by F. O. Clark, President of the Men's Athletic Council.

Mr. Williams is the first junior to whom the letter has been awarded, but due to the fact that there was no senior cheerleaders this year, the award was made.

TASKERMEN WILL MAKE SIX DAY JAUNT THROUGH OLD DOMINION

Indian Veterans to Meet Bridgewater Here May 10

FIRST GAME IS WITH EAGLES

The Indian Baseball squad will have no rest during the coming week. On Sunday they depart on a State trip which includes six Virginia colleges in as many days. The first tilt of the trip will be Monday afternoon at Harrisonburg when the Indians stack up against the Bridgewater Eagles in a return game. Last week the Eagles invaded Williamsburg and the result proved very disastrous for the visitors, the score being 13-0 in favor of the locals. Long, star Eagle hurler, who pitched a one-hit game against Hampden-Sydney, will start against Tasker's men on Monday and the game will probably be a much harder fought contest than the one here.

Then on Tuesday the William and Mary team will journey down the Shenandoah to Lexington where they will meet Washington and Lee in the afternoon and Virginia Military Institute on the following day. The W. & L. Generals have a much weaker team than those of recent years but Tasker's tribe will also be less formidable in that freshmen will not be allowed to participate in the game. On Wednesday the Indian team will play the Cadets at V. M. I. and again Coach Tasker will have to fill the positions on the nine regularly occupied by freshmen, from his reserves.

On Thursday, a week from today, the Indians will meet Roanoke College there in the fifth State Collegiate game of this season. Comparative scores indicate that the Maroons will not offer the Indians as much competition as they have in previous years. "Baseball at Roanoke College is only a name this year," according to Charles H. Hamilton of the Richmond News-Leader. The same sports writer has placed William and Mary among the three leading college baseball nines in the state. The probable Roanoke line-up against the Indians will be Rutherford ss, Gwen c, Ramsey 1b, Fray lf, Morehead 3b, Shanahan cf, Dietrich 2b, Banner rf, Canaday or Olinger p.

The Indians entrain on Friday for Lynchburg where they meet Lynchburg College in a return engagement.

On Saturday, Coach Tasker will carry his charges to Farmville where they will meet the Hampden-Sydney Tigers. This game will close the most strenuous week of baseball ever attempted by a college baseball team in Virginia.

FRESHMEN HAVE TWO CONTESTS

Paposes Will Meet Boy's Club of Richmond Monday, and Hampton High Tuesday

According to the schedule released for the Freshmen Baseball team the first of the season it will have two games the first of next week. On Monday it will meet the Boy's Club or Richmond, and on Tuesday the Hampton High School. The Richmond team is usually one of the best in the city and furnishes trouble for all of their opponents. Their basketball team will be remembered by those who saw them play during the winter. Hampton High is coached by Tack Cook, a former Indian star who usually turns out excellent teams at Hampton.

Tennis Team Breaks Out In Brand New Uniforms

The William and Mary Tennis team which is on the road this week is making its first appearance in its new uniforms. These uniforms which were purchased by the athletic authorities of the college follow the same color scheme as the other athletic equipment, those of green, gold and silver. This is another step in the policy to encourage minor sports at the college.

M. DAVIS STILL LEADS SCORERS

Indian Captain Now Has Total of 33 14-15 Points For The Season's Play

Meb Davis continues to lead the William and Mary track team in scoring for the season, having rung up a total of 33 14-15 points so far. He is the only man to get over 30 points.

The Kappa chapter of Sigma, social fraternity, will conduct its annual spring banquet tonight at the Colonial hotel. The affair will be formal and no feminine guests will be present. The college orchestra will play.

A feature of the menu will be spring ducks from the Weber duck farm in Massachusetts, sent by "Ducky" Weber, an alumnus of the William and Mary chapter.

Hampden-Sydney Falls Prey to Fast Ones of Jimmy Wallace by 4-0 Score

Jimmy Wallace outpitched Burks of Hampden-Sydney here Tuesday afternoon to win a pitchers' battle by a 4-0 score. The Indians sewed the game up in the first inning.

At the beginning things looked like a W. & M. runaway, the Green, Gold and Silver clad lads, getting three tallies in the first two cantoes. Burks, however, settled, and with the exception of the fourth had the home team eating out of his hand.

A Few Dartmouth Students Will Try Socialism For a While

Hanover, N. H. (By New Student Service) To promote third party interests through the support of Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, a local socialist group has been founded at Dartmouth College. It is trying to form a national inter-collegiate organization, explaining in a letter it is sending to prospective leaders that "liberal students can no longer remain complacent in the face of the corruption and utter lack of social responsibility in the two major political parties. By supporting Norman Thomas you will be able to register your protest."

The "Dartmouth," student daily, treats the political organization lightly. It has seen "these things before, and strangely enough they do not seem to work. The embryonic Marxians somehow fail to convince themselves that they are on the true course, and after the shouting dies, and the novelty of really being a socialist in a capitalist country begins to pale, the brothers inevitably return to their former conclusions."

Whatever may be said of college Socialists, their candidate, Norman Thomas, is not without honor in his own land. "The Princetonian," student organ at Mr. Thomas' alma mater, is proud to claim him, and in fact, feels "rather hurt that Mr. Thomas' press agents did not see fit to announce that the Socialist candidate is a graduate of Princeton."

DELEGATES BACK FROM Y CONFAB

Number of William and Mary Men Attend Meeting at Camp Orapox

William and Mary's delegates returned from Camp Orapax the first of the week where they attended the annual Y Cabinet Convention. The delegates were, George Morecock, acting General Secretary of the Y, Robert Frice, secretary, Melvin Snow, Y Room Chairman, George Hunt, former head of deputations, Meredith Powell.

University of Richmond, Randolph-Macon, University of Virginia, and William and Mary were represented at this convention. The leaders of the camp were Forrest D. Brown, station, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of the University of Virginia, Rev. J. Hillis Miller of Williamsburg, Dr. T. W. Fox of Randolph-Macon, and George Morecock, acting general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here.

The purpose of the Y. M. C. A. and what it should do on the campus was discussed. Brooks Anderson of the University of Virginia, particularly stressed the importance of attendance to the Summer Conference for college Y workers to be held June 15-25, at Blue Ridge, N. C.

When Dad was a "Modern Youth"

BICYCLES, stereopticon lectures, and the "gilded" youths with their horses and carts; at night the midnight oil burning in student lamps while the gas lights glared and flickered across the campus—the gay nineties when Dad was in college seem primitive to us to-day.

Now it's sport roadsters, the movies, and radios. At night the MAZDA lamp replaces the midnight oil in dormitory rooms, while modern street lighting sheds its friendly glow over the campus.

Without electricity we would have none of these improvements. To-day's marvel of electrical invention becomes to-morrow's accepted utility. In the coming years, by taking advantage of new uses of electricity you will be able to go so much farther that the "tearing twenties" will seem just as primitive as the "gay nineties".

Scientists in the research laboratories of the General Electric Company keep G.E. a leader in the field of electrical progress. Skilled G-E engineers develop each latest invention. The G-E factories carry out the engineers' designs with high-quality material and expert workmanship.

COLUMBIA WILL REVISE COURSE

First Two Years Will Be Devoted To "Orientation and Discovery"

New York, N. Y. (By New Student Service) Displacing the present curriculum of 20 years standing, a revised plan of undergraduate study, intellectual vistas to the student, will go into effect next September at Columbia college. The first two years will be devoted to "orientation and discovery." The junior and senior years will be given to genuine work in preparation for graduate or professional study, or for "the yet more serious business of living a useful and high-minded life."

The new plan includes such innovations as lecture courses demanding neither prerequisites nor examinations, and reading courses given cooperatively in different but allied departments of study. Discussing the program and its aims President Nicholas Murray Butler said:

"Any student who satisfactorily completes the work of the freshman and sophomore years will have gained a good general education of junior college grade. Should he not desire further college training, he will have accomplished something that is definite and most helpful in making him an intelligent citizen. Skillful advisers will come to know each student, his needs and his ambitions, and aid him to reach those decisions affecting his career which will be corrected."

"Another most important principle has entered into the making of the new program. Every effort has been made to measure progress toward the bachelor's degree in terms of real achievement rather than terms of prescribed courses, or hours, or points, or anything of the kind."

"A student who can show that he is competent to omit any of the courses ordinarily prescribed for undergraduates will be encouraged to do so. He will thus gain opportunity to take up studies for which he is ready and in which he is interested, no longer merely marking time in a group which bores and discourages him while other less well-prepared students are trying to catch up with him."

CHEM CLUB SEES "LIE DETECTOR"

(Continued from page three) that when a person is in an emotional state his body offers more resistance to an electrical current. When he tells a lie his emotional elements are aroused. This being true the Psychi-Galvanometer could record the times when he is telling a lie. The laws of color were demonstrated by the use of the color wheel in which fundamental facts of colors were demonstrated and proved. The demonstration was well conducted but the chief attraction was the alchemists den in which ghastly sights aroused the emotions of all who entered. The whole exhibit was highly educational as well as entertaining.

NEXT FRIDAY IS DATE FOR PLAY

(Continued from page one) cellent work in dramatics. He will take the part of Mr. Lingley. Then there is the part of Henry, taken by Nathan Caffee who had the major role in "You and I" and "The Valiant." Ed Lamberth, member of the debating team who appeared in "Everyman," will be the Examiner. Virginia Floyd will appear as Mrs. Cleveland Banks, a difficult role which requires much character-work, as does the part of Mrs. Midget, taken by Helen Hostetler. Miss Hostetler has appeared in one-act plays and has had much experience in dramatics. Marjorie Lacy will be Anne, which is the companion part to Henry.

SOCIAL SCIENCE GROUP TO MEET

The speakers for tomorrow will be Raymond B. ... Administration, Roanoke College; Dumas Malone, Professor of History, University of Virginia; Jackson Davis, Field Agent, General Education Board; J. E. Walmsley, Professor of History and Social Sciences, Farmville State Teachers' College; M. L. Combs, Division of Research, State Department of Education; and R. C. Astrop, Professor of Psychology, University of Richmond.

The general program of entertainment conducted by the college will consist in somewhat the same as that for the scientists of the Academy. There will be the informal reception and dinner at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow to mark the formal recognition of the visitors by the College administration.

The future development of the Virginia Social Science Association is keenly anticipated by its members throughout the state. In a letter to Dr. George W. Späker, Professor of Government in the College of William and Mary, Dr. Gee states: "In arranging for this (program) I have been much impressed by the wealth of material that there is in the State to constitute a Virginia Social Science Association as well developed as the Virginia Academy of Science now is. All indications are that we shall this year make a long start towards that goal."

MEN WILL ENTER MOSQUE CONTEST

It has required a great amount of training to bring the many voices into proper blend for competition with such famous organizations as the William and Mary group will meet. The University of North Carolina, always a formidable opponent for any glee club in the country; the University of Virginia, a contestant in the Southern Intercollegiate Contest; Washington and Lee, veterans of several contests; and the University of Richmond will be represented at this meet. Mrs. Kathleen Hipp, director of the local men's musical organization, has worked hard with the men, and has brought the club around from a group of untrained voices to a group of twenty trained vocalists. Many of these are freshmen which assures for the college a good men's glee club within the next few years.

"Low, How a Rose 'Ere Bloometh," a religious song of the sixteenth century has been selected by the judges as the contest number. In addition to this piece, each group is required to sing their Alma Mater and one additional number. Mrs. Hipp has selected "The Winter Song" as an optional number.

"LORD BOTETOURT SAYS"

(Continued from page four) his dexterity with a horse and sabre and it would end right then and there, and many a fair maid had believed as all fair maids do an immediately become engage to some one else, and who, alas, also never returned.

Though the college had lost its former greatness and the town was decaying more and more, they both personified that "spirit of the southland" that knows no yielding of pride, stood with their backs to the wall and received bravely the ravages of the readjustment period, which leads us down to the noble character in our history, Col. Benjamin Ewell which we will take up next time. Did I get the absences?

THE OPEN FORUM

(Continued from page four) sorting to underhand methods. The system before last year was unsuccessful or undesirable because no effort was made to prevent secret group combinations with the result that much distress and unfriendliness arose among men or groups of men on the campus.

The year was an improvement, but probably not as much as we might have. For about two months the men students were openly and earnestly divided into two factions. The methods were so very "open" that they became antagonistic and ill feelings were created. The student body did not then work as a unit, but as two distinct bodies, each endeavoring with all its faculties and resources to accomplish its special purpose. This condition we must acknowledge to be undesirable. A student body should not exist in groups, but as one body with one aim. Some of last year's prejudices were carried over to this year. This, if we think of it carefully, is a decided detriment to school spirit.

The systems just reviewed have been unsatisfactory and undesirable as evidenced by the rejection of them by the Student Body. Now we are attempting one that might bring better results than those used. Should we not give it a fair trial? Should we not use all our efforts in making it successful? Why discourage it? Can any system be successful, if it is said before it is put into operation that it is impossible?

Respectfully,
J. ALLAN COOK.

Editor of the Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:
In your recent article on the breaking-up of the William and Mary band, I, as a student and lover of music, would like to suggest a few remedies and suggestions for the continuance of the band. The band caused "pep" and enthusiasm at all of our football and basketball games and it means a powerful lot to outsiders.

But, the men having to furnish their own instruments, practice twice a week with no inducement whatever, they can not be blamed for not being properly interested in this project. The administration after giving all of these dances for the band could probably offer a small gold key for service in it. This is only a suggestion, but something should be done to interest the men in the band. They were given a few trips to Newport News and Norfolk but this meant very little to them.

A musician is, as we all know, very indifferent in his or her attitude. They have the consolation that they can play and no one can take that away from them, but if encouraged in some way, I am sure that they would take an interest and also make great strides. The band is good advertisement for the college; for instance, in Richmond on Thanksgiving Day, we completely outclassed our opponents in music, and people notice things like this.

Again, I ask for continuance of a band and something of encouragement for the musicians.

Va. Academy of Science Will Hold Meeting Here

education in Virginia colleges and technical schools.

A reminder of Virginia's interest in the sea is found in a paper on the behavior of a sea weed whose reproductive activities show most peculiar relations to tides. Bird lovers will welcome a paper from Sweet Briar College on unusual records of migratory birds.

A round-table discussion of the content of beginning courses in psychology will be a feature of the section on psychology and education. In this section there will be too, a paper dealing with moving pictures as an important aid in class-room teaching. There will be an exhibit of pictures made especially for use in the class-room.

As new groups interested in phases of science come into the Academy, new sections are formed to provide for their interests. All of these groups contribute to the general programs and partake of the general good fellowship. The meeting enables each one attending to get a glimpse of the general current of scientific knowledge and special information along some line of his choice. It gives the specialist a chance to cultivate his specialty and also to look over into the fields that absorb his fellow scientists. It widens his acquaintance among scientific men of the state and inevitably broadens his understanding and sympathies. It makes for better co-operation in attacking the scientific problems of the state.

It should not be supposed that the annual meeting constitutes the whole of the activities of the Academy. Its officers and committees are active throughout the year in forwarding its aims. One committee headed by Dr. Ivey F. Lewis, of the University of Virginia, is active in studying the plant life of the state with a view to conservation and utilization of its resources. This committee will report on Saturday, May 5, at 9 o'clock.

Another committee of which Dr. R. E. Loving of the University of Richmond is the chairman, is devoting much time and energy to the encouragement of scientific research in the state. This is important, not only for the direct advancement of the knowledge of our physical resources, but for the development of a scientific atmosphere that encourages both the advancement and utilization of scientific knowledge. The committee on research offers each year a prize of fifty dollars in gold for a paper of outstanding scientific importance. The prize is awarded on the basis of judgment of experts and will be presented to the author of the paper at the general meeting of the Academy on Friday, May 4, at 8 P. M. in the auditorium of the Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The winning paper will be read at the general meeting at 11 A. M. on Saturday, May 5.

For the support of research another committee is accumulating an endowment fund, the income of which is to be used under the direction of the research committee. It may be predicted that the work of this committee will contribute much, in years to come, to the welfare of Virginia.

The College of William and Mary will act as host at a dinner party at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening. Visiting ladies will be entertained at a tea to be given by the Williamsburg Branch of the American Association of University Women. Trips will be conducted to Jamestown, Yorktown, and Dismal Swamp while the visitors are here.

for Vice-President, Hugh Nelson, of Newport News, and George Wilkins, of Cowen, W. Va.; for secretary-Treasurer, William Sturgis, of Nasawadox, and Tom Varney, of Alexandria.

Three year competition among several men for managerships of two sports, and about two or three months in three other sports.

Tuesday when the election is held. Managers for baseball, track, tennis, wrestling, and swimming will be named.

Candidates for major sports officers are, for Manager of Baseball, Joe James, of Surry, and Randolph Vaiden, of Newport News; for Manager of Track, Bunny Bean, of King and Queen Court House, and Joe Hornbarger, of Christianburg.

Candidates for minor sports managerships are, for Manager of Tennis, John Gillett Ayres, of Pungoteague, and John L. Lewis, of Bethesda, Md.; for Manager of Wrestling, Joe Hancock, of Newport News, and Max Lanier, of Williamsburg; for Manager of Swimming, John L. Pentress, of Princess Anne Court House.

This will mark the first time that managers of these sports have ever been elected in a spring election. Wrestling and swimming were just entered here this year as minor sports while for the past several years, since a letter has been granted for tennis, the managership has been held by a member of the team, and elected by the team.

The election this year is unusual in that there is no political activity. Men of the college went on their word as gentlemen that they would not enter into any political parties, of fraternity coalitions of cliques. This marked a radical departure from former years, when all sorts of coalitions took place. This agreement also killed the Marshall, Wilson, and Wythe parties which were organized here last year for "open politics."

Members of the auditing committee will also be elected next Tuesday. The men nominated are James Diebert, of Norfolk, James Kelly, of Big Stone Gap, Warren O'Brien, of Portsmouth, and Randolph Vaiden, of Newport News.

Harper, Nancy Johnston, Mary Ridout, Ellen Ticer, Hilda Miller, Edwina Carver, Margaret Greenberg, Elizabeth Rowe, Betty St. Clair, Dorothy Walz, Laura Field, Mary Edgar, Dorothy Rhodes, Louise Pilcher. These dancers were dressed in blue costumes with tight bodices, long, full skirts, white aprons, and white dutch caps.

The center of campus next became a riot of colors as the Italian dancers took their places for the "Saltarella." The women were in green skirts, white waists, and yellow aprons and kerchiefs while the men wore black knickers, green and yellow sashes, and had bandannas tied about their heads and around their necks. These dancers were: Alice Chewning, Grayson Daughtrey, Clarice Cook, Clarence Hicks, Lena de Shazo, George Schmutz, Elizabeth Vaiden and Mr. Richardson.

Earl Swem, Mr. Joiner, Russell Collins, and Mr. Cottingham in the blue, green, and purple knickers and boleros of gypsy tumblers next caught the eye and fascinated the carnival audience with their stunts.

Welsh women dressed in black and white with queer tall black hats claimed attention next. The "Welsh" dance was done by Misses Dorothy Broughton, Virginia Crawford, Florence Harrington, Miriam Silberger, Virginia Turman, Grace Vipond, and Elizabeth Swann.

A gay dance called "If All the World Were Paper" was danced next by the following English maidens in dainty pink and yellow costumes and neat white aprons: Betty Douglas, Virginia Nelson, Louise James, Ruth Davies, Florence Yancey, Elizabeth Sexton, Nancy Ward, Olivia Hall, Irene Valentine, Elma Spittler, Frances Lord, Laura White, Kitty Rhodes, Margaret Joerissen, Helen Osmond, Elizabeth Price.

One of the most delightful dances of the carnival, "Tango," danced by Misses Virginia Gouidman, Fchy Hines, Ruth Miller, Mary Robertson, Margaret Slemph, and Elizabeth Trout, in red and white checked dresses and hair bows.

The Hungarian "Csabogar" was beautifully interpreted by thirty girls dressed as Hungarian peasants in red, yellow, green, blue, and purple. The peasants were Jean Etheridge, Katherine Kahle, Lucy Morton, Anne Messick, Frances Ward, Ruth Seamon, Louise White, Lillian Cassell, Thelma Bryant, Harriet Zimmerman, Irma Adams, Charlotte McKown, C. Taylor, Olga Skora, Mary Dunlap, Christine Thompson, Alice Tudor, Margretta Blume, Bernice Briggs, Alva Moore, Miory Moody, Rose Flannery, Anne Trent, Jane Worthington, Helen Porter, Marion Sargent, Ruth Jones, Violet Barrett, and Betty Ambley.

A quaint dance "Arkansas Travelers" was done by Misses Virginia Alexander, Isabelle Kemp, Evelyn Haymes, Sue Cornick, Virginia Bustin, Mary Rupp, Katherine Hunter, Lucy Miller, Genevieve Wyatt, Marion Bonniwell, Elizabeth Tanner and Catherine Hasseltine, dressed in orange tunics, purple capes, green caps and stockings.

The "Maypole Dance" afforded another riot of color in the vivid colored streamers of the May pole, the flowers and balloons carried by the dancers and the costumes of the dancers, who were Misses Mary Grace Trout, Agnes Winn, Esther Lowe, Marion Cheyne, De Ette Jones, Irma Hall, Eleanor Williamson, Evelyn Steele, Alice McKay, Margaret Kerr, Florence Dabney, Evelyn Bruce, Catherine Cook, Elizabeth Lanier, Virginia Smyre, and Isabel Gough. Their costumes were picturesque ones with full, stencilled skirts, and black, laced bodices.

The "Newboy Clog" done by eight "tough urchins" was the source of much enjoyment and created a great deal of mirth. The "toughs" were Misses Anne Lindsay, Edith Richardson, Blanche Pierce, Barbara Wyatt, Mary Motley, Caroline Sinclair, Mary Matthews, Mary Ribble, and they were dressed in black and white checked knickers, white shirts and slouchy caps.

Perhaps the most striking dance was the Magyar Czardas danced by Nancy Burke, Welton Bloxson, Alberta Gary, Meb Davis, Pat Russell, George Mapp, Mary Quick and La Plaza. The women's costumes consisted of red skirts trimmed in bands figured in black and orange, white waists and black boots. The men wore black smocks, red knickers, and black boots.

The carnival closed with everyone participating in the Mardi Gras Dance. The dancers carried gay sticks of vivid gypsy colors which they flourished as they danced.

The Gypsy Carnival planned and directed by The Pageantry Class under the guidance of their instructor Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts was the most colorful, most enjoyable, and most successful May Day witnessed here in several years. Acknowledgements are made to the Art Department for designing costumes, to Mrs. Hipp, Mrs. Drewry Jones and Mrs. Robinson for decorations, and to Mrs. Foster for help with the music.
