

PAN-HELLENIC FORMALS WILL BE GIVEN ON MONDAY

MAY QUEEN TO BE CROWNED ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Name of Queen Not to Be Known Until Day of Festival

LARGE NUMBER TO TAKE PART

William and Mary will crown her May Queen next Thursday amid the festal scenes which prevail at affairs such as this all over the country. This year she will be crowned by America, impersonated by Elizabeth Duke, May Queen of 1929. From all parts of the country people will come to entertain the fair Queen with dances typical of the Mother Country of their ancestors. Father Time, who in reality is Truman Welling, will turn the pages of history from 1600 to the present day, showing us some of the people who entered the United States, and at approximately what time they entered.

According to a custom long adhered to at the college, the name of the May Queen will be withheld until the time when she appears to receive the crown. Four women were voted upon for this honor by the Women's Student Government Association at its last meeting. They were Mary Quick, Harriet Smith, Virginia Turman and Elizabeth Vaiden. All four of these will be in the May Court.

A group of heralds will lead the May procession. They will be followed by the Phi Beta Kappa.

BILL THOMPSON TO ACCEPT NEW POSITION SOON

Assistant Treasurer Will Leave to Join Norfolk Branch of Morris Plan Bank

LEAVES HERE TOMORROW

William G. Thompson, '28, of Norfolk, and Assistant Treasurer of William and Mary, has accepted a position with the Morris Plan Bank of Norfolk. Mr. Thompson will assume this new position Monday, May 5th.

Before coming to William and Mary in 1924, he was connected with a trust company in Norfolk for three years. Upon graduation in 1928, Thompson was named an assistant in the treasury.

WOMEN'S HONOR COUNCIL VOTES NOT TO CUT CAMPUS

A statement has come from Mary Dabney, secretary of the Women's Honor Council, to the effect that the Council is cooperating with the college policy in not cutting campus. With the coming of spring, the necessity of having the William and Mary campus look its best is of greatest importance, and it is only with the help of the students that this can be made possible. Lately the students have been negligent in this, and the council wishes to call attention again to the fact, with the hope that the students will cooperate.

REHEARSALS OF "ROYAL FAMILY" WELL UNDERWAY

"Rosy" Ryan, Virginia Turman, Harriet Smith to Play Leading Roles in Senior Play

MARY PARRY IS ASSISTANT

Rehearsals are well under way for the senior play, "The Royal Family," by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, to be given in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on Wednesday evening, May 14 under the direction of Miss Althea Hunt, director of dramatics, assisted by Mary Parry, student assistant. The play, which was given this year by both Dartmouth and Penn State players, is a very clever high comedy in three acts, having been selected as one of the ten best plays produced in New York in 1927.

That the theatre and acting are as durable and worthy a career as any other, is brought out in this play, which centers around the Cavendish family, an unusual and famous family of actors who actually live their profession. It was as Fanny Cavendish, the very embodiment of the spirit of the theatre itself, that Haides Wright, the well-known actress in "Mimi" starred at the Selwyn Theatre in New York.

BUILDING PROGRAM ASSUMES NEW FORM

Foundation for New Infirmary Nearing Completion; Rogers Hall Work Progressing

The campus building program is now in one of the busiest periods it has had for some time. For a while, Main Building held the spotlight alone, but several projects now share the attention of the college architect's staff.

The foundation for the infirmary, now under construction, is nearing completion, and preparations for the first floor have been begun. The building will be made as near fireproof as possible. It will have two stories.

J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society Holds Banquet

Following the custom of preceding years, the annual banquet of the J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society took place Friday night, April 25, at the Pocahontas Tea Room. Those present consisted of the members of the society eligible for credit.

The decorations were attractively carried out in pink and white, the colors of the society, and place cards represented an ink bottle and pen.

Margaret Johnson, as the outgoing president, acted as toastmistress and those who made toasts were Dorothy Brown, representing the alumnae; and

"AUNT LUCIA" WILL BE GIVEN THIS WEEK END

Famous Collegiate Comedy Will Be Presented Tonight and Tomorrow

DR. CHANDLER TAKES PART

The rollicking collegiate comedy "Aunt Lucia" will be staged in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 2 and 3. Over a hundred people will take part, forming one of the biggest productions in the history of the hall. This show has been staged in many towns and cities in the east and promises to be a huge success.

The play proper deals with the story of the home-coming of Bula Bula College. The show takes place in a fraternity house. The school is anxiously awaiting the arrival of Betsey's "Aunt Lucia" Wakefield, worth $50,000,000, and they are expecting her to give the college a large amount of money to build a football stadium. Jerry Watson, played by John Barrows, is a college fellow and with the help of George, played by Bob Misel, and Dick, Bob Lee, he dresses himself as an old lady for the entertainment of his fraternity brothers. Dean Howard, played by Miss Lucy Ann Taylor, mistakes him for Lucia Wakefield. Once in the dilemma it is impossible for him to explain.

REGISTRAR'S NOTICE

The Registrar's office calls to the attention of all students that room reservations for the coming summer session may be made during the coming week beginning May 5.

The following week, beginning May 12, rooms will be open for registration for the regular college session of 1930-31.

INDIAN HANDBOOK STAFF FOR 1930-31 NAMED BY EDITORS

Beard, Lucy, Lee, Wilkerson, Raleigh, Roberts and Hancock Compose Editorial Staff

WORK BEGUN ON BOOK

Appointments have been made for the Indian Handbook of 1930-31 by William F. Rountree, editor-in-chief, and Virginia Leary, assistant editor. The editorial staff will consist of seven students, three men and four women.

James B. Lucy, of Washington, and Frank Beard, of Newport News, will serve as Associate Editors, while Annie Wilkerson, of Roanoke; Mary Raleigh, of Roanoke, and Becky Lee, of Fredericksburg, will serve as Women Editors. The duties of these members will be the getting of information, and the forming of their respective sections in the book.

Barrett Roberts, of Brookline, Mass., has been named Sports Editor of the Handbook, while Nancy Hancock will

MAKES SECOND CO-ED DANCE GIVEN THIS YEAR

MRS. HIPPI WILL PRESENT REVUE APRIL 9 AND 10

Program Will Consist of Two Parts With Special Dance Acts and Minstrel Scenes

OPERA SINGER WILL APPEAR

The "Revue of 1930" will be presented by Mrs. Katherine Hipp on Friday and Saturday evenings, April 9 and 10th, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, under the auspices of the King's Daughters, a charity organization of the city of Williamsburg.

The first half of the program consists of six acts of singing and dancing; the second, a minstrel with its end-men, interlocter and chorus.

Mrs. Hipp has been fortunate to obtain the assistance of Millicent Imman, a coloratura, who has sung in the Grand Opera in Europe. She will render several selections during the evening.

A Hungarian dance, led by Mary Quick, with a chorus of twenty-five, will be the first dance act. Mrs. Grace Peachy will sing "Romaine" in company with a group of high school girls. This number will be followed by an East Indian scene, featuring Mrs. Mary Mahone.

A special feature of the program will be a song and dance number with

FRATERNITY GRADES PUBLISHED BY DEAN

Phi Alpha Leads With an Average of 81.79; Kappa Alpha Ranks Second

The fraternity dean's list for the first semester, showing the average for each fraternity group, is headed by Phi Alpha, with Kappa Alpha closely following.

The list follows: Phi Alpha, 81.79; Kappa Alpha, 81.64; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 81.02; Sigma Nu, 80.51; Alpha Phi Delta, 80.39; Pi Lambda Phi, 80.21; Phi Kappa Tau, 79.72; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 79.06; Lambda Chi Alpha, 78.83; Kappa Sigma, 78.67; Alpha Psi, 75.79; Pi Kappa Alpha, 75.71; Theta Delta Chi, 74.52.

FRATERNITY GIRLS AVERAGE MORE THAN NON-FRATERNITY

The scholarship average of fraternity women last semester was higher than that of the non-fraternity women. Because of the general idea that living in a sorority house was far from being conducive to study, the Pan-hellenic Council appointed a committee, consisting of Betty Lanier and Rudy Adams, to tabulate the averages of the two groups. From information acquired at the registrar's office it was found that fraternity girls averaged 83.44 and non-fraternity girls, 80.39.

"Carolina Buccaneers" Will Make Second Appearance Here This Month

The Pan-Hellenic Council, sponsoring the second formal co-ed dance on Monday, May 5, brings to the campus once again the Carolina Buccaneers' Orchestra, which was recently so well received at another dance by the students here.

The women Greeks have decided to follow the example set by the Cotillion Club, in that they will omit cards from their dance entirely. This system has met with much favor at recent dances at the college.

The affair is open to all women of the college, non-fraternity as well as fraternity, and the price of tickets to the dance is the same to both groups: two dollars a couple and one dollar and a half to stags.

The dance opens Monday night at 9 o'clock and continues until 1:30. A most singular figure has been arranged, which is to be performed by the members of the Pan-Hellenic Council and their escorts. Much care

DRAMATIC CLUB HOST

The Tidewater Play Tournament, which was held here on Friday and Saturday, April 25th and 26th, was the first event of its kind to be held in Virginia. The casts of the various plays were guests of the William and Mary players. The aim of the tournament was to stimulate a greater interest in amateur dramatics in the high schools, to bring the casts of

FLAT HAT SPONSORS POLL ON PROHIBITION QUESTION

A complete prohibition poll of the colleges of the United States is being taken by the College Humor Magazine. Several of the large colleges of the country have responded admirably to the cause of this attempt, and the results have been most interesting to both the students of these and other colleges, as well as outsiders.

The Flat Hat has decided to cooperate with College Humor in this canvass, not only to sponsor the national poll, but to satisfy our own curiosity as well.

A ballot, to be deposited in the boxes in the College Shop and the college refectory, has been printed in this issue and can be found on page nine. Just how does the William and Mary student body stand on this current question?

without getting in bad, so he goes through the story masquerading as Lucia Wakefield, when, in reality, he is Jerry Watson. The play is a rollicking comedy, with many funny situations and lines. Prof. Gaddin and W. W. Topping as Collins; A. W. Callis as the "big butter and egg man," all fall in love with the fake Lucia Wakefield and ask her to marry. The proposal scenes are most amusing. Jerry Watson makes love to the girls under disguise of being an old lady. Then there is the president, Dr. Seamore, and his wife, played by Dr. J. A. C. Chandler and Mary W. Howison.

Dean Howard, the old maid school teacher, has been in love with old Gaddis for over thirty years and finally wins him. In the end the situation is brought to a fascinating close.

Included in the headlines is the flapper chorus, in which 28 students and business men are costumed to represent college girls, portraying collegiate femininity from the movies to the comic strips. Of special interest will be the powerful Katrinka act, with Teddy Bauserman, and the bathtub scene, with a solo by Jack White. The cast will be assisted by Aunt Lucia's Glee Club consisting of 22 men's voices, and a special girl's chorus of nine voices.

Cast of Characters

JUST for YOU

CARRY ON, man; never say die, don't give up the ship, and all that sort of thing. Somewhere the right pipe and the right tobacco are waiting—just for you. Carry on! Find 'em!

The trick is to find both—to find, for instance, the pipe with just the shape and weight, just the balance and size and "grip" that suit you. No easy job—but it's your job, and the world is full of pipes.

The tobacco problem is easier, for we can help you there, not only with the suggestion that Edgeworth very probably is the tobacco you are looking for, but also with some Edgeworth. The Edgeworth will smoke most benignly in your tentative pipe, and it will smoke there several times. We mean every word: several good heaping pipefuls of Edgeworth, a generous packet of absolutely genuine Edgeworth, all free and for nothing if you'd like to try it. Done? Then the coupon, please.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package to pound humid tin. Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

Blow Gymnasium will again find itself in holiday regalia, for the Pan-Hellenics promise that originality, simplicity and beauty are all to be found in their decorating scheme. This time the stately hall is to be adorned in the flowers and green of late spring with streamers and confetti in the make-up.

This is the second co-ed dance of the year, and should the success of the first one be any indication, the dance will most certainly be successful. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Pan-Hellenic Council.

HONORABLE H. LESTER HOOKER CHOSEN TO HEAD ALUMNI ANNALS FOR WEEK

Native Virginian Son Wins Prominence in Fields of Education, Law and Public Service

OF CORPORATION COMMISSION

Honorable H. Lester Hooker, chairman of the State Corporation Commission of Virginia, was born and reared on a farm at Buffalo Ridge, Patrick County, Virginia. He was born April 25, 1885, the son of John Wesley and Margarette Akers Hooker.

After attending the public schools of his county, Chairman Hooker went to William and Mary College at Williamsburg, Virginia. He entered the law school of Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia, taking his degree June 16, 1909. He then became associated with his brother in the general practice of law at Stuart, Virginia, under the firm name of Hooker & Hooker. This firm enjoyed a large and varied experience in the practice of the law. Mr. Hooker was married in June, 1912, to Miss Nell Sanford, the daughter of Rev. William and Nellie Nevitt Sanford.

During the World war Mr. Hooker served on the legal advisory board of his country; he was appointed to it by Governor Henry C. Stuart.

In 1922 he was the successful campaign manager for Senator Claude A. Swanson in his campaign for reelection to the United States Senate.

In 1922 he was appointed by Governor E. Lee Trinkle as a member of the Board of Virginia Teachers' Colleges; in this office he served until he resigned soon after taking his seat on the State Corporation Commission.

He was a candidate for membership on the State Corporation Commission in the Democratic primary in August, 1924. He had no opposition and was declared the nominee of his party. He was elected at the general election in November, 1924, over Republican opposition. He took his seat on the commission November 25, 1928.

Under the present organization of the commission, the chairman is to be rotated among the members with the purpose of heightening its efficiency through familiarizing all its members with its large contacts and preventing any one member becoming vested with more power than is consonant with the equality of the members.

Mr. Hooker was special assistant to the Attorney General in 1923-'24; resigning this position prior to taking

F. SCOTT KEY-SMITH PLANNING A PILGRIMAGE TO COLLEGE

Many Former William and Mary Graduates to Visit Campus by Way of Jamestown

NEIGHBORING CLUBS ASKED

Major Francis Scott Key-Smith, president of the William and Mary Club of Washington, D. C., is planning a William and Mary pilgrimage to the college by way of Jamestown, June 6-9, 1930. The Washington club has invited the Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York clubs to join them in this pilgrimage. Major Key-Smith has also invited the Harvard Club, the Columbia Historical Society and the Maryland Historical Society to join the party. From present indications it appears that there will be quite a number of William and Mary people making this trip. This will give the various clubs a better opportunity of knowing each other and becoming more conversant with the affairs of the college. This is a distinctively forward step in alumni work and we sincerely trust that the project will meet with every success. Major Key-Smith was in the Alumni office and was very enthusiastic about the plans of the Washington organization.

ANNUAL SESSION OF EDUCATIONAL LEADERS TO BE HELD IN MAY

Principals, Superintendents and Supervisors Represented in Annual Affair

CREATIVE EDUCATION IS THEME

Dr. K. J. Hoke, dean of the College of William and Mary, has announced that the sixth annual session of principals, superintendents and supervisors will be held at the College of William and Mary on Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24, 1930. The theme of the convention is Creative Education, and Dr. Hughes Mearns, professor of creative education of the University of New York will deliver the leading address on Friday night. There will be reports from teachers in the various sections of the State on creative education. The group will be the guest of the college at dinner Friday night and will be welcomed by Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of the College of William and Mary. Dr. Hoke expects between 80 and 100 educators to be present during the conference.

MAJOR KEY-SMITH SPEAKER AT CONVO-CATION LAST WED.

Showed Main Differences Between Articles of Confederation and Constitution

Major Francis Scott Key-Smith, of Washington, D. C., was the speaker at convocation at the College of William and Mary Wednesday morning, April 23rd. His subject was "The Organization and Administrative Functions of the United States Government." Major Key-Smith showed the difference between the loosely drawn Articles of Confederations and the Constitution of the United States. The Articles of Confederation lacked the executive and judiciary departments that were provided for in the Constitution. The early form of government could advise but not enforce action. The points emphasized in Major Key-Smith's address on the Constitution were:

Senior Life Membership Campaign Progressing

The Alumni Life Membership campaign of the Senior Class is attracting considerable attention on the part of the members of that group. It is the purpose of the class to take out a life membership in the William and Mary Alumni Association, and this will be presented to them with their diplomas in June. Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, President of the College has asked that each family of the senior class take out one of the life memberships and a number have already responded. The following have been heard from during the past few days:

- Robert Moses, Motley, Va.; Helen Morton, Remington, Va.; Mabel Morton, Remington, Va.; Anna Eggleston, Norfolk, Va.; Helen Monterio, Sandy Hook, Va.; Eleanor Williams, Vivian, West Va.

If your reservation has not already been made please hand in your name to the Alumni Office.

ALUMNI PERSONALS FUTURE WEDDINGS AND CAMPUS VISITS

Miss Mary Florence Morscher to Wed in July; Other Graduates Number Varied Activities

REPORTS STILL NUMEROUS

Announcement has been received from Clarendon, Virginia, of the approaching marriage of Mary Florence Morscher, '27, to Dr. Charles Drescheler, an eminent mycologist of the Agricultural Department in Washington. Miss Morscher, a member of Delta Delta Delta, is remembered here for outstanding work in the field of biology. Since graduation she has been connected with government departments in Washington. Dr. Drescheler is a graduate of Harvard University. The wedding, which is scheduled for July, marks a union of the oldest colleges in the United States.

Visitors on the campus recently included Laura Field, Georgette Parker and Sarah Penn, all of the class of '29.

A. D. Johnson, '99, of Washington, D. C., was a recent visitor to the college.

Dr. C. E. Perkins, '19, is practicing medicine in Philadelphia. He was a recent visitor to the alumni office.

Hon. J. H. Chitwood, '02, and son, Randolph, of Roanoke, Va., were guests of the college during Easter.

Elizabeth Glocker is taking graduate work in physics and mathematics at Johns Hopkins University.

Mr. S. A. McDonald, '08, is teaching in the State Agriculture College at Scotts, N. C. Mr. McDonald was a recent visitor at the Alumni office.

Mr. Jack Davis, '10, supervising principal of the Powhatan and Maury schools, Richmond, was a visitor at the Alumni office last week. Jack is a very active worker in the Richmond William and Mary Alumni Association.

R. N. Page, '10, who is connected with the Gillette company, brokers, is now located in Richmond. Mr. Page was in our office recently.

Dr. John M. Presson, '18, president of the William and Mary Philadelphia Club, witnessed the game between Princeton and William and Mary on Monday. Dr. Presson visited the Alumni office and outlined some of the objectives of the Pennsylvania organization.

J. D. Carneal, Jr., '20, and Charles A. Taylor, Jr., '09, attended the William and Mary-Princeton game last week. The former is president of the Richmond Alumni Association and Mr. Taylor is an ex-president. Both are doing fine work for the William and Mary Alumni of that city. We are always glad to see them on the campus.

'30-'31 ALUMNI DUES PAYABLE

The 1930-31 dues, William and Mary Alumni Association are payable now. The following have already sent in their checks:

- Miss Lucille Foster, Williamsburg, Va.; Judge H. Lester Hooker, Richmond, Va.; R. N. Prillaman, Rocky Mount, Va.; W. H. Neblett, Los Angeles, Cal.; Dr. L. O. Powell, Seaford, Va.; Miss Willow Belle Powell, Richmond, Va.

Graduates Invited to Come Back for Alumni Day to Witness Program and Restoration Progress

The following letter to former students has recently been issued by the Alumni secretary:
 To the Alumni of William and Mary:
 Dr. J. A. C. Chandler and the Alumni Association of the College of William and Mary invite you to attend the 237th exercises of the old college, June 7-9, 1930.

A special program is being prepared for Alumni Day, June 7th. The classes of 1910, 1915, 1920, and 1925 have a very interesting program arranged and other classes divisible by five are preparing a special program. All William and Mary graduates and former students are urged to return to the college and catch the spirit of the new William and Mary. There will be the usual opportunity of mingling with old friends, reviving memories and getting acquainted with the alumni and what they are doing.

The Restoration of Williamsburg and the College under the auspices of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is now in full swing. The college library has been completed and the new hospital is in process of construction. The campus will be alive with fifteen hundred students now attending the college. Dr. Chandler has turned over the Brafferton Building for general registration and information. Begin making your plans now, for this is to be a red letter day in the history of old William and Mary as well as the new William and Mary, which is a happy blending of the old and new.

The college will, as usual, provide free and comfortable lodgings for those who come back—alone or with their families. Meals may be gotten in the refectory for fifty cents per meal. The custom inaugurated last year of requiring admission tickets to the annual Alumni dinner will be followed again. This custom, made necessary by increasing attendance, will give former students convenient opportunity for paying their Alumni dues and for securing complimentary tickets for members of their families and guests of the college who may accompany them.

Yours for a greater William and Mary,

GEO. W. GUY,

The Executive Board

Much has been said pro and con concerning the proposed Executive Board. THE FLAT HAT in taking a stand against such a domineering institution has had in mind only the future welfare of the campus publications. It is quite evident from pointed remarks that the instigators of the idea of a board of control object to members of an unnamed fraternity holding offices on publications from time to time. This is undoubtedly true. Why? The answer is that members of that fraternity have their Freshmen go out for activities. These Freshmen stick to their jobs, and after working with a paper or an annual for three years, deserve the positions of honor by merit of hard work and knowledge of their business. Our opponents state that other students on seeing this are discouraged and consequently do not try out. Is this not admitting defeat even before a struggle? Without a doubt the answer is yes, and, admitting this, THE FLAT HAT, as one publication, does not desire to have students of that stamina on her staff.

Dramatic Activities

The recent activities of the Dramatic department on our campus has again brought to our mind the importance of dramatics in the college student's life. This phase of student activities is becoming more and more important on college campuses each year. The number of productions are rapidly increasing, and their quality is becoming much better.

A series of one-act plays has just been completed by the Play Production and Play Writing Class, which was quite an undertaking for a college group. Three of the plays in this series were written by William and Mary students, and they evidenced the fact that these youthful aspirants are very adept in this phase of writing. The entire series showed the abundance of histrionic ability on the campus. As a fitting climax to this series of college plays, a contest sponsored by the Dramatic department, was held here last Friday and Saturday between eight high schools in the state. Each high school presented a one-act play, and the winners of the county and city high schools were selected.

These activities indicate that the Dramatic department is not confining its activities to the campus alone, but it is endeavoring to sponsor this phase of activities in the high schools. The department also took one of its plays to New York during the first semester. These undertakings will inevitably bring publicity to the college, and good dramatics can accomplish much to boost the opinion of the public has of the college. But dramatics helps the student as well as the school. It affords recreation to those not taking part, and it offers a good means of self expression to those who do take part.

If the dramatic activities are to develop as much in the future as they have in the past few years, it will be necessary to obtain a bigger and better place in which to present the plays. Apparently, Phi Beta Kappa Hall was not built for large productions. If the Little Theatre League and Dramatic department can combine and offer some concerted action, maybe they can succeed in obtaining these necessary facilities.

At least one long cried for reform is being accomplished on the campus. Eight brand new tennis courts for the men are rapidly nearing completion, and we will soon see the balls whizzing back and forth. The cry for new tennis courts has been heard persistently for several years, and this persistence has brought results. Perhaps other reforms can be accomplished by such persistence.

CAMPUS CUTS

I thought Dead Week was the Week After—

The Student-Faculty Council of the North Texas State Teachers College, Denton, has succeeded in getting the following rules concerning Dead Week adopted: 1. Dead Week should begin a week before the date of the first examination of each term is scheduled. Dead Week means that all entertainments, such as parties, picture shows, and other social functions, are to be concluded before curfew. 2. No written or oral tests are to be given during Dead Week, and no new reports or outside reading are to be assigned by members of the faculty during this week.

Exit another 'Fo-de-waw Relic—

Believing that compulsory chapel is not the modern way to bring religious participation to the hearts of college students, Penn State has moved to abandon this brief period of mental and physical torment. This proposal which was made by the College Senate to the College Board of Trustees, will be effective with the 1930-1931 college year. Chapel service will be continued as usual, except that the students will not be required to attend.

The Technician.

But what'll they use for money?—

Folks can now get married while attending Baylor University. A six-year-old prediction has come true, for in 1924 a statement was published from the University of Texas commenting on the marriage rule of Baylor. This statement gave the opinion that Baylor would sooner or later lift the marriage ban.

Not even debatable—

Whether college students' week-ends belong to them or to the college seems to be a point of disagreement between college and university administrators and most students. Some university instructors seem to be of the opinion that the week-end is the time to assign the student a hoard of outside work in addition to the regular class work. Many instructors have the opinion that the subject they are teaching is important and that the student should study it diligently.

Teco Echo.

Personality is so helpful on a Math. test, isn't it?—

William Allen White, outstanding American editor, in viewing the possibilities which the talkies present, says in an editorial that in a few years the talkie will be an outstanding educational medium. He points out that a series of lectures by recognized authorities will some day be used in the smaller colleges of the country, and so $3,500-a-year professor will be changed to movie operators.

Frankly, although we have the greatest respect for Mr. White, we believe that in discussing education he has missed a most vital part of the entire educational process. The talkies represent a perfect reproduction of life-almost. They have given us the gestures, motions, voice, and even tone of a speaker, but they have failed to give us the actual personality of the speaker. We doubt if a lecture on law, even by Dean Roscoe Pound, would be acceptable to students in the hitherland even though their own professors may be men of lesser ability.

Not only is personality in a lecture a vital part of association, but so also is the actual personal contact outside of the classroom between student and professor.

"LORD BOTETOURT SAYS—"

By BILL'S LITTLE NEPHEW

We are going to give you a little poem this week written by our Joe Poe. Joe, of course, is of the famous lines of Poes, the only placed in the Poe vault after death. Remarkable—Nevertheless, he to have been inspired by the new class cutting rule, and the subsequent are the sad result.

Never on a morning dreary did I ponder weak and weary
 Over many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore.
 But I slept, gently napping—often did there come a tapping
 As of someone gently rapping—rapping at my chamber door
 "Only the milk man," I muttered tapping at my chamber door.
 "Only that and nothing more."

Ah, distinctly I remember it was in a bleak December
 And the sun having risen cast its shadow on the floor.
 Eagerly I wished tomorrow, for vainly had I sought to borrow Notes for the test I should have studied for,
 For the rare and radiant professor who the students named (we we)
 Nameless here for evermore.

Presently my nerve grew stronger; hesitating then no longer,
 To cut his class and later his forgiveness implore,
 And the fact is I was napping and so gently was I napping
 And so faintly came the tapping, tapping at my chamber door
 That I scarce was sure I heard it only once and then no more.
 Nothing there—only the floor.

But then me thought the air grew denser, for dear had sent a con-
 "And I heard his footsteps tinking on the dirty concrete floor.
 "Wretch" I cried, "thy Dean hath sent thee—by the class cut rule sent thee.

Away with thee and let me to my dreams once more.
 Quaff oh, quaff the Dean's kind message. From the outside shut the do
 Quoth the censor, "Damn the Door!"

"Be that word our sign of parting—tell the Dean," I shrieked upstart
 "That he's roused me from sweet Morpheus' tranquil shore.
 Leave no drop card as a token of the words the Dean has spoken.
 Leave my loneliness unbroken—quit my room and close the door
 How many cuts have I this day and those before?"
 Quoth the censor, "Only Four".

Now my professor never flitting stands before me when not sitting Behind that long and black topped table just beside the classro door.
 And his eyes have all the seeming of a demon that is dreaming,
 And the lamp light over him streaming throws his shadow on floor
 And my face from out that shadow that lies floating on the floor
 Shall be lifted—nevermore
 Quoth the new rule—"Only four".

Our illustrious friend, F. Samuel Wilcox, Jr., stellar member of the W side of the ship represent the number of Eskimo pies needed to win t

We learn that a poll has been taken at one of the leading Eastern Un

We certainly are glad that everybody seems to be pleased with the pre

OPEN FORUM LETTERS

Readers of The Flat Hat are invited to express their thoughts on current campus affairs in the Open Forum. Due to space limits, the editors reserve the right to print what they consider significant extracts of letters otherwise too long to publish.

In Which Mr. Eason Explains His Stand on Certain Student Affairs The Editor of the Flat Hat.

Dear Sir:

It is not pleasing to bear the brunt of the attack of editors who choose, either from gross ignorance, or from some concocted plan, to place before the students a distorted view of certain motions proposed by me, or rather, may I say, of any constructive plan which may happen to come from the opposition, but I do have the personal satisfaction of feeling that any plan that has been proposed by me or by "that certain party who now seeks to elect officers for the first time in the history of this college down purely party lines" has been offered without regard to any party or clique on the campus and for the benefit of all equally. Of course, it is not surprising to hear that those now in control object to our plans and methods—and I wonder why? But be that as it may, I do not propose to use this paper to knock or favor any clique for I am of the opinion that this paper should be entirely void of such criticism, at least unless it be expressed in this column.

Now since the Executive Board has been sustained as being valid and constitutional, I believe that a forward step can be taken toward a unification of and a higher degree of efficiency in the various student supported activities. I believe that through the function of the board, money derived from the dances and now turned over to the Administration can be collected by the board and appropriated in a manner as the student body may deem proper. I believe that the editors and business managers of the publications who now receive no remuneration for their labor should be compensated. It is true that I opposed any compensation for editors and business managers when this issue was brought before the student body last fall. I opposed it because under the present system, students would be paying a salary to officers whom they have no power to elect or to recall, either directly or

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What do you think of the idea of paying the cheerleaders?

Frances Griffin, '30: "I don't think they do enough to get paid."

Grover Clay, '32: "I don't think so much of it and if the student body does want to pay them I think they should be paid from the athletic fees and not from the student activities fee."

Lucille Burke, '30: "I think that this is an activity the same as any managership of a team and editorship of a college publication and should be responded to enthusiastically without payment."

"Dimples" Robinson, '32: "I am not in favor of it. Cheerleaders always get free rides everywhere anyway."

Elizabeth Moore, '31: "Everybody who really works at college work..."

Edna Robinson, '33: "I think it is a lot of hokum."

Ned Bradford, '30: "I don't think much of it."

John Waters, '30: "The money should come from the athletic fund inasmuch as they perform an athletic function."

Bill Fields, '30: "I think it's a very poor one."

Jim Spencer, '32: "I think it is all right so long as he uses it to foster bigger and better cheering."

STUDENTS OFFERED PRIZE

A prize of $3,000 is offered for the best novel written by a college student about school life and people, it is announced by Doubleday, Doran and College Humor. The Contest is open to all students now in school or those who graduated within one year, and all manuscripts must be in by midnight, October 15th. The prize will cover all rights of serialization, publication and royalty, and all novels may be published according to the usual form.

Last year, Betty White won the prize for her novel, "I Lived This Story," and similar contests will doubtlessly be made in the future.

PI PHI'S CELEBRATE FOUNDER'S DAY WITH TWO OTHER CHAPTERS

Twenty-four Members of Pi Beta Phi Attend Formal Banquet Given At Washington, D. C.

Twenty-four members of the local chapter of Pi Beta Phi attended a celebration of the sixty-third anniversary of the founding of the fraternity, Saturday, April 26, at Washington, D. C. A formal banquet was given on the Hotel Washington roof garden Saturday evening at which members of the chapters at Goucher College, George Washington University, and William and Mary; representatives from Randolph-Macon, Denver, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, and other colleges, constituted the attendance which numbered over two hundred.

Miss May Kellar, former Grand President of the fraternity, Miss Emilie Margaret White, former Grand Vice-President, and Miss Emma Harper Turner, instigator of the Pi Beta Phi Settlement school at Gatlingburg, Tennessee, were the principal speakers of the occasion. Miss Kellar, President of Gamma Province acted as toastmistress.

The party who traveled by chartered bus returned to Williamsburg Sunday evening.

A local celebration was conducted Monday, April 28, when members of the fraternity gave a picnic supper at the college lake from five to seven o'clock in the evening.

H2E Club Initiates

H2E Club held an initiation and supper at Lake Matoaka on April 27. Those initiated were Lelia Chewning, Ann Sollenberger, Elizabeth Whitehead, and Allwin Moone.

Dinner at Practice House

A formal dinner was given at the Practice house on Thursday night, April 25, in honor of Miss Bessie P. Taylor and Mrs. William M. Lybrook. Rhoda Fry and Mildred Slater acted as hostesses. The other guests included the girls at the Practice house and Miss Anna Wilkins.

Teas

Willoughby Patten entertained at an informal tea at the Bland house on Sunday afternoon, April 27, from 4:30 to 6:00 o'clock. Dr. Grace W. Landrum poured. Spring flowers were used as decorations. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Melville Jones, Mr. G. G. Clark, Mrs. Mary T. Pyle, Dorothy Brown, Nathalie Hubbard and Elizabeth Hope.

Gladys Monroe acted as hostess at a tea given at the Pi Beta Phi house on Saturday afternoon, April 26, from 4 to 6 o'clock, in honor of Martha Cheeley of Savannah, Georgia, Jane Cook and Jean Marchant served. Guests numbered 20.

Personals

Margaret Hoskins, '30, of Matthews, and Mary Hess, '26, of Hampton, visited at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house last week.

Mrs. B. A. Taylor visited her daughter Charlotte in Barrett last week-end.

Constance Urquhart of Norfolk spent the week-end with her sister Alice in Barrett.

Patruchia Clarke has returned to Barrett after spending the week-end at her home in New Rochelle, New York.

Marian Sargent was a week-end guest of Boyde Hope in Hampton.

Ruth Jones, '30, of Franklin, and Marie Parkins of Norfolk visited at the Phi Mu house over the week-end.

Mary Butterfield has returned to the Phi Mu house after spending the week-end in Washington.

Those attending the opera "La Traviata" in Richmond on Monday evening, April 28, were Randolph Hardy, Johnny Weaver, Virginia Ford,

TURNING the PAGES

Books and The Man by John J. Winterich. New York. Greenberg. 374 pages. ($5.00). Illustrated.

Many of us have read or heard of such works as Trilby or Alice in Wonderland or Uncle Tom's Cabin, but do we know why these were written. John J. Winterich in his Books and The Man tells us why du Maurier wrote Trilby; why Carroll wrote Alice; and Stowe did Uncle Tom.

Not only does he tell us why these three wrote their outstanding work, but he goes into the history of seventeen others as well. It is a fascinating book for all who love to read, and it will doubtless solve many questions in the minds of all who want to know why this and why that.

The Gentleman In the Parlour by W. Somerset Maugham. New York. Doubleday, Doran. 1930. 300 pages. ($3.00).

This new book by Maugham is the record of a journey from Rangoon to Haiphong and is written in that direct style that this author always uses.

There is enough material in it for many plays as excellent as Rain.

Any one who likes this author should by all means read this new book.

To the South Seas by Gifford Pinchot. Philadelphia. Winston. 1930. 492 pages. ($3.50). Illustrated.

This is the story of the realization of a dream that the former governor of Pennsylvania had for forty years. It is well written and will hold the interest of all who read it.

The illustrations are fine, and are composed of photographs, wood cuts, and maps. There is an abundance of them and had the author published only a collection of the photographs the book would be as good almost as it is now.

The Selbys by Anne Green. New York, 1930. Duttons. $2.50.

This is the story of an American family living in Paris, and who attempt to rear a niece who has been orphaned. They find that they are not capable and send her to a French school where she soon learns that she is not as good as she thinks she is.

Miss Green is a sister of Julian Green, but her novel is light and cheery whereas those of her brother are always depressing, and sordid. The book is refreshing and one will find it very human as well.

Advice to the Lovelorn, Woebegone, and Forlorn

Conducted Weekly by Lily White

Dear Miss White:—Several years ago my husband opened up a can of sardines and struck oil, but we lost most of our money in the crash of last October and now, after a roller coaster life of exuberant curves, are living in South Williamsburg in very straightened circumstances. I attended William and Mary back in 1920 and was a great friend of Hortie Culture. Those were the days when we wore cotton stockings (they did not show then and a girl did not have to worry about having the seams in her stockings straight, whereas nowadays such a thing is most unseemly) and rats in our hair. To show you what good friends we were one day I lost my rats and Hortie said to me, "Dear Luenza, as a test of my friendship I offer you my rats. Do wear my rats, Luenza." So I wore Hortie's rats although Hortie's hair was of the peculiar shade characteristic of turnips, and my tresses were of a unique mustard hue. It was through Hortie that I became interested in flowers and during the moneyed era of my life the grounds of my home were embellished with many beautiful specimens. Of course, my husband being a nephew of Mr. Swansdown, helped greatly. We had a whole bed of little cake flowers in the back yard and a sinking garden. Now I know of no way of keeping up my hobby for flowers and a roof over my head at the same time. I am among the ranks of the forlorn. Please advise me.—Luenza Swansdown.

Dear Luenza:—Your letter has been perplexing me for quite a long time. Indeed I was under the necessity of sprinkling a few cubes of vapex upon my handkerchief to clear my head. The Staff Photographer has been about a good bit and often lends an ear as well as a hand. In his quest for a good subject he has discovered one whose name fitted him and married a great Dane (we hear she leads a dog's life) so we are thereby enjoying the Staff Photographer's services.

The Staff Photographer suggests Sweden. In fact you must go to Sweden, for there you can have all the flowers you want and a roof over your head as well. In the rural districts of Sweden, you know, flowers grow on the tops of the houses. These roofs are of a peculiar thatch composition and what's more, like the almighty great American Frigidaire, can be regulated to suit the season. That is, pansies in the spring, roses for June and even dandelions. By the way, the Swedes are a people of great civic pride. Visit, some time, in Stockholm, the Dandy Lions' Club. In September golden rod grows abundantly on these roofs. General Electric has equipped the edifices with specially made electric fans which blow the pollen upward in case your husband is subject to hay fever. These fans may be secured from the renting office at a small deposit.—Lily White.

N. B. (Na Bisco) As per the column run by Bill's Little Nephew you will note that it is Better Literature Week. Incidentally, we suppose you all know that Little Bill has come to us only since the U. S. Treasury started putting out little bills. After noting the poet attempts we are about to offer something in a modernist artery, a little number by Carla Sandpiper. It is a bid of free verse—the "let joy be unrestrained" kind of stuff—and we thought we had better railroad it through before these Republicans do something drastic about a high tariff.

A little s'net entitled:

On Finding a Hairpin in the Lining of One's Hat.

I am a shorn lamb,
Racing about Williamsburg I go
Skirts swinging
Singing swishy hymns on silken ankles.
(Time out for a gargle)
At the Pocohontas
I follow my pointed nose among the Pillars of Society.
In the Imperial
I peel off my black nutshell
And poke my coiffure with a shiny haloed forefinger.
This is being Smart.
But
On seeing a solitary hairpin
Nestling in the lining of my hat
I sigh
And sometimes wish I had remained
A Black Sheep.

When is a style authentic?

When Rodgers say that a style is authentic, they mean that it has been accepted by America's best dressed men.

It has been worn at Palm Beach, on Wall Street, at the great universities, or at some other places where well dressed men form the majority.

Of course, it would be impossible for Rodgers to have representatives at all of these places to check the styles worn, but men like Captain Muddock, Mr. John Starbuck, and other members of the fashion staff of MEN'S WEAR and MAN and his CLOTHES, keep us accurately posted through the pages of these magazines as to what is being worn in the style centers of the world.

We are always glad to show these carefully selected styles. Drop in and see them.

SMITHERS, SCOTT WIN DASHES

The William and Mary Indians again proved to be superior to the University of Richmond Spiders last Thursday, running away from the Westhampton lightclads in their annual dual track meet, 103½ to 22½. The Indian runners took first place in every event but two, the pole vault and the 440-yard dash.

Horton, Williams and Mary's sophomore hurdler, came through with a win in both hurdles and a second place in the high jump to ring up high-scoring honors for the day. He was closely pushed by Levin, Smithers and Scott, with ten, nine and eight points, respectively.

Smithers tied the Richmond-William and Mary dual meet record in the 220-yard dash when he stepped the furlong in 22.3 seconds. Scott also equaled a dual meet mark in covering the century in 10 flat. Scott ran second in Smithers' 220 and Smithers ran next in Scott's 100-yard victory. Levin jumped virtually 5 feet 8 inches and horizontally 21 feet for first in both the jumping contests.

Willis was topped in the pole vault by Yeaman of Richmond, who went 11 feet, and Clark, Indian quarter-miler, after leading Vail of the Spiders, practically the whole distance, was nosed out by a few yards.

This decisive victory of William and Mary's over their ancient rival is the most overwhelming that an Indian track team has ever tacked upon its Spider opponents, and places the Indian among the strongest track teams in the State.

DELAWARE HOLDS BAGS AS INDIANS STRIKE LET-DOWN

FOUR PASSES AND HIT PROVE FATAL IN FOURTH; REDSKINS RALLY LATE

LOST BY 11-7 MARGIN

Erratic fielding at crucial moments and the generosity of the William and Mary pitchers in issuing passes proved costly to the Indians as they sought their tenth straight triumph last Thursday, University of Delaware finally breaking the locals' winning streak by taking the long end of a "natural," 11 to 7.

The strain of three hard games in a row told on Young's minions, and they booted the ball game away to a much weaker team. Delaware took advantage of the let down and combined ten hits with eleven walks and five errors to spoil the previously unblemished record of the Green Sox.

William and Mary hopped on Nichols, visiting pitcher, in the first inning for three runs. Hits by Sauerbrun, Moore and Scammon drove over the runts and things looked rosy for the local contingent, but an error at a critical moment allowed the North-erners to score twice in the second inning. The fourth proved to be the hoodoo inning. Ben Griffith, port-sider, suddenly lost all control of the ball and walked four straight men and allowed a hit which drove three men across the plate. Peter Rux then took up the hurling duties. An error behind him allowed another run to trickle across the platter before he could stop the onslaught. He coasted along all right until the seventh, when two walks and two errors gave Delaware two more runs, sewing up the ball game.

Going into the last of the ninth seven runs behind, William and Mary made a determined attempt to close (Continued on Page 8.)

RANDOLPH-MACON DEFEATED 6-5 IN ELEVENTH RALLY

INDIANS KNOT SCORE IN NINTH INNING TO SAVE CONFERENCE DRUBBING

YOUNG USES TWO PITCHERS

(By Frank Mozeleski)

With the first Virginia Conference defeat by Randolph-Macon in Monday's game staring William and Mary in the face, "Eagle" Engleburt, hero of the Princeton and Boston College games, stepped into Phess Woodson's fast ball and drove it into deep left field for a home run to knot the score at five all and send the game into extra innings, enabling an Indian victory, 6-5.

Going into the last half of the ninth inning one run behind, things looked dark for the Redskins, but Engleburt, first man to face Woodson, wiped out the Ashlander's slim lead with his opportune homer, his third four-base clout of the year. Though Woodson retired the side without any further scoring, the damage had been done, for Bill Scott had the Jackets eating out of his hand while the Green Sox went out and pushed over a run in the eleventh inning.

William and Mary hopped into an early lead by scoring twice in the first inning, while the visitors sent one run across the plate. Presented with a lead at the outset, "Cocky" Sundin hurled fine ball and for the first six innings was never in any rough spots. To help matters out, the Indians fell on Woodson's slants in the fourth and added two more runs to their total, but from then on the locals began to play loosely and threw away several chances to score.

Things ran smoothly to the seventh, but with two out, Sundin allowed three straight hits which were followed by two errors and the visitors had wiped away the Indians' lead and changed the entire complexion of the game. Bill Scott was pulled in from the outfield to take up the pitching duties in the eighth when Bryant doubled to center. Scott fanned Hammock but walked Hoskins, to put men on first and second with one out. Woodson hit a hard grounder to Silverman, who threw to Ryan, forcing Hoskins at second, but with a double play in sight, Ryan threw wild to first, allowing Bryant to score, sending Randolph-Macon into the lead.

William and Mary's rally in the last of the eighth was cut short when Montgomery turned Maxey's hard drive into a double play, retiring the side without a score. The Jackets went out in order in their half of the ninth and that set the stage for Engleburt's timely drive. With the William and Mary rooters begging for a hit to start a rally "Eagle" caught hold of the second pitched ball and knocked it into the football field.

Randolph-Macon never threatened in the extra innings. In the last half of the eleventh their infield cracked wide open to allow Sauerbrun and Engleburt to reach second and first, respectively. Bill Scott then moved them both around a base with a perfect bunt which gave Ryan the chance to score Sauerbrun with the winning run by hitting a fly to deep center which Marshall camped under, but did not hold Johnny on (Continued on Page Eight)

WILLIAM AND MARY FIGHTS TO THIRD IN PENN RELAY HEAT

DePauw Wins Event as Smithers Is Pocketed in Start

HARVARD AFFORDS SENSATION

In the third fastest mile relay heat at the Penn relays last Saturday, the Indian relay team placed third to DePauw University and Union College of New York.

The William and Mary team—Smithers, Clark, Trist and Johnson—got off to a poor start, due to the bunching on the first curve, but from that point began to pull steadily on the leaders in such a spectacular manner as to focus the attention of the 35,000 spectators on their efforts. Trist ran a gallant race to pick up to third place, but Johnson, running anchor, though closing the gap behind the leaders, was not able to overtake them, and finished a scant six yards behind Union anchor man.

Though finishing third, the Braves beat out some of the best relay teams in the country, among whom were their Old Dominion rivals, the University of Virginia, who finished fourth; in fifth place was the University of Maryland, another track rival of the Indians who defeated that relay team in an indoor meet in Philadelphia last winter. Among the also-ran class were Fordham and Columbia.

Sensational relay races were the order of the day, and Harvard, William and Mary's recent guests, came within a fraction of a second of breaking the stadium record, which was set by Pennsylvania's greatest team, composed of Kaufman, Lockwood, Lippincott and the world-famed Olympic runner, Ted Meredith. The Harvard team, including Hennessy, Cummings, Record and Munroe, all of whom were seen in the William and Mary-Harvard dual meet, drew the poorest pole position and were forced to fight their way through a packed field of entries. To make the race more difficult for them Cummings made a poor pass to Record, losing more ground. Then Munroe, one of the best quarter- (Continued on Page Eight)

Chandler's Troops Face Heavy Duels in Dual and Triangle Competition

MERCERSBURG PREP STRONG

Approximately 36 track men will take the boat for Baltimore tonight at Yorktown when both varsity and frosh teams go to the Naval Academy at Annapolis for meets Saturday.

The varsity is scheduled for a dual meet with the powerful "tar" team who has already one victory to the credit by turning back the strong University of Virginia team, 86-4 and who made a good showing at the Penn relays in both the field event and the races. In the relay event they placed third against a class field in the class B college championship of America.

The dual meet will be a triangular meet with the Navy plebes and Mercersburg, one of the best prep school teams in the east. Both meets will take place on the same field and freshmen events will be held between the varsity contests.

Those making the trip for the varsity will probably be the same as made the trip to Richmond: Smithers, Scott and Shipp in the dashes; Captain Baggett, Horton and Porterfield in the hurdles; Clark, Trist and Johnson in the middle distances, and Zabel, Renn and Doane in the mile and two-mile.

Mozeleski, Trowbridge, Swenell and Fields are entered in the weights; Baldacci and Syer will hurl the javelin; Levin and Baldacci will broad jump; Levin and Horton will try clearing the high bar, and Willis and Taylor will do the pole vaulting.

The freshmen to make the trip include those who have shown up best in the meets so far and in the time (Continued on Page Eight)

Redskins Rout Stand-Off In Twelfth Inning to Defeat Spiders

W. AND M. NINE AT LEXINGTON THIS AFTERNOON

Encounter Bridgewater Saturday Following Today's Skirmish

EMORY-HENRY HERE MONDAY

William and Mary takes the field this afternoon against the Generals of Washington and Lee on Memorial Field at Lexington, sporting a clean record in state baseball competition and seek to add the Generals to their long list of victims.

Washington and Lee has been having an in-and-out season this year and, though they hold wins over North Carolina and Maryland, they have yet to win against a state team. At present, the Lexington lads are resting in last place in the state standing with three defeats and no wins. William and Mary on the other hand, is leading the state, sporting an unblemished record.

Cy Young will send Captain Jimmy Wallace against the Generals and should come through with an easy triumph. Jimmy has been handling wonderful ball this year and should experience no trouble against W. & L. With Jimmy on the mound, Johnny Moore will cavort in right field, Bill Scott, in center and Engleburt, in left. The regular infield of Scammon, Silverman, Ryan, and Sauerbrun will fill their customary positions. Bill Ferrell will be stationed behind the plate.

With Washington and Lee slated today, William and Mary hooks up with Bridgewater at Bridgewater, Saturday. The Eagles fell before the Indians several weeks ago in Williamsburg, but are out for revenge which may mean a break in the Green Sox's line of wins.

Either Bill Scott or "Cocky" Sundin will toe the slab against the Valley boys tomorrow. Scott's arm

SQUAW RACKETEERS STAGE FIRST MEET SAT WITH BEAVER

The Indienne Racquetters first meet of the year will be played against Beaver College tomorrow at two o'clock on the Women's tennis courts.

The contest will consist of three sets of singles and two sets of doubles. It has not been decided who will participate in the various events, but they will be chosen from the persons whose names have been placed on the ladder, and who have played consistently during the past five weeks. In order of their ranking on the ladder the leading women are: Helen Maffett, Booth, Beale, Dunleavy, Chewning, Wickham, Brooks, Simes and Waite.

has been troubling him lately and, if it is still in poor shape, Sundin will go against the Eagles. With Sundin on the mound, Scott and Wallace will be in the outfield, but with Scott pitching, Moore or Maxey will take Emory's place in the outer gardens.

Emory and Henry meet the Young-

The Wasps have been experiencing a wonderful season this year and they are out to wrest the Conference Championship away from the Indians. Mackey, husky Wasp hurler, has found success against the western clubs, and he will be sent against the locals. If he is on, the Green Sox will have plenty of trouble trying to collect bingles. Hits will be few and far between.

William and Mary's pitching selection for this game is uncertain. Young does not know who he will send against the visitors, but the choice will narrow down between Wallace and Scott. If Sundin pitches against Bridgewater, Scott will go up against the westerners, but if he works against the Eagles, Wallace will go to the mound.

CAPT. WALLACE AND ADAMS EXTEND FEW HITS IN MOUND DUEL

Richmond Errors, Walk, Hit Give Indians Opportunity in Last Frame

BEAT RIVALS, 3-0

(By Barrett Roberts)

The William and Mary Green Sox, smarting under the first defeat of the season at the hands of Delaware, breezed into University of Richmond ball yard Saturday and smashed their way to a twelve-inning victory over the Spiders by a count of 3-0. The Indians, playing almost faultless ball in the field, took advantage of a couple of Richmond errors in the big twelfth, and sandwiching in a base-knock with a free ticket, to add insult to injury in another rivalry conquest.

Captain Jimmy Wallace and Adams were on the hill for their respective teams and staged a real, old-fashioned hurling duel, Wallace holding the opposition to four bingles and his opponent letting the visitors down with

In the twelfth, Rosy Ryan started off the fireworks by getting on through a Spider error and going to second, while Wallace was going out on a grounder. Beale bobbled Moore's bounder, and Ryan went to third, from whence he tallied when Gunter threw wild to second after fielding a Scammon grounder. Silverman popped to second, but Ferrell came through with a sharp hit to right and three runs were in.

The silver, green and gold had a golden opportunity to push across a couple of markers in the third with Scammon walking, Silverman being nicked, and both advancing a station on a sacrifice by Ferrell. Adams tightened up, however, and kept the apple in the infield. Again in the eighth, Silverman started the inning with a hit and got to third on errors, but the scoring was lacking.

Richmond had little chance against Wallace's services, only one man reaching third and three men getting as far as second. Their one big chance came in the first frame, Vial, leading off man going to first on the sole William and Mary error of the day, reaching second on a sacrifice, and advancing to third on an infield out. Wallace wrecked any Red and Blue hopes by whiffing Gunter.

The William and Mary performance was greatly improved over the last game and seemed to have regained the form that licked Harvard, Princeton and Boston. Their defense was much better than their offense, but they offset this latter weakness by taking advantage of any breaks offered them and putting them to good use.

TRI-COLOR GOLFERS ON RICHMOND FAIRWAYS WITH SPIDERS

William and Mary's fairway artists once more take the road tomorrow in search of another victory, this time at the Country Club of Virginia opposing the Richmond University Spiders. Despite the fact that the Indians have met some pretty fair outfits thus far, Richmond seems due to offer the silver, green, and gold, the toughest opposition to date.

The Red and Blue has compiled an impressive record, its success being mainly due to one Bill Howell, former amateur champion of Virginia, who is ranked No. 1 on the Spider aggregation.

The William and Mary record for the season is as follows:

- William and Mary 9 1-2, Duke 8 1-2.
- William and Mary 10, Duke 8.
- William and Mary 6, N. C. U. 12.
- William and Mary 15 1-2, N. C. S. 2 1-2.
- William and Mary 18, Wake Forest 0.

After the massacre of Richmond, Smithers continues to lead the Indian trackmen in individual point scoring boosting his total up to 34 with his nine points collected from the Spiders last Thursday. Johnson, although he only registered six points against the Dobsonites still holds second place with 29 points. He is closely pushed by Scott with 26.

Horton augmented his total with 13 points scored against the Spiders to attain 20 1-2. Trowbridge broke into the scoring column with his two second places, which gave him six points. Levin with ten points jumped up to fourth place.

W. AND M. NETMEN FACE CATHOLIC U. AT WASHINGTON

Capt. Lewis and Team Seek to Better Record in Four Meets in North

END WITH MARYLAND SAT.

The William and Mary tennis team clashes with the Catholic University racketeers today at Washington in the third of the four meets being played on a northern trip, starting with the duel with Navy, Wednesday, and including a meeting with Maryland Thursday, and again tomorrow in the final match before returning to Williamsburg.

Although staging the Maryland and District of Columbia invasion with but one previous victory to their credit, the Redskin netmen anticipated an opportunity to improve their record. The Navy was probably the strongest array of strength that the Indians had to confront. The Middies have won every match this year, excepting the loss to Harvard, who turned them back 8-1. The same Harvard team easily beat the Braves, 9-0, in Norfolk the week before.

Captain Lewis, Wiggins, Joslyn and Shaffer were expected to carry the brunt of the competition, in the absence of freshmen who have proved capable enough to bolster the team.

BRAVES HOLD TOP HONORS IN STATE LEAGUE STANDINGS THIS WEEK

Tied for top honors in the state standings, leading the Virginia Conference by a clear margin, and surpassed in record only by V. M. I., who led state schools with an undefeated record early this week, the William and Mary diamond performers today reach the midpoint of their season.

Prior to the invasion of V. P. I. at Blacksburg Wednesday and the meeting of W. and L. today, the Indians shared the lead in state standings with V. P. I. and V. M. I., each having won four games. The V. M. I. Keydets are the only Old Dominion players who will not face the Braves this season.

By squeezing out Randolph-Macon Monday, the Tri-colors continued their Virginia Conference lead with a record of four wins. Bridgewater is in second place with three victories and a loss to William and Mary.

A four-base knock against the Yellow-Jackets put "Eagle" Engleburt of the Green Sox in a two-way tie for state honors in home run-clouting. The total of both Richardson of W. and L. and the Indian batter reached three this week. Other W. and M. men in the gallery of home run artists are Sauerbrun, Wallace, and Scammon.

Victories over the Spiders Saturday and the Yellow Jackets Monday brought the season standings for Coach Young's squad to a total of 11 wins out of 12 games. Delaware marking the only disaster.

The scores follow:

- W. and M., 10—Drexel Inst., 1.
- W. and M., 9—U. of Va., 3.
- W. and M., 1—Harvard, 0.

By BUD TIME OUT and LEFTY

George Simpson, famous collegiate sprint champion, raced a car last week in a 100-yard race and beat it to the finish by three yards. The car's front wheels were put on the mark and it was started from a dead stop, though the motor was running and the car was in gear.

Up at Philadelphia at the Penn Relays, we are told, Simpson was given some more publicity in the broadcast of the 100-yard dash.

The words of the announcer were, "Running in the fifth lane you will see George Simpson of Ohio State, who ran the century last year here setting a new stadium record in the remarkable time of nine minutes and six-tenths seconds."

It sounds more like a new world's record in the two mile run.

In one of the heats at Penn, Simpson got off to a fast start, and, after leading the field down the straightaway, near the end looked around. He then slowed down to a jog in the last three yards.

Even with a jogging finish his time was 10 seconds flat.

Along with Washington and Lee and the University of Virginia, William and Mary has a fair claim on the state championship. William and Mary defeated Richmond 103 1-2 to 22 1-2, while W. and L. trounced the Spiders 93-33. The Generals are considered to have one of the best state track aggregations, with Virginia also having a strong claim.

Indoors this winter Virginia beat the Indians while W. and L. placed third in the state invitational meet.

A peculiar coincident of the Randolph-Macon-W. and M. skirmish Monday was the put out of batters on two occasions when they tried to duck Phess Woodson's "trick" ball when it whizzed close. Each time the ball came in contact with the bat and was sent meekly into the infield for easy putouts.

"Eagle" Engleburt is grabbing a large share of glory in the constant success of the Indians on the diamond.

In both the Boston College and Yellow-Jacket games his home runs were deciding factors for the Braves. Against Boston, Engleburt's sock gave W. and M. a 2-1 lead and victory. Against Randolph-Macon, his ninth inning four-baser tied the score and gave his team mates a chance to rally in two extra innings.

When Clancy, Chicago first baseman, went the entire nine innings of the Chicago White Sox-St. Louis Browns game Monday with neither an assist, or a putout, and while his team won 2 to 1, a feat was accomplished that has not been recorded in organized baseball for 39 years. August 6, 1891, McCauley, playing first base for the old Washington American Association club, performed a similar feat.

milers in the country, cut down the lead rapidly, drawing up to third position, and then with a great burst of speed passed the leading Penn man only a yard from the tape. The time was 3:18, which was by far the best time of the day.

Many records were shattered and others equaled with such stars as Simpson of Ohio State burning up the dash in 9.6 seconds, Ray Conger coming back after being defeated the day before to win the special mile run in 4 minutes 25 seconds, and Penn's four-mile relay coming close to a world's record on a well-chopped-up track.

Sororities Adopt New System of Rushing

A new system of sorority rushing for the coming season was adopted at a meeting of the Panhellenic Council, Monday, April 14. This provides that the first fifteen days of the semester shall be free from rushing activities; that three days of the rushing period a form shall be sent to each freshman explaining the rushing rules; that following the fifteen-day period, the rushing shall be a week of intensive rushing beginning at 9 o'clock each morning and closing at 10 o'clock that evening save the final day when 6 p. m. shall be the closing hour. On the conclusion of the rushing period, each sorority shall send to a lawyer in town a list of girls desired. By 12 o'clock the next day, the lawyer will in turn send a card to the girls named, requesting that they indicate, in order of preference, three sororities from which they wish a bid. This completed and the card returned to the lawyer, another shall be delivered to the prospects, announcing the sorority to which they have been bid, provided that one of the three preferred sororities has extended a bid. The following Sunday the selected girls will report to their respective houses.

Dear Sir:
After the dinner today, which greatly pained my feelings and stomach, I want to let off steam, and see if I can not do something if it be nothing more than talk.

I know that the entire administration, and the student body, both graduates and undergraduates, want to make this college the best known and the best liked in the South. It is now one of the most progressive schools in the country, but when prospective students ask about the school, one of their first questions is "How is the food?" It is necessary to stop, stammer and mumble something about "Not so good, but about average." Even if it were "just average" it would be too poor for William and Mary, and under the present condition, it is deplorable!

Not only is the food itself poor, but the tables have not enough salt, pepper, sugar, and the like, which makes eating a hardship rather than a pleasure.

I can not believe that the administration is aware of the conditions, for they know better than we do that it is impossible to do good work, or to build a leading college without good food.

Yours for cooperation, so that we can truthfully say of William and Mary, the best professors, the best equipment, the best food, and THE BEST COLLEGE IN THE COUNTRY!!

I. B. STARVEN.

GRADUATES ENROLL IN EXTENSION WORK

Ten Students With Degrees Taking Social Work In College Extension School

Ten students with degrees from nine Southern colleges enrolled during the first year of the newly founded course in Social Work of the William and Mary extension department in Richmond. This one year course was offered for the first time, starting September 1929, and the results are highly satisfactory already.

The best colleges of the South are represented, including Coker, Greenville Women's College, Randolph-Macon Women's College, University of South Carolina, and Western College, at Oxford, Ohio.

The uses and the handicaps of such a course are summed up by Dr. W. T. Hodges when he says, "The great difficulty about women college students today is the fact that so many of them want to go into teaching. Of course good teachers will always be needed in the schools, but young college graduates should face the fact that there is a limit to the number who can find positions in this field. The school of Social Work and Public Health in Richmond is tending to meet this need by offering to college students an opportunity to acquire in the shortest time training for social different high schools in contact with one another, and to bring all these high schools students who are interested in dramatics in contact with the William and Mary Players.

On Friday night the program consisted of four one-act plays presented by four county high schools. Miss Hunt introduced Dr. H. J. Hoke, who welcomed the guests, and then the tournament began. White Stone high school presented The Wonder Hat; Botetourt high school gave Grandma Pulls the String; The Intruder was presented by Holland high school; and Wakefield high school gave Enter the Hero. At the end of the program Miss Susie Blair, of Hollins College, announced the winner to be Botetourt high school, of Gloucester, Va. The judges were Miss Susie Blair, Dr. Frank McLean and Baker Wynne. A very beautiful plaque was the award. This was brought to the stage by the president of the Dramatic Club, Marshall Baggett, and given to Miss Hunt, who presented it to the winning group.

On Saturday night four plays were presented by four city high schools. The welcome Saturday was given by Dr. Hoke. The plays presented were Jean-Marie, given by Fredericksburg high school; The Winner, given by John Marshall high school; The Valiant, given by Newport News high school, and Spreading the News, given by Maury high school. The winning team was announced by Miss Blair as being Newport News high school. John Marshall high school was given second place. The plaque was awarded as on Friday night.

An excellent production of the Valiant was rendered. Tilden Davis is to be especially commended on his rendition of James Dyke. He had perfected the finest details of his portrayal of the part. Donald Gay, James West and Jane Wilton also gave splendid performances.

The fantasy presented by John Marshall was also very good. Charles Frost and Jean Wilson gave sterling performances. Thelma Pate, who gave the prologue, created just the right atmosphere for the play. Kathryn Waymack furnished the audience a little humor.

The William and Mary Players hope that they will be able to make this tournament an annual event and that the interest in amateur work of this kind will continue to grow throughout the coming year.

MAY QUEEN TO BE CROWNED NEXT THURSDAY AFTERNOON

followed by America and her attendants. Father Time will make his appearance upon the scene soon after. Then will follow the various settlers in order of their entrance into America: Indians, English, Dutch, Puritans, Spanish, French, Negroes, Swiss, Scotch Irish, German, Swedish, Japanese, Chinese, Czechs, Italians, Poles, Russians, Turks, and Greeks. Last of all the May Queen of 1930 will make her spectacular entrance to the festival in company with her attendants.

Immediately upon the appearance of the Queen her coronation will take place, and she will take her place on the throne, which will be prepared for her.

A line of settlers will be shown through dance and character. The real program of the day will begin when the immigrants of Western Europe, who came to America during the period extending from the first of the seventeenth century to the middle of the nineteenth century, enter upon the scene giving a dance. After this group the Frontier Expansion will also be shown in a dance. The third part of this period will be shown by another group of dancers who will illustrate the Scandinavian immigrants.

The last of the program will be occupied by the immigrants of Eastern Europe, who came to this country during the period from the middle of the nineteenth century up until the present day.

York. Here we shall see Harriet Smith take the same role.

So similar are the characters of the play and the circumstances of their lives to those of the Barrymore family, that it is quite probable that the author wrote this play of them. We can easily imagine Julie Cavendish as Ethel Barrymore, Anthony Cavendish as John Barrymore, and Herbert Dean, the uncle of Julie and Tony, as John Drew, the uncle of John and Ethel. Virginia Turman will act as Julie, Truman Welling as Herbert Dean, and Paul Ryan as Tony. Others in the cast are: Mary Stearnes as Gwen; Mary Quick as Kitty; John Bauserman as Oscar Wolfe; Milton White as Perry Stewart; Floyd Bailey as Gilbert Marshall; DeEtte Jones as Della; Leon Lewis as Jo; Harry Light as McDermott; William Savage and Wallace Hicks as hallboys; Robert Moses as the chauffeur; Elizabeth Vaiden as Miss Peaks, and Frank Taylor as Gunga.

The stage settings for the scene of the play, which takes place in the spacious, high-ceilinged hall of a modern duplex apartment in the East Fifties of New York City, will necessitate the using of the whole apron of the stage—that is, the full stage down to the footlights will be used in order to introduce an entirely new and more or less complicated affair in the way of a central stairway and balcony from which most of the action takes place.

Truman Welling, chairman of the senior class play, include:

Committee for selection of play, DeEtte Jones, Harriet Smith, Dimi Wallace; business manager, Johnny Waters; assistant business manager, J. J. Davies; assistant to director, Mary Parry; publicity, Katherine deWitt, Eleanor Williams; tickets, Frances Henry, Julia Verner, Sam Wilcox; programs, Charlotte King; stage manager, Eugene Pleninger, Charles Huneiman; lighting, Paul Webb; costumes, Merilla Hicks, Mary Rigby, Pauline Shumate; property manager, Nancy Johnson, Eleanor Nixon, Mildred Matier; make-up, Laura Colvin; setting, Virginia Ford, Alice Harwood, Marion Porter.

BUILDINGS in Which You Take Pride

ON THE CAMPUS, where class buildings and memorial structures are so often distinguished by their noble form, floodlighting equipment serves to prolong the enjoyment of their beauty and to enhance pride in the institution. » » Such an application is made for the new 165-foot campanile at South Dakota State—magnificent gift of an alumnus. Electrically operated chimes sound the hours and are heard in concerts. At night, shafts of light from General Electric floodlighting projectors effect a picture of superb beauty done in the school colors and white. From the air, the tower is identified by the beam from a G-E airway beacon surmounting the floodlighted dome. » » Thus, G-E equipment plays its part in promoting progress and fine appreciation. Back of every G-E product is an organization in which college-trained men are largely responsible for the planning, production, and distribution.

HISTORIC GIFT IS GIVEN TO LIBRARY

Librarian Is In Receipt of Two Facsimiles of Letters Written by Lewis

Photographs of two letters written by Meriwether Lewis, in which he mentions this college, were recently received by Dr. Earl G. Swem, College Librarian, as the gift of Mr. Waller Lewis Holladay of Richmond. Mr. Holladay, who is a direct descendant of the famous explorer, has, in addition, given photographs which include: the Masonic apron and certificate of Mr. Lewis; a crayon drawing of him by the artist, St. Memin; and the deed of Virginia to the United States, ceding western lands for the formation of the Northwest Territory.

The earlier letter is dated July 2, 1803, just prior to the beginning of the journey, while Mr. Lewis was yet in Washington, D. C., making final arrangements. He is writing to his mother in an attempt to assure her that the undertaking is quite free of danger. One line reads, "Consider the chances of life just as much in my favor on this trip as I should conceive them were I to remain at home for the same length of time." Uppermost in his mind seemed also a determination that a relative, John Markes, should receive full advantages of an education: "If no other means can be devised by which to get money to enable you to send John to Williamsburgh I must insist on his half of the certificates being sold and appropriated to that purpose; I wish him to continue with Mr. Colhoon until the 1st of October 1804 and then go to Williamsburgh: the commencement takes place at that seminary on the 1st Monday in October annually: I presume that from the progress that John will have made by the time mentioned that two years at the College will fit him for any professional study, and suppose that eight or nine hundred dollars will be adequate to this object."

Nearly two years later, while staying at Fort Manoan, "1609 miles above the entrance of the Missouri," he writes, "So far we have experienced more difficulty from the migration of the Missouri than danger from the Savages.—Game is very abundant and seems to increase as we progress." The fertility of the soil, even in the prairie regions seemed to amaze him. This he describes as being "one to 20 feet in depth, consisting of a fine black loam, intermixed with a sufficient quantity of sand only to induce a luxuriant growth of grass and other vegetable productions." Again, in closing, he says, "I must request of you—to send John Markes to the College at Williamsburgh as soon as it shall be thought that his education has been sufficiently advanced to fit him for that seminary, for you may rest assured that as you regard his future prosperity you had better make any sacrifice of his property than suffer his education to be neglected or remain incomplete." Records of the registrar show that this youth attended here during the year 1805, which was probably his year of entrance, judging from the correspondence of Mr. Lewis.

The document providing for the "surrender of western lands of Virginia for N. W. territory" states in part: "To give unto the United States in Congress assembled, for the benefit of the said States, all Rights, Titles, and claim as well of Soil as Jurisdiction, which this Commonwealth hath to the Territory or Tract of Country, within the limit of the Virginia Charter, situate, lying, and being to the North-West of the River Ohio." The four signatures affixed to the document stand out in the history of Virginia: "Th. Jefferson; S. Hardy; Arthur Lane; Jas. Monroe."

and an attic, and will be in keeping with the college refectory, since the same kind of bricks will be used. Rogers Hall is progressing very well, according to a statement made by Mr. Majors, assistant to Mr. Robinson, the college architect. However, all of the third floor will not be used until the whole building is finished. Work on the side that is now being used for classes will be postponed after this semester.
