FRATERNITY BIDS SCHEDULED TO GO OUT SUNDAY TO WOMEN STUDENTS

Banquet Season For Sororities Ends Tomorrow Night; Prospective Pledges Have Been Guests This Week

BIDS MUST BE RETURNED IN PERSON BY 2 O'CLOCK

Expect Largest Number of Women's Bids in History of Rushing At William and Mary

Women's fraternity rushing will end Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, when formal bids will be delivered the rushees at their rooms. The pledges will report by 2 o'clock at their respective houses. Indications are that this rushing season will exceed in numbers any of the past.

Rushing this year was late in beginning, the fraternity women wearing no pins and not being allowed to do any rushing for the first ten days of school. During the past three weeks the women have been rushing both day and night.

Rushing on the campus is very well organized, the Pan Hellenic Council giving each fraternity certain hours to do its rushing, first by dormitories, and then collectively. No money may be spent except for the rush banquets this week. This final week is better known as "silence week," there being no rushing except at the "rush" banquets.

The order of banquets follows: Chi Alpha, last Friday; Pi Beta Phi, Saturday; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Monday; Chi Omega, Tuesday; Alpha Chi Omega, Wednesday; Delta Chi Delta, Thursday; Kappa Alpha Theta, tonight, and Phi Mu, tomorrow night.

RICHMOND YOUTH KILLED EN-ROUTE TO W. & M. GAME

Anticipation of the William and Mary-Wake Forest game Saturday night, ended in tragedy for Samuel Schwartzberg, 22, of 208 North Nineteenth Street, Richmond, who died early Sunday, the result of injuries suffered when his automobile was wrecked in a ditch several miles west of Providence Ford.

Straw Ballot Flops; To Continue Another Week

William and Mary students are not interested in national politics, if the number of ballots returned in the Flat Hat Straw poll is indicative. From last Friday until the day of the closing of the poll, but 51 votes were cast, 27 for Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate, 23 for Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate, and one written in for the well known independent candidate, Will Rogers.

In the hope of getting a more indicative consensus of opinion on the political question from students at William and Mary, this paper will continue the poll another week. Students are asked to drop votes in the Flat Hat box in Brafferton, or in the box on the news room door in Citizenship Building, today, tomorrow, Sunday, Monday or Tuesday.

Ballot will be found on the back page.

SECOND TEA DANCE TOMORROW AFTERNOON IN JEFFERSON HALL

A second dansant will be given in Jefferson hall at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, repeating the affair last week. Dancing will end at 6 o'clock. The admission price, it is announced, will remain at half a dollar.

An even larger number of students is expected tomorrow due to the favor with which last week's dance met, according to managers.

ANNOUNCE RULES FOR CO-ED FROSH

Annual Ducess Week Will Start On Monday to Run Through to Saturday

Rules for ducesses beginning October 21, have been announced by the Woman's Tribunal. They follow:

On Monday: "Ye must appear on campus bedecked in gym stockings, tennis shoes, and gloves;"

On Tuesday: "Ye are to carry your books in a pillow slip which must be tied with a green ribbon;"

On Wednesday: "Your hair must be slicked back with a green ribbon tied on top of your head;"

On Thursday: "If a pleasant day, ye shall don galoshes and raincoat and carry a raised umbrella. Also, ye must sing in front of the dining hall;"

On Friday: "Ye must enter the dormitories by back entrances and skip to meals;"

On Saturday: "Ye must do anything any upperclassman may demand that is within reason;"

Whoa! More yet is required! All week: "Ye must wear no cosmetics of any kind, nor curl your hair, and shall address upperclassmen as 'Miss.'"

All year: "No earrings may be worn until four o'clock and no Freshman may cut campus."

Lastly: "Green berets must be worn until February."

CHI ALPHA TO BE INSTALLED THIS WEEK IN KAPPA DELTA NATIONAL

Local Women's Fraternity Will Become Alpha Pi Chapter Monday and Tuesday

THREE DEGREES PLANNED AT INITIATION SERVICES

Banquet Will Follow Ceremonies; National Inspector to Instruct New Members

Chi Alpha, local women's fraternity which was founded here in 1927, will be formally installed as Alpha Pi chapter of Kappa Delta, Monday and Tuesday, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Three degrees will be given; the first represented by a green enamel shield bearing three stars, the second by a triangle superimposed upon a dagger, and the third by the official pin. The final initiation will be Tuesday afternoon, Founder's Day of the national fraternity. An initiation banquet will follow the installation services.

Miss Gladys Pugh, Grand-president, from Montgomery, Alabama is expected to arrive Monday morning. Mrs. Sara Turner White, a founder of Kappa Delta, from Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Helen Bunting Brown, National Secretary, from Virginia Beach, Va.; Miss Katherine Byrd, President of Alpha Province, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler Miles of Yorktown, and members from George

REPORTERS NAMED TO POSITIONS ON "FLAT HAT" STAFF

With this issue of The Flat Hat announcement is made of the completion of the news staff. This comes after a competition period which began at the opening of the present session. Four men and four women were selected to positions as reporters, they being J. Clark Samuel, of Wilmington, Del., Kenneth Graham, of Wareham, Mass., Alan Graf, of Newport News, Beverly Thurman, of Norfolk, Virginia Crawford, of Norton, Edwina Carver, of Alexandria, Elizabeth Griffin, of Norfolk, and Grace Vipond, of Norfolk.

During the competition more than seventy candidates appeared at different stages of it.

Rally in Phi Beta Kappa Tonight for Catholic Game

A rally for the Catholic U. game will be held tonight in Phi Beta Kappa Hall at 7 o'clock, according to an announcement by Lloyd H. Williams, head cheerleader. All upperclassmen are urged to be present and freshmen must be there.

The cheerleader hopes to establish a cheering squad that will be unsurpassed by that of any school in the south. The game tomorrow night will start at 8 o'clock and all students are urged to be at Cary Field about 7:30.

DELINQUENT SENIORS AND JUNIORS MAY NOT APPEAR IN ANNUAL

All seniors, juniors and members of social fraternities must turn in their schedules to David Moore or Arthur Nolde, or place them in the Colonial Echo box in Brafferton building before Friday, October 26th. Failure to do this will mean that pictures will not appear in the Echo, as the photographer will be at Williamsburg only a few days and only those turning in schedules before the above date will be given appointments.

Seniors will also turn in a list of their honors, their home addresses, degree which they are to receive and the names which they desire to appear in the senior section of the book.

PALETTE CLUB IS ORGANIZED

New Organization Takes Place of Art Club Which Disbanded Three Weeks Ago

A new organization, The Palette Club, has been formed on campus to replace the Art Club which disbanded about three weeks ago. The officers of the club are: Lenore Schoefeld, president; Muriel Nuckols, secretary; Virginia Turman, treasurer.

The new club hopes to petition Kappa Pi, and finally the national Delta Phi Delta. Dr. Grace Landrum will act as faculty advisor.

Honorary members are: Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, Dr. L. W. Irwin, the Misses Mary and Lucretia Erwin, Mrs. L. W. Lane, Miss Aithea Hunt.

MORE CAMPUS GRADING

Graders are at work preparing to seed the new campus lawn between Jefferson, Barrett, Phi Beta Kappa Hall and the new Washington Hall.

The old soil has been turned over and leveled down, and earth deposits raised by foundation contractors on the new building, have been smoothed. It is expected the area will be seeded shortly.

LOOT VALUED AT $1,000 TAKEN BY THIEVES DURING FOOTBALL GAME

Old Dominion and Monroe Men's Dormitories and Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity House Entered

ROBBERS DROP LOOT WHEN SURPRISED BY STUDENTS

System of "Rounding Up" and Collecting Material Believed to Have Been Used

Wearing apparel, personal effects, and money, said to have a total value of approximately a thousand dollars was stolen from Old Dominion and Monroe dormitories last Saturday night during the Wake Forest-William and Mary football game.

Several students lost heavily. The Sigma Phi Epsilon house was in the process of being raided when Irvin Davis, a member, went to the house between halves of the game and found two of his suits, and a topcoat bundled up.

The loot is believed to have been dropped when Davis scared away the burglars. Indications are that the "raiders" were on the campus at this time and had been working from the beginning of the game throughout the entire contest.

From information given The Flat Hat, it appears that raiding was done in a wholesale way, some of the burglars going ahead of the haulers and "lining up" the personal belongings of the students for "collectors" who followed.

A partial list of the missing articles is said to include caps, suits, overcoats, underwear, dressing gowns, socks, handkerchiefs, twenty new ties, slickers, leather jackets, twenty-five shirts, and knickers, and various sums of money.

It is believed that a truck was used in carrying the stolen goods away after the collectors had done their duty.

Splinters Fly As Freshmen Face Justice At 236th Court

Last night marked the passing of the 236th session of the ancient and honorable Supreme Court for Freshmen, the session being held in Phi Beta Kappa Hall under direction of the capable and hard-hearted Pat Patterson. Upperclassmen were kept in an uproar by the comical and harsh actions of Sheriff "Spud" Blossom, and his deputies.

The paddle wielders sought to impress upon the newcomers their lowness, dumbness, and "low hatness," encouraged by the pleas for "more licks" issued by the famous J. M. Robertson, prosecuting attorney at this ancient and honorable college.

Although Armstrong Smith, attorney in defense, cried, pleaded, and screamed for consideration on the "lowly ducs" he was unable to persuade the herd hearted jury.

It seemed as if some of these "ducs" had a million charges to face, but none got over a hundred licks. The senior class this year seems to be very experienced in handling paddles, as Phi Beta Kappa Hall is a mass of splinters.

This two hundred and thirty-sixth session was very successful, the jury said, despite the change of location from the old chapel.

Students Roar Welcome As Lady Astor Receives Degree

BRYAN PRAISES CHANDLER

Academic Procession Colorful Feature of Impressive Ceremonies

By J. CLARK SAMUEL

Virginia's most distinguished collegiate institution Saturday conferred the degree of doctor of laws upon Virginia's most distinguished daughter, Lady Nancy Astor.

The event which marked Lady Astor's only formal address during her visit to her home state and America, was featured by impressive convocation ceremonies in Phi Beta Kappa hall, which was crowded with the faculty and seniors, attired in their caps and gowns, other members of the student body and visitors.

Gripping her audience with the magnetic personality for which she was famous even as Miss Nancy Langhorne of Albemarle county, Lady Astor brought enthusiastic cheers from the students during her spirited defense of youth, of women in affairs and when she stressed the importance of less boasting by over zealous patriots.

"I am not in the least discouraged about the youth of the world," Lady Astor declared. "The old people are always saying that the young people are going to the devil. Well—the old people ought to know. They've been there themselves." Her last remark brought tumultuous applause.

In presenting Lady Astor for her degree, Dr. J. A. C. Chandler pointed out that in the 200 years of the existence of William and Mary, eighty-nine honorary degrees have been awarded. Only one other woman ever received an honorary degree. She was Kate Mason Roller, the biographer of George Mason, author of the Bill of Rights. Dr. Chandler stated that the degree was conferred upon Lady Astor for her "brilliant record," as a "publicist known in two worlds."

In his charming manner, John Stewart Bryan, vice-rector of the college, during his introductory remarks, paid tribute to the progressive record of Dr. Chandler in building up William and Mary from "a little struggling college to one of the greatest educational centers in America." He also extolled the generosity of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the work of Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin in the restoration program for Colonial Williamsburg. The degree was conferred formally by Mr. Bryan.

"Every student in the College of William and Mary adds his little bit to the tradition of our institution. William and Mary has survived through the years and it is the students' heritage to perpetuate this tradition. We may not all make Phi Beta Kappa, nor may we all graduate with honors, but we all can put our love and personality behind the tradition of William and Mary," Mr. Bryan declared.

The convocation began at 11 a. m., with an academic procession, which formed at Brafferton building, proceeding to Dr. Chandler's residence, where it was joined by the guests of honor. With the National colors and the state flag of Virginia crossed over the doorway, Lady Astor, Dr. Chandler and the other guests walked through two lines of seniors into the Phi Beta Kappa hall, while the orchestra played a march. After the invocation was pronounced by Dr. L. W. Irwin, the student body joined in Washington, Hollins, and Randolph-Macon Women's College, will be present for the installation services. Mrs. Addie Munday, national inspector, will spend a week in Williamsburg to train the new members in chapter organization.

CHI ALPHA TO BE INSTALLED

Kitty Topping of Jefferson, Va., Virginia McAllister of Hampton, Va., Etta Clements of Lee Hall, Va., and Annie Bozart of Williamsburg, Va., will return to be installed.

The rushees who will receive bids Sunday will undergo the first degree with the present members of Chi Alpha. The new chapter will make the 63rd in the national fraternity.

The members of Chi Alpha have announced that they will hold an open house for faculty and fraternity members, Wednesday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

"OPEN FORUM" TALKS TO BE FEATURE AT PHOENIX GATHERINGS

Melvin Fields, president of the Phoenix Literary Society, at the meeting Friday night announced his decision to have open forum discussions at meetings from now on. Any member who has any problem to thresh out may present it to the society and have the benefit of his fellow members' ideas on the subject.

The feature of last meeting was an oration on education by R. L. Underwood. The main topic this evening will be a debate: "Resolved, That Members of the Cabinet Should Have Seat and Voice, but no Voting Power in Congress."

singing: "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." The distinguished guest was visibly moved by the song conducive to the past. Following the singing of Alma Mater and the benediction by Dr. Irwin, the academic procession moved from the hall to the president's home where it disbanded.

Here Lady Astor and her charming daughter, Miss Phyllis Astor, held an informal reception on the lawn. Lady Astor chatted gaily with several hundred admiring students and her clever repartee brought shouts of laughter.

During the hour following, Lady Astor and her party were taken for a tour through Williamsburg while points of interest in connection with the Restoration were pointed out.

While the students were eating dinner, Lady Astor appeared in the dining hall and after prolonged cheering, waved a gracious goodbye.

Member of Men's Council Condemns Watchmen on Campus

AFFRONT TO HONOR AND INTEGRITY SAYS WATERS

Junior Representative in Open Letter to Flat Hat Asks If Morals of Students Demand Need of Watchmen

The robberies on the campus last Saturday night during the William and Mary-Wake Forest football game have drawn comment from representatives of the Men's Honor Council as well as from students in general.

The Flat Hat is in receipt of a letter from John H. Waters, Jr., junior representative to the Honor Council in which he deplores the action of night watchmen following actions of students instead of protecting property and points out that the "employment of nightwatchmen for any purpose other than that of safeguarding college property is an affront to the honor and integrity of our students."

Mr. Water's letter reads as follows: Editor of the Flat. Sir:

Doubtless much will be said on the subject of nightwatchmen as a result of the happenings of last Saturday night, but I should appreciate a few lines in your columns to express a few of the views that I hold on the much discussed subject.

As a representative of the Men's Honor Council I think that I express the sentiment of the majority of the men students of the college when I say that the employment of nightwatchmen for any purpose other than that of safeguarding college property is an affront to the honor and integrity of our students. Many students maintain that the constant watching of these men has a demoralizing effect on the practicable working of the honor system. Although students feel that the employment of these men to guard personal conduct does not directly affect the basic principals of the honor system; nevertheless they do feel, and justly so, that they are not trusted to the fullest extent.

Have the morals of the students of our college reached so low a level that it is necessary that watchmen shall slink in the shadows, and from these obscure vantage points observe the conduct of our men and women? I think not. Do we all not think that the type of men and women entering William and Mary are fully as much ladies and gentlemen as those entering any college or university in our country? And since these men and women are ladies and gentlemen when they come here, why should they be treated otherwise during the course of any given semester?

Had the nightwatchmen on last Saturday night been watching college building instead of students, a great loss of personal property would have been obviated. Since the regrettable affair of Saturday night, the question of nightwatchmen and the honor system has taken first place in the discussion of students on the campus. The opinion generally expressed is that the honor system would work far more efficiently if there were more faith placed in the honor of the students and less spying on the students by the watchmen.

The writer trusts that the sentiments herein expressed will be interpreted in the right light, that of constructive criticism.

Very Sincerely yours,
John H. Waters, Jr.

"Be Temperate In All Things"

There are two types of extremists which the campus of William and Mary has in abundance—the knockers, who like the poor is always with us, and his "rival" the booster.

For a person to always be knocking is usually a sign that there is something wrong somewhere, and it is usually the case that this something is not far removed from the interior of the knocker's head. It is everyone's privilege to bore his neighbors with his opinion of what is wrong, or as is more generally the case what is wrong without any opinion at all.

On the other hand, there is the even greater bore—the person who can never see any wrong in anything with which he is connected, or in which he is interested. There is nothing that is perfect, but to judge from the talk of certain "boosters," a number of things around here are just about reached that unusual state. A queer thing about the boosters, however, is that they can invariably find a number of things wrong with anything with which they have no connection, so their boosting generally dwindles down to "an axe to grind."

It is difficult to say which should get first "honors," the confirmed knocker or the confirmed booster. Either is bad enough, with the other a little bit worse.

Degree Requirements

One of the annoying things that confronts the student at this college in his or her quest for an academic degree is the large number of required subjects which are necessary before work can be completed for graduation. Out of a total of 126 credits required for a bachelor's degree, more than 60 fall under that list of "required."

The unfortunate thing about this from the students' point of view is that in this process of skipping from subject to subject during the first two years of college, or even longer, he merely touches the topic and then immediately forgets about it after the examination period at the end of the semester.

A concrete example can be shown in the science requirement of ten hours for a Bachelor of Arts degree. It is admitted that a freshman course of science touches little more than fundamentals for higher courses, but to the student who is majoring in—Chemistry, let us say, 101 and 102 present an interesting introduction to the advanced work which is to follow. To the man who is working in English, however, this same introductory science course is dull, and he feels he is gaining little. Two months after the close of the session, he probably remembers little or nothing of what he studied during the year.

Library Expansion

One of the best pieces of news which has come to The Flat Hat in many months is the proposed expansion of the local library facilities. For the past two years, since the enrollment here has passed the thousand mark, the reading rooms have been crowded, and the continual entrance of visitors to inspect relics has proved anything but conducive to study in the building.

Under the new plan, the principal reading rooms will be 120 feet wide, giving a great deal of additional space, the relics will be put off by themselves at a point near the lobby where visitors can see them without entering any of the reading rooms, and much more additional stack space will be available.

The growth of the library here has kept remarkable step with the growth of the student body and with the additions will be one of the finest libraries physically on the southern seaboard.

The Kappa Delta Installation

The Flat Hat is taking this editorial space to welcome Kappa Delta, national women's social fraternity, which will install a chapter at William and Mary Monday and Tuesday. This will mark the seventh national women's fraternity here, leaving only one local, which will be installed as a national at Thanksgiving.

An Objection to "The Shag"

Objections from reformers and the like to "the shag" have come from all directions since the well known dance's entrance to the ball room, but there is one which they have missed. We wonder if it ever occurred to them that dancing "the shag" might fall under the category of hard work.

A PLEA FOR PROTECTION

Unofficial figures gathered during the present week show that hundreds of dollars worth of property was stolen from students of the college during the William and Mary-Wake Forest game on last Saturday evening. Articles stolen included all sorts of clothing from sample neckties to overcoats, as well as several cash amounts.

At no time in recent years here has such a "haul" been made at one time, and it plainly indicates the lack of protection of property on the campus. It is true that the college employs "night watchmen" who are on duty from early evening until well on to dawn, but it appears that the original purpose of these men has changed from protecting the campus against thieves and fire to a war on necking parties and drinking. It is understood that a number of students were caught somewhat inebriated Saturday night by the "law," while thieves were taking about everything away from Old Dominion Hall except the furniture.

The Flat Hat holds no brief for drinking, but a college drunk is generally harmless while bandits roving the halls of dormitories when the students are at an athletic contest constitutes a menace.

The students at William and Mary want protection—but not the kind that the "campus cops" have been exhibiting lately. Morals on the campus are not shot as the action of the watchmen would indicate at times by their movements, but property here is in danger, if last Saturday night is indicative.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

William versus Mary has been an age old story, especially when the characters represented a particular man and woman, but the college men at this period attempted to settle the controversy on the football field. A "goodly" number of young men were given the name of Mary, while the remainder upheld William. In an exciting battle on the back lot, William, with true Virginia chivalry in his blood, permitted Mary to win the game by a six point margin.

In a thrilling game of football at Hampton, the Academy defeated the Hampton High School 19 to 12.

On Friday night the German Club gave its annual opening german in the College gymnasium. "About one o'clock delightful refreshments were served," we quote from The Flat Hat files. (Students who were sent home at 11:15 o'clock in the first dance of the 1928-29 session will perhaps consider this a bed-time story.)

K. A. Agee, principal of the Cooke Street School in Portsmouth and editor of The Flat Hat, was in town Saturday.

FIVE YEARS AGO

The anniversary of the birth of Sir Christopher Wren was celebrated by the students of William and Mary Saturday, October 20. An academic procession with the faculty and senior class in caps and gowns, and an address by Cass Gilbert, noted architect of New York, featured the day.

The William and Mary football eleven ran roughshod over the Guilford College team of North Carolina by a score of 74-0 last Saturday.

William and Mary Post No. 6, of the Anglo-Saxon Clubs of America, was reorganized October 10. John Powell, world-famed pianist-composer and founder of the Anglo-Saxon Clubs movement, and Oscar L. Shewmake, former professor of law in the College, were the principal speakers.

Mrs. K. J. Hoke, wife of the dean of the College of William and Mary, opened the social season of Williamsburg with a brilliant reception given in honor of the wives of incoming professors of the College and to several women who were recent additions to the faculty.

THIS DEPARTMENT

There's real work going on in Phi Beta Kappa Hall these days. The casual listener, poking his head in the door, is greeted by a clamor strange enough to baffle the most suave cosmopolite. Lights show in different colors, red, amber, blue; individuals clamber over artificial shrubbery and makeshift walls. "Darling," they breathe; "Villian!" they shout; "Look dangerous there;" "My husband."

It is confusing to the uninitiated, but those who are on the inside know it is only Miss Hunt's dramatic students working on the first program of one-act plays, which will be presented in about ten days form now in Phi Beta Kappa. Signs point to a big dramatic season at William and Mary this year.

Strange things happen in rehearsals and in this respect the dramatic classes are similar to those in public speaking. One nervous young chap got up the other day to make his first speech. Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "I am gathered here before you —"

Hydrogen. Dr. Guy advised his chemistry students, is an efficient reducing agent. Which constitutes a rainbow note for well-rounded co-eds.

The dining hall has come in for more than its share of attention in campus comment this year, and at last is has broken into This Department. One of our youngest contributors bashfully told us he had a squib on the dining hall for us last week and then disappeared for two days. Next time we saw him he slinked up with a piece of notepaper in his hand. "Here it is," he blurted out, and then he ran away. We opened the note.

"If all the students in the dining hall were placed end to end," we read, "they would reach—"

The ice box at the Raleigh hotel was destroyed by fire last Monday night. Suggested headline: Frigidaire Burns as Thousands Cheer.

The newspaper writer who thought William and Mary was for Al Smith will have an opportunity to find out for himself when the Flat Hat straw vote is over.

So far as This Department is concerned, we shall cling steadfastly to our non-partisan policy and cast our vote for Will Rogers.

THE OPEN FORUM

Flat Hat Readers Write on Current Subjects

Editor of The Flat Hat,
Sir:

I was highly amused with the cute little letter that friend, "Up State" published in your "Open Forum" last week. We bad men from the grimy, noisy city are so sorry to have caused such embarrassment to the gentle natures of the "Up State" element. We hereby publicly beg his pardon and promise to try and constrain ourselves.

Seriously, sir, just for the sport, I have interviewed several professors and I have asked them if they noticed any particular aggressiveness on the part of New Yorkers. On the contrary several told me that New Yorkers as a rule are continually praising Virginia and are gentlemen in actions.

In the general confusion at our local theatre, it is difficult to distinguish voices, much less to tell if their owners are New Yorkers. However, I waive claim here due to the fact that "Up Stater" probably has greater senses than we are blessed with.

Lastly he attacked the New York Daily Newspaper representatives. This is unforgivable and is certainly not a joke. Instead of fostering the papers' aid, "Up Stater" bitterly attacks us for lack of results and for exuberance in talking about "our jobs." These so called jobs are held by men who are trying to have W. & M. recognized up north. Incidentally these jobs are not paying dividends either.

I appeal to your sense of fair play, sir, and wish to thank you for publishing this.

Respectfully,
Charles Simon

Editor of The Flat Hat,
Sir:

Congratulations to the college on its best dance yet. That dansant last Saturday shows what can be done in the way of dances at William and Mary.

The orchestra was fine, and despite the warm weather it was the unanimous opinion of the crowd that the shift back to Jefferson was opportune.

The water cooler just outside the door, with its paper cups, was a happy thought.

Yours for more dances like that one,

R. E. M.

Editor of The Flat Hat,
Sir:

It seems to me that the school is lacking in proper protection of property belonging to the students. It is true that we have watchmen but these watchmen have only one purpose in mind; that is, apprehending students in the use of alcoholic stimulants and in petting. It appears that they have forgotten that their fundamental duty is to protect the property of both students and school from fire and theft. The whole college knows by now of Saturday night's burglarizations. It is indeed a sad condition that exists when a student can not leave his room locked with the assurance that his belongings will be in their proper places when he returns. It is of vital importance that action should be taken in the matter at once.

Sincerely yours,
J. T. Campbell.

Editor of the Flat Hat,
Sir:

The Dormitories and Fraternity houses evidently had "Visitors" Saturday night interested in things other than the football game. This was learned much to the financial sorrow of numerous students upon returning to their rooms after the game, when they found that they had been visited (Continued on page seven)

MASS IN ROGERS EVERY SUNDAY FOR CATHOLIC STUDENTS

The Gibbons Club will have Mass every Sunday morning at eleven o'clock in Rogers 101. A priest will come from Richmond for the service. This announcement was made at a business meeting of the Gibbons Club held last week.

William Fields, elected president last February, will retain the office this year. Charles Marciano was elected Vice president and Ralph DeFalso secretary and treasurer to fill the offices open since the beginning of the year.

The club will give a reception to the members on October 28. Announcement of the location of the reception will be made later.

Plans were discussed for financing the remaining amount owed on the portion of the wall on Jamestown road which the club presented to the college.

PHILOMATHEANS WILL STOP "DEADHEADING" TO SOCIETY SMOKERS

Sam Wilcox, President of the Philomathean Literary Society, at the meeting last Friday night, appointed a committee to deliberate on the number of meetings a member should attend in order to furnish himself with a right to come to the social functions for the society, such as banquets, smokers, etc. The determination to do this is the outgrowth of the fact that many members of the society have been in the habit of registering their names on the rolls at the beginning of the year, getting the benefit of the opening smoker, then never appearing again until another meeting featured by refreshments. President Wilcox and his officers state that they cannot tolerate this condition of affairs and thus must place some restriction on the social functions. Mr.

Wilcox also appointed a committee to fix upon the requirements necessary for members to obtain college credits. These committees will render their decisions promptly.

The Babe and Lou here will tell you that there is only one way to choose a pitcher . . . and that's to send him into the box and let him twirl a few innings.

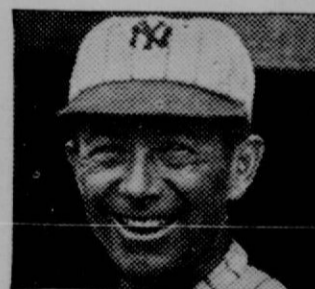

So the best way to choose a cigarette is to put them all through their paces in the blindfold test.

In the test I have just made, OLD GOLD played right into my mitt. Its zippy flavor and mellow smoothness couldn't be touched by the other three brands.

In the dressing room at Navin Field in Detroit, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig gave the blindfold cigarette test to Manager Miller Huggins. The famous Yankee pilot was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked, "which one do you like best?"

EIGHTEEN BASKETBALL GAMES ARE ANNOUNCED FOR INDIAN QUINTET

WILLIAM AND MARY BASKETEERS TO MEET CATHOLIC UNI., NAVY AND MARYLAND ON NORTHERN TRIP, DECEMBER 18, 19 AND 20

Season Will Open Here December 15th With Medical College of Virginia

TEN GAMES IN BLOW GYM

Twelve Games With State Colleges to Feature Card

Graduate Manager "Billy" Gooch has released the tentative basketball schedule. The present plans call for about twenty games of which ten will be played on the home floor.

The Medical College of Virginia will be the Indians' first opponent here on December 15. Immediately following this engagement, the team will make its northern trip before the holidays. On this trip they will meet Catholic University, Navy, and the University of Maryland.

During the month of January all the attractions except one will be on the home floor. The Green, Gold and Silver courtmen will do battle with the Union Theological Seminary, Richmond Y. M. C. A., Hampden-Sydney, and Roanoke here, and will travel to Richmond on the seventeenth to meet their traditional rivals, the Spiders from the University of Richmond.

There will be no more games until after the first of February because of semester examinations. On February 1 the team will make its annual jaunt into the western part of Virginia. In four days they will meet Washington and Lee, V. M. I., and Roanoke, all on hostile floors. After completing this invasion, they will be kept busy at home the rest of the season with one exception when they meet the University of Virginia at Charlottesville. The season closes with another clash with the University of Richmond here on February 22.

The Indian Warriors will meet several teams this year that have never been on their schedule before, or have not been met in the past few years. These are the University of Maryland, the Union Theological Seminary, Richmond Y. M. C. A., Bridgewater, and the University of Virginia.

The schedule as it is up to the present time is as follows:

- Dec. 15 Medical College, Here
- Dec. 18 Catholic University, Washington
- Dec. 19 Navy, Annapolis
- Dec. 20 University of Maryland, College Park
- Jan. 7 Union Theological Sem., Here
- Jan. 9 Richmond Y. M. C. A. Here

Sammons Gets Hat Award In Score Contest

Another List Given Today

Macon Sammons topped the list of about sixty entrants in the second weekly Flat Hat football score guessing contest and will be presented with a prize donated by Garner and Company. Mr. Sammons guessed the outcome of seven of the ten games correctly, missing only the W. & M.-Wake Forest, Va.-Princeton, and W. & L.-Ky. games. Only two others of the large number of guesses received, predicted the final outcome of as many as seven games. These men were Francis Thompson, who finished second in the contest and W. G. Thompson, Jr. who finished third.

One applicant missed eight of the ten games and several fell down on seven out of ten. Two tie games this week made the going rough, no one predicted the outcome of either game as resulting in a tie score. Only two men the Thompson brothers, chose Kentucky to defeat the Washington and Lee Generals.

The choice list of games to be played tomorrow should be a challenge to every student to try his or her luck.

There have been several co-ed entries thus far and their guesses were just about as good as the men.

Below is given a list of ten games which will be used in the contest this week. The same rules hold as before. Turn in your choice of probable winners and scores to the Flat Hat box in Brafferton or Citizenship Building before noon on Saturday. Please seal in an envelope and address to B. D. Pattie, Sports Editor. Remember that the scores must be submitted as well as the winners. Several nearly correct lists had to be thrown out because the probable scores were not given.

FRESHMEN RUIN WILSON HI, 27-0

Crashing off tackle around end and via the air for gain after gain, Cy Young's Freshman team had an easy time with the highly rated Woodrow Wilson aggregation on Cary Field to the tune of 27-0, Friday afternoon.

The Presidents, undefeated for three years, twice high school champions of Virginia in the last two years and possessing a team which had been scored on but once in that space of time, came up to do battle fully intent to administer another beating to the Indians, similar to that of the past two years.

Maxey, MacMinimon, Scheff, in the backfield and Darden, Oliver, and Michaels in the line, played a wonderful brand of football and Maxey's 62 yard run for a touchdown was outstanding among the other feats he performed.

Casey of the President's backfield played his usual fine game as did his teammates, but found our Freshmen were of a different mettle than ever before.

Cy Young used his entire squad in the closing periods.

MARSHALL TEAM PLEASED WITH RECEPTION AT W&M

That football representatives of Marshall College were pleased with William and Mary while here recently, is shown in the letter which Cy Young, freshman coach here, has received from Roy M. Hawley, Athletic Director at Marshall. Mr. Hawley says: Hr. Cy Young, Williamsburg, Va. Dear Sir:

It was indeed a pleasure to be allowed to play William and Mary this year and the treatment we received while at Williamsburg was the best I have known at any institution. I always thought the Navy treated their visiting teams wonderful, but they could not hold a candle with William and Mary. You have a fine team and I will bet on William and Mary in the late season game.

With kindest personal regards, I am,

Very truly yours,
Roy M. Hawley

TODD MEDICO QUINT COACH

Former William and Mary Sport Star Now at Medical College of Virginia

John Todd, star athlete at William and Mary for four years and later assistant coach here has recently been named basketball coach of the Medical College of Virginia. While here Todd achieved one of the greatest records that an athlete ever attained at William and Mary and is the only man to Captain the Indians in football two successive seasons. He was a tower of strength on all the Indians teams and was one of the most popular players at William and Mary. Lee Todd another former Indian athlete is also at the Medical College and is expected to add to the strength of the Medicos.

Baptist Nearly Score Missing Safety By Inches on Bad Throw From Center

Before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a game on Cary Field, the William and Mary Indians and the Wake Forest Deacons battled to a scoreless tie Saturday night. The game soon after the kickoff developed into a punting duel in which Wake Forest had the edge. It proved a listless affair, however and was lacking in very many thrills.

In the first half the Indians held like a stone wall and the Deacons could only gain by passes. The front wall of the Baptists' also was impregnable, and neither team could gain through the line. The two teams battled back and forth in the middle of the field in a See-saw affair for the entire period.

In the second half the Deacons nearly made a safety when a bad pass went behind the Indian goal and was recovered by Bauserman who hurled himself across the line before he was tackled. This probably saved the game for William and Mary. The game was almost entirely played in the locals' territory in the last half and the only threat was when Lankford snatched a fumble and ran 50 yards before he was downed. Neither team took advantage of the few opportunities to score which presented themselves.

The Deacons attempted nine passes, but only two of these were completed, one going for a first down. The Indians intercepted three of the attempted tosses. William and Mary attempted only four passes, completing one, which went for a first down.

The holding lines kept the teams from gaining much ground except on one or two occasions. The Deacons made four first downs and the Indians (Continued on page eight)

C. U. HERE TOMORROW NIGHT FOR CLASH

CARDINALS WILL ARRIVE WITH TWO LOSSES AND ONE VICTORY FOR SEASON'S WORK TO DATE

Bocock Still Making Changes in Line-up; Bill Scott Able to Play Again; Champa Dangerous Washingtonians

Suffering under two defeats out of three starts, the Catholic University Cardinals will invade the Indian territory tomorrow evening with blood in their eyes. Last Saturday Villanova trampled them down to a 19-0 defeat and a few weeks before this Boston College defeated them by even a larger score. They succeeded in downing the American University, however, by the one sided score of 69-0.

The Cardinals have a fighting team and are never defeated until the final whistle is blown. They lack the strong offensive that has been prevalent in their teams of former years, but they have not lost it entirely as may be seen by the way they plowed into the American University's line. They miss the passing, running, and fighting spirit of Follev, their last year's captain who graduated in June. Follev was mentioned on several All-American elevens and was All-Eastern quarterback. In addition he starred on the university's quintet. Had it not been for the brilliant work of this versatile back, William and Mary would probably have broken even with the Cardinals last year.

This year the Indians will have to be on the lookout for Champa, shifty half back on the university eleven. He has crossed the enemy's goal line for four touchdowns thus far in the season, and has shown up as one of the strong points in the Cardinal's lineup, in all the games that they have played.

Catholic University will probably line up as follows on Saturday night: Gerth and Zeno, ends; Smith and Raiche, tackles; Mullen, O'Connor or Menke, guards; McCabe, center; Murphy quarterback; Schmidt and Champa, halfbacks, and Malevich, fullback.

The Indians, on the other hand, are suffering under the moral defeat handed to them by the Wake Forest Deacons last Saturday. Coach Bocock is gradually ironing out the wrinkles in the "big team" that showed up in their playing last week. The Bocockmen are being constantly drilled in punting, passing, and catching punts. Several injuries have kept some of the first team out of the line up for the last few days. Baldacci, Scott, Bauserman, Walrath, Captain Carmichael, and several others are suffering from either minor or serious injuries. The Indian eleven has been scrimmaging with "Cy" Young's freshmen eleven for the past few days and towards the latter part of the week they are beginning to look like themselves again. With Bill Scott in the lineup again and with several changes that Coach Bocock has made, the Indians are favored to hold the charging Cardinals to an even break or possibly to defeat them Saturday night under the lights.

ANOTHER TOUR THROUGH MAIN BUILDING WILL BE MADE TOMORROW AT 2 P. M.

Dr. E. G. Swem has announced that he will conduct another tour through the Main Building tomorrow, starting at two o'clock. Students wishing to visit this building will meet on the library steps at that hour.

FIRST NUMBER OF LITERARY MAGAZINE OUT NOVEMBER 1ST

The first issue of the Literary Magazine edited by Robert Barrett, will appear on November 1. This year, there will be six issues of the magazine. House or at the Literary Magazine Office.

NATIONAL OFFICIAL OF PHI MU VISITOR AT LOCAL CHAPTER

Gamma Alpha Chapter of Phi Mu social sorority had Mrs. Robert I. Inglehart of New York, as a guest and inspector this past week-end. Mrs. Inglehart was entertained at a formal tea Friday afternoon, given by the local chapter. She was also entertained by many of the other sororities on the campus.

Mrs. Inglehart was a student of Adelphi and received her Doctor's Degree from Columbia.

DISCUSSION WILL BE FEATURE OF Y

The Y. W. C. A. plans to feature discussion groups of the various departments of the work for the next four weeks. These groups will meet every Tuesday night at designated places and discuss plans for improving the various departments. The groups are Foreign Affairs, Frances Lord; Posters, Virginia Smith; Music, Virginia Alexander; Social and Dramatics, DeEtte Jones; Girl Reserves, Katherine Lam; Devotionals, Elsie Beebe and Laura Colvin; Finance, Edwina Carver. All girls are invited to attend the group in which they are interested.

The Association will hold vespers every Thursday night at six o'clock and an informal sing every Friday night at seven o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. room in Barrett Hall. All girls are invited.

New Home Ec Instructors Entertained on Tuesday

Miss Lillian Cummings, head of the Home Economics Department, entertained the new home economics instructors, Miss Jean Stewart and Miss Alma Wilkins, at a party in the Practice House Tuesday night. The rooms were decorated with flowers and the program for the evening was a great success.

In addition to the guests of honor, all home economics women were invited.

by "Connoisseurs"—connoisseurs of anything that had any cash value. The college has "positions" for a number of men called night-watchmen—probably more accurately called social censors. It is very interesting to "Gum-shoe" it around trying to catch some girls smoking; a couple who have stretched the precincts of the campus a yard or so, and happen to be sitting on the wrong side of the boundary line; or to get a key-hole view of a vicious game of cards.

Of course it is much more essential to see that college morals are not broken down to this degree than to see that rooms are not broken in.

In the business world, if an equal number of watchmen were employed to cover the small territory they have here, how long would they last in their positions if depredations to property occurred as they did here last Saturday night.

The payment for this so-called protection certainly comes from some of the numerous fees charged the students. When this protection fails, are the students unjust if they expect reimbursement.

"VILLAGE" WORK IS PROGRESSING ON BRIGHT FARM

College Terrace, Restricted Faculty Residence Section West of College, Growing

FIVE HOMES ALREADY IN PROCESS OF CONSTRUCTION

Work is rapidly progressing on College Terrace, William and Mary's "academic village" on the Richmond road just past the Kappa Alpha house. Last spring the Legislature of Virginia authorized the College to convert ten acres of the old Bright farm into a restricted neighborhood for the residence of professors and officials connected with William and Mary, with a view of these men's living under conditions as ideal as possible, in a location easily accessible to the College.

College Terrace is comprised of thirty-eight lots altogether, practically all of which have already been purchased, and on five of which houses are already going up. When the development is completed, it will be bounded by Richmond road and an interior avenue parallel to it. Within the area thus enclosed, there will be several cross streets, each with a small park in the middle of it, after the plan of Duke of Gloucester Street. The property is well drained, and has the forest for a background on three sides. The College has installed large water mains and a sewage system, and has agreed to gravel and grade the streets.

Entrance to College Terrace may be made at present only from Richmond Road, but the final plan of the college architect, Charles M. Robinson, who is in charge of the work, calls for a driveway cut through the woods to make a juncture with the horse-shoe drive which will stretch from Jamestown Road at Barrett Hall to Richmond Road at Old Dominion Hall.

EASTERN SHORE CLUB IS ORGANIZED HERE

At the first meeting of the Eastern Shore Club, the following officers were elected: Brick Tankard of Franktown, president; Harold Ashby of Wardtown, vice-president; Griffin Holland of Eastville, secretary-treasurer; Agnes Brittingham of Wachapreague, poet.

This meeting was held solely for the purpose of getting organized. Plans were made for a dance to be given Christmas while the students are home for the holidays. The details of this dance will be arranged at another meeting to be held next week.

ESSAY CONTEST CLOSES SUNDAY

$2,000 in Prizes Will Be Given To College Students in Smith Competition

New York, October 18.—Frank L. Wilson, Secretary of State in the Wilson administration, who is President of the College League for Alfred E. Smith, asks students competing in the League's $2,000 prize essay contest to submit them not later than October 20. The contest closes on that date, essays bearing such post mark being acceptable.

The prizes of $1,000 for men, and an equal amount for women, are offered through the College League by Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the former Ambassador to Germany. They will be awarded by a national committee for the two best essays written on the subject: "Why Alfred E. Smith Should be Elected President of the United States."

All college students and graduates of the classes of 1927 and 1928 are eligible to try for the prizes. The essays are limited to 500 words and are to be judged on strength of argument, form of composition and excellence of English.

They can be submitted to Essay Contest committees at 1775 Broadway, New York City; Hotel Statler, Boston, Mass.; Hotel Jefferson, St. Louis, Mo.; or to any of the sixteen leading newspapers that are cooperating in the conduct of the competition.

Mr. Polk urges that competitors submit their essays as soon as possible.

FLAT HAT STRAW BALLOT

- Hoover
- Smith
- Thomas
- Varney

This is the blank to be used in voting in The Flat Hat's presidential straw ballot. Students are asked to scratch through the names of those for whom they do not desire to vote, and in the event they desire to vote for one of the lesser known candidates, to write his name in the blank space at the bottom of the list. Ballots may be dropped in The Flat Hat's box in Brafferton, or in the mail box on the news room door in Citizenship. The ballot does not have to be signed.
